The sweater costume entirely in gray has been sponsored by one of the best-dressed women in France. A hand-knitted sweater shows diagonal bands in three tones of gray—the skirt matches the lightest of these tones, stockings are also of this lightest shade with shoes in the darkest of the three grays. A small ripple brimmed hat in two tones of gray—and there you are.

If you want me to help in planning your sweater costume, write to me and tell me the color of your eyes and hair and the tone of your complexion, and I'll be glad to tell you just how to "assemble" the sweater costume that will be most becoming.

An old evening frock may be made to look like new with a butterfly wing on one side and a new crush girdle. You can make them both from a yard and a half of material. It's easy enough if you know how to cut out the pieces. I'll gladly send you the diagram with directions for rejuvenating the old frock if you will send a stamped, addressed envelope.

CREAMED EGGS.

Creamed eggs on toast are made more appetizing by sprinkling a few bits of parsley over the tops, or adding a dash of cheese to the white sauce.

KEENE UNITED CHURCH.

For the month of August Rev. Wallace Christie, M.A., B.D., of Toronto, will occupy the pulpit of Keene United Church. Rev. John Archibald and he will exchange pulpits and manses for the month. The United Church at Keene is meeting with good success under Mr. Archibald's ministry, and a splendid spirit prevails. At the June Communion 241 partook of the Sacrament. During the year of union, 26 children were baptized by the minister. The Y.P. Club, the Mission Band, and other organizations are in a thriving condition. The W.M.S. is one of the strongest societies in rural Ontario, and the choir one of the finest. Large congregations gather every Sunday, and as early as 9.30 a.m. there is a S.S. of 150 pupils.

Rev. Mr. Christie is a keen fisherman, and American visitors will have to be early on Rice Lake if they want fish for dinner, for his reverence, like the present occupant of the pulpit, hails from that little "out of the world corner," Scotland.

Nurse Tells How To Relieve Eczema

Mrs. Wm. Campbell, a graduate nurse of Morden, Man., reports a very interesting experience she had recently with a distressing case of eczema. The patient was a lady who had suffered keenly both mentally and physically because of the way her face was disfigured and by the itching, burning sensations of the skin. She had become discouraged because doctors considered her case incurable.

Mrs. Campbell had known of similar cases and by patient persistent treatment was able to obtain complete relief and restore the natural beauty of the skin.

Mrs. Campbell writes:—"A patient under my care was so severely afflicted with eczema on her face that the doctors considered it incurable and could do nothing for it. I decided to try Dr. Chase's Ointment and never found anything like it for the first application stopped the itching. By continuing the use of the Ointment, the eczema was entirely removed and the complexion greatly improved. No one would ever know that my patient had previously been so disfigured by this annoying and torturing ailment."

Dr. Chase's Ointment is the recognized standard treatment for eczema. It should never be confused with ordinary salves for it is a medicinal ointment of proven merit and effectiveness. 60 cents a box, all dealers, or The Dr. A. W. Chase Medicine Co., Limited, Toronto.

Help to Weed Out

The Incompetent Motor Drivers

BY SECURING YOUR MOTOR VEHICLE OPERATOR'S LICENSE NOW

NO matter how cautious you are in the handling of your car, the safety of yourself and your passengers is dependent largely on the other drivers on the road.

To prevent incompetent persons endangering your family and yourself, each driver in Ontario, not already licensed as a chauffeur, must possess a Motor Vehicle Operator's License.

Secure your application form today. You can get it from any garage or issuer of motor car licenses in the Province. The fee for a License is $1.

Traffic Patrol Officers may call for the production of Operator's Licenses both on city streets and country highways. If you cannot produce your License you will be subject to a penalty under The Highways Traffic Act.

New Drivers, and those suffering from physical disability, have the opportunity to pass an examination by Inspectors of the Department. These Inspectors are located at convenient points throughout the Province. Your garage will tell you of the one nearest to you. The examination fee is $1.

Ontario Operator's Licenses are recognized in every Province and every State. Wherever Operator's Licenses are required, an Ontario Operator's License is necessary for everyone in charge of an Ontario car. Do not attempt to leave the Province without your Motor Vehicle Operator's License.

A satisfactory measure of support by the great majority of motorists has been accorded the Department in its past efforts to maintain the safety of the highways. The higher speed limit and an abnormal increase in traffic now render this additional measure necessary. The Department therefore sincerely hopes you will indicate your support of safe highway travel by securing your Operator's License without delay.

Announcing the Significance of Searchlight Specials

Sometimes unusual opportunities occur in the bigger buying fields. Manufacturers need floor space in a hurry; the last of a discontinued line must be cleared irrespective of price; tariffs change and producers find themselves stocked with merchandise that they cannot duplicate—these opportunities offer bargains that occur but seldom, and when they do, can only be secured in quantities too great for most individual stores to handle.

Canadian Department Stores, Limited, the consolidated buying power of twenty-two of Canada's largest stores, can obtain them at their best prices, and offer them for your personal selection in your home town.

That you may know them at once when they occur, we have instituted the name "SEARCHLIGHT SPECIAL" to be applied to them, and to them only. "SEARCHLIGHT SPECIALS" are not just special values, they are extraordinary values, brought about by unusual buying circumstances, and secured through the tremendous power of chain store buying.

BELMONTS WIN POST SEASON SERIES

BELMONTS WIN LEAGUE TITLE AND ENTER ONTARIO PLAY-OFFS

FINAL SCORE 14-8.

Winners Hit Better With Men on—Many Errors Made.

By defeating the Lock Works 14 runs to 8 last night, the Belmonts carried off the post season honors in the Softball League and the right to enter the Eastern Ontario finals. They as yet have one game to play; but they have two wins over the Lock Works, who are running second.

The game last night was played in James Stevenson Park, and a large crowd of fans turned out to see these two teams struggle for the Peterboro honors. Better games have been witnessed previously this year, as the nervousness of both teams caused many errors in the field.

Waddell, the Lock Works southpaw, was pulled from the box in the fifth, but Joe Dunkerley, who replaced him, found it hard to find the plate, and passed three men for two runs in the sixth inning.

The Belmonts started the fireworks in the second inning of what at first appeared to be a tame game of softball. Delahaye, the first man up, was given a free ticket. Jobbit lifted one to Crary, who made a splendid catch of it. Frick singled. McLean made a two-bagger, scoring both Delahaye and Frick. Green grounded out. Haskill was passed. Hall hit for two bases, scoring McLean and Haskill. Ash singled, but was caught stealing second.

The Belmonts hit in the pinches and they gave their pitcher, Carl McLean, better support. The Lock Works were able to get some men on in most of the innings, but their pinch hitters were lacking.

McLean in five times to bat got a double and three singles, and was passed once. Home runs by Hall and Frick with runners on each time helped to add to the Belmonts' big end of the score. Hall and Crary each got a three-bagger and Hall, Jones and McLean hit two-baggers. Hall in six times to bat got a home run, a triple, a double, and a single.

The Lockworks put up a fight in the fourth and threatened to defeat the Belmonts, when they staged a four run rally, tieing the score after two men were out. In this innings hits by Dobson, Crary, Nichols, Weese and Mongomery resulted in the runs.

The Belmonts came back with four in the fifth on the Lockworks' wild throwing. They scored twice in the sixth, once in the seventh, and three times in the eighth.

The run in the seventh was cheap. Ash singled and then walked the rest of the way when the Lockworks watched the ball lie in play behind the pitcher.

The Lockworks scored once in the sixth and seventh and twice in the eighth. The line-ups:

TRAVEL TO AND FROM THE WEST BY LAKE AND RAIL

Palatial steamships flying Canadian Pacific house flag provide triweekly service between Twin Cities and Bay terminals. Contrary to what one might expect it is no more expensive to travel by steamship to Fort William than by rail. It is cheaper in fact, as ten dollars covers the whole of ones meals as well as the berth on either the Keewatin, Assiniboia or the Manitoba which are the finest ocean steamships on the Great Lakes.

By leaving Toronto shortly after noon on a Saturday or Wednesday it is possible in less than three hours to connect with a Steamer at Port McNicholl and enjoy two days and nights afloat. A similar connection may be made at Owen Soupd on Mondays. Sault Ste. Marie is the only port of call en route, but it is a voyage replete with interest and charm, a restful and refreshing break in the westward journey and the service is irreproachable. Returns Purse Money For the King's Plate

MONTREAL, Aug. 6 (Canadian Press).—The Montreal Jockey Club was enriched to the extent of $1,000 yesterday afternoon when Norman Macfarlane, owner of the horse Saguenay, returned to the club the purse money of the King's Plate. Saguenay was the only racer entered and had a walkover, but Mr. Macfarlane waived the prize money, expressing himself as satisfied with having it recorded that his horse had "won" the King's Plate. Attached to the purse was an additional prize of 50 guineas, the gift of His Majesty the King.

LIFE HISTORY OF WALTER JOHNSON

(BY BILLY EVANS.)

The greatest thrill of Walter Johnson's remarkable career, he himself tells me, was centred in the last four innings of the final game of the 1924 World Series.

After having waited 18 years to get a chance to work in the baseball classic, the opportunity finally arrived when Washington won the American League pennant in 1924. The fans, like Johnson, had been pulling for the chance to see the smoke ball king pit his stuff against the cream of the National League.

After being beaten in his first two starts, losing the first game after 12 innings of play, in which he struck out an even dozen, it seemed as if the opportunity to strut his stuff had come too late.

Prior to the seventh and final contest of the series, with the games standing at three all, I had a long chat with oJhnson in the dressing-room at the Washington club. He was mighty disconsolate. Those two defeats had created more sorrow in his heart than all his other reverses in 18 years of glorious victory. He seemed to think that in the one big test he had failed loyal fandom.

"A lot of things may happen before this ball game is over," was my parting remark as I left Johnson alone in the big dressing-room, methodically packing his belongings for the return to his home in the west.

"Maybe. At least I hope so," was the rejoinder.

I could see by the expression on his face and the way he spoke, that he held out little hope for a chance to wipe out the two reverss.

Things did happn in that ball game. Going into the eighth inning with Washington trailing 3-1, Manager Stanley Harris began rushing in his reserves, in the hope of at least evening the count.

With one out, Nemo Liebold, batting for Tommy Taylor, a minor leaguer who was filling in at third, smashed a line drive to left for two bases. Ruel, who had not made a hit in the series, broke in with number one, which put men on first and third and still only one out. Tate, batting for Pitcher Marberry, walked, filling the bases.

As Tate went to bat in place of Marberry, the Washington crowd got to its feet almost as one person, at the sight of Walter Johnson rushing out to the bull pen to warm up. It was apparent that Manager Harris intended to put the game up to Johnson if his club was able to tie or go out in front.

The hopes of Washington faded as McNeely flied out to left and the runners held their bases. It was up to Manager Harris, the next hitter. With two strikes on him, he singled to left, the ball bounding over Lindstrom's head, Liebold and Ruel scoring, evening the count.

From this spot on, Walter Johnson dominated the game, until Washington put over the winning run in the 12th. In four innings he struck out five men, most of them coming with men on bases.

Those four innings provided Walter Johnson with the greatest thrill of his long and brilliant career. In four innings, after waiting 18 years, he did what the fans expected him to do—shine brightly in a World Series.

The greatest disappointment of his career?? Walter prefers not to discuss that unpleasant happening. However, it came in the following World Series, that of 1925, between Pittsburgh and Washington. Fate stacked the cards against him this time.

Johnson opened against the Pirates and pitched a wonderful game. He allowed only five hits, struck out 10 men and finished in front by the score of 4-1. He followed this up by a 4-0 shut-out in the fourth game of the series, allowing six hits and fanning six of the opposition.

Since the series went seven games, the issue was put up to Johnson as to whether Washington was to repeat as a world's champion. When his teammates gave him a four-run lead in the very first inning, the series looked all over but the shouting from a Washington standpoint. In the previous 18 innings Pittsburgh had made only one run off his delivery, and that was a homer.

It wasn't in the books for Washington to win, however. Johnson was wretchedly supported and the strain of the two other games had robbed him of much of his stuff. Fate had given him just the opposite break of the previous series.

ORIOLES WIN FROM SKEETERS

Take 5-3 Victory After Double Defeat on Thursday.

BEARS WIN 6-2.

NEW YORK, August 6. — Canadian Press. — After Thursday's double defeat the Orioles to-day turned on the Skeeters and won at Jersey City by 5 to 3. Chambers who had the pitching assignment for Baltimore got along well until the sixth inning when Jersey City got to him for two runs. Cantrell relieved him to finish the game. Urbansky was responsible for all the Baltimore runs.

Bill Moore held Reading to four hits yesterday and Newark took the final game of the Reading series 6 to 2. George Quellich saved Reading from a shut out by hitting a home run with Floyd Trexler on first in the ninth inning.

TRACK AND FIELD MEET AT TORONTO

Athletes From All Parts of Dominion Will Be in Toronto August 20.

TORONTO, Aug. 6.—(Canadian Press).—The 38th Canadian Track and Field Championships will be held in this city at the University of Toronto Stadium on Saturday, August 20.

It is expected that this will be the best athletic meet held in Canada this year, and the best athletes in the Dominion will be seen in competition. The Canadian Olympic Committee is assisting in defraying the expenses of athletes from outside Ontario who reach the standard set by the Olympic Committee, and this action in itself assures a record entry list.

The following events are on the programme: 100 yards dash, 220 yards dash, 440 yards run, 880 yards run, one mile run, pole vault, running high jump, running broad jump, throwing 16-lb. hammer, putting 16-lb. shot, throwing discus, 120 yards hurdles (10 flights 3 feet 6 inches high), javelin throw, one mile walk, five miles run, one mile relay (4 men, each running 440 yards).

Canadian Sculler Wins Singles Event

DETROIT, Mich., Aug. 6 (Canadian Press). — Joe Wright, Jr., of the Argonaut Rowing Club of Toronto, won the National Association singles event of the National Amateur Rowing Association regatta at the Wyandotte course yesterday. His time was 7.01 3-5 minutes. John J. McNicholas of the Penn Athletic Club, was second.

Kenneth Myers, of the Bachelors' Barge Club, Philadelphia, led the field to the mile post, but collapsed and was removed from his scull and taken to a Detroit Hospital.

The Senior 145-pound four-oared shell event was taken by the Penn. Athletic Club, with the Argonaut Club of Toronto second. The time was 6.29 3-5.

CUBS INCREASE LEAGUE LEAD

Make Clean Sweep of the Boston Series By 5-2 Victory.

6TH STRAIGHT WIN.

NEW YORK, Aug. 6 (Canadian Press).—Chicago increased its lead over the Pirates yesterday by making a clean sweep of the three game series with Boston, taking the final game yesterday 5 to 2. It was the sixth victory in a row for the Cubs.

Kent Greenfield, whose pitching aided materially in beating the Pirates in two games in their last series, was unable to check the Cubs yesterday when they launched their attack in the fourth inning. He was replaced by McQuillan. Percy Jones, in addition to holding the visitors to eight scattered hits, led the Cubs' attack with the bat, making four hits in four times at the plate.

Win Final Game

The bat of Cy Williams yesterday spelled defeat for the Pirates at Pittsburgh and Philadelphia won the final game of the series 9 to 7. The veteran Williams, who is leading the National League in home run blows, added another to his total and also got a single, double and triple and a base on balls for a perfect day at bat. He drove in five of the Phillies' runs and scored three himself.

The curves of Adolphe Luque proved too much for the Giants at Cincinnati and the Reds further spiked New York's pennant assault with a 3 to 0 shutout. The Cuban limited the Giants to five scattered singles. The Reds gathered only seven hits off Virgil Barnes and Don Songer, but three singles and a sacrifice in the fourth counted two runs. Songer was the victim of the final tally in the eighth.

Sensational relief pitching by Jess Petty proved too much for the world champions, and the Cardinals bowed before the Robins in the St. Louis series wind-up 5 to 2. Petty worked the last four and one-third innings yielding only one hit, and was officially credited with the victory.

CANADIAN BOATS WIN HIGH HONORS

Take Five of Seven Races in the Second Day's Programme.

KINGSTON, Ont., August 6. — Canadian boats won back some of the supremacy that went to the Americans on Thursday, when in the second day's racing yesterday they won five of the seven races, only the Sec. "B" and the Veterans' class going to the American boats.

A surprise of the day was the defeat of Kathea II., winner of the Freeman cup, which was beaten by Diana, H. F. Richardson's Kingston boat. The Kathea was forced to take fourth place. In the "P" class Strenger of Toronto won handily over Alloade of Rochester, while Cara Mia was right behind.

The results of the races were:

Mister Sporting Editor:

I ain't hardly got the heart to write you after the 2 big disappointments I got last week-end. I stayed me in town over the holiday, figgering to see a good ball game Sat. and a real race meet Mon., and I didn't see nothing. Them Columbias which was to have played the Petes here arrived just in time for supper, and, of course, the customers and the home talent had long before that hit for the evening meal themselves. Mister Bob Abbott better send the next Toronto team billed for here a bit of good brake lining so they can't have no excuse for balling up a game.

As for Mon., it looks like the Turf Club oughta go in for promoting swimming races. Twice already when they have billed a programme they has been rained out, and Mon. the showers arrived just as Mister Art Blade got his voice in tune to call the first lotta hay-burners out to the track. Take it from me, Mac, they was a rare lotta good horses all prepped up to go, and I for 1 wouldn't been surprised if the track record hadda been shot full of holes. But along come the rain, and the whole works went blooie!

Anyway, Mister Sporting Editor, it looks like we oughta get some senior league baseball yet before Mister Rollie Denne's fall fair is here. Sat. the Lakeshore League magnates is arranging for the playoffs, so it won't be long now. It looks like Oshawa Motors will be the Petes' opposition, and they ain't nothing to stop Mister Swanston's lads knocking the Benson Hedges outa their sweat shirts.

Well, Mac, I ain't worrying about baseball for the next 2 weeks, because I am billed to do the annual holiday in the general vicinity of Crowe's Landing. If I ain't two busy dropping the fish a line, I may drop you 1 next week just to make the customers feel sore reading about the big ones I catch. Not that I'm too all-fired sure I'm going to get any. They tell me the muskies ain't at home even when you do a house to house canvas. Well, I'm here to state that if they want to do business with me they'll have to be on their toes. I don't figger spending all day looking for them when I can get all the fish I want in tins, salmon snacks and soused mackerel, or what have you? I'm going to give the Stoney Lake fish a sporting chance, and if they don't want to take it they needn't blame me. I'm taking along a can-opener anyway.

Now Mac, take good care of yourself. You betta order your meat as usual, but if I do catch me a mess I'll ship you a fish like dad used to catch. You know me, Mac.

Sportfully yours,

A. WISE CRACKER.

RUTH LESSENS GEHRIG'S LEAD

Makes 35th Homer in Yank's 5-2 Victory Over Tigers.

WINS EVEN BREAK.

NEW YORK, Aug. 6 (Canadian Press).—Babe Ruth's 35th home run of the season, placing him within two of the string already compiled by his team mate, Lou Gehrig, featured the Yankee's 5 to 2 win over Detroit yesterday. The victory gave the Hugmen an even break in the four game series.

After a rocky start when the Tigers clubbed him for two runs in the first inning Waite Hoyt settled down and held Detroit runless thereafter. The Yanks battered Ken Holloway, usually a Nemesis, from the box in the third. Smith finished for Detroit.

At Boston two triples by Ira Flagstead played important parts in the Red Sox four to one victory over the Chicago White Sox. The game marked the fourth straight win chalked up by Carrigan's charges, gave them a clean sweep in the White Sox series and pushed their string of home stay victories to nine out of the last twelve starts. Flagstead's triple in the third started a three-run rally and his second three-base hit in the sixth accounted for the final Hub tally.

Hammer St. Louis

Washington hammered four St. Louis pitchers for a total of seventeen hits and won a slugging match from the Browns, 17 to 8 at the Capital. In the fourth the Senators scored ten runs and Goslin, after starting off the inning with a single, hit a homer over the right field wall, scoring two ahead of him. It was his ninth circuit clout of the season.

Philadelphia and Cleveland were not scheduled.

[illegible] IN GAME AT WARKWORTH

Injury To Player Mars Northumberland League Contest.

MUCH ARGUMENT.

Home Team Has Hard Luck in Losing to Campbellford 14-7.

CAMPBELLFORD, Aug. 6.—A large number went to Warkworth yesterday for the Warkworth-Campbellford Northumberland league game, which ended in a 14-7 score in favor of Campbellford.

It was a fast game of ball from start to finish. There was lots of good ball and also lots of rag-chewing. Rev. Charles Daniels, the pep dispenser, was on deck and did noble work in keeping the old ship from becoming a wreck on the rocks of discord.

About ten unofficial plate umpires took up comfortable positions on the grass near first base. From this vantage ground they had it all over the official plate umpire when it came to calling strikes and balls. Whenever a chewing contest started, everybody flocked around to try for first prize.

There were many good plays in yesterday's game as well as very many errors. Warkworth's first run was made on an error at second. In the second inning the game switched from baseball to a mixture of farce and pantomime. Zufeldt threw the ball to first. It was missed by the first baseman. A man came in from third, then Dawson claimed that the ball was not in play as the pitcher was not in his box when he threw the ball.

Towel Spiked.

In the first of fourth, Holmes, in trying to make third, badly spiked Towel, who was carried off the field with his groin badly lacerated. Thompson replaced Archer in centre field, Archer replacing Towel. In the 7th inning Duncan replaced Thompson. Going to centre field Duncan caught a splendid fly which spelled three out for Campbellford. Going to bat Duncan hit a three-bagger—the first in the game. Warkworth's fielding was all of a very high order. Dawson replaced Zufeldt in the box, giving Campbellford their first two innings without runs. Campbellford, however, picked two out of the 9th inning.

Christie made two double plays unassisted. Catching a ball struck to first he put the runner to 2nd out. This play he repeated. A nice double play was made by Warkworth's third base when, after catching a fly, he threw it to second, putting a runner out. Cowell made a splendid home run on a hit down the first base line. It was the only home run in the game.

Warkworth had its unlucky day yesterday. It started off with trouble in getting the team together, and then there was the unfortunate and regretable accident to Towel, and the constant changing of players, some of the regulars arriving as late as the 7th inning.

Score by innings:

Warkworth	1	0	2	1	0	0	3	0	0— 7

Umpires: Plate, Charles Davidson; bases, McMillan.

DELORO LOSES TO POINT ANNE

Many Errors Aid Visitors in Winning Out, Five to Three.

WINNERS FIELD WELL.

MARMORA August 6. (Special.)—Deloro were decidedly off color in their home game with Point Anne yesterday tasting defeat by a 5 to 3 score. Brown, Deloro's consistent hitter, was robbed twice in the game through play of the spectacular type.

Sonny Green made a lightning grab of his hot liner in the fourth and Weir did well in getting his long liner in the eighth. Ralph, Deloro's southpaw, twirled throughout for his team, and Strachan, pitching first game of the season against Deloro, also lasted the game.

Neither side scored in the opening frame, the scoring started in Deloro's half of the second. Quinn after singling made third on an overthrow. Narrie reached first on a wild pitch, Quinn registering. Narrie was out stealing second ,and Brown and Hughes struck out retiring the side.

The score was unchanged in the third, three batsmen leaving J. Quinn stranded on third.

In the fourth, Point Anne obtained their lead, which they maintained for the rest of the game. M. Green popped out to Jack. E. Green singled. Gaulin hit to Jack and was safe. Green and Gaulin stole, Weir grounded to short stop, Green scoring on the put out. Strachan hit to Narrie and was safe on a wild throw to first, Gaulin scoring. Strachan went to third on a low pitch. Dies grounded out to second. In the fifth (which was scoreless) M. Green hit into a double play, Narrie to A. Quinn to Hughes.

In the following innings Point Anne secured a trio. E. Green singled. Gaulin was safe on Narrie's error. Regan went to third, Jack taking short stop. Green and Gaulin stole, Brown fell in fielding Weir's double to left, Green and Gaulin crossing the plate.

Strachan hopped to Hughes; Dies singled scoring Weir. Dies was caught off first and Blakely fanned.

Deloro failed to respond with a score.

In the eighth Deloro reduced the odds against them. With Ralph out out at first Bond doubled. Jack followed suit, scoring Bond and taking third on a wild pitch. Boudreau was safe on Blakely's error, Jack scoring. A. Quinn bunted safe, Boudreau reached third on a wild throw to first, Quinn taking second. Regan fanned. Weir's brilliant catch of Brown's long liner arrested further scoring.

Deloro's last league game is with Belleville away next Wednesday—part of a second double header in that city.

Umpires: Gerow at plate; Collins on bases.

CREDIT CRASH NOT EXPECTED

Sir John Aird Sees No Fear of Disaster in United States.

WOULD MEAN WAR.

TORONTO, Aug. 5.—That the prediction of Sir George Paish, the noted English economist, of a great economic crash unless the United States curtails its credits to European countries, was an unnecessarily alarming interpretation of the financial situation, was the opinion expressed by Sir John Aird, president of the Canadian Bank of Commerce.

"I do not thi... there any fear of a crash at all," Sir John said. "It is my opinion that there is a pretty clear understanding between Great Britain and the United States generally, and the financial interests of both nations probably realize the dangers just as much as Sir George Paish. Their interests are so closely identified that I think they would take all the steps necessary to prevent such a thing happening. I think Paish is unnecessarily concerned about the situation."

Recently, Sir John pointed out, a conference had been held between representatives of the four powers principally concerned with the situation referred to by the English economist, Great Britain, the United States, France and Germany.

"My idea would be that one of the subjects they discussed would be the very thing Sir George Paish speaks of," he said.

A crash of such dimensions as that prophesied would mean a war, Sir John pointed out. "That is what he is hinting at, but I don't think it would happen. Of course, I am not one of the people who believe there are not going to be any more wars; there will be wars again, but I think they will be minor ones, not the kind of thing that such a financial crash would bring about."

Referring to Sir George Paish's query as to how the European nations could possibly repay their borrowings from the United States, Sir John Aird admitted that the task would be a hard one for the borrower nations.

"Germany has no colonies of her own now," he pointed out, "but is a big manufacturing and exporting country. That is the only way she can repay her debts. But the United States tariff is so high that German goods cannot get in. And the United States is now a temperance country, and does not import French wines."

It was only by the export of goods that such countries could pay their debts, Sir John said. If they were prevented from shipping enough goods to a creditor country to establish a trade balance in their favor, they were faced with only two alternatives.

"They must either go into the market and buy gold, which is impossible, or borrow further. That is what Sir George Paish is hinting at. But Germany is making a very valiant effort to repay her indebtedness."

It was not to be forgotten, on the other hand, Sir John pointed out, that the United States enjoyed extensive export markets for her own goods in the European countries to which she had been lending, and that the value of those markets must be taken into consideration when calculating the disadvantageoeus situation resulting from the unpaid debts.

F... OUS SCREEN PAIR RE-UNITED

The motion picture is standardizing the human race.

This is the opinion of Alice Terry, famous screen beauty, who recently returned from Europe, where she was the heroine of "Mare Nostrum" and "The Magician," to play with Ramon Novarro in "Lovers." Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's sensational drama of scandal coming Monday to the Capito Theatre.

"What Esperanto was expected to do the screen has done," she says, "in promising international understanding. Through it different nations have come to know each other better—and thus have become more alike. The ultimate will be the standardization of the human race."

Miss Terry plays the leading feminine role in the new production, a vivid story of modern Spain directed by John M. Stahl, with Ramon Novarro in the principal male role. It is a dramatic story based on the perils of scandal to modern society, and shows in a graphic play how slander undermines a family and damages the very soul of its victims.

The cast is a notable one, including, besides Novarro and Miss Terry, Edward Martindel, famous stage and screen actor, Edward Connelly, Geoerge K. Arthur, John Miljan, Otto Hoffman, Lillian Leighton, and others of note.

A sensational sword duel between Novarro and Miljan is one of the spectacular details in the new production. Its locale is Spain in modern times, with modern customs and modern European ideas. Elaborate settings mark the presentation of the play, one of the most importan... of theseae son from the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studios.

Miss Terry returned specially from Europe to appear opposite Novarro in the play, and returned immediately after to take part in "The Garden of Allah," being filmed by Rex Ingram in Africa. She and Novarro played together in "Scaramouche" when the combination was hailed one of the ideal ones of the screen.

WOMAN RULES.

LONDON, Aug. 6.—There is one country in the world where the woman is undisputed head of the household. It is Thibet, where the husband must bring his earnings home or account for them, and if he does not earn as much as his wife thinks he should, he is likely to be divorced and chased from the home. Thibetan women are thrifty and show more enterprise than men.

Irish Hearts

By MOLLIE MALONE

Copyright 1927, Warner Bros. Pictures, Inc.

"IRISH HEARTS," with May McAvoy, is a Warner Bros. picturization of this novel.

SYNOPSIS

Emmett Murtough of Killanmaul, Ireland, emigrates to America and is followed by Sheila Kildare to whom he is bethrothed, and her father. Sheila begins to learn that Emmett is unworthy of her love. She meets the O'Shea family. Rory O'Shea is a professional boxer but a fine young man. He is instantly won by the young woman's old country charm and invites her to go to Coney Island. Murtough and her father object. It is her first outing.

CHAPTER V—Continued

Sheila had felt her heart warm at this demonstration of affection for children, and she could not stay the thought of what a fine father Rory would make. A faint flush spread over her cheeks at the picture of Rory with "her" children in his arms.

"Sure, an' it seems to me 'tis getting warm," remarked Sheila to Kathie O'Shea.

"'Tis warmer out, too," spoke up Rory quickly, "and we had best be getting on if we're to get to the Island before sundown."

"To the Island—to Coney!" exclaimed Kathie.

"Indeed, yes. Miss Kildare promised me the other night when she was here."

"Rory, ye be talking fast, Son," laughed the mother.

"Sure, an' who wouldn't with a colleen like her," complimented Mike O'Shea, and his eyes twinkled. "'Tis myself that wishes I had the chance."

Rory laughed heartily at his parents' good natured joking, and Sheila felt no embarrassment; she knew that they meant it kindly. But Old Tom Kildare was ruffled. So when the young couple was ready to be off he accompanied them to the door in spite of Mike

"Ye'r that has-been prizefighter, Battler O'Shea, are ye not?"

O'Shea's hearty urge that he remain and talk about the land of Knockbotherum which lay beyond from Killanmaul way.

"No, I'll be going," the old man stubbornly insisted. "I'll be waiting for Emmett," he said pointedly to Sheila as the O'Shea door closed behind them.

"Pleased to have met you, Mr. Kildare," Rory said heartily as he offered his hand. "Don't worry about the daughter. I'll take good care of her." The old man turned up the stairs and Sheila fled in front of her escort through the street door. They were silent for a few paces, then Rory asked with a grin:

"And am I to be jealous of Emmett!"

"Indeed, an' no. He's just a young man like yourself who used to live in Killanmaul an' who came over ahead of us. He's a great friend of father's."

"And you are not engaged, or anything like that?" persisted Rory.

"Maybe he thinks he is, but I know I'm not," retorted Sheila with all honesty.

"And that's that," commented Rory. "Now for Coney and we'll see everything there is to see."

They had reached Ninth Avenue on their way to Broadway and so to Times Square when they were halted by a man standing directly in front of them. Rory, without glancing at the man, took Sheila's arm to pass to one side.

"Sheila!"

"Glad to know you, Mr. Murtough," said Rory as they shook hands.

"An' I'm glad to see ye, too," replied Murtough. "I couldn't place ye when Mr. Kildare an' Sheila told me about ye, but I place ye now. Ye'r that has-been prizefighter, Battler O'Shea, are ye not?" Emmett's sneer rather than his words awakened Sheila to the insult that had been offered.

"Emmett, father is waiting for ye, an' we're late as it is, Mr. O'Shea an' me." Sheila took a step forward and so placed herself between the two men, Emmett Murtough, standing five feet nine and weighing a hundred and eighty pounds and hard, and Rory O'Shea, who was five foot five and who had weighed in at one thirty-three pounds every time he ever fought.

"I'll be waiting 'till ye get home, Sheila," said Murtough, and to Rory, who for Sheila's sake had ignored the other's surly greeting, it sounded like a threat. The lightweight promised himself he would keep an eye on this self-appointed guardian of Sheila Kildare's goings and comings and friendships. Murtough passed on without further words.

Sheila and Rory were silent. Of course, Rory thought to himself, after all there might be an understanding. The two had known each other in the old country and who was he to interfere? But Sheila had distinctly said that there was no existing engagement, which certainly opened the way for the best man to win.

The girl walked on without a word. As she left the Murtough her eyes flashed with the quick Kildare temper, but her humiliation overcame her wrath and tears were near to her eyes. Her fingers, laid lightly upon the arm of Rory, gripped his elbow.

"I'm sorry," she whispered. "He had no right to question me, or anybody I'm with. 'Tis father an' him who are after me to marry, but I don't want to be married yet."

"Forget it," said Rory. "But promise me, if he ever bothers ye in any way that ye'll tell me." Sheila turned and looked at the trim little fellow beside her, wondering. Never had she believed Emmett to be a brave man, but couldn't Rory see that he would be as nothing in the hands of the stronger and bigger Murtough. Rory read her mind.

"Ah, I've settled with dozens of those kind of welters," he said carelessly. "I've boxed them in every training camp I've ever been in. You just tell me if he annoys you."

So the Murtough was promptly set aside and forgotten by the holiday makers. Rory pointed out to Sheila the immense motion picture theatres that line Broadway from Fifty-second Street down and told about the half dozen times he had been engaged to take part in rough and tumble fights at the studios with other men of the prize ring. He told of meeting some of the stars and explained the little he knew about the details of taking motion pictures, little of which Sheila understood, but all of which held her spellbound when the stories poured forth easily in the boyish voice of Rory O'Shea.

What Coney Island lacks today in the cheap come-on stalls of ten years or so ago it makes up in well regulated amusements for the sight-seers. Never will this long stretch of beach and its back streets fail to thrill the girl or youth who visits it for the first time. American boys and girls are familiar with parks arranged along similar architecture with gaudy fronts and thousands and thousands of brilliant electric lights; but to a girl like Sheila, who never in all her life had seen such blinding color, it was like a mammoth fairyland. Her exclamations of delight and her childish enjoyment of the smallest detail overjoyed Rory. There were girls, Rory recalled, to whom Coney Island was an old story and whose enjoyment was measured by the money spent in entertainment. Sheila, indeed, on several occasions had protested at his extravagance.

After supper at one of the oldest restaurants they turned to the magnificent Boardwalk which now skirts the beach. Here was the sea and the smell of it, the tang of salt in the air, recalled Killanmaul to the girl. The faintly sounding bands and carousal music boxes passed out of her consciousness as she leaned upon the rail and looked eastward, where some place was her beloved home. The spell of silence grew upon her and her gayety at first so stimulated and enlivened by the scenes along Surf Avenue left her. Rory O'Shea seemed to understand. He gave no heed to the sadness which overwhelmed her, but he respected her silence. Sadness is the portion of Irish hearts, romantic wanderers, seekers of new trails and always, the rainbow's gold somewhere at the end of the way of their dreams.

Sheila sighed and turned from the sea. She took Rory's arm and they turned slow steps toward Seagate. On the way Rory espied the Coney Island steamboat and decided that even though it was cool that the chill of the river would be preferable to the subway. Under his guidance they found chairs on board and a corner protected from the breeze.

REGATTA HELD AT CURVE LAKE

All Events Are Closely Contested and Witnessed By Good Crowd.

WELL HANDLED.

CURVE LAKE, August 5.—The annual regatta at Curve Lake was held in the afternoon of Thursday, August 4th, with a good crowd, which was made up of the people of the village, summer visitors and a number of cars of tourists from Deer Bay. The regatta was held west of the Exhibition grounds, with a triangular course for the major events and a shorter course for the ladies' races, and the crab race. Bert McCue was announcer and clerk of the course, and Dow Taylor Jr. was starter. Merritt Taylor was manager and David Jacobs treasurer. The entire program was under the auspices of the Curve Lake Baseball Club.

The races and winners were as follows:

Men's Single Canoe.—Merrit Taylor, Hiram Taylor, Darcy Knott.

Boys' Single Canoe.—Joe Daird Cecil Knott.

Crab Race.—Percy Knott, Henry Taylor, Steve Nicholls.

The Men's Tandem Race was very good, there being close competition to the very last inch. The Crab Race was very amusing as the competitors found it difficult to keep their boats straight as anyone who ever paddled in a crab race knows, and the applause was both loud and long. The Mixed Tandem Canoe race was very close also, the boats keeping together throughout the entire course. The list of entries was not large, whether because of lack of boats or lack of enthusiasm, we can't say, but each event was well paddled.

Following the regatta a program of land sports was run off on the exhibition grounds, with a larger number in most of the races than in the water sports.

Bert McCue was announcer for these events also, with D. Taylor the starter and Tommy Taylor assisting at the finishing line for the flat races, and Jonas Taylor and Hiram Taylor in charge of the jumping.

The results were as follows:

Married Men's Race, 100 yards.—Don Taylor, Elwood Coppway, Steve Nicholls.

Boys of 15 Years and under.—Willie Knott, Clifford Whetung.

Girls' Race. — Ruth Heineman, Gladys McCue.

There were no entries for either the married ladies' race or the fat man's race, the day was warm for violent exercise and probably those eligible for these events felt that the effort was too great.

Running High Jump. — Merritt Taylor; Vic Leeper.

A game had been arranged between the Cognawaga Baseball team of Peterborough and the Curve Lake team, but the former had not arrived at 5.30, so doubtless the game will be postponed till a later date. In the evening a dance was held in the Community Hall.

Congratulations are due to the committee who engineered the programme and arranged the various events; Bert McCue and M. and D. Taylor were "on the job" all the time and much of the success is due to their efforts and those of their assistants. Curve Lake village has become very popular as a tourist resort and the visitors showed a keen interest in the proceedings.

PRINCE HONORS HERO'S DAUGHTER

Dances With Valerie Jones and Has Her Included in Boat Party.

FATHER LED 21ST.

BROCKVILLE, Aug. 6.—Britain's chivalrous Prince yesterday paid homage to a Brockville girl whose father gave his life in the service of King and country. When Lieut.-Colonel Elmer Jones left his fireside for the fields of France little Valerie Jones was a girl of ten, and snapshots show her clinging to the arm of her daddy, who came not back.

It is almost nine years to the day since Colonel Elmer Jones "went west." He was in command of the 21st (Eastern Ontario) Battalion at the Amiens show. They had gained their objective, and the Colonel was advancing along the road with his battalion, when a German machine gun found the range, and the gallant officer was mortally wounded. That was on Aug. 8, 1918.

For his courage in face of the foe Colonel Jones was awarded the D. S. O. with bar. A brave woman and a little girl were left in Brockville to carry on, and in their humble residence are to be seen the personal effects of the warrior father who gave his life in the great cause. His medals, treasured beyond all other mementos, occupy a place of honor at the fireside to which the Colonel will never return.

His widow and daughter carry on, and Brockville was delighted beyond measure to hear that Valerie Jones, now a beautiful young woman of 22, was "the belle of the ball" at the Country Club in Ottawa Thursday night. The Prince of Wales danced four times with her, and by his special request on Friday morning George T. Fulford included her among the favored guests on the trip by steam launch through the Thousand Islands to Kingston. Brockville's verdict is that Valerie Jones is a fine girl, who, with her mother, more than maintains the splendid traditions of soldier father and husband.

FOLLOWING CONFERENCE.

BARRIE, Ont., August 6 (Canadian Press). — Another unexpected development in the investigation by the Provincial Police into the series of thefts which culminated in the slaying of Daniel Forsythe by Alexander Hodge at the latter's farm home, occurred late yesterday when the police arrested Joseph McDermott, cattle dealer, and Elwood Noville, a friend of McDermott.

The arrests followed a long conference between the police and Edward Hickland, under arrest. Noville is charged with receiving stolen goods, while McDermott, who had been out on bail for perjury, was re-arrested on charges of stealing cattle.

BETHANY BEATS COGS AT HOME

With Staples Pitching Bethany Wins By 9 to 7 Over League Leaders.

PLAY HERE MONDAY.

Bethany put over a 9 to 7 win in their home game with Cognawagas last evening, getting a lead of three runs in the first frame. Ray Staples stopped the Cogs with a fine pitching performance, fanning the side in the opening inning. Howden and Vannest divided the hurling for the Cognawagas and D. Daris did the back stopping.

Half way home, the Cogs tied the score and they threatened to come through with a win in the sixth but a double play stopped the rally. Both teams hit well and Williams had a triple. Staples tightened in the seventh when Cogs started another rally and scored a run.

TRUTH VERSUS ERROR

Some are uncertain in regard to the meaning of such words as "soul," "spirit," "death," "hell," etc. This uncertainty or confusion is to a great extent the result of listening to preachers giving forth false meanings to those words, together with the reading of erroneous sentiments in prose and verse.

It is true, we each should think and study for ourselves; but it is a lamentable fact that a great many of us do not do that.

The real meaning of the word soul is a living breathing creature. Every creature that breathes is a soul (see Gen. 1: 20-30, margin). Man was created a living soul. When man dies, a soul dies. To say a soul or a man is alive when dead is an absurd monstrous untruth. Death is a cessation of being. To say there is no death is as irrational to say black is white.

The primary meaning of the word "spirit" (as pertaining to man) is breath or vital force. Soul, spirit, and life, in regard to man are practically one and the same thing.

The English word "hell" has been grossly misunderstood. The erroneous ideas concerning soul, spirit, and death has led up to the accepting of the unreasonable and devilish doctrine of "endless torments" as an interpretation of the word "hell."—M. T, Butcher. 1d, 31, 7456

C.N.R. APPEALS AGAINST RULING

HEARING SEPT. 6.

OTTAWA, Ont., August 5 (Canadian Press). — The Canadian National Railways has appealed against the order of the Board of Railway Commissioners directing the publication of the joint tariffs naming rates from points in the Maritime Provinces to stations west via St. John and Ste. Rosalie Junction, which will be the same as between the same points on the Canadian National Railways direct. The Board has set September 6 as the date for hearing the appeal.

NEW RESTAURANT IS WELL FITTED

Louis Yeotes Will Open Ice Cream Parlor and Delicatessen on Monday.

Monday morning will see the opening of a new up-to-date restaurant and ice-cream parlor on George Street. This will be in the building formerly occupied by the Yeotes tobacco store, and for some time has been under reconstruction to give the Peterborough people a restaurant on a large city style. This new parlor is owned by Louis Yeotes, and will be managed by J. Econs.

The seating capacity of the restaurant will be a hundred, for the seats are placed back to back along each wall and down the centre aisle of the store.

There are special features about this new restaurant that will appeal to all persons. For example, there is an automatic toaster, which browns bread at exactly the right temperature. The soda fountain is completely fitted with Frigidaire, promising perfect ice-cream service. Near the centre of the rooms stands the large automatic Orthophonic Victrola which was formerly on display in the Warne store.

Soft golden lights add beauty to the store. They are hung from long chandeliers and cast their mellow light to the deep walnut finished benches and panelled walls.

The chef is Spanish and formerly was employed in the Statler Hotel at Buffalo. Practically all the staff to be employed will be from Toronto and Montreal.

All fixtures, including the marble fountain, were manufactured in the city, and Mr. Yeotes promises a surprise to the citizens when they first visit his up-to-date delicatessen store and restaurant, where service and quality will count.

Chairman Of Conference.

Major George C. Riley of Montreal, Chairman of the Canadian Main Committee of the Second (Triennial) Empire Mining and Metallurgical Congress which is convening in Canada from August 22nd to September 28th. Special trains will convey the delegates from the Atlantic to the Pacific in order to study the mineral resources of Canada.
Many of the delegates who reside in the far corners of the Empire, will have travelled right round the world by the time they return to their homes.

JUST A FISH STORY

Apropos of the Dog Days and Holiday Spirit of Summer.

Scene— The usual chatty, conversational postlude to a Fair Board Meeting as the members gradually disperse. Among those lingering—George Duncan, Tommy Hooper and Reg Turner.

Reg Turner started it.

"You're all sunburned Tom, where have you been" he asked.

That led to fishing, and Hooper told one about the time Alex Chalmers hooked a hefty pickerel and flapped it into the boat. While Alex was congratulating himself and foretasting the evening's fish dinner, the pickerel recoiled so violently at the mention of the pan that it bounced out of the boat and disappeared with a splash.

"Never mind Alex," said Hooper. "Madden Howard lost three last summer that way. It's just as well to squelch them a little bit when you catch them."

"Tom, I'll bet you never had to get the Government to help you with a lunge," George Duncan suggested to the Chief of Idyl Wyld.

"You might as well tell us George," Hooper replied. "You know I'm not so fussy about fishing, but if I hook one I usually land it myself. And all I ask the Government is to bear down on taxes."

Said Duncan:— "I'd lost a couple of big ones between Hatrick's and Harwood, so I went to Ray Best one day for a real line. He says I got the very thing for you. The traveller told me this is so strong the C. P. R. ordered it as part of their standard equipment, and if they break a coupler or anything like that they just hitch the train together with this line. That sounded good enough and in the next couple of weeks the biggest I caught went fifteen pounds, and I had no misses.

One afternoon about five o'clock I was trolling out through the old eastern channel, you know, pointing off toward Harwood. There was a dredge working almost at the forks of the east and blind channel, as it was then. Well, just as I was saying "hello" to a fellow on the dredge, I got a heavy bite, and in the next minute I knew I had a big one, and had him hard. The men on the dredge stopped to watch me, and were yelling what to do. I gave him lots of line, and floated a ways past the dredge, just a short distance. All of a sudden the line went dead, like when your hooks pick up weeds. I heaved and pulled and rolled up line, but couldn't budge it. The whistle on the dredge blew for five o'clock, and my spectators left me for supper.

I refused to cut that line, so after a while I called out to the boss on the dredge, "Joe, how about giving a little yank on this line with your derrick?"

"You're crazy," Joe says. "It'll only break, so you might as well cut it."

"I've got five dollars if my line won't raise that log," I told him. I thought it was a log or something like that.

So I tied the line to a stanchion on the dredge, paddled to shore and walked away up to Kylie's to telephone. I got Dave on the line, and told him how it was. He said he was sorry, but it was contrary to Government regulations, and if he helped me he would have to help every darned fisherman around Rice Lake, and the dredge would be just a pleasure boat or a steam trawler. Besides, it was after five and he could not order the firemen to work, as it was against the union rules.

Well, I went back to the dredge and told the boss Dave said it was O.K., but they couldn't put in overtime on it. Supper was over by that time, and the crew was curious about that bite I got. So I snubbed the line to a steel chain on the bucket of the dredge after they had let it down close to the water and the boss took charge.

To make a long story short, would you believe it, that line had somehow got looped and caught in the roots of a stump. We raised it a foot out of the water and the line held like an anchor hawser on a battleship."

"What about the fish?" Tom Brown queried.

"I managed to loosen the line from the roots and right away knew I still had the fish. The line was tied to the bucket, and Joe says: "Let's lift him with the derrick."

So we took up the slack in the line, snubbed it again, started the engine and slowly hauled in the line until about 15 feet remained.

"You should have seen that lunge, Tom; I remember one Ab. Metheral brought in some years ago. It went about 35 pounds. But you should have seen this one!

"Will we dump him in your canoe?" Joe hollored as the engine lifted the big fellow clear of the water and reeled him up about ten feet in the air.

"I was afraid it might upset the canoe and thought we'd let him down on the mud scow. Just then Mr. Lunge took a convulsion of some kind. He flailed around with his tail so fiercely that the line broke. You can get some idea of his weight from that fact. The wave he made nearly upset my canoe.

"That was a helluva good line you had anyway," Joe said after we got through moaning.

"Just then another cart drove up, eh! George-" Webber Turner grinned as Duncan paused as if he had finished.

"Fishing gets the best of them," observed Tom Hooper, to Willie Knox —"Strange thing, isn't it! Sometimes I feel myself."

"Say, did I ever tell you about my patented elastic fishing line Premier Ferguson begged me not to market," Reg. Turner interrupted.

"Let's go," Duncan laughed.

"You never heard that one did you, Steinkrauss. Remind me about it the next night. When it comes to catching fish this gang are pipers."

BOMBS SET OFF IN N.Y. SUBWAY

Three Explosions Within Half Hour Cause Great Damage.

AT LEAST ONE DEATH.

NEW YORK, Aug. 6.—Three terrific explosions in a period of twenty-four minutes, apparently caused by bombs set off in a deliberate attempt at wholesale destruction, wrecked three local stations of the Interborough Rapid Transit Company's east side subway and one of the B.M.T., all near mid-Manhattan, last night.

Early this morning it was definitely known that at least one person had been killed, and that scores had been injured. It was expected that the death toll would mount. No comprehensive list of the injured was obtainable, so complete was the confusion.

The stations shattered by the force of the blasts were those of the Interborough at Fourth Avenue and 23rd Street, Fourth Avenue and 28th Street, and Fourth Avenue and 33rd; and the B.M.T. station at Broadway and 28th Street. Although no bomb exploded at Fourth Avenue and 33rd Street, the station there was battered and twisted by the pressure of the blast at the next station down, Fourth Avenue and 28th Street.

Immediately after the explosions all available police, together with fire apparatus, were rushed to the stations. A dozen or more ambulances were rushed from Bellevue and New York Hospitals.

Police Reserves on Guard

In fear that other bombs may have been placed in different stations, police reserves were hurriedly placed on guard. Men who had finished their tours of duty and gone home were hastily called in. Police Commissioner Warren rushed from his home to headquarters and took personal charge of the police work. His first order was that every policeman in the city remain on duty until further notice.

The explosions completely tied up all four tracks of both the East Side I.R.T. and the B.M.T. Not a train was able to move past the twisted wreckage piled high across the tracks. Huge stones were torn loose from the walls. Steel pillars were bent and twisted.

The windows of buildings in the streets near the station were shattered for blocks around. Pedestrians on the streets were knocked off their feet. Passengers in subway trains were dumped from their seats and many were cut by flying glass.

Without a warranty deed, the Wiggin farm near Stratham, N.H., has been handed down from father to son since 1631.

The United States infantry in the Canal Zone is trying to find longer mules to carry guns. The weapons tickle the ears of the animals now in use, often causing serious complications.

OBITUARY

MRS. THOMAS TROTTER

The death occurred last night of one of the city's oldest residents, Phillippa Kinsman widow of the late Thomas Trotter, in her 93rd year. Her husband predeceased her thirty seven years ago.

She leaves to mourn her loss three sons, George of Vancouver, B.C., Charles of North Monaghan, and Bert of this city; also two daughters, Mrs. Robert Robson of Peterboro, and Mrs. George Barrett of Detroit, Michigan.

The funeral will take place on Monday afternoon, at 2.30 from the residence of her son, 308 Aylmer street, with the Rev. R. Mills officiating.

THE MARKETS

Toronto Market Quiet Except Unlisted Shares

TORONTO, Ont., August 6 (Canadian Press). — With the exception of a fair volume of trading in the unlisted section, the market was quiet on the Toronto Stock Exchange today. International Nickel was irregular, with the closing quotation of 63½ showing a decline of ¼. Industrial Alcohol was quiet but firm at 34⅞, a gain of ⅜. City Dairy was a strong spot advancing 6½ points to the new high of 146½. C.P.R. dropped two points to 188, and Consolidated Smelters declined three points to 226. British-American Oil continued active and strong at 27, a gain of ⅜. Imperial strengthened ⅝ to 48¼.

Wheat Prices Go Down As Rust Reports Cease

CHICAGO, August 6 (Canadian Press). — With black rust reports losing effect apparently as a market influence, wheat showed an early downward trend to-day. Indications for a large Canadian crop were also cited as a bear factor. Starting ¾c to ⅞c off, wheat underwent some additional setbacks. Corn, oats, and provisions were likewise easier, corn opening unchanged to ⅝ cents down, and later sagging all around.

New York Stocks Sag In Brief Session To-day

NEW YORK, Aug. 6 (Canadian Press).—Pronounced reactionary tendencies developed in today's brief session of the stock.

General Motors, Allied Chemical, and some of the other recent industrial leaders were the hardest hit, although there were no wide open breaks. On the upside, buying was most effective in such specialties as Collins and Aikman and International Harvester, each of which sold at least five points above yesterday's final quotations.

U. S. Steel Common was under pressure, but some of the independents, particularly Republic and Inland, received strong support. Public utilities also presented several strong spots, Brooklin Union Gas mounting to a new high and Brooklyn Edison climbing more than 3 points. The closing was heavy.

Iron and Steel Strong In Toronto

Last week's strong cotton market feature still holds a large share of attention in the markets of this week, and following higher quotations in the east, western markets are giving considerably higher figures on cotton twines and ropes. Iron and steel products on the whole have exhibited a fair amount of strength with the exception of pig iron which took a drop to the lowest figure that it has reached this year. Flat and corrugated sheets are moving well. A substantial advance of 50c per cwt. is made in copper wire and brass wire has followed to a higher figure. Jobbers report that the holiday had but little effect on the general turnover, and that many mail orders were received from outside points, where the seasonable sales are brisk. A consistently high average of crops throughout Ontario is causing a feeling of optimism among the trade.

Trade in the western provinces, especially in twine and rural merchandise is brisk. The warm weather of recent weeks is declared to be responsible for a heavy turn over in oil stoves and refrigerators. Sales in garden hose have been very lax on acocunt of the frequent showers in Ontario. New lower prices on electric switches are announced this week. Interesting announcements in the radio field are to be announced in the near future in time for fall bookings.

OSSIFIED MAN HERE FOR FAIR

Harry Williams Puzzles Doctors—Has No Chest Expansion.

PERFORMING MIDGETS.

Medical men of Peterborough County are invited to visit Ossified Harry Williams, one of the strangest human curiosities alive to-day, who will be seen on the world's fair midway where the Zeidman & Pollie Shows will erect their twenty-two shows and ten riding devices for the entertainment of visitors to the 1927 Peterborough Exhibition, which will be held this year in the week of September 12. He has for more than twenty years been a complete puzzle to leading medical men of the United States and Canada. He has been the subject of innumerable clinics, and although his examiners are unanimous in that his is the most complete case of ossification ever known to medical science, none of them have been able to find any cure, or any means of halting his gradual turning to stone.

Harry was a miner in Pennsylvania from the age of twelve until he was thirty-five and never knew an ache or pain. Returning from work one night he noted a peculiar stiffening of the joints, and the following day the ossification set in that to-day has made him more than half a stone man. He has no chest expansion, talks and breathes from his stomach, and supports a weight of more than six hundred pounds from his rock-like neck.

Mike and Ike, incomparable twin midgets, and their troupe of performing Lilliputians, will be among the twenty-two shows Zeidman & Pollie will bring to the Peterborough Exhibition this year, together with ten modern riding devices and numerous minor entertainment features. The shows travel on a special train of forty double length railroad cars, and more than 400 people form the personnel required for the operation of this gigantic amusement organization.

Decoration Day Held at Little Lake Cemetery

Impressive Scenes Witnessed When Canadian Legion Keeps Tryst With Fallen Comrades

Speakers Representing Parliament, Civic Government, Church and Judiciary Unite in Eulogy of Men Who Made the Supreme Sacrifice.

TINY UNION JACKS AND WREATHS LAID ON GRAVES OF FALLEN HEROES

Judge Huycke Makes Eloquent and Moving Address at "War Veterans' Plot"—Sixty Thousand and Every Man a Great heart."

Simple and impressive was the ceremony of Decoration Day observed in Little Lake Cemetery by the members of the Peterborough branch of the Canadian Legion yesterday, three days after the thirteenth anniversary of Britain's entry into the Great War. Except in the case of the bandsmen of the Peterborough Rangers, there was no evidence of military uniform; the members of the Legion to a man were attired in mufti; but to those who actually participated in or witnessed the ceremonies at the Cenotaph and in the cemetery, yesterday afternoon will be remembered as one of the solemn and inspiring moments of their lives.

Shortly before 2 o'clock, the Veterans assembled in front of the Cenotaph under the command of Captain James Abraham, first vice president of the Peterborough branch of the Canadian Legion. The sun was shining brightly and the grassy plot in the rear of the memorial was bathed in light as the bands of the Peterborough Rangers and the Salvation Army played Crumling's "Meditation." As the notes of the anthem floated in the air, Captain Abraham deposited the wreath of the Legion on the Cenotaph, and relatives and friends of the dead soldiers came forward with floral tributes, which were laid all round the base. The silence that followed the final strains of the anthem was broken by the sound of the "Last Post," played by Lieutenant W. H. Peryer. Above, the Union Jack dipped in tribute, lowered by Captain S. Whatley, secretary-treasurer of the Peterborough branch, while Captain Abraham stood at the salute. Again the cornet, now in more joyful mood, sounded the "Reveille," the dawn of a new day, and the flag once more waved proudly at the top of the mast.

Order of Parade

In obedience to the word of command of Captain Abraham, the men formed into marching order and the parade commenced, headed by V. Stewart carrying the Canadian Legion Standard. The automobile of Dr. N. H. Sutton, conveying three war-scarred veterans, Messrs. Stanley, Brian and Waterman, and of S. Whatley with Mrs. Mills, president, and several members of the executive of the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Legion, followed. Behind, came the bands of the Peterborough Rangers and the Salvation Army; E. A. Peck, M.P.; members of the City Council, Alderman G. A. Macdonald deputizing for Mayor W. T. Holloway, who was out of the city; Aldermen C. S. Cotton and Malcolm McIntyre, joined at the cemetery gates by Alderman Walter Stocker. Next in line came the long defile of members of the Legion and ex-service men with Captain James Abraham and Captain Rev. Paul Costello leading the way. Every veteran had a wreath or spray of flowers in his hand, and the overwhelming majority wore the medals won in honor. Accompanied by a large crowd the parade passed up Murray Street and marching down George Street at a swinging pace under the influence of the old familiar tune, "Colonel Bogey," turned up Lake Street and into the cemetery. Massing in the veterans' plot, the members lined the pathway, with the bands and the speakers in the centre.

Captain Abraham

In a brief introductory address, Captain Abraham apologized for the absence of Lt.-Col. C. H. Ackerman, president of the branch who, as a member of the Provincial Executive, was called on to attend the great open air veterans' service at Toronto at which H.R.H. the Prince of Wales was present.

He had also to intimate the unavoidable absence of His Worship Mayor W. T. Holloway, but he was glad to say that an able substitute had been sent in the person of Alderman G. A. Macdonald.

They had met, declared Captain Abraham, to honor the memories of their comrades who were buried in that hallowed spot. Many of those who came from France returned suffering from wounds and illness and had to struggle on until they received the final call from their Supreme Commander.

Year by year they met in this way and year by year their ranks were being depleted and their roll call was steadily growing. "To you who have come here to mourn the loss of husbands, brothers or sons, we say that are all here on the same mission. Those whom we honor are not lost, but have simply gone before."

Pride and gratitude were the keynote of the brief speeches of His Honor Judge E. C. S. Huycke, E. A. Peck, M.P.; Alderman G. A. Macdonald and Captain Rev Paul Costello.

Judge Huycke

The boys whom they honored, said Judge Huycke in an eloquent and moving address, were objects not only of sorrow and mourning, but also of love and pride. During the past week, Canada had opened its Hall of Fame, a National Memorial

They Kept Their Rendezvous

I have a rendezvous with Death
At some disputed barricade,
When spring comes round with rustling shade,
And apple blossoms fill the air.
I have a rendezvous with Death
When spring brings back blue days and fair.
It may be he shall take my hand
And lead me into this dark land,
And close my eyes and quench my breath
It may be I shall pass him, still
I have a rendezvous with Death
On some scarred slope of battered hill,
When spring comes round again this year
And the first meadow flowers appear.
God knows 'twere better to be deep
Pillowed in silk and scented down,
Where love throbs out in blissful sleep,
Pulse nigh to pulse, and breath to breath,
Where hushed awakenings are dear;
But, I've a rendezvous with Death
At midnight in some flaming town;
When spring trips north again this year,
And I to my pledged word am true,
I shall not fail that rendezvous.

PRINCES REST ON TRIP WEST

First Respite of Visit Comes During Journey to Alberta.

RANCH RUNS AS USUAL.

CARTIER, Ont., Aug. 8 (Canadian Press)—Westward bound, the Princes and the Premier are enjoying the first real respite of their Canadian holiday. Since they arrived in Canada their lot has been one of almost continuous ceremonial. Today and tomorrow they travel to the Rockies with the briefest possible stops. The Royal Special merely slowed down at Sudbury while the crowd on the platform cheered and waved.

No Special Preparations

CALGARY, Aug. 8 (Canadian Press).—No special preparations are being made at the E.P. Ranch, Pekisko, Alta., for the home-coming of its royal owner, His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales, on Wednesday, Prof. W. Carlyle, ranch manager, said yesterday.

Of course additional facilities are being provided for the sixteen members of the Royal party, and this is putting some strain on the bed and dining room space of the Royal home, but otherwise the Alberta Royal rancher will find his establishment running much as it is when he is away. No tourists will be permitted within the gates of the ranch during the time His Royal Highness is "home," Prof. Carlyle said.

Pickpockets Prosper In Toronto Excitement

TORONTO, Aug. 8.—Pickpockets had a field day working in the crowds that swarmed about the City Hall Saturday morning to get a glimpse at the Prince of Wales and party. While the reception was going on they stole upward of $1,000.

Police are inclined to believe they came from out of town. Purses and bill folds were taken from men's hip and side pockets. The sums ranged from $6 to $200. One man reported that he had lost $500.

One bill fold stolen fooled even the persons who had stolen it. Originally the bill-fold contained $120. The thief had taken two $10 notes from the outside of the wallet, then dropped it on King street. A woman picked it up and handed it over to the police. Examination of one of the inner folds of the wallet showed two $50 bills.

Later on in the day police found at least four empty wallets in the vicinity of Queen and Bay streets.

COMMANDER.

CAPTAIN JAMES ABRAHAM,

JUDGE DENIES PETITION FOR WRIT OF ERROR

Stay of Execution Not Within Jurisdiction of State COURT.

HABEAS CORPUS REFUSED.

BOSTON, Mass., August 8 (Canadian Press). — Justice Sanderson, of the State Supreme Court, to-day denied petitions by counsel for Nicola Sacco and Bartolomeo Vanzetti for a writ of habeas corpus and a stay of execution. He also denied the petition for a writ of error.

Justice Sanderson said that after giving the arguments all consideration, he must deny application for a writ of error.

"This Court," he continued, "has no authority to grant a stay of sentence. The questions included in the petition for a writ of habeas corpus are not proper to an action for a writ of habeas corpus, and are therefore dismissed."

BUILDINGS THREATENED.

NEW YORK, N.Y., August 8 (United Press). — Several of the larger buildings here received the following note to-day:

"Unless you help to save Sacco and Vanzetti, we are going to blow your building up. We have enough dynamite to blow up the whole town, and we mean business.

"(Signed)

"Anarchists of the World for the Freedom of Sacco and Vanzetti."

The buildings which received the note were The Standard Oil, Woolworth, and Equitable Buildings, and several churches.

ARMOURED CARS USED.

NEW YORK, N.Y., August 8 (Canadian Press). — Armoured cars have been added to New York's police precautions against violence, pending the execution of Nicola Sacco and Bartolomeo Vanzetti in Boston on Thursday. The greatest police guard in the history of the department, including the concentrations during the World War, patrolled New York today from the tunnels under the Hudson River to the railroad yards in Queen's, far at the other end of the city.

Outside police headquarters, a flying squadron of fourteen motor cycle men, with two armoured cars, were on twenty-four hours' duty. Orders were issued to strengthen the guard on the public and semi-public buildings, such as the telephone exchanges and the banks.

Police mobilization will continue "until further notice."

BABY BOY KILLED BY FATHER'S CAR

Is Thrown Out By Swerve and Crushed When Car Upsets.

PEMBROKE, Aug. 8.—Harold Tabbert, 16-months-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Tabbert, was accidentally killed yesterday morning at 9 o'clock when he was thrown out of the car which his father was driving, and the car turned over on top of him.

Mr. Tabbert was driving his car in Alice Township yesterday morning, and his wife was in the front seat with him. An uncle, with three of Mr. Tabbert's children, was in the back seat, and Master Harold was on the uncle's knee. On rounding the corner at Falberg's Hill there is considerable loose gravel, and when the car unexpectedly swerved the youngster was thrown out. The car lost balance and fell on its side on the child, killing it instantly. Dr. Graham, Coroner, Pembroke, was called, but considered an inquest unnecessary. None of the other occupants was injured.

Will Halt Labors On Day Of Execution

BUENOS AIRES, Aug. 8. — (Canadian Press). — (Sacco). — Joining the movement which has been organized by labor elements as a protest against the impending execution of Sacco and Vanzetti in Manachusetts, the railroad workers have decided to halt their activities on August 10 the date set for the execution. The train crews will suspend work for 15 minutes, while the workers at the shops intend to abstain from work for 24 hours.

All activities in the oil fields of Comodoro Rivadavia are reported to have become paralized. The authorities are taking precautionary steps to prevent disorder.

THREE KILLED AND FOUR HURT

Seven Passenger Car Upsets at Mont Joli, Near Quebec.

DRIVER LOSES CONTROL.

QUEBEC, Aug. 8. — (Canadian Press.)— Three persons were killed and four injured in an automobile accident at Mont Joli, on the south shore of the St. Lawrence yesterday.

The dead are Mrs. Geoerge Berube, fifty, mother of eight children; Mrs. Frank Damien, forty, mother of four children; George Berube, eighteen, a son of the dead woman.

The accident occurred at the railway crossing of Val Brilliant, Matane county. As the driver of the seven passenger car, in which all the victims were riding, was taking a short turn, he lost control of the machine, which turned turtle and pinned beneath all the occupants except one. The other four occupants of the machine were seriously injured.

COUNSEL TRIES THREE METHODS

Lawyer For Condemned Radicals Still Working For Reprieve.

SEEKING NEW TRIAL.

BOSTON, August 8. Canadian Press. — Counsel for Nicola Sacco and Bartolomeo Vansetti pinned their hope to-day upon three separate steps to obtain a respite from death for the two convicted Radicals, found guilty of a double murder.

If any one of the steps succeeds, here probably will be no execution at the Charlestown State Prison on Thursday, but if all fail the doomed men will be a bit nearer to the electric chair, and one of their precious three remaining days of life will have expired fruitlessly.

A plea for a writ of habeas corpus —an attempt to obtain a reversal of the decision and a new trial, will be asked by counsel, and Governor Fuller will be asked to grant a second stay of execution.

Presidential candidates first were nominated by national convention in 1831, when the National Republican Convention nominated Henry Clay.

Prince Officiates At Formal Opening Of the New Bridge

Declares It Commemorates Peace Between Two Countries For More Than 100 Years—Ladies Cut Ribbons Barring Highways.

GENEVA CONFERENCE IS MENTIONED; DIFFER IN DETAILS, NOT IN PRINCIPLES

Most Addresses Delivered Contain Only Formal References to Goodwill Between Two Countries—Bridge Cited as Symbol of Peace and Progress.

BUFFALO, N.Y., August 8. — Still one more link to the bond of international friendship between the United States and Canada was forged yesterday in the formal dedication of the new Peace Bridge, connecting this city with Fort Erie, Ontario. The ceremony was carried out under unusually distinguished auspices, since amongst those present were His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales, Prince George, Premier Stanley Baldwin of Great Britain, Vice-President Dawes and Secretary of State Frank B. Kellogg, of the United States, and Premier W. L. Mackenzie King, of Canada.

The actual cutting of the ribbon with the golden scissors, which formally opened the structure to traffic, was carried out by Mrs. W. D. Ross, wife of Ontario's Lieutenant-Governor, and Mrs. Dawes, wife of the United States Vice-President.

The occasion was attended by an enormous crowd on both sides of the International line, although the actual ceremony was held for the greater part on American territory, where the addresses were delivered. In view of the attendance of Premier Baldwin and members of the United States Cabinet, it had been hopefully anticipated some definite pronouncement upon the Geneva situation might be forthcoming. Such, however, was not the case. References to Geneva were simply to the effect that it represented a disagreement upon a matter of detail rather than a divergence upon any matter of principle, and that it left the close friendship of the British and United States' peoples still essentially undisturbed.

Dedication Ceremony

The dedication ceremony was in some of its phases a colorful one. The Prince of Wales, his brother and Premier Baldwin, drove up on the Canadian side, where His Royal Highness was received by a guard of honor recruited from the Lincoln and Welland Regiment and by a red-coated troop of the Royal Canadian Dragoons in their burnished helmets. A brief address of welcome was read by W. M. German, K.C., vice-president of the bridge company after which His Royal Highness inspected the guard.

The Canadian party moved forward to the centre of the bridge, where white ribbons were stretched at the international line, surmounted by flags of the two countries and with a real dove of peace forming a part of the decoration scheme. Golden scissors were then presented to Mrs. Ross and to Mrs. Dawes, and they formally cut the ribbons and declared the structure opened.

The two parties, who had to this point carried out the ceremonies then intermingled and again entering the motor cars were escorted across the bridge by a squad of United States motorcycles. The addresses in connection with the dedication were delivered by Governor Alfred E. Smith of New York Premier Ferguson of Ontario, United States Secretary of State Kellogg His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales, Premier Baldwin, Premier King, and Vice-President Dawes.

Verses of O Canada, God Save the King and the Star Spangled Banner were interspersed in the exercises, while the doxology was also sung and prayers delivered by Rabbi Joseph L. Fink, Rev. Charles D. Broughton and Right Rev. Bishop Turner.

Addresses Delivered.

Governor Smith's address was nothing more than a formal, albeit a hearty welcome to the distinguished British party which had come to take part in the ceremonies.

Premier Ferguson in following him spoke in acknowledgment of the welcome, but also declared that he intended taking a leaf out of the American's own policy of turning each situation to account by urging upon them to cross the bridge in order to spend their money in Ontario. Emphasizing the tourist attractions, which the province offered he declared that Ontario desired to to exchange some of the pleasure which it had to offer for a part of the great fortunes which residents of New York had gained.

Premier Mackenzie King of Canada stressed in his address the friendliness of the relations which had grown up between the United States and Canada. Where formerly there had been two forts, he said, there were now two bridges. The achieve-

Five Are Killed In Grade Accident

YAZOO CITY, Miss., Aug. 8.—(Canadian Press).—Five persons were killed and two more believed fatally injured here yesterday when a Yazoo and Mississippi Valley passenger train struck an automobile at a grade crossing on the outskirts of the city.

MINERS WANT 5-YEAR TRUCE

Would Have Peace Between Capital and Labor—Favor New Union.

BOLSHEVISM CONDEMNED.

LONDON, August 8. — United Press. — A five year truce between capital and labor was demanded yesterday at a mass meeting of 16,000 miners in Newcastle, the occasion being a demonstration in favor of the new non-political miners' union.

The speakers, including such speakers as George Spencer and Havelock Wilson, condemned the communist influence in A. J. Cook's Miners' Federation.

On the platform were several industrialists like Sir George Hunter, a prominent shipbuilder, and the meeting was voted a success.

Special trains and fleets of motor busses brought the delegates from all parts of the surrounding country.

It is expected that the meeting will result in an increase in the membership of the new union despite the country drive by the miners federation.

BRIDGE OPENING GOOD FORTUNE

MEETING OF STATESMEN.

LONDON, Aug. 8 (Canadian Press Cable).—British newspapers devote much space to the opening of the Peace Bridge between Fort Erie, Ontario, and Buffalo, N.Y., yesterday. The Daily News says it was a stroke of undeserved good fortune that so soon after the dismal breakdown of the tri-partite naval conference British and American statesmen should be able to meet together on Canadian territory in the opening of a new peace bridge.

PRINCE'S SPEECH HEARD IN SYDNEY

Not Strong Enough, However, For Relay To Ordinary Sets.

SYDNEY, N.S.W., Aug. 8 (British United Press).—The local broadcasting station, 2FC, received the Prince of Wales' speech at the opening of the Fort-Erie-Buffalo International Peace Bridge yesterday, but so weakly it could not be relayed on to ordinary radio listeners in this country.

BALDWIN SPEAKS OF CANADA AS PIONEER OF THE EMPIRE AT DINNER HELD IN TORONTO

Suggests She Might Lead in the Solution of Empire Problems.

TENDERED WELCOME.

TORONTO, Aug. 8 (Canadian Press). —Premier Baldwin spoke of Canada last night as a pioneer of Empire. He suggested that as she had led in the granting of Imperial preference she might now lead in the solution of Imperial problems. "Would it be rash to prophesy," he asked, "that in finding the solution Canada will take a leading part—that she will, once again, be a pioneer of Empire?" Canada had achieved full nationhood already. She had achieved it largely by her success in finding a practical working compromise between the many different elements which went to make up the national life. Now, Mr. Baldwin proceeded, she was called upon to apply those principles to the wide problems before the British Empire to-day. "We are jealous of freedom within our borders," Mr. Baldwin proceeded later, "but we believe unity is vital if we are to give our best service to mankind. Our supreme duty as we confront the world, is not the fostering of Imperial trade, vital as that is, but the preservation of world peace. To that we are dedicated more sincerely than ever in our history. Here I know I speak for all parties and I voice the deep and earnest prayer of the British people."

Mr. Baldwin spoke at the dinner given in honor of the Prince of Wales and himself by the Government of Ontario. The toast of both was proposed by Premier G. Howard Ferguson of Ontario, who observed that the Ontario Government felt that the occasion should be one of enjoyment and relaxation rather than speech-making.

Scraps Speech.

Equal to the occasion, the Prince of Wales scrapped the speech he had intended to make. "To-morrow," he said, "we celebrate a hundred years of peace. After a week of oratory, we might to-night hold our peace." He expressed warm thanks for the welcome tendered to him and added:

"Whatever her material developments may be, and however the face of Canada may alter in the years to come, I am bold enough to prophesy that her heart will remain much the same as ever. I base this prediction on my own experience. There are outward changes, marks of progress, to be noted since I first saw this country eight years ago; but the voice of welcome which greeted me in 1919 has not changed, and if it moved me then, you may be sure that it moves me far more deeply now. To be greeted as a newcomer, as I was then, is a wonderful experience, but such a greeting when it is repeated to an old friend is many times more valuable."

Mr. Baldwin opened by remarking that he had at first been in two minds whether or not to follow the example of the Prince of Wales and scrap his speech. But on second thought he recalled the invitation, a year ago, from Mr. Mackenzie King to visit Canada. Since then each cable had added a fresh engagement until there was some score of speeches to be made. These speeches meant much work and tribulation. "You asked for those speeches, and by Gad, you are going to get them," Mr. Baldwin added, the room rippling with laughter and applause.

Pioneer of Empire.

"I want to speak of Canada as a pioneer of Empire," he proceeded. "The exploits in the years gone by of the voyageurs, of the Coureurs de Bois, of those who blazed the trail to the West and who penetrated to the fastnesses of the North, these are familiar topics to an audience such as this. I have in mind more than these exploits, and what is possibly not so familiar, I mean the pioneer work which Canada has done in exploring the possibilities of self-government within the British commonwealth of nations. Let me take the most notable example of this

Four-Master Sends Out Call For Help

NORFOLK, Va., Aug. 8.—(Canadian Press)—With her sails carried away and her supply of food completely exhausted, the four masted schooner James E. Newson sent a call for help to the Norfolk coastguard through a coastguard patrol boat which located the disabled craft off Virginia Beach sea buoy Saturday.

The cutter Mascoutin has been dispatched to the rescue of the schooner. There are eight men in the hungry crew.

The schooner was due to arrive at Norfolk on July 23, with a cargo of plaster rock from Walton, Nova Scotia. Her home port is Boston.

POLICE GUARD U. S. EMBASSY AT LONDON

Several Thousand Sacco-Vanzetti Hold Demonstrations in Streets.

SPEECHES DELIVERED.

Would Forward Protest to U.S. President Against Forthcoming Execution.

LONDON, Aug. 8. —(Canadian Press). — Several thousand Sacco—Vanzetti sympathizers yesterday paraded from Trafalgar Square to the embassy in Grosvenor Gardens, with the avowed purpose of asking Ambassador W. B. Houghton, to forward resolutions of protest against the forthcoming execution of the condemned men to President Coolidge and Governor Alvan T. Fuller, of Massachusetts.

Strong forces of mounted police accompanied the demonstrators, who marched to Communistic airs played by bands. The procession interfered with traffic considerably along the route.

The embassy was found to be heavily guarded by police. Three delegates from among the paraders were admitted, and subsequently six more were allowed to enter. After a short interval all of them came out and the spokesman announced to the crowd that the people they wanted to see were reported to be away. The spokesman declared that they did not propose to accept this statement from the embassy but would make a further demonstration in Hyde Park. The procession then re-formed and marched to the park, where speeches were delivered.

The Sacco-Vanzetti demonstration was combined with a "no more war" demonstration. It started on the Embankment by the Thames, and the marches proceeded toward Trafalgar Square.

The paraders carried banners bearing such inscriptions as "open the prison doors for Sacco and Vanzetti," and "save Sacco and Vanzetti from the electric chair." Heading the procession was a veteran of the world war, seated in an electric chair, with a black cap over his face. He wore across his breast the medals which he had won in service.

Gathered Force.

The parade was not very strong at the start but gathered force as it proceeded, and several thousand people essembled in Trafalgar Square, where the principal speaker was Tom Mann, extremist laborite, who has just returned from China.

He attacked the British Government on many matters, and in speaking about Sacco and Vanzetti declared that their only crime was their objection to capitalistic society.

The demonstrators adopted resolutions, condemning what was characterized as the sacrifice of these men to class hatred and American capitalism. The resolution asked the United States Ambassador to forward the sentiments of the meeting to President Coolidge and Governor Fuller. One resolution called upon the British labour party and the trade union council to exert their whole strength to save the "two victims of class justice."

Break Up Meetings.

BOSTON, Mass., Aug. 7. —(Canadian Press). — Police late yesterday broke up several attempts to stage a Sacco-Vanzetti protest meeting on Boston Common under permits held by other socialist speakers. Several arrests were made and great excitement seized a crowd estimated at six to ten thousand persons, but no violence was reported.

Denounces Bomb Outrage.

LONDON, Aug. 8. —(Canadian Press). — The Sunday Times in an editorial declares that the bomb outrages in America are the worst and wickedest ways of expressing indignation at a suspected miscarriage of justice. They are also most foolish, adds the paper, as the American people and the United States officials are the last to be intimidated by violence of that sort.

INDIANS STAGE DEMONSTRATION

Pay Tribute to the White Men Who Have Succeeded Them.

OPENING PEACE BRIDGE.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Aug. 8 (CP).—The dim rays of the setting sun cast a yellow glow across the waters of the Niagara River Saturday night as a faded remnant of a once great people—the Six Nations of the Iroquois Indians—gathered in the shadow of the International Peace Bridge to pay tribute to the white men who have succeeded them.

Strangely out of place in a circle of automobiles, the descendants of the original owners of the lands of Western New York went through their traditional dance ceremonies, and then listened in silence to the words of their head chiefs praising the progress of the whites, and recalling the one-time glory of the red men.

From Chaweken, Ont., a Six Nations' reservation, came Mohawk Chief J. S. Johnson, to tell the warriors and the assembled whites of the peace league formed by the Iroquois in 1390, and the bonds of which never have been broken in the succeeding six centuries. First, the Five Nations he recalled, and then six, with the addition of the Tuscororas of the South, lived together without trouble after they had formed the confederation of the Iroquois.

The Peace Bridge, Chief Johnson declared, was the white man's symbol of peace, and he hoped it would mark a peace as lasting as that of the Iroquois confederacy.

Federal Agents Killed In Battle On High Seas

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla., Aug. 8. —(Canadian Press). —A federal agent and a boatswain of the coastguard were killed and two other guards were seriously wounded at sea by rum runners yesterday afternoon, according to information received here late yesterday.

The dead were Federal agent Webster and Boatswain Sanderlin. The wounded: Motor machinists mate Lamby; ship's cook (third class) Hollinsworth.

The shooting took place after a rum boat had been captured and two men taken aboard the coastguard patrol boat Number 249 en route to the Bahamas with Webster as passenger and Sanderlin in command.

According to the information received here, the two prisoners opened fire on the crew of the patrol boat. Sanderlin was radio telephoning base six here and was shot in the back, dying instantly.

The gasoline lines were torn from the engine room by the rum runners and an effort was made to fire the partol boat.

Royal Couple Attend Squadron Regatta

COWES, England, Aug. 8.—(Canadian Press Cable).—King George and Queen Mary, who have been attending the Royal Yacht Squadron's regatta here, returned to Buckingham palace today. The regatta concluded Saturday with the customary blaze of fireworks and colorful illuminations.

On Thursday, the King makes his customary visit to Bolton Abbey, Yorkshire, where he will be entertained by the Duke of Devonshire at the opening of the grouse shooting season. In the meanwhile, Queen Mary will pay several country visits before joining the King at Balmoral Castle. The grouse are reported plentiful both in Yorkshire and the Scottish moors.

BURNBRAE SOCIAL ATTENDANCE GOOD

Rain Disperses Crowds, However, Before All Goods Are Sold.

BURNBRAE, August 8. — Burnbrae's big event, the annual lawn social of St. Andrew's Ladies' Aid, was held on the school lawn on Thursday evening, and in spite of very threatening weather conditions, the attendance was large, the proceeds at the gate being over $210.00. The Northumberland Regiment Band furnished good music for the occasion, and everyone was preparing to enjoy the programme to the full after the wants of the inner man had been satisfied, but the weather man decided to take a hand in the proceedings, and a small deluge of rain about ten o'clock served to disperse the crowd. This was very unfortunate, as it spoiled the sale of goods in the various booths.

Under the conditions, the ladies of Burnbrae are congratulating themselves on the success of their annual social.

Before darkness set in, a five-inning ball game was played between Glen Ross and Menie, the former team winning 10 to 3. Smith was in rare form and Menie could do little with his offerings. The locals played under wraps most of the way saving themselves for their encounter with Bethel the next evening. The teams lined up as follows:

Glen Ross—Mitts, Smith, L. Fraser, C. Fraser, Brown, Farrell, Carlisle, Benedict, Hay.

Menie—S. Little, Rannie, Shillinglaw, L. Little, Linn, F. Little, Walker, Petherick.

PETITION FOR BRIDGE REPAIR

Several in Circulation Through Townships Adjoining Hale's Bridge.

AGITATION FOR CHANGE.

MILLBROOK, Aug. 8.—A number of petitions are being circulated in this community and the adjoining townships urging the councils interested to retain Hales' bridge at its present location. The bridge has been temporarily repaired and is now considered safe for a load not exceeding four tons.

There is some agitation to have a new bridge built nearer the landings adjacent to Fraserville, but there is also a strong feeling that the present bridge should be put permanently in repair, or replaced with a new structure, and no change made in the location.

A meeting of the committees responsible in the matter will be held at Peterborough in the near future, and probably a definite decision reached. Reeve S. Fallis and Deputy-Reeve G. Hootan represent Cavan in the question involved.

OLD BOOK FOUND.

Contained the Signature of Button Gwenett—Worth Thousands.

WOLVERHAMPTON, Eng., Aug. 5. —A small fortune has come to the Wolverhampton Blue Coat School, through the chance discovery by a local historian of three signatures of Button Gwinett, who signed the American Declaration of Independence, and became the first Governor of Georgia.

Gwinett made three signatures in a minute book of the school in 1761. Recently Gerald P. Mander, who is writing a history of Wolverhampton, came across the signatures.

Negotiations were then opened with New York dealers, and Gabriel Wells, a New York antique broker, purchased the signatures. The amount involved is not disclosed, but it is presumed to be large in view of the fact that a Gwinett signature brought $51,000 in New York this year.

TOO MUCH RAIN FOR HARVESTING

Burnbrae Farmers Have Little Pause Between Haying and Wheat Cutting.

MILK FLOW GOOD.

BURNBRAE, Aug. 8.—If local farmers had the ordering of weather conditions, no doubt there would be less rain just at present. Showers every few days are fine for growing crops, but do not promote rapid drying of hay so that the first week of August finds every farmer with some hay to cut or draw in whereas the haying is usually completed here in July.

There has been no rest between haying and harvest this year and most of the wheat is already in the barn, and also some of the barley while practically all of this crop is cut. The cutting of oats will be general in a week's time and the crop promises to be above the average. The weather of late has been ideal for growing heavy grain crops and in many cases the heavy crop of straw has been flattened by storms.

Threshing started to the southwest of the Burnbrae district on August 1 when Mr. Petherick, who has purchased the outfit formerly operated by A. C. Connor, moved into the English Line district. Threshing will be general here shortly over two weeks earlier than last season.

Corn and root crops are showing up well on high ground but due to lack of real warm weather these crops will be more or less a failure on low heavy clay. Potatoes have never looked better and some splendid yields of early tubers are recorded. While the berry crop does not seem to be up to last year's yield, the local demand will be pretty well supplied. Cherries are not as good as in former years and the birds are making short work of what there are.

With abundance of rainfall the growth of after-grass is all that could be desired and pasture crops have seldom been better. Consequently the yield of milk is holding well and some herds are even gaining so that the cheese production at local factories is holding close to the summer peak. With the approach of cooler weather and the lessening of held stocks of cheese in the big markets the prospects for cheese prices look better and with prices now well over the 18¼ cent mark farmers are looking forward with expectancy for the dairy cow to put a balance on the bank book.

Hog prices show a marked advance and although there is little profit with pork at 10 cents and oats at 75 cents, yet with the new crop soon to be on the market the margin will be narrowed so that even a profit may be shown before the summer is over.

CARS COLLIDE; REEVE IS HURT

Two Cars Badly Damaged in Crash at Campbellford To-day.

HEAD-ON COLLISION.

CAMPBELLFORD, Aug. 8.—Reeve Grills, of Seymour township, was cut about the face and hands and badly shaken up in a head-on automobile collision at the corner of Market and Front streets this morning.

The Reeve was driving down Market street when he collided with a car from Hendrick's garage, driven by a mechanic.

The fronts of both cars, including the engines, were completely wrecked.

kind of exploration. We all know that Upper and Lower Canada were the pioneers in the change from representative institutions to self-government as that was known in the first part of the nineteenth century. The measure of self-government then achieved may have been, in fact certainly was, incomplete from the modern point of view. All of us would admit that to-day. But at least it attempted, as Lord Durham declared, to link the development of Canadian freedom with the stable authority of an hereditary monarchy

Was Starting Point.

"This, then, was the starting point. Another quarter of a century goes by, and Canada leads the way again in the logical outcome, I mean the confederation of neighboring self-governing communities which owe allegiance to a common crown. It would be superfluous for me to say anything to you of the history of Canadian Confederation, except that it is a part of your history, of which you may all be proud. Yet, I would say this much. It is a great pleasure to remember that the parliament at home passed the British North America Act in no spirit of reluctance or of grudging acquiescence.

"'We are laying the foundation of a great state'," said Lord Carnarvon in moving in the House of Lords the second reading of the British North America Bill, 'perhaps one which, at a future day, may even overshadow this country.' And concluding his speech he declared, 'Come what may, we shall rejoice . . . that we honestly and sincerely, to the utmost of our power and knowledge, fostered their growth, recognizing in it the conditions of our own greatness. We are, in this measure, setting the crown to the free institutions which more than a century ago we gave them.'" sacred to the memory of those who went forth from Canada to the Great War and did not return. In this sacred place, this sanctum sanctorum, was placed the Book of Fame in which were written the names of all Canada's 60,000 who gave their lives in the Great War. Let them remember this when they sorrowed. The words on the altar which immortalized these names were:

IMPRESSIVE SCENES

"My marks and scars I carry with me to be a witness for me that I have fought His battles who will now be my rewarder. So he passed over and all the trumpets sounded for him on the other side."

The reference was to Greatheart in John Bunyan's immortal book, the Pilgrim's Progress. Greatheart had passed over the river of Death to the other side from where his friends were and as he went over they heard the trumpets sounding. His Honor believed the trumpets sounded for the entire 60,000 Canadian boys. Every one of them was a Greatheart who gave his life for his country.

Words of Socrates

He was particularly impressed by the speech of Stanley Baldwin at the unveiling of the National Memorial. Mr. Baldwin had chosen to refer to the last words spoken by Socrates. As he went to his death he turned to a friend and said:

"And so we go our ways; I to die and you to live, and which is the better, God alone knows."

God alone did know, and the great secret would not be known until they also had passed away.

They honored the men who lived so that the name of Canada was unsullied. It was for all who remained, especially the comrades of the men who had fallen to keep alight the torch committed to them by the departed, to remember their devotion; the purity of their lives; to live for Canada and to die for Canada and the Empire, as they had done. Their memory should inspire all who remained, to become better Canadians and better citizens, and to make the future of Canada worthy of such sacrifices.

"Oh valiant hearts who to your glory came Through dust of conflict and through battle flame,
Tranquil you lie, your knightly virtue proved;
Your memory hallowed in the land you loved."

E. A. Peck

They had met to recognise some of their responsibilities arising out of the war, was the initial statement of E. A. Peck, M.P. for West Peterborough. When war broke out, continued Mr. Peck, Canada cheerfully took the side of Great Britain and did all she could to bring it to a successful issue. She produced food, clothing, and munitions in great quantities for the Allies. But she did more than that. Canada raised the largest army in her history for the war. Nobody before the war imagined that Canada with a small population, in the neighborhood of nine millions, could raise an army of 500,000. But she did it. Men came cheerfully forward for service, and in Peterborough were found many who were ready to cross the Atlantic to face the foe. Canada equipped this army and did valiant service in the war on the side of the Allies.

What It Meant.

They had to bear in mind what enlistment meant for these men. They sacrificed their liberty that others might be free. They faced privation, danger, wounds and death. Now the war was ended and the people had to face the responsibilities which devolved upon them.

The army was demobilized but many were left behind in France. For them, little could be done, but to pay tribute to them. To those who still remained and to the wives and families of the dead, the country owed a great debt of gratitude.

G. A. Macdonald

Monuments, said Mr. Macdonald, who is himself a veteran of the South African War, were reminders of the mortality of men. It needed no words of his, he declared, to make the ceremony an impressive one. The men whom they were honoring were splendid men; they fought a splendid fight and died a splendid death.

Remembrance! What a wonderful word that was. They thought of those who had lived, whom they had loved and who had gone on before. They had hope of a life beyond the grave.

He wanted to leave this thought of remembrance with them. Let them remember those who were still with them; give a kindly word here and there and help those who needed help.

Rev. Captain Costello.

Rev. Captain Costello declared that they were there to honor 74 men of their own flesh and blood who had fallen in the Great War; to keep their memories green. Left to themselves, without some organization to lead the way men and women were apt to come short in this respect. "Lest we forget, we have the Canadian Legion, one of the purposes of which is to keep alive the memory of the men who laid down their lives for their country.

Scott had written some lines:

Breathes there a man with soul so dead
Who never to himself hath said
"This is my own, my native land"

These men loved their native land. That was the reason they gave their lives for it.

He was always interested in listening to the speeches of His Honor Judge Huycke who had a wonderful way of expressing himself on such occasions. Judge Huycke had every reason to feel proud. Not only Amiens, and Ypres but battle after battle was won as a result of the efforts of men of the family of Judge Huycke.

They were also there to honor those who lay somewhere in France that glorious 50,000. He felt that every honor was due to the British War Office which saw to it that these cemeteries were well kept. The soldiers present had seen many of these cemeteries. They remembered that cemetery somewhere back of Ypres, where there were 25,000 crosses and where many a Canadian boy was sleeping.

If the Canadian Legion had no other claim on their support, the fact that it was annually honoring the graves of the fallen would recommend it to every citizen. He was glad to be a member of the Legion. He was glad to walk with men of the Legion to the cemetery. We would walk ten times the distance to do honor to the Canadian dead whether Jew or Gentle, irrespective of nationality or religion.

"Nearer To Thee."

After the Rector of St. Peter's Cathedral had concluded, the men of the Legion stood at attention as the combined bands, led by Bandmaster T. W. Robinson, of the Salvation Army, played "Nearer My God to Thee." The sky which had been overcast for some time, cleared suddenly and the bright rays of the sun rested on the white crosses of the dead. Silence fell again — a silence complete, overwhelming— the silence of rememberance—and even the stalwart veterans of the Great War, men who had never turned their backs on a visible enemy, betrayed evidences of emotional strain. Four musicians — two from each band — marched to the front and again the Union Jack of the War Veterans and the flag of the Salvation Army were lowered and raised as the notes of the Last Post and the Reveille were heard all over the grounds.

Captain Whatley came forward and asked the veterans to form into groups to ensure the decoration of every comrade's grave. For their guidance a small stick with a typewritten slip bearing the names of the soldier had been placed at the side of the grave. At every grave a wreath or spray was placed and a tiny Union Jack marked the resting place of one who spent a noble life in its defence.

Aeroplane Appears.

Giving an added touch of war realism and doubtless arousing many grim memories, an aeroplane flying fairly low, appeared in the sky above the cemetery shortly before the completion of the work.

The sad duty performed, Fall in was sounded by Lieut. Peryer. On behalf of the Legion, Captain Abraham thanked the bandsmen for their attendance. The massed bands played God Save the King and the order for dismissal was given.

PRINCE OFFICIATES AT FORMAL OPENING

ment of such a spirit was, in his opinion, the great lesson which the New World could teach the old.

Mr. King referred to current interest upon the part of the two countries in the maintenance of their friendship, declaring that it had been manifested during the past year in the appointment of a Canadian Minister to Washington and of a Washington Minister to Ottawa. He was sure the new bridge would prove a factor in the greater intimacy of the two peoples, and it was upon greater intimacy, he pointed out, that sympathy and better understanding depended.

Premier Baldwin.

Premier Baldwin said:

"It is a cause of profound satisfaction to me that, by a coincidence which to me at least is significant, I am able while on a visit to Canada during her sixtieth year of Confederation, to be present to-day with Their Royal Highnesses and the Prime Minister of Canada at this thanksgiving and dedication ceremony, and to meet on this bridge the Vice-President of the United States of America and the Secretary of State.

All bridges are proof of friendship; across them men of good will may go on their lawful occasions, whether of commerce or of culture. But this bridge is no ordinary bridge; it stands as a sign and symbol of more than a century of peace between the United States of America on the one hand and on the other, Canada, with all the nations of the British Empire.

I wish that the path of international peace were as smooth and as straight as this great highway; alas, to that goal of our desire there is as yet no royal road. Problems have arisen and will arise, opinions vary and will vary as to how they should be solved. Only recently we have had an instance of this. We have had to differ for the moment, but we know in our hearts that this does not affect our friendship.

The first task of the statesman, as of the bridge builder, is to lay his foundations secure. The statesmen of the past have, as this bridge testifies, well and truly laid the foundations of friendship and good-will in the hearts of our people — in the hearts of both our peoples. We who have succeeded to their great responsibilities are building, and we are determined, so far as in us lies, to build an enduring structure worthy of its foundations."

Prince of Wales.

The Prince of Wales said:

"It gives me great pleasure to be present on the occasion of the formal dedication of this bridge, which commemorates the peace which has happily endured between the British Empire and the United States for more than a century.

"May this bridge be not only a physical and material link between Canada and the United States, but may it also be symbolical of the maintenance of their friendly contacts by those who live on both sides of this frontier; may it serve also as a continual reminder to those who will use it, and to all of us, that to seek peace and ensure it is the first and the highest duty, both of this generation and of those which are yet to come."

Vice-President Dawes.

"Perhaps before this (Geneva conference) there was not the preliminary careful appraisement by each conferee of the necessities of the other —perhaps too exclusive concentration by each conferee upon the necessities of his own nation resulted in pre-determined ultimatums before a comparison of views—perhaps the public announcement of respective programs early in the conference produced fears of democratic public repercussion if they were reasonably modified, as would be necessary to affect an agreement."

Experts might be slow to complete the difficult task of harmonizing conflicting views, Mr. Dawes added; but if Great Britain required light cruisers which the United States does not need, and the United States required heavy ships which Great Britain does not need "there is no excuse for inaugurating a competition under which ships will be built which neither of them need."

Peace between the English-speaking peoples was founded as firmly as the bedrock of that Niagara which supports the new Peace Bridge, the vice-president declared. It was based he said, "on common instincts and ideals."

The instinct of self-preservation — the most deep-seated of mankind— binds us together, and in that unbroken tie is the ultimate guarantee of safety and progress of western civilization, Mr. Dawes said. "That bond will never break."

Following the ceremonies the American party accompanied the Canadians on their return as far as the Brock Monument at Queenston Heights as a gesture of bon accord.

PALMOLIVE

PRINCESS

SOAP FLAKES

In the Big New Package

EVERYWHERE, women are turning to the new Princess Soap Flakes—the thinner, whiter flakes which whip up so much faster into foaming, cleansing suds.

Princess Soap Flakes have been famous for years as the soap flakes which do not redden the hands—the soap flakes which are pure and safe, free from all harmful caustic or harsh, chemical filler.

Always superior, they are now years ahead of all other soap flakes because of the improvements we have made in them.

And they come in a big new package—a pleasant surprise because there is no change in price.

Better soap flakes—bigger package—same old price. Use them for every household washing task—for fine fabrics, family wash, dishes, windows, floors and woodwork. They won't redden the hands.

We guarantee these things about Princess Soap Flakes. We guarantee to replace any washable garment which, by reason of its having been washed with Princess Soap Flakes, has been damaged in texture or its color made to run, provided such garment has been washed in accordance with our instructions.

THE LONDON FLIGHT.

Permission has been refused by the Dominion Government to officers of the Canadian Air Force to participate in the proposed London-to-London flight, and as a result the field of likely candidates has been materially reduced.

The Dominion authorities take the same view of the situation as did the Ontario Government, that their flyers are needed at home, although it might have been easier to have granted two members of the Air Force leave of absence than it would have been to permit the heads of Ontario's forestry patrol to be away from their duties at a season when forest fires are most likely to be encountered.

The action of the two Governments, however, removes Canada's best trained and most efficient flying men from the flight, and it looks as if the promoters will have a difficult time in finding pilots.

One thing is certain and that is, that if Canadian aviators cannot be secured the attempt should be abandonned.

ENFORCEMENT IS NEEDED.

The intimation from Hon. Geo. S. Henry that if the present laws are not stringent enough to take care of the driver who "cuts in" the regulations will be tightened, would be more satisfactory if the traffic rules we have now were being enforced.

The "cutter-in" is undoubtedly one of the most dangerous menaces on the highways today; this practice has caused more accidents possibly than any other factor, and if offenders can be prosecuted so much the better.

We, however, have plenty of laws—what we need is to have them enforced.

No one can seriously claim that there is enforcement now.

There is a regulation limiting the speed at which intersections may be crossed; it is broken repeatedly, with few prosecutions arising out of such infractions.

There is a regulation against glaring headlights; how often have offenders been haled into court?

There is a regulation against driving with defective brakes; it would be interesting to check up a lot of machines now in commission to see how they stood up to the test of this law.

"DON'T TAKE A CHANCE."

In regard to the headlight menace officials of the Ontario Department of Highways declare that orders have been issued to strictly enforce the regulations against the use of glaring motor lights.

At the same time they issue a warning that should be heeded by every motorist who possesses a grain of common sense.

"Don't take a chance," is the substance of the advice given by highway officials. "If you find yourself so blinded by bright headlights, stop your car until you can be sure where you are going."

Many drivers, of course, always follow that course when they find themselves in the situation described, but it is a matter of record that a large number of serious accidents has been caused by motorists who, although they claimed afterward to have been blinded by the glaring lights of an approaching car, continued to drive on until they crashed into something or somebody.

"Don't take a chance," is good advice.

If you are not sure of what lies ahead of you, stop.

You are not going to kill anybody if your car is not moving.

TO PARK OR NOT TO PARK.

The parking problem in Peterborough does not get any better.

Further confusion has been caused in the last few days because of the fact that it has at last been officially remembered that some time ago a bylaw was passed forbidding parking within 80 feet of a bus stop.

When the angle parking method was adopted this particular bylaw was apparently overlooked, and parking strips were painted almost to the corner in each case, with the result that motorists have been parking their cars in the area that was supposed to have been reserved for bus stops.

After some weeks of this the bylaw has been remembered, the parking strips in these sections have been erased, and a white strip along the curb signifies that there is to be no parking within these particular sections.

Natually few drivers realize as yet what the change means, and the corner areas still have quintas of parked cars.

Sooner or later the wisdom of confining parking in the whole business section to a time limit of ten or fifteen minutes will be recognized, and until then drivers and pedestrians will have to put up with the present uncomfortable, not to say dangerous, congestion.

THE RETIRED FARMER.

The backwardness of certain communities, or sections of communities, is often attributed to the presence as citizens of members of the "retired farmer" class who are generally credited with a parsimony equal to that ascribed to the Scot and with an unwillingness to take part in any movement which has for its object the provision of improved community facilities. It is a common thing to hear members of this class, who, having amassed a competence, have retired to a town or village, described as "tightwads" or in other equally uncomplimentary terms, and the belief has grown that the urban municipality which numbers any great body of them as inhabitants is doomed to remain obscure and backward.

Evidently this criticism is not applicable to retired farmers generally, as a letter which appeared in a recent issue of The Vankleek Hill Review bears ample witness. Although that town has been in existence for many years, it still lacks waterworks and sewers. One of the leaders in the agitation to gain these necessities of modern town life is a retired farmer who has written to the newspaper protesting against the delay. This man says that when on the farm he and his wife worked hard and were without the comforts of life. Now that they are able to pay for them, they are anxious to have them. This man investigated the installation of an approved water supply when engaged in farming and found that it would cost him $1,000. He, therefore, gave up the idea. But since he moved to town, he found that he could obtain the same service, with sewerage facilities as well, for only $200, and that that sum would be spread over a period of 20 years. "There is not a retired farmer in town," remarks this correspondent, "who would not give a summer's work to have waterworks and sewers for the rest of his days. We never buy 'on tick' and soon this town will have other retired farmers, who pay cash for what they buy, if we fix up the town so they will come here to live, instead of going to other towns that have water."

No community could desire a more progressive citizen than this man appears to be, and yet he is one of the despised retired farmers, who are not always welcomed by townspeople as neighbors. The truth is that as a class retired farmers are no more niggardly and no less progressive than any other body of men who, having worked hard for the money they possess, are anxious to see that they receive value for its expenditure.—Brockville Recorder and Times.

ENFORCEMENT OF THE HIGHWAY LAWS.

Long overdue is the intimation which this newspaper has received from A. J. Ferguson, Traffic Officer of the Department of Public Highways stationed in this district, that it is his intention, acting upon orders received from the department, to prosecute offenders under the Highways Traffic Act without resort to the warning practice that has prevailed almost since the patrolling of the highways was undertaken.

Mr. Ferguson's intentions are disclosed in the following communication which he has forwarded to this newspaper:

"To the Editor of The Recorder and Times:

"In view of the great and totally unwarranted number of motor accidents upon our highways, due to violations of the Highway Traffic Act, I have received instructions from the department urging a more rigid control of traffic.

"To practices such as 'cutting in,' one-arm driving, glaring headlights, etc., can be attributed many accidents which could and should have been avoided by a strict observance of the rules of the road.

"In the past I have, in many cases, given warning to offending parties, but hereafter departmental instructions necessitate my prosecuting in all cases of breach of statutory regulations.

"Car owners and drivers have now had over a month's grace to obtain operators' licenses and hereafter drivers who have not obtained these licenses will be prosecuted.

"In the interest of the public in general, I ask for your co-operation in the matter, that our highways may be safe for all.

"Yours truly,

"A. J. FERGUSON,

"Highway Traffic Officer.

"Brockville, August 2, 1927."

This will be welcome news for the motorist who carries out "a strict observance of the rules of the road," and, indeed, for every person whom either business or pleasure takes upon the highways. Believe it or not, there is an increasing number of people who refuse to drive over the Provincial roads, particularly after nightfall, because of the perils which are thereby run. They themselves may fulfill the stipulations of the law, but they are at the mercy of the lawless driver, whose ability to inflict damage and injury has been increased through an authorized higher rate of speed and a legalized sale of intoxicants. Never has there been such an epidemic of motor accidents as has taken place during the present season. The daily press is filled with accounts of accidents, many of them most serious, and the toll taken by the careless driver, the speed fiend and the other lunatics on wheels reached its peak at the Civic Holiday week-end when a score or more further fatalities were charged against them, not to speak of broken bones, shattered nerves, damaged property and all of the other things left in their wake.

By their conduct, the reckless motorists of this Province have clearly shown that endeavoring to restrain them by warnings is an obsolete and useless policy. They have abused the consideration which they have been given by the Highways Department; warnings have been of no use whatever in curbing the practices, in defiance of the regulations, which have been the means of taking life, doing injury and creating loss; those responsible for the abuses have simply smiled up their sleeves and gone on doing as they please. The time has come (and we are glad that the Department of Public Highways has recognized it) for stern action, without any shilly-shallying or beating about the bush, to put the lawbreaker on the highways where he belongs. If frequent fining will not cause him to abandon his reckless and dangerous practices, his license to drive a motor car should be suspended or he should be imprisoned as a menace to public safety. The State takes prompt steps to incarcerate any person whom it considers dangerous to be at large, but there are far greater madmen travelling the highways day after day, night after night, without any restraint being placed upon them. If the Department of Public Highways means what it says by issuing instructions to its traffic officers to enforce the law to the limit, it will have the public solidly behind it.—Brockville Recorder and Times.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

When better speeches are made doubtless Premier Baldwin will make them.

Sir Thomas White has entered into the campaign for safer driving. The growing list of accidents is undoubtedly awakening the public generally to the serious nature of the situation.

Better buy some of those four-for-a-dollar tickets for the Peterborough Industrial Exhibition this week. You'll want to visit the big fair three or four times this year.

It's going to take quite a navy to look after those Toronto marathon swimmers, judging by the way the entries are still pouring in.

Let us see, wasn't there something being done about supplying Ontario's fuel wants with Alberta coal?

CATTLE, GRAIN AND PRODUCE

Peterboro—Toronto—Montreal

MONTREAL GRAIN AND PRODUCE

MONTREAL, Aug. 8 (Canadian Press). — The foreign demand for grain in the Montreal market on Saturday was somewhat of a limited character, and, in consequence the volume of business worked was small. The domestic and country trade was also quiet, but the tone of the market was steady.

The flour market was without any special feature to note. Prices for Spring and Winter wheat grades being steady under a small demand.

The undertone to the market for all lines of millfeed was firm. This was attributed to the good demand and the small supplies available. The trade in standard grades of rolled oats was quiet but steady.

Egg Trade Strong

The feature of the egg trade was the further strength that developed and prices scored a further advance of 1 to 2 cents per dozen. The receipts were 2,449 cases.

Prices for all grades of butter scored a further advance of ¼c per pound, which was attributed to the improvement in the demand of late. The receipts were 2,317 packages.

The undertone to the market for cheese continued strong and higher prices are anticipated later on in the season owing to the market falling off in the production as compared with previous years. The local and export trade was moderate. The receipts were 9,027 boxes.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, Aug. 8 (Canadian Press).—Corn soared to the highest price which the December delivery has reached yet this season. Pessimistic reports about the backward condition of the corn crop were at hand from nearly all parts of the belt except the southwest.

Closing quotations on corn were strong, 1¼ to 2¾c net higher, with wheat showing ¾ to ⅞c decline; oats ¼ to ⅝c up, and provisions unchanged to 7 cents down.

Corn finished at virtually the day's top figures. At first the market was point followed. Previous sellers ing, but offerings were quickly absorbed and a bulge of more than 5 cents a bushel from the early low poitn followedd. Previous sellers scrambled to reverse their market position and buying on the part of commission houses broadened out to a material extent.

Meanwhile advices from field observers attracted increasing attention, especially word that corn fields in some of the best producing sections of Illinois have made no appreciable change in appearance during the last three weeks.

In the wheat market black rust reports were apparently losing influence as a price factor. Serious damage to domestic Spring wheat was quoted by national and state authorities as well as by private crop observers, but Canadian advices were bearish and indications pointed to a decided falling off in probable imports by France this season as compared with a year ago.

Provisions were minus any aggressive support.

VOICE OF PEOPLE

Letters to be printed in the Voice of the People column must be received at The Examiner office on the day before it is desired to have them published.

FROM MR. BURNHAM

To the Editor of The Examiner:

Sir: So many people are asking me about my month's absence in the Northern States and Quebec that I would deem it a favor if you will allow me to say the little I have to say in a letter in your columns.

My immediate object in going was to find out why it is that we do not get a larger patronage of tourists for the Kawartha Lakes region, especially of American women and children. I found that we had not adopted the proper methods, and as a result some of us are forming a Kawartha Lakes Company, with the object in view of getting more here than we do of the enormous sums Americans are spending in Canada. Damp, heat, and pressure of population are driving Americans northward in increasing numbers every year for vacations. They want to take their families with them and heretofore there has literally been no provision made for them in these parts.

We must try to remedy this serious lack of accommodation.

Then, again, we are preparing to provide a winter rest-cure and convalescent resort for people who, having recovered from severe illness, need some bright, high and dry air, in our backwoods at reasonable rates per week to restore them to health. This need has been almost completely overlooked. We have not been making the best of our opportunities There is no need of large initial expenditure and the returns to the investors will be satisfactory in every sense of the word. We will begin in a small way and extend rapidly. The Government asked us to take this matter up a year ago, but I did not know how to do it then.

Then I found that Government ownership of power, such as we have it in Eastern Ontario, is not acceptable to Capital. Capitalists prefer getting their own power in Quebec. We need not look, I believe, for any particular accession of industries until Capital is permitted to own its own power as the C.G.E. and Quaker Oats Co.

2. They say they have prohibition in Maine. I saw none of it, but I did see much drunkenness and there were some terrible murders by bootleggers and bandits. The increasing use of machinery is driving young men and women to other and much less satisfactory forms of industrial employment. People over thirty-five are not wanted in industry nowadays.

Quebec appeared to be quite sober and normal. I purposely inspected about twenty wine and beer shops in Montreal, and while some of the inmates were toughish looking there was no drunkenness or overdrinking permitted. There was no object in allowing it.

From the time I left until I returned I really never heard a cross word. Noisy talk of that sort seems to have gone out of fashion. I was particularly impressed with the well-set-up appearance of Americans. Food over there is very good and very cheap, as indeed are clothes and machinery. I looked into that carefully. It struck me that we Canadians (at least I had) much to learn from the sharp, shrewd, clever efficient people to the south of us, who appear to lack only one thing, and that is a spirit of fun. They are observant and critical of themselves, but few laugh, and that is one secret of happiness they have overlooked.

J. H. BURNHAM.

A Thought For To-day

TWO TROUBLESOME TRAMPS

Two troublesome tramps, Worry and Fret, tarried overnight in a hospitable home and in the morning they were fed, then the gracious host told them to be on their way. But Worry and Fret were deaf to entreaty and indifferent to threats, and by gum, these two troublesome vagabonds are with the man yet.

It is hard to get rid of Worry and Fret after you entertain them for even one night.

SAINT and SINNER

By ANNE AUSTIN

It was Faith, not Cherry, who worried the night of the Pruitt dinner over the fact that "Midget," Cherry's baby, was to be left in the care of Jim Lane.

"Now, Dad, remember you're not to dandle her if she cries," Faith cautioned him for the third time.

"You go along," Jim Lane chuckled. "I was taking care of babies before you learned your A. B. C.'s. I've given you many a bottle, young lady."

Faith kissed him, her eyes sparkling with pleasure in the compliment, for compliments were rare from her father. And she did look extraordinarily handsome in the new nasturtium dress and hat; she knew it, and the knowledge put diamonds in her eyes and a shimmer of color in her usually pale cheeks. But—not so pretty as Cherry! "Of course not! For Cherry was like a Dresden china shepherdess in a lovely, quaint little frock of apple green taffeta, made with a tight basque and a bouffant skirt, trimmed with a deep band of silver lace.

"We look like awfully nice people," Faith said suddenly as the three of them arranged themselves in the sedan. Bob, immaculate in dark blue coat and white flannel trousers—George had told him not to "dress"—was looking as handsome as a tailor's advertisement, and she knew that she and Cherry had never looked better in their lives.

"I'm a lucky man," Bob grinned at her. "Got the prettiest girl in the state for a wife and the next prettiest for a sister-in-law."

"My dear Faith, I am so glad to see you again!" Mrs. Pruitt greeted Faith, kissing her on the cheek. "Mr. Pruitt and I have never gotten over our disappointment that you didn't take this homely young son of ours, but we're very glad to see you on any terms. And you, Mr. Hathaway! Do you realize how lucky you are, young man? George says Faith is the only girl in town who could have served the Greek sculptors as a model for the Venice. I hope you are properly appreciative."

"I assure you that I am, Mrs. Pruitt," Bob said gravely, but his blue eyes were twinkling as he bent, with a courtly gesture that made Faith's heart beat fast with pride, over his hostess' ringed, plump hand.

"And how do you do, Mrs. Wiley?" Mrs. Pruitt turned toward Cherry, who suddenly looked like an awkward schoolgirl being hailed before a stern principal. Mrs. Pruitt did not kiss Cherry, favoring her only with the tips of her fingers. Cherry flushed painfully as she murmured her greeting, then turned with a little rush of eager words to George, who, to Cherry's profound astonishment, was not looking at her, but at Faith. And on George's expressive, homely face was such dispairing adoration as Cherry had never seen on a man's face before. Bob, turning from greeting Mr. Pruitt, saw it, too, looked nastily, with a flicker of fear in his eyes, from George Pruitt to his wife. Faith, glowing, even showing a fugitive dimple, smiled impartially upon George and Bob and the chap named Andrews. Bob clenched his fists in sudden, primitive jealousy.

FASHION NOTES.

ABOUT SPORTS WEAR.
By HEDDA HOYT
(United Press Fashion Editor)

NEW YORK, August 8.—(United Press).—If I were asked what the smartest colors for sportswear were, I should say "white and beige," either used singly or combined together. Although the great majority of women wear more colorful sports clothing, the woman of means and taste usually wears white, beige or a combination of the two tones this season.

One of the simplest and smartest sports costumes I have recently seen was worn by a New York society girl at Newport. This costume consisted of a smart little beige velvet jumper, white pleated skirt, white felt hat banded in beige ribbon, white shoes strapped in beige and nude-beige hosiery. At this same resort several smart women are wearing white coats trimmed in light beige fox fur. Entire white costumes worn with beige hats and stockings are numerous. Some of the younger girls are wearing white jacket suits with beige sweaters and hats.

White felt hats are numerous at all smart resorts. The vacation wardrobe cannot be complete without a white felt hat of simple smartness and although one has hats to match every colorful sports costume one never fails to also include a white model. For one thing, the white hat can be worn with any color. Another, it is a bit dressier than the more colorful hat. Since most felt shapes these days are narrow-brimmed affairs which require constant adjusting, it is best to select the white model with a wire-edged brim finished with ribbon brim banding as the wire holds the hat in shape.

This year the all-white shoes, or the white shoe trimmed in color, is again popular, although we seldom see the white shoe worn with white stockings. Nude or sunburned stocking shades are invariably worn with white shoes.

White fox furs are favored by younger girls for wear with pastel-hued sports frocks and suits. Older women seem to prefer the very light beige fox scarfs to white. Where one wears the beige fox neckpiece accessories such as handkerchief, handbag, gloves and hat are liable to be in light beige tones.

HOLLIS, Okla., Aug. 8.—Nearly one quarter of a million persons journey yearly to a little one-street town out here in Oklahoma for the puspose of seeing the only four quadruplet daughters in the world.

They are Roberta, Mona, Mary and Leola Keyes, quadruplet daughters of a family who gracefully permit the crowd to come and stare, but who have firmly refused any sort of exploitation for their girls for long years.

Only a little while ago the Keyes turned down a $52,000 a year vaudeville offer.

"I'd have to stop living the lazy life if my girls went on the stage," says their mother, Mrs. Jane Keyes, explaining that the entire management of the home is budgeted among the four daughters, while she herself sits and rocks and reads and bosses and thanks a kind providence which sent her the only four quadruplet daughters in the world.

Had Four Birthday Cakes.

The Keyes girls had their twelfth birthday party not very long ago—a party with four cakes frosted in pink and blue and green and yellow, four blazing candles atop each cake, and four girls as alike as the proverbial peas in a pod, blowing out the candles with one mighty puff.

Twelve years ago when a startled father first beheld his four daughters and frantically attempted to figure out a way to tell them apart, he decided that they must always be put to bed or seated at table in the same order, Roberta on the outside, then Mona, then Mary, and then Leola.

Time has changed many things in the Keyes household, but never that sitting and standing and sleeping arrangement.

When the quadruplets go to school or church or to the movies, it's Roberta outside, then Mona, Mary and Leola.

At table, in an auto, at the movies, at a party, or, awaiting turns to be spanked, it's Roberta, Mona, Mary and Leola.

Even fun-loving girls that they are, the quadruplets have never dared try "kidding Dad and Mom" by forming in reverse or higgledy-piggledy. That has been made the arch crime, the unforgivable sin, of the family.

Twelve years ago Ma Keyes winced a little at the job of rearing four all-of-a-size daughters. She was in the market for sympathy.

To-day, surveying four healthy, happy, sweeping and dusting and baking and dish-washing daughters, she tells other mothers that if they want an easy life, the thing to do is acquire quadruplet daughters.

Two Are Exactly Alike.

Although all four girls look so much alike that even their parents can not tell one from the other, two of them, Mona and Roberta, look so much alike that they can't tell themselves apart.

Once upon a time in a "palace of mirrors" at an amusement park, Roberta walked smack into a mirror, thinking she was meeting Mona.

Health for their daughters has been the main concern of the girls' parents, and education, with special attention to music and dancing, came next.

They have high marks in school, love to dance and cook and swim and play with dolls, and, in short, are just as normal as any girls who have no doubles and don't have to walk first or second from the right in order to keep from being mixed up.

DRESS

By MARY MARSHALL

Fashions have been all wrong for the shoplifters recently. No doubt they are among those who would like to see a revival of full long skirts—not through any motives of modesty, but because voluminous skirts with pockets in them make wonderful hiding places for all sorts of plunder. In the 1860's a really good shoplifter could have hidden a silver cake dish in her pocket with ease—but you'd have trouble in hiding an eyebrow brush beneath a skirt nowadays.

Muffs were a comfort to the shoplifter, and the store detective in the 90's always kept his eyes on the woman with an enormous muff. Not so long ago the fashion for capes was favorable to the shop-lifting industry. And all these things—enormous skirt pockets, muffs and capes—also served a purpose for the woman who wanted to carry her purchases home, but was too proud to carry a bundle.

The type of cape that has gained favor with well-dressed women this summer. This is of brown wool and is worn over a beige georgette frock, a beige hat trimmed with brown and gold ribbon and a long chain of brown beads.

And now capes have been revived, but—alas for the shoplifter—they are the wrong sort of capes. There are coats and frocks and suits with little capes at the back that leave the arms and hands exposed. At the races here and in France women have worn long, full-sized capes, but they are draped about the body as closely as togas, doing very little to dissemble the silhouette beneath.

Anyway, a woman who went shopping in one of these long capes of the sort we have seen at the races would be an easy mark to any observant store detective!

Take a piece of chiffon a yard and a half long, cut it this way and that way and presto chango you have a bit of wing-like drapery and a girdle which is all the trimming you need to turn a simple slip into a charming summer evening frock. A clever dressmaker made the pattern for me and I'll gladly send it on to you if you will send a stamped, addressed envelope.

HOROSCOPE

The Stars Incline, but do not Compel.

(Copyright, 1927, McClure Syndicate.)

TUESDAY, AUGUST 9, 1927

Menacing stars rule strongly today, according to astrology, which gives warning to be careful.

Except to buy land there should be extreme care where any sort of investment is involved, the seers declare.

Under this direction of the stars it is supposed to be uncommonly easy for unscrupulous persons to persuade women to risk their money.

While this configuration prevails the mind may be muddled and the judgment untrustworthy.

False reports of various sorts may be circulated where they will be eagerly accepted, when the stars are posited as they are today.

Again danger of scandals and libel suits is far-reaching and evil propaganda will flourish, astrologers foretell.

All important initiative should be postponed, if the stars are to be trusted, for conditions are thwarting and disappointing.

Merchants and manufacturers are to meet certain surprising conditions more or less depressing, it is prognosticated, but they will profit later.

Again Zymotic diseases are foretold by London seers who stress the importance of the best sanitary conditions in cities.

Women and children are still subject to planetary influences that are more or less sinister and they should be especially safeguarded.

New ideas of many sorts are to be welcomed and inventors will benefit greatly in the coming year.

Persons whose birthdate it is have the augury of a busy, happy year in which it is better to enjoy the things possessed than to seek added treasures.

Children born on this day may have rather a struggle in life, but they have the promise of great success.

The custom of calling married women by their maiden names still prevails in parts of rural Scotland.

Advise Special Hygiene for Safe Wearing of Summer Frocks

By ELLEN J. BUCKLAND
Registered Nurse

SHEER, summer frocks and a hygienic protection that makes them safe to wear, anywhere, any time. Here is a new comfort 8 in 10 better-class women now enjoy.

The name is Kotex. More than a sanitary pad—a scientific protection one knows is safe. Filled with Cellucotton wadding, the world's super-absorbent, it is 5 times more absorbent than the ordinary cotton pad.

Kotex also thoroughly DEODORIZES. Which solves another summer problem. Discards as easily as tissue. Thus no laundry, no difficulty of disposal.

Get Kotex. Look for the name on the box you are offered. If it isn't marked "KOTEX" it is not genuine.

Uncle Wiggily

By Howard R. Garis

To-day's Bedtime Story

UNCLE WIGGILY'S LITTLE JOKE

"Unkie Wig, has 'oo dot a penny?" asked Baby Bunty one morning, hopping to where the rabbit gentleman sat on the front porch of his hollow stump bungalow. She was speaking baby talk, as she often did.

"Why, yes, I have a penny," answered Mr. Longears thrusting his paw into his pocket. "Do you want to look at the picture of the Indian head on my penny and see what date it is?" inquired the bunny uncle.

"Well, I didn't zackly want to look at the Indian's picture," and she no longer talked baby fashion. "But I thought maybe if you had a penny you didn't want you could give it to Jennie all, poor Jennie Chipmunk."

"Oh, that's too bad!" exclaimed Uncle Wiggily. "Well, take this penny to Jennie. What is she going to buy with it?"

"An ice-cream cone," explained Bunty.

"I know you can't, agreed Bunty. "But we thought if I asked you for a penny for Jennie and then if Jennie came and asked you for a penny for me, and then maybe if we could get Jackie and Peetie Bow Wow to ask you for pennies, and then maybe we might find some more, why then we'd have enough to buy two ice-cream cones!"

Bunty was so surprised she hardly knew what to say, especially after the golf ball trick she and Jennie played on Uncle Wiggily the day before. They put Jennie's big white rubber balloon in place of the rabbit's golf ball, you remember, and something funny happened.

"You are very kind!" said Bunty as she hopped off. "We're sorry we played that golf ball joke on you, Unkie Wig!"

"Never mind!" laughed the rabbit. "I may play a joke of my own today!"

"Oh, what sort of a joke?" Bunty begged to know. "And on whom?"

But Mr. Longears only laughed again and shook his head, so the little orphan rabbit girl hopped off with Jennie Chipmunk to buy ice-cream cones. After a while Uncle Wiggily said:

"I'll hop along after them and perhaps I may get a chance to play a little joke on them as they did on me. I'll get an adventure out of it, maybe."

A little later, while he was sitting on a green, mossy log in the woods, near the edge of a cow meadow, the rabbit gentleman saw Bunty and Jennie hopping toward him. The little girls had lovely, large vanilla ice-cream cones.

"We'll sit here and eat them," proposed Jennie, pointing to two toadstools near the log behind which Uncle Wiggily was now hiding.

"We'll make believe we're on a picnic" said Bunty. "But my paws are all sticky where the ice-cream melted and ran down outside my cone."

"So are mine," said Jennie. "Let's go over to the brook and wet our handkerchiefs and wash our paws."

"And we'll stick our cones up in the moss on this log," added Bunty, putting hers down on the very log behind which Uncle Wiggily was hiding. But they did not see him because of the high ferns.

While the two little girls were at the brook Uncle Wiggily slyly reached up, took the ice-cream cones out of the moss where they were stuck upright, and ate all the ice-cream. Then he hopped over to the meadow, where, from a last year's milkweed pod, he took out some fluffy cotton, which he stuffed into the empty cones. It looked exactly as if they were still filled with cream. Then the bunny hid again.

"It must be a bad fairy," cried Jennie. "Let's run home!"

But before they could run Uncle Wiggily popped up from behind the log, laughing and saying:

"That's my little joke, my dears. It isn't April Fool Day but I had a joke, just the same."

"Well," sighed Bunty, "I guess it pays us back for what we did yesterday. It serves us right." But Uncle Wiggily did not leave the little girls sad for very long. He bought them more ice-cream cones and an extra one for himself, so everything came out all right.

Everything of the Best

It's a matter for congratulation to the citizens that practically every new establishment opened up in the business section, is made up-to-date and right in line with like places of businesses in the larger cities. Every change is a step up, and the New Elite Sweets Cafe, is a remarkable example of this. For several weeks, a number of local firms have been busy making over the store formerly used by Louis Yeotes as a tobacco store and pool room, into a real metropolitan tea-room and restaurant, and it opens its doors to the public to-day as the

ELITE SWEETS CAFE

Mr. Yeotes has spared no expense in making the Elite the equal of any modern establishment of its kind, in finish and fittings.

The cabinet work, including the tables, partitions, pannelled wainscotting, wall cases, etc., are all made of figured gumwood from the mill of the McDonald Lumber Co. and are entirely produced in Peterborough by Peterborough workmen. This is the first building in the city to be finished in this beautiful wood, and the job is a real credit to the local concern which installed it.

Mr. Fred Dummitt was the contractor who had the work in hand, and he handled it expeditiously and competently. Show cases are from the National Show Case Company of Toronto, and the vitriolite tops on tables and counter are from the Sany Annex Company, also of Toronto.

The outside appearance of the Elite is made attractive by the electric and other signs supplied by J. J. Turner & Sons, which constitute a no small contribution to a perfect whole by this thorough-going firm.

Mr. S. Watson did the electric wiring and Messrs. Grant and Thorpe installed the electric fans.

Plumbing was attended to by the young but aggressive firm, Goodfellow and Welch, and the skill of Mr. W. D. Thomas took good care of the interior finish and paper-hanging; the handsome paper used being supplied by C. B. Routley.

Evidently, music is to be featured, and a magnificent Automatic Orthophonic, installed by E. V. Warne, which plays for one hour without attention automatically changing its own records, will supply the productions of the world's best artists for the entertainment of the guests of the cafe. A beautiful square tile patterned linoleum, laid by the J. C. Turnbull Co., Ltd., gives the floor that rich appearance that was necessary to conform to the other surroundings.

To go from floor to ceiling is almost instinctive and discloses a very handsome metallic covered surface, the work of W. R. Turner, heating and metal contractor.

Cool luxuries will be kept at their best by Frigidaire apparatus, which system was installed by the manufacturers.

Hardware used in the work of remodelling, came from Peterborough Hardware Co., while the brass fittings for the main doors, front and rear, were made in Peterborough by the Lock Works.

Now Open for Inspection and At the Service of the Public

And the fittings and finish of the Elite are not all the claims it has on a public that wants to be well fed.

There's a Candy Department that appeals at once to anyone with a sweet tooth. The Confections are most tempting in appearance and bound to be meltingly delicious in the mouths of patrons.

Ice Cream and Cold Drinks in all styles are dispensed at the Frigidaire counter or on the snug tables set in cosy stalls.

The Kitchen is a marvel of completeness and is presided over by a competent chef.

Altogether the Elite promises to be a most popular resort for those who eat their meals uptown, or who wish refreshments suitable for a hot or cold day, as the case may be.

A CORDIAL INVITATION IS EXTENDED TO ALL CITIZENS TO MAKE A CALL OF INSPECTION WHENEVER CONVENIENT.

HEART ATTACK KILLS SWIMMER

CHILDREN INJURED.

TORONTO, Aug. 8.—John Burke, aged 16 years, lost his life Sunday afternoon while swimming in the Humber river just south of the Bloor street bridge. Burke was taken from the water by another bather, Leon Branski, aged 18, of 607 Keele street. A pulmotor was used by Officers Calder and Airey of the Life-saving Stations without avail.

Swansea police reported that no water had been found in Burke's lungs when the pulmotor was used, and it was their opinion the swimmer had suffered a heart attack.

FAMILY HARD HIT.

Within forty-eight hours the three small children of Mr. and Mrs. James Kerins were injured in accidents and were rushed to the Hospital for Sick Children.

Lawrence Kerins, aged 7, is most seriously hurt, and is not likely to recover. At noon Sunday he fell a distance of twenty feet from the roof of a building near his home, striking his head on the pavement. He is suffering from concussion of the brain, fractured ribs and a broken right arm.

His sisters, Eileen, aged 5, and Shirley, 4 years, were admitted to the hospital on Friday. They were playing in a side entrance when the rope hauling a pail of boiling tar to the roof snapped and the children were splashed with tar. Both children were painfully burned.

TORONTO PEOPLE DROWNED IN U. S.

Explosion of Gasoline on Yacht Cause Three Fatalities.

TORONTO, Aug. 8.— (Canadian Press.)— Walter G. Banks, Toronto, Mrs. Helen Johnson, and a Japanese steward, address unknown, were drowned fifteen miles north of Sturgeon Bay, Wis., when a yacht owned by Carl Johnson, was wrecked by the explosion of gasoline, according to word received here to-day. According to meagre information of the tragedy, Banks, Mrs. Johnson and the steward were so badly injured by the explosion that they were unable to swim, and efforts on the parts of Johnson and his nine year old daughter to rescue the victims failed.

TONBRIDGE, England, August 8 (British United Press). — Mothers of Tonbridge are engaged in a baby race to offset the effect of too much birth control in past years. Mrs. Emily Lucas and Mrs. Nance Goldsmith, the Babe Ruth and Lou Gehrig of the league, lead with scores of 24 and 23 children respectively, most of them naturally acquired before the rage began seven years ago.

It was in 1920 that town authorities announced that deaths in the village, though below the normal rate, exceeded births by such a proportion that Tonbridge was being slowly but surely depopulated.

An appeal was made to mothers to stop birth control and produce a crop of babies. Apparently immediate favourable response was made, for early in 1921 the rate for births shot up, and it has been climbing ever since.

PEACE BRIDGE CEREMONIES.

Many local radio fans tuned in for the ceremonies at the peace bridge Sunday afternoon. Static however, was very bad and rendered some sets almost useless. Reception from WMAK was fairly good and the speeches of the various dignitaries could be clearly heard. Premier Baldwin speaks with a decided "English accent," while the Prince of Wales' accent is not so pronounced. He spoke fluently and pleasantly. It was noticed that he did not say the bridge was to connect the U. S. and Canada, but rather the British Empire. Premier King's voice carried well, but that of Howard Ferguson appeared to win the plaudits of the crowd, especially when he remarked there were other things in Ontario besides scenery and good fishing. Graham McNamee, the announcer, seemed to fall under the spell of the Prince, as he said that all the kind things he had heard of the prince did not overestimate his charms. He likened him to Lindbergh and said that he might be his brother from his appearance.

Miles of New Canadian Territory Are Being Explored This Year.

HAZARDOUS JOURNEY.

Scientists Forced To Leave Camp On Account Of Mosquitoes and Black Flies.

EDMONTON, Aug. 8 (By the Canadian Press).—Encountering every conceivable obstacle and endangered by blizzards, snow and rock slides, delayed by intense heat, forest fires and attacked by swarms of mosquitoes, the Ostheimer scientific expedition, of Philadelphia, Pa., has, notwithstanding, succeeded in exploring miles of new territory in the Canadian ice field in the Canadian Rockies, according to word received from J. Ostheimer, Jr., leader of the party.

The progress being made by the scientists was related in a diary despatched by courier to Edmonton and at the time of writing the party was divided into two sections, Ostheimer, with Hans Euhrer and Jean Weber, the Swiss guides, leaving the base at Fortress Lake to survey hitherto unscaled peaks while John de Laittre, mineralogist, and W. Rupert MacLaurin, of Boston, were exploring the regions of the Continental Divide for mineral, flora, and other scientific data.

On July 6, Adam Joachim, the diary states, left Fortress pass with two pack horses for Jasper for additional supplies. He first transported Fuhrer, Weber and Ostheimer across Chaha River. They were heading for Mount Quincy, 10,400 feet, and hitherto unclimbed. Simultaneously Don Hoover and Ken Allen started over Fortress Lake for a two days' expedition of trail cutting so that supplies might reach the base camp.

After a hazardous journey through timber, alder, and willow, Ostheimer and his two guides passed around the southwest arete of Quincy at 11:40 that morning. They moved slowly over rock and snow and the summit was reached late that day. They encountered treacherous slopes, ice walls, and tremendous canyons. Snow and rain drove the explorers to cover and several small avalanches placed the lives of the climbers in jeopardy.

After back tracking over treacherous stretch of ice-covered rock the three reached the Chaha River and gained their camp, during the middle of the night after a terrifying experience of dodging sliding boulders and ice.

Next day the party rested a little. Ostheimer and de Laittre completing The Pas fluctuations inspection and convoying to the Chisel Creek delta to work out some geological data.

On the morning of the eighth, Ostheimer, Fuhrer, de Laittre and Weber, carrying sixty pounds apiece, left for a week's trip to Lich Creek, 20 miles away. They worked up the survey cut along the Continental Divide, experiencing extreme hardship with heavy underbrush and fallen timber. At timber line, 6,500 feet, they turned northwest, ascending the valley of Fortress Creek. They crossed a small snow jam at a level of 8,000 feet and the four dropped to the beautiful valley of Catacombe Creek. Behind them roared the mountain stream to Fortress Lake, a glacial, blue green stretch of water. For six miles this lake stretches out, flanked by giant trees, rock walls and towering ice fields. At the western end rise the pure white slopes and peak of "Serenity," while behind it juts out a shoulder of Mount Hooker. Chisel peak towers high above the lake in a great sheer face and massive buttresses. Before them stretched the valley of Catacomb Creek, descending rapidly to Lich Creek. At the end of the valley rises the Massif, topped by three peaks, Brussells, Christie, and Lowell.

The latter peak was named after A. Lawrence Lowell, president of Harvard University. To the east the explorers viewed the marvelous sight of the giant Catacombes, a tremendous block, 30 miles around, 10,800 feet high and unclimbed.

The four scientists established their camp by a buttress of the Catacombs but were forced to leave this spot owing to swarms of mosquitoes and heavy rain.

MacLaurin and de Laittre were sent back to Fortress Lake to establish communication with the remainder of the expedition. Food caches were placed at intervals of several miles leading to the Brussells peaks.

With respect to the giant peaks, Mr. Ostheimer writes:

"Christie, we believe, far away, but Brussells possesses a 1200-foot tower, water washed and nearly vertical. Lowell we expected to ascend without much hardship. The main difficulty lay in the fact that a 1500-foot band of cliffs rings these three peaks at about 8,000 feet above sea level. Through glasses no way presented itself up these peaks.

"Still Fuhrer, Weber and myself negotiated the seven-mile trek through swamps, rock-slides, heavy timber and mosquitoes. At eleven o'clock that morning we ascended quickly along a little creek to the "Alps" above and crossed to the northwest arete of Lowell. No difficulty was encountered until late in the afternoon when the final 400 feet were attacked. Rock towers, snow cornices, loose wet rock and a snowstorm were obstacles which we were compelled to surmount before reaching the final peak."

On the following day the party moved towards Brussells peak. New dangers confronted the explorers as they made their way along treacherous ice ledges and snow-covered slopes. Beneath them was a vertical drop to the rocks below of more than a thousand feet. From time to time the trio were in danger by snow slides which compelled them to return to camp.

The plans were altered to take in Lich Creek Valley and Alms Creek involving a most difficult descent through territory overgrown with Alder and Devil's Club. The party headed for the west end of Fortress Lake where the rest of the outfit was located. Twenty-five hundred pounds of equipment was moved by canoe.

Fuhrer and Weber followed the trail, plunging in and out of creeks and struggling through heavy British Columbia forest. They reached the camp at five a.m. after an all night trek. Ostheimer left them immediately and moved up the timber slopes to about 5,500 feet, then crossed by compass until the profile of Chisel Peak became apparent. During this hike Ostheimer was menaced by forest fires and lynx that followed his trail. When he returned to camp, Ostheimer was near exhaustion.

Concluding his diary, Ostheimer says: "The 25 horses of the outfit under Adams and Allen got out to Jasper for food and supplies in a few days. Fuhrer and Ostheimer with the cook, Don Hoover, remain at the climbing camp working on the Clemenceau region. The other three form a support party, packing, climbing and working.

"At next report considerable valuable data should have been gathered and many of the unclimbed and unexplored mountains of the Clemenceau ice field worked on."

What makes jelly jell?

Fruits contain, in varying amounts, both sugar and a certain jellying substance, but no fruit contains enough of either to jellify all of its juice.

That is why you used to have to "boil your fruit down," or concentrate it, until it had lost a large amount of its juice—and unfortunately much of its fine fresh flavor and beautiful color as well.

But now you can add jellying substance as readily as you add sugar to your fruit. For Certo is the jellying element of fruit—refined and bottled for your convenient use. With Certo only one or two minutes' boiling is enough to give a perfect, tender jell. You cannot have a failure, and your jelly retains the delicate, luscious flavor of the fresh fruit and its bright, natural color.

CRUDE OIL ENGINES FOR NEW AIRSHIPS

MONTREAL, Que., Aug. 8.—(Canadian Press).—Interest in crude oil engines for aircraft has been revived by the fact that this form of motive power has been selected for the British passenger airship due to berth at the local airport next summer after crossing the Atlantic in the inaugural flight of a regular inter-Empire air service.

Results of the official trials by the British Air Ministry of the specially designed engines are eagerly awaited in Montreal. The preliminary tests conducted by the manufacturers, Messrs. Beardmore, of Glasgow, were completely satisfactory. If the engines come through the official trials with colors flying, assembly of the huge rigid airship, R-101, will commence at the Cardington Airship Works early in September.

Greater safety is claimed by experts for crude oil driven aircraft over those using petrol. In addition, they consume a lesser weight of fuel and are, therefore, capable of longer flights without breaks for refuelling. The vital importance of these points in aircraft destined for trans-oceanic flights has led to the favoring of the crude oil engine over the petrol engine and has greatly stimulated its development.

Montreal is justly elated over its selection recently by British air transportation specialists as the Canadian airport for the trans-Empire service. The 600-acre field between St. Lambert and St. Bruno, which has been chosen, is on the opposite shore of the St. Lawrence, but within a few miles of the city. The new bridge across the St. Lawrence now under construction has gained an added importance from this fact.

Before long the huge mooring mast to which the Empire air argonauts will tie up on some eventful day next summer, will commence its towering ascent into the sky, and the south shore will see monstrous refuelling and regassing plants under construction. Plans for similar work in Australia and South Africa are well under way, while airports at Ismailia and Karachi are nearing completion.

VATICAN TO SEND ENVOY TO PRAGUE

Relations Were Broken Two Yeards Ago Because of Celebration.

ROME, Aug. 8.—The Vatican soon will resume diplomatic relations with Czecho-Slovakia. President Thomas J. Mararyk has sent a special mission to Rome. Former Minister Krofta of the Czecho-Slovakian Government, to the Holy See before Prague and the Vatican ceased relations, heads the mission. He conferred with Pope Pius XI on Wednesday.

Diplomatic relations between Prague and the Holy See were broken two years ago following a strong protest lodged by the Papal Nuncio, Monsignor Marmaggi, against members of the Czecho-Slovakian Government, who attended a celebration in honor of John Huss, the religious reformer.

Negotiations for settlement of the disagreement opened several months ago. The Vatican announced its willingness to appoint a Nuncio to Prague only when it was assured that the annual celebration in honor of Huss woud be held this year in a manner inoffensive to the Catholic church.

Formal notice of the resumption of relations is expected before the end of this month.

EAST EMILY PERSONALS

Mrs. S. S. Greville and little son, Russel, of Toronto, are visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Moncrief.

iMss Myra Commisky of Fleetwood spent a few days this week visiting Miss Bernice Cowen.

Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Magee and Miss Jean Franks spent last Sunday in Fenelon Falls.

The Sunday school of Christ church, Omemee, held their annual picnic at Keneden Park on Wednesday afternoon. St. James' and St. John's Sunday schools were also invited to join in. A very enjoyable time was spent by both young and old in Mrs. Griffin's wonderful picnic grounds.

Mr. Heaslip of Lindsay was a visitor in East Emily on Tuesday.

The many friends of Mr. Elmer Henry are sorry to learn he had his foot badly cut on Wednesday and had to have several stitches put in.

PILES GO QUICK

No Cutting or Salves Needed.

External treatments seldom banish Piles.

The cause is inside—bad circulation.

The bowel walls are weak, the parts almost dead.

To quickly and safely rid yourself of piles you must free the circulation—send fresh, healthy blood to the raw, sensitive membranes. Internal treatment is one safe method. Ointments and other external treatments can't give lasting relief.

J. S. Leonhardt, M.D., a specialist, set at work some years ago to find a real internal remedy for piles. He succeeded. He named his prescription HEM-ROID, and tried it in hundreds of cases before he was satisfied. Now HEM-ROID is sold by druggists everywhere under guarantee. It is a harmless tablet, easy to take, and can always be found at McDermid & Jury, McDermid Drug Co., who will gladly refund the purchase prices to any dissatisfied customer.

CRESCENTS DEFE AT RAYBESTOS IN SEVENTH INNING RALLY

Teams Play a Very Close Game on Saturday Afternoon at Exhibition Park.

SCORE 3 RUNS TO 2.

Cognawagas Are Now Leading By Half a Game Over Saturday's Winners.

With a seventh inning rally the Crescents beat the Raybestos out on Saturday afternoon at the Exhibition Park by the close score of three runs to two in what appeared to be a win for the Raybestos. The win puts the Crescents half a game behind the Cognawagas, the leaders in the East Peterborough baseball League.

The game was played while the horse races were being run off and a large crowd of spectators watched the two teams clash.

Freddie Jones came along with a double in the first of the seventh with two men on bases and two out, that won the game for the Crescents. The game was one of the best of the season. In the first four inning only twelve men faced Maudsley and up until the last innings he had only been touched for three safe hits. Billingsley had a bad frame in the fourth when he walked three men and was touched for a single and a sacrifice, with the results that the "Rays" scored their only two runs. In the sixth the "Rays" threatened to lengthen their lead, when they had a man on third and only one out, but Billingsley came through the crisis by striking out the next two men up. During the seven frames he held his opponents down to four hits.

Both teams gave their pitchers splendid support with only one error in the game. Maudsley got a two-base hit in the fourth with nobody on.

The Game

J. LeBarr, the first man up for the Crescents, walked, but was caught stealing second; J. Jones struck out, and Kennealy lifted one to Corrin, who ran out into right field to get it.

For the Raybestos, Hillier popped one to Scully; Moore filed out to F. Jones; Rogers made first on Ranger's error, and Corrin went out on an infield play.

Ranger and Barrie struck out in the second, and Scully lifted one to Beavis. Beavis, for the "Rays", walked and stole second; Masterson sacrificed, scoring Beavis. Nichols walked; Connors singled, scoring Nichols; Maudsley walked; Connors was caught trying to steal third, and Maudsley went out on Hillier's infield hit.

Mein, for the Crescents, went out on an infield play in the third. F. Jones lifted one to Connors, and Billingsley grounded to Maudsley.

Rogers and Corrin bith hit flies to J. Jones, and Moore hit out to J. LeBarr.

In the fourth, J. LeBarr went down on an infield play; J Jones singled and stole second; Kennealy hit one to Beavis, who caught Jones at second for a double play.

Beavis grounded to Barris in the fourth; Masterson singled; Nichols hit to J. LeBarr, who caught Masterson at first in a perfect throw from right field to Barrie for a double play.

In the fifth the Crescents scored their first run, when Ranger singled into right field and advanced to second and third on sacrifices by Scully and Barrie and Mein walked, and Ranger stole home for the tally. F. Jones hit out to Beavis.

Maudsley got a two-base hit in this frame for the "Rays," but was caught making third on Hillier's infield clout. In the sixth Billingsley singled and stole second, but the next three hit to the outfielders. Rogers, the first man up for the Raybestos in this frame, singled and stole second and third; Corrin grounded to second, and Beavis and Masterson struck out.

Ranger, the first man up for the Crescents in the seventh, popped one to Corrin; Scully and Barrie both singled; Mein struck out, and Freddie Jones came along with his two-base hit, scoring Scully and Barrie; Billingsley hit a grounder to Maudsley which retired the side. The three hitters for the Raybestos all went out by the infield route.

CHICAGO WINS 7TH STRAIGHT

Defeat Brooklyn 6-5 To Increase Lead Over Pirates Three and a Half Games.

RALLY IN FOURTH.

NEW YORK N.Y., Aug. 8.—(Canadian Press).—Chicago stretched its third winning streak of the season to seven straight games yesterday by defeating Brooklyn at Chicago 6 to 5 in 11 innings, increasing the Cubs' lead over the Pirates to 3 1-2 games.

The Robins got off to a four run lead in the first inning. The Cubs came from behind in the fourth, driving both Blitt and Elliott off the hill to gain the lead. Doubles by Fellix and Henline tied the count in the eighth.

Hack Wilson's timely single brought the victory in the eleventh. It was Charely Root's twentieth victory of the year.

Both games of the double header at Cincinnati were taken by the scrapping Reds who bested the Philadelphia team 6 to 1, and 2 to 1, before a crowd of 20,000. Jakie May proved the hero of the day by striking out eleven Phillie batters while the Reds were hitting both Decatur and Willoughby.

A timely homer by Wattie Holm, Cardinal left fielder, in the eighth inning with one on base pulled the St. Louis team from behind the Boston Braves and brought a six to four victory to St. Louis today. Cardinal batters pounded the Braves' twirler Genewich for 12 hits in 7 2-3 innings including the home run and five doubles

ABANDON ATTEMPT.

LONDON, Aug. 8.— (Canadian Press).—Ishaak Helmy, the Eygptian, and another swimmer named Luscombe were turned back Saturday night in their attempts to swim the English Channel. Both started from Cape Gris Nez under favorable conditions but freshening winds kicked up a rough sea. Helmy was obliged to abandon his attempt after being in the water five and one half hours, while Luscombe continued the struggle three hours longer than the Egyptian.

This year, for the first time, the Maryland open golf championship will be held outside the Baltimore district. The tournament has been awarded to Hagerstown and will be held the second week in October.

LIFE HISTORY OF WALTER JOHNSON

When I asked Walter Johnson for the success formula he used during his career as a ball player, he laconically replied:

"Play fair and work hard."

Those five words tell the story of the remarkable success and world-wide popularity that Johnson has achieved over a period of 20 years as a big league pitcher.

Without fear of contradiction, I say that Walter Johnson is the most beloved ball player in all the history of the game. There is no better way to judge one's standing than in the rank and file of the profession in which one is engaged. Ask any ball player who knows Walter Johnson how he regards him, and the reply is always the same:

"He's a great pitcher and an even greater fellow."

Walter Johnson hasn't an enemy in baseball from bat boy to league president. He has been one of the players that has more than done his bit in uplifting the game to its present high standard.

Trying to get some inside dope on Johnson's methods, I asked him of all the great batsmen he had ever faced which one was hardest to fool. His reply was typically modest.

"They're all tough. Any player capable of making the big league grade isn't to be treated lightly by a pitcher.

"It would surprise you if I said some batters, generally regarded as weak hitters, have been most troublesome to me.

"Take Everett Scott, who for years was one of the star shortstops of the American League. Scott was far from a .300 batter, but was one of the most dangerous hitters I ever faced in a pinch. He had a habit of slapping or pushing at the ball rather than swinging and very often that proves the best system against speed, which has always been my greatest asset.

"What a marvellous hitter Larry Lajoie was, and Sam Crawford! Both of those boys made me plenty of woe. Tris Speaker, Eddie Collins and George Sisler have caused me many unpleasant moments. However, of all the batters I have ever pitched against, I doubt if any of them ever offered sterner opposition than Ty Cobb.

"A lot of the stars have been able to do certain things at the bat a trifle better than Cobb, but there never was a player who combined all the essentials of a great batter than he does.

"Most batters, Babe Ruth, for instance, have set styles at the plate; they vary their stance but little. However, when Cobb was at the top of his game, he kept a pitcher constantly unsettled by shifting his batting tactics. In the language of the pitcher, he used a change of pace when at the bat.

"Cobb could hit to all fields, he was a skillful bunter, could drag the ball with the best of them and while he never went in for slugging, at times he would take a cut at the ball that would rival Babe Ruth's healthiest swing.

"Cobb, I would say, was the most versatile batsman I ever faced. We have often matched wits and ability and I fear my average is considerably lower than his in the matter of supremacy."

Johnson during his 20 years of distinguished service in the American League has always played fair and worked hard.

During all that time he has never once on the ball field criticized a single action on the part of his teammates. Johnson has lost many ball games through errors but, instead of berating, he has always commended the efforts of his fellow players, no matter how costly the slip.

No umpire who has ever worked a ball game behind Johnson can recall that he ever made a serious protest.

"What was the matter with that one?" is the only way he has ever expressed his views over a doubtful ruling on balls and strikes.

Baseball will miss Walter Johnson when he passes from the picture. Pitchers like him come but once in a lifetime.

U. S. BOATS WIN FEATURE RACES

KINGSTON, August 8. Canadian Press. — The annual regatta of the L.Y.R.A., which was held here, came to a close last evening with the conclusion of the race off for the Lipton Cup, when Kathea, 2, of C.Y.C., Chaumont, N. Y., beat out Scorpion of Buffalo in the R. Boat class by almost two minutes after a stirring race.

The wind-up of the regatta on Saturday saw American boats winning the three feature races of the meet, the Schooner class, the P. boats and the R. boats. In the other classes boats of the R.C.Y.C., Toronto, were victorious. Last evening the prizes were presented by T. A. E. World of Toronto, president of the L.Y.R.A., while Commodore H. F. Richardson of the K.Y.C., presented the Club prizes.

The final results of Saturday's races were:

TURF CLUB HAS BEST SHOWING OF THE SEASON

Large Crowd Are Given a Wonderful Programme of Races on Saturday Afternoon.

TRACK RECORD MADE.

The third and most successful meet of the Peterborough Turf Club was held on Saturday afternoon at the Exhibition Park. The four races were all closely contested, with one of them going five heats.

The crowd was the largest of the season, and the club is to be commended for the full programme of races which was provided. During the afternoon a baseball game was played between the Raybestos and Crescent teams, the latter winning by the close score of 3 runs to 2.

The 2.24 class was the most closely contested race of the day, it being stretched into five heats, with Jim Todd, Jr., owned by A. T. Johnston, and driven by J. Donnelly, winning first money; Minnie Patchen, owned by L. J. Bennet, took second money. This horse was driven by Mr Bennet, who is a man of 73 years of age. Just Jack, who was first entered in the matched race, took third money.

The matched race between Jack Abbey and Leximore proved one of the wonders in the day's racing programme in the last heat, the first half-mile was made in 1 minute 6 seconds, the race being run in 2.14¼.

The races were run under the Dominion Harness Association rules, and the drivers were not afraid of having their horses marked.

There were five horses in the 2.24 class, and every heat was a stiff race for first position, with the leader only winning by a few heads. Peter Patch, a bay gelding, owned and driven by Vic Rountree, of Weston, won first money, taking three heats out of the four. Doris Patch, a brown mare owned by Robert Langstaff, of Kendal, and driven by J. Sutherland, got second money, winning the second heat and coming in third place in the other three. Lu Grattan, a brown mare, owned by Charles Schooley and driven by F. Dacota, was squeezed out of second money when she took fourth place after a poor start in the first heat. Dick Sunday was fourth, and Alkie Silk, a little trotting mare owned by Charles Fife, of Belleville, took fifth place.

Three horses were entered in the 2.35 class, with Eleanor May, of James Akey's stable, winning the three heats and taking first money. Starlight Dan, owned by W. Smith, of Belleville, was placed second twice and third once, and took second money, with Hal Direct coming in for the third purse.

In the 2.20 class, it was announced that Jim Todd, Jr., and Minnie Patchen would have the first two purses divided between them, but later it was found out that Jim Todd had won the race, as it was not run on the points system.

Thornton's Strokes Bad Only On Links

JASPER, Aug. 5. — The report which has been circulated that Sir Henry Thornton is in bad health, and that his condition is causing his friends alarm, is entirely incorrect. Three weeks ago Sir Henry suffered an attack of intestinal flu, but he has entirely recovered. Seen yesterday morning in connection with the report which also stated that he had suffered a stroke, Sir Henry said: "Yes it is quite true. I had a bad stroke yesterday. In fact I had four bad strokes in quick succession. They occurred near the 14th green on the golf course. The first got me into the bunker and I had three

EVEN SERIES WITH CHICAGO

Yankees Score All Runs in the Fourth Inning For 4-3 Victory.

NEW YORK, Aug. 8.—(Canadian Press.)—New York evened the series count by defeating Chicago in the second game before a crowd of 35,000. The Yankees scored all their runs in the fourth inning. Shocker was replaced by Moore in the box at the opening of the sixth when a White Sox rally threatened. Blakenship yielded only seven hits against eleven made off Shocker and Moore. Ruth and Gehrig went hitless.

Touching two Cleveland pitchers for 15 hits, the Senators yesterday turned the tables on the Indians and won the second game of the Washington series 12 to 3. Although he yielded seven hits, Hadley had little difficulty holding the Tribe while his team mates chalked up a safe margin of tallies.

BUNCH HITS FOR VICTORY

Three Homers Feature First Game in the Leaf Programme.

BEARS WIN DOUBLE.

NEW YORK, August 8 (Canadian Press). — Fine pitching by Joe Zubris and Mamaux gave the Bears two victories over the Rochester Tribe at Newark yesterday by the score of 4 to 1 and 5 to 4. Outside of the second frame in the opening tilt, when the Rochester club scored their lone tally, Zubris had the Tribe at his mercy.

Buffalo at Reading rallied for three runs in the seventh inning to overcome a Reading lead and then scored three more in the ninth to sew up the decision, evening the series at one-all by winning 9 to 5. Quellich hit his fifteenth home run of the season in the fifth inning with the bases empty..

The Toronto Leafs took both ends of a twin bill at Baltimore yesterday by a score of 9 to 6 and 2 to 1. Toronto bunched hits for a four-run rally in the first game after the Birds had pulled up to even terms for a winning margin. The game was marked by three home runs. The nightcap was decided in the first inning when all the runs were scored.

Syracuse took a double-header at Jersey City, winning the first game by 8 to 3, and the second in twelve innings, 2 to 0.

The second game was a thriller, neither side being able to score till the twelfth inning when Syracuse got to Big Bob Grady, rookie hurler for two markers on Kapi's double, Morrow's single, a sacrifice by Hurst, and a one-bagger by Layne.

MASSEYS NOW LOCAL SOCCER LEAGUE CHAMPS

SCORE 3 TO 0.

Hanson, Laidler and Beggs Were the Marksmen For the Day.

Local soccer fans witnessed the Masseys defeat the Quaker Oats by three goals to nothing in the final league fixture of the season, at King Edward Park, on Saturday afternoon.

This is the first year that the Masseys will have their name engraved upon the White challenge cup, which is emblematic of the league championship. For the last two seasons, the Thistles were the winners of this trophy.

First Half.

Prompt to time, the Masseys kicked off against the wind, with mid-field play, holding the players to individual tactics that finally ended when Carmichael sent his outside man along the wing who compelled the full-back to concede a flag-kick that went abegging. From the goal-punt, the winners went right back to the other end to find a defence unbeatable in close tactics.

Robb in Limelight.

At centre-half, Robb was the mainstay of his team, when the fast-moving Massey forwards bore down upon goal, he checked closely and in anticipation of manoeuvers in combination, his tactics had the opposition at a standstill, while his clearances were to advantage in every count. From a foul, against Wade, the Quakers gained the decision in play around the goal but Fowler was right on the spot to avert disaster from Alf. Wilson's foot and Mitchell's low grounder.

Assisted by the Wind.

It was very evident that the Quakers were out to gain the much coveted points by their energetic play inside the Massey's goal area, and for the duration of fifteen minutes they rattled shots into goal in every direction without success.

Hanson Opened Scoring.

In repeated scrimmages in front of Fowler's charge, Blowers cleaved successfully to his inside-left who drew out the opposing defence to give his outside man the chance to open the scoring. He trapped the ball on the run and with a rising shot, beat Foster from his left foot that found the rigging.

Clever Football.

The loss of the goal by the Quakers resulted in very aggressive movements by their forwards that brought out the clever defence of the Masseys' full-backs and halves when hard pressed. In fact, up till half-time, the Quakers dominated the play in every department, but lacked the final touch to finish with the ball in the net and were pressing hard as half-time was announced. Masseys, 1; Quakers, 0.

Half Time.

Upon resuming, Carmichael replaced Foster in goal, and the Masseys were down testing his qualities as a custodian in first few minutes and were startling by his clearing methods. The first excitement of interest was through the efforts of Mayette on the right who had the defence bewildered with his timely crossing in front of goal, but nobody was present to even up the account, as the goal-keeper was out of position.

Masseys Forced the Issue.

A short respite in the play by the losers gave the winners the vim necessary to confine the play to shooting distance that was interspersed with break-aways by the Quakers. On one occasion, Mitchell hit the cross-bar with a lightning drive, then Mayette did likewise against the corner of the upright as everybody cried goal. They came back again immediately to let chances go abegging, as Tobb trapped the ball from mid-air to make Fowler stretch himself to keep his goal from falling to the Quakers.

Two Goals in Two Minutes.

On a mid-field tackle between Mann and Robb, the latter was knocked useless from an injury received for the rest of the game, and as he limped around, Laidler gained possession about ten yards out and let drive into the net along the ground. A minute later, Hanson went right along the wing to find the custodian his obstacle in the way to serve, but Beggs awaited the result of the tackle by tapping the ball into the net for the third goal. Satisfied with their substantial lead, the league champions held the opponents scoreless for the rest of the game. Final—Masseys, 3; Quakers, 0.

Masseys—Fowler, goal; Buchan and Wade, backs; W. Logan, Mann and Blowers, halves; Willis, Geo. Logan, Beggs, Laidler and Hanson, forwards.

On the toss of the coin for the first Saturday game in the play off between the winners of the western and eastern sections, Jack Nott, who was officially appointed by the Peterboro Club to represent them, called the flip and the first game will be played in Peterborough on Saturday, September 3rd, and the second game in the western section winner's home grounds on Labor day, Monday, September 5. Kirkwood and Wright of Toronto are to be the official umpires in all league play offs and will be instructed to see that all games are to start on advertised time.

PETERBOROUGH C. C. WINS FRENDLY GAME

A friendly match, was played at the Oval on Saturday afternoon between the Peterborough C. C. and R. Dyer's XI, ending in a victory for the former team by 21 runs. The game was keenly contested and more matches like this will do much to further the interests of cricket.

R. Dyer won the toss and sent in the Peterborough team to bat first. With only 7 runs scored Jefferson was given out l.b.w. After this some bright batting was seen before the next wicket fell, F. Dyer and Stuart putting on 29 runs before the former was bowled by Rigby. Thorpe scored 10 and was then bowled by Young. No other batsmen reached double figures, the innings closing for 67. Langley bowled well, capturing 4 wickets for 9 runs.

R. Dyer's team opened their innings disastrously, their first two wickets falling before a run had been scored, both batsmen being bowled by F. Dyer. Foster, R. Dyer and Langley batted well and the score finally reached 46. F. Dyer secured 5 wickets for 16 runs and Thorpe 3 for 9 runs.

Both teams fielded splendidly, some fine catches being made.

This is a year of freak happenings in baseball, particularly as to the pitchers.

Recently Southpaw Burke, of the Washington club, pitched only one ball as a relief pitcher, retiring a batsman and ending the inning, only to get credit for winning the game, when Washington, in its half of the inning, broke a tie by scoring two runs to win.

Now for a directly opposite situation: July 13, 1927, was a jinx to Pitcher Charley Ruffing of the Boston Red Sox, who pitched one ball to lose a game to the St. Louis Browns.

This game proved beyond a doubt the uncertainty of baseball. Sam Jones, pitching for St. Louis, had held Boston to two hits and no runs for eight innings. He enjoyed a three-run lead going into the ninth. Before the side was retired, Boston had made five runs on four hits and two errors, taking the lead 5-3.

With runners on first and third, one out and George Sisler up, Manager Carrigan removed Pitcher Jack Russell, sending in Ruffing as relief man. Russell had put the two tying runs on the bases.

Ruffing tried to sneak a fast ball past Sisler, but failed, Sisler knocking a home run into the right field bleachers that scored three runs and the game for St. Louis.

Since Sisler's home run was the deciding score, made on the first ball Ruffing pitched, he is charged with the defeat. Few major league ball games have ever been lost any quicker.

E.P.B.L. TEAMS BUSY THIS WEEK

Play Four Games To Bring Schedule To a Close.

COGS STILL LEADING.

Baseball fans are promised a full week's sport, for the teams in the East Peterborough Baseball League clash three times at the Exhibition grounds and once in Bethany. Bethany plays the Raybestos here to-night, Raybestos meet the Cognawagas here to-morrow, Bethany plays here with Crescents on Wednesday night, and Crescents are in Bethany on Friday night.

The game to-night is the replay of the tie game which was played in the first half. At present the Cognawagas are leading by a half game over the Crescents and as the schedule finishes this week the fans are assured of good baseball. The Raybestos have been able to beat the Cogs this season and to-morrow night may put the Cogs in second position.

Staples and Masterson will in all probability do the hurling for the two teams to-night.

HYDRO GAMES ARE PLAYED OFF

Campbellford Wins Softball, Tennis and Quoit Tourneys.

FULL PROGRAMME.

CAMPBELLFORD, Aug. 8.—Owing to rain on the day of the Hydro picnic at Presqu'ile some of the sports were not run off. Quietly, on Saturday without public announcement of any kind, softball teams from Peterboro' and Belleville, also tennis teams and quoit throwers stole into town to settle long standing grievances. Campbellford is always a good town to come to, for, with the exception of bowling, if a team cannot bring another team with it to trim it, a team may always be found here willing to oblige.

The softball games, Belleville vs. Peterboro'; and Peterboro' vs. Campbellford, were just a little bit better class of softball than the average game here. Peterboro' shut Belleville out, notwithstanding the fact that Plate Umpire Alexander (Y. M. C. A.) was from the home of the defeated team. The score was 6-0. Line-up:

Umpires—Plate, Alexander; bases, Massie.

With the same line-up, Peterboro' tackled Campbellford, with a 9-7 score in favor of Campbellford as the result. It was all Peterborough's game until the ninth inning when luck favored Campbellford with some close decisions, notably one at second base. Campbellford's line-up was: Johnston, p.; Nisbett, c.; DeCarrol, 1b.; Cowell, 2b.; Watt, 3b.; Tinney, ss.; Sanders, rf.; Badgley, c.f.; Beatty, lf.

The tennis match resulted in a victory for Campbellford. Belleville players: William Colby and Bob Brown. Campbellford players: Cecil Watt and Hilton Beatty. Scores: 6-2, 6-4.

The quoit throwing was simply another honor being thrust upon Campbellford. Two teams from Belleville were the first to throw, George Gilbert coming out winner. Searles, of No. 2 power-house, then played Gilbert, defeating him. DeCarrol, for Campbellford, tackled Searles, for Trenton, beating him. Score points: DeCarrol, 5-10-10, two games; J. Searles, 10-8-5, one game. Fisher, of Belleville, was umpire of throwing.

To The Examiner the Peterboro' softball players expressed themselves as being thankful to Superintendent William Hunt of the filtration plant for bringing them down.

The prizes for the different events were distributed by Superintendent Ironside. Tennis-balls were presented to the winners in tennis. A flashlight to the winner of the quoit contest was awarded, and a nice little silver cup to the softball champions.

PREVENTING CANCER

A New York philanthropist has recently offered a reward of $50,000 to be given to anyone who can tell how cancer can be positively prevented. He offers another $50,000 to anyone who can discover an absolute cure of cancer. In a statement he said in part: "What I have in mind is this: Discoveries are not always made by experts. Physicians, like business men, are not always the best research workers. Through the lure of a reward this serious problem may be solved through the genius of a lay mind, by chemists or through unknown and unorganized medical sources.

Yellow fever, for instance, has been destroyed through the research work of three obscure army surgeons. As far as I know, no cure for yellow fever has been found, nor is a cure necessary so long as we know how to control and prevent the disease."

As far as I know, there is no positive means for preventing any disease, whether cancer, rheumatism or yellow fever, except it be by everyone living with such perfect habits that no disease can be developed in the body. If yellow fever can be positively prevented, it is only because those people who are immune to it have lived a life of perfect bodily habits and therefore have a clean blood-stream in which there is no room for yellow fever or any other kind of a fever. The same thing is true of cancer!

If research workers would only get away from the false belief that cancer is caused by a bacteria, it would be a good step in the right direction. Cancer is caused by a collection of inert, microscopic cells which form at some place in the body where there is irritation and congestion. This could be prevented if—first: No irritation would be developed; second: if the blood-stream of every person could be kept perfectly pure and free from the burden of dead cells; and third: if each person would take a sufficient amount of vigorous physical exercise each day so as to insure a perfect circulation of blood through all parts of the body.

These are my suggestions for preventing cancer, and although I do not expect to win the $50,000, I hope my readers will remember these points and learn to live with good health habits such as I suggest in this column. If this is done, no fear need be felt about the possibe development of cancer in any place in the body.

However, my experience with patients has shown me that very few are ever interested in preventing disease, but they all easily become panicky whenever they discover that a disease has really developed. They are then willing to do anything to bring about a cure and it is often possible, after a cure has been effected, for the patient to be sufficiently scared into living a careful life from that time on so as to prevent a recurrence of the trouble.

Lyrics Of Life

(By Douglas Malloch.)

REPUTATION

We laid a fine foundation for
The new garage, and yet learned more
Than how to build and anchor forms
And shelter our cement from storms.
We tamped the cinders here and there,
We labored with extremest care,
Because we realized a wall
When built is built for good and all.

The concrete now was loose and wet,
But well we knew it soon would set
And turn to everlasting stone,
And—well, and not concrete alone.

There isn't anything we do
The whole day long, a whole life through,
That isn't like concrete we pour,
That isn't done forever more.

And, if we see a wall is straight,
What about deeds of love and hate?
We take the plastic things of earth
And make a wall, a wall of worth
Or wall unsightly, build it well
Or build it poorly—time shall tell.
Each day we build a wall the same,
And Reputation is its name.

the latest from the Speed laboratory

PETERBORO to MONTREAL and to Toronto, Ottawa, Quebec, Hamilton and many other distant points

The object of every recent improvement has been to increase the speed at which telephone connections can be made to distant points.

Year in and year out our engineers study and experiment to find new ways of doing this. New inventions are being constantly tested to see if they will speed up the service; new materials are being tried out; the technique of operation—the mechanics of incoming and outgoing calls—is always being studied to find new way of saving your time.

This process is continuous, and our new "double-quick" service is the latest result.

A PRIVATE DIRECTORY FOR YOU

This new "Double-Quick" service is available only where you can give the distant number.

We will provide a directory of distant numbers you frequently call, and keep it up-to-date for you.

Ask your Telephone Manager to make up one for you.

Give the operator the distant number, and she can now make the Long Distance connection for you almost as rapidly as a Local call. You don't have to hang up.

Irish Hearts

By MOLLIE MALONE

Copyright 1927, Warner Bros. Pictures, Inc.

"IRISH HEARTS," with May McAvoy, is a Warner Bros. picturization of this novel.

SYNOPSIS

Emmett Murtough of Killanmaul, Ireland, emigrates to America and is followed by Sheila Kildare, to whom he is bethrothed, and her father. Sheila begins to learn that Emmett is a boaster and unworthy of her love. She makes friends with the family of Rory O'Shea, a professional boxer. Emmett, although he evades marriage with her, nevertheless is jealous of Rory. Rory and Sheila spend a holiday at the famous Coney Island.

The musicians, a violin, a 'cello and an accordion player, gave their concert up the river and the program was not all jazz. Old tunes, melodies that carry the mind back to pleasant little homes with singing mothers, and jig tunes for merrymaking were the offerings of these entertainers, content with nickels and dimes gathered in a battered felt hat from among the passengers.

Now and then a child cried, but it was a quiet crowd, men, women, children, all worn with the frolic of the day, home-going to whatever their modest fortunes provided for them, whether it was a tenement on the East Side or a flat up Harlem way.

'Did you enjoy the day?" Rory asked softly.

"Oh, it was wonderful. It is the most beautiful day I have ever spent in America. But it made me sad to see an' hear the sea, for we lived on the hills just above it at Killanmaul. Some day ye should see Killanmaul an' Knockbotherum an' the countryside beyond Knockbotherum, from where yer father came."

"An' what will become of us now?"

"I should like to see it with you, Sheila Kildare," spoke up the O'Shea, and he added quickly and gaily, "Wait till we're all rich and maybe we can!"

They fell into silence again, watching the lights which flickered on shore. Sheila gasped.

"Rory! Rory O'Shea!" she cried as if stricken. "My locket! My good luck locket, 'tis gone! I've lost it!"

When the O'Shea had quieted her Sheila told him about the visit to Knockbotherum Fair and the prophecy of the old fortune teller.

"'Wear it always,' she told me," Sheila said, "'an' never lose it, for if you do the imps will be climbing yer back to make trouble for ye.'

"An' what will become of us now, what with father not wanting to work an' the bit of the savings we had a-going an' a-going, an' me with my good luck charm lost forever."

Rory gently tried to quiet her fears, and while Sheila pretended that she would not worry so much as the littlest minute over her loss, nevertheless there was no singing in her heart when she climbed the stairs slowly in the tenement in Hell's Kitchen.

CHAPTER VI

Rory O'Shea's fight with Campeau, the Frenchman, was two months away and Rory needed outdoor training. It was the last of September and Jack Reagan, his manager, arranged for him to train in Jimmy Tree's famous camp in New Jersey. A dozen fighters were quartered there, some shaping up for bouts already contracted, others hopefully keeping in trim for matches to be made that winter. There were no ring stars at Jimmy Tree's, but the men were good "prelim" material, the sort who fight every second and who warm up the crowds for the finals. Many of these men Rory had fought. He was popular with them all, and he would get plenty of sparring workouts with men who, if they were not the equals of Campeau, were in his class. Some of them hoped for their own chance with the Frenchman.

Tree was a vigorous, wiry little fellow, a dynamo of energy. He was well over forty and knew how to train athletes to the 'nth of perfection. Tree conducted his camp with military-like discipline. Fighters paid well for privileges, but none of them were permitted any infractions of Jimmy Tree's rules. If a boxer did not like the way Tree ran the camp that boxer could ferry home to Broadway. No man's money looked good to Jimmy if the man would not follow the rules.

Personal habits were the first consideration. When the candidate arrived, whether professional or amateur, Jimmy admitted business men who wanted to keep fit as well as boxers, Jimmy would summon him to the little private office in the main building.

"You know you're here to train, don't you? Well, train. I can't help you if you don't want to help yourself. No man can be an athlete unless he wants to; nobody can make an athlete out of any carcass just because he pays down a fee for it. Your money's not half as much to me as my reputation, so if you don't follow the rules you can't stay here. That's that." It was to the man who never had been a guest of Jimmy's camp to whom he was most belligerent and emphatic.

"I don't know you, 'cept by reputation," he would say. "You win some fights and maybe you're good. I don't know. Maybe you'd be better if you'd been handled better. A fighter's got to be good if he can last ten years in this game. And, he's got to be good all the time, from the first bell to the last and in between. I'm no preacher, but let me tell you that any boy that lives right has a better chance than his opponent who doesn't. The fellow who lives right has always got the edge on the other fellow, and that's what we're all looking for, whether it's in the ring or in business."

Each applicant for entrance filled out a health questionnaire which he sent in with his request for admission. It was more of a habit questionnaire than one of health. The candidate set forth the number of hours of sleep he averaged, number of cigars or cigarettes per day, amount of alcohol consumed every twenty-four hours, his daily exercise and other facts that Jimmy would scan closely while he laid forth the laws in his private office.

"Forty cigarettes a day! Man, man, and how do you keep breathing at all is more than I can understand. A dozen cocktails! You'll get no cocktails here, and I may as well tell you now that your baggage is being searched right this minute and my men are as good as the customs officers at the docks.

"And what keeps you up until three and four in the morning? Parties at night clubs, eh! Oh, you can't sleep! We'll fix that. That comes from night clubs, you know, 'that can't sleep excuse. Sleep's a habit like everything else. You can get out of a habit just the same as you get into one, and that goes for good habits as well as bad. Now here, lights are out at nine o'clock and every man must be in bed. And, he'll sleep after the first three days, I'm telling you. We're up and dressed at six—half-past five call. One hour of road work; you'll walk at first if you haven't been getting any exercise; later I'll put you through the paces.

"Breakfast at seven, and don't ask for more than is put in front of you. I know just what you need and just how much. Three days of this and then I'll know precisely what you do need and your day will be laid out for you. It's up to you to follow it to the letter."

Most of the professional boxers knew Jimmy's strict regime and it was seldom, except with amateurs, that he had to outline the routine in so much detail, but even to those who had attended his camp before he constantly preached the creed that he followed regarding physical betterment.

"A man can be just what he wants to be; but it's strictly up to him." Many's the youngster in the game that Jimmy Tree has set on the right road to a long and creditable ring career, even though he may never have been acclaimed champion. "Train between fights by cutting out all unhealthy habits; then you won't have to train so hard when you get a match," he would tell them over and over.

Jimmy was glad to have Rory O'Shea. He liked him and respected him for his clean ways of living. Reagan's letter requesting reservation of quarters was immediately answered with a postscript: "And I hope Rory wins; he deserves a win."

Sheila had seen little of Rory in the two weeks after the visit to Coney Island. He was busy with his manager and when they did meet it was in the O'Sheas' flat.

NEW PARIS MODELS EMPHASIZE BLACK

PARIS, Aug. 8—M. Molyneaux exhibited his fall collection on Wednesday afternoon, and in the evening M. Worth displayed his, holding the attention of spectators the entire time by the variety and individualityof their models.

One thing they have in common is the acceptance of black as the color in velvets, crepes, satins and chiffons for both daytime and evening wear. Then, too, the hemline remains the same length, with both slightly longer and an unevenness appearing at the sides rather than in the back.

For sports wear and daytime costumes, Worth favors a short-jacket ensemble outlined with fur, in this way making it, according to the fabric, either a bit more formal or more jaunty.

Most of the evening clothes and some of the afternoon models at Worth's show a marked tendency towards Oriental themes in the use of a lavish embroidery that glitters and sparkles profusely. He endorses the flaring silhouette which is accomplished by a slightly raised waistline, a new skirt length, Bolero treatment and the use of belts tightly drawn about the hips.

In the matter of secondary colors Worth sponsors navy gray with taupe for evening wear. While Molyneux proclaims navy, beige and pink for evening. Both are using metallic brocades and new woolen mixtures in soft tones of beige and gray.

Capes in full lengths made of two colors or two tones of the same color are being advanced for sports wear by Worth, with Molyneux preferring straight-line coats and occasionally short circular capes on them.

Mother Cat's Love Conquers Space

DAVENPORT, Ia., August 8.—Mother love and hiking ability both were shown by a Davenport Maltese cat which walked 120 miles in three days, half of the distance with a kitten in her mouth.

Recently the cat "adopted" a local hardware store as a home. A few days later a family of six kittens arrived. Employees of the store gave the cat and her kittens to a farmer ten miles from town.

The next day the cat came back. She carried a kitten in her mouth. Later in the day she came back again. She carried another kitten.

Yesterday it was discovered she had carried all six of her kittens back, making six trips, ten miles each way, or 120 miles in all.

MUCH TO LEARN FROM CONGRESS

5,000 DELEGATES.

The World's Poultry Congress, the greatest Convention that has ever been held in this country, has been drawn to a successful close, the foreign delegates are now touring Canada, and the Canadian delegates have returned to their homes. Peterboro's two delegates, Frank Dawson who represented the local poultrymen, and Fred Welsh, poultry expert of the Quaker Oats Campany, say that the congress gave Canada and her poultrymen a wonderful opportunity to place themselves before the world and they succeeded well in doing so.

The congress showed to the world that poultry raising is a national asset and those countries that take full advantage of the opportunity offered in developing poultry will be put in an enviable position among the nations.

Everything at the Congress was carried out on a world wide scale. Five thousand delegates were there representing forty three countries and all kinds of poultry feeds, methods of poultry raising, and everything that goes to the developing of the best of poultry were on exhibit.

The delegates commend the way the National committee put across the congress. They spared nothing and the Canadian government gave all possible assistance. They believe that Canada has taken full advantage of the opportunity offered her and feel that this big thing has given an impetus to poultry raising in Canada that will be felt all over world.

A full program was offered to the delegates. In the morning lectures were given on all phases of poultry industry from authorities of world wide fame and the information that these men handed on to their hearers will be of great assistance to all poultrymen.

The afternoons were open to visitors when all the buildings were reviewed and inspected. Entertainment of all kinds was provided for the delegates. There was music by the Ottawa Centenary Choir and the Ottawa Solo Choir and various orchestras and singers were present from New York.

The Exhibits.

In the Colliseum building, birds from all countries represented were on exhibit. They were there in all colours, types, shapes and sizes from the Indian Jungle fowl, the ancestors of all poultry, to the Chanticleer, the latest breed of poultry, which comes from the Province of Quebec. In this exhibit Canada was well represented with the birds from British Columbia attracting a great deal of attention.

In this building there were also several Company exhibits of poultry food amongst which was that from the Quaker Oat Company of Peterborough in charge of Dr. Kent in Chicago. This company had a splendid exhibit of poultry foods and is doing much to help the poultry industry throughout the world with its Full-o-Pep and other poultry feeds. Peterborough was well advertised, for Full-o-Pep poultry food books were distributed strikingly reminding the readers where this excellent food was made. They also had moving pictures showing the management of poultry in a full up-to-date manner. There were representatives present from Chicago, London (England) and Memphis.

The Canadian Government exhibit was the most inspiring of the whole exhibition no one could pass through without getting some education from the exhibits shown. The decorations done in a very artistic manner, described the old and new ways of raising poultry, when the old meant loss and the new profit and a great future.

A good educational feature was found in the exhibit of the old poultry houses feeds and feeding as compared to the present sanitary conditions.

In another building were found the provincial exhibits from Prince Edward Island to British Columbia. Various breeds were shown. This was most educational to anyone interested in Canada.

In the international exhibit building there was a very wide range of poultry from all the countries represented at the great congress. The exhibits of the United States and Great Britain were very large, with the British showing a lay out of a modern poultry farm. In this building was found a realistic portrait of the Canadian Rockies. It was only in minature but was strikingly attractive. By a lighting effect the contrast between the sun and dark clouds was shown and all kinds of weather even to a rainbow were depicted.

In the incubator and brooder building various sizes of incubators were shown from the small fifty eggs one to the fifty thousand egg machines, the modern day mammoth. The Betersyme Company of Vancouver showed two hundred and forty chicks that were brought from British Columbia being five days and nights on the train without food and water and not losing a single chick, and all arriving in perfect condition. Mr. Walsh brought some of these chickens to this city. There was also a wonderful display of poultry equipment which proved very interesting to the poultrymen and information on the modern manner of raising poultry.

DAWES TO RUN FOR PRESIDENCY

Vice-President Silent, But His Friends Think He Will Be Elected.

PRAISE FOR PRINCES.

TORONTO, Aug. 8. — General Charles G. Dawes, Vice-President of the United States of America, and one of the prominent statesmen at the opening of the Buffalo-Bridgeport Peace Bridge yesterday, left the Union Station last night on the C.P. R. Transcontinental en route for Little Current and Manitoulin Island, where he will spend the next four or five days.

Interviewed on the train last night, "Charley," as he is popularly known, was much more talkative than his chief, Calvin Coolidge. But on matters of official import he was not at all willing to converse. "I am merely the lieutenant," he said. "As long as my captain is alive I do not have to know anything." But he gave the impression of a man who knows a great deal, and who also knows the old adage of "Silence is golden."

C. E. Sibley and G. Bartley, personal friends of the General, who are accompanying the party, were of the opinion that the General would be the next President of the United States and stated that he would stand for the nomination of his party. Mrs. Dawes is also with the party, but was not seen, for she retired to the compartment immediately on boarding the train.

The opening of the Peace Bridge impressed General Dawes as one of the great events in the histories of the two countries. Never, he said, had he seen a great formal function carried off so smoothly. The speakers were each and every one excellent. Particularly so were Premier King and Premier Ferguson, with Governor Al. Smith of New York the outstanding man from the United States.

Speaking of the Prince of Wales and his brother, Prince George, whom he met for the first time yesterday, General Dawes said: "They are both charming young men. There are few, if any, who are better in any respect. They are worthy of the Empire." For Premier Mackenzie King, Mr. Dawes had very warm words of commendation.

LAKEFIELD LADIES HEAR FINE TALKS

Women's Institute Is Addressed By Miss White, of Toronto.

LAKEFIELD, Aug. 8.—The Woman's Institute met on Wednesday afternoon, August 3rd at the home of Mrs. Kingdon, with an attendance of between thirty-five and forty. The president, Mrs. J. H. Payne, occupied the chair, the meeting was opened by the singing of the opening ode, Miss A. M. Greig of Kingston, presiding at the piano, and repeating the Lord's prayer in concert.

The minutes were read by the secretary, Mrs. Leslie Harrison and the roll was called.

Mrs. McMaster, Mrs. Kemp and Miss Graham were appointed a programme committee for the next meeting.

Following the business, Miss White of Toronto, gave an address. Miss White, who is a well-known newspaper woman, is also a member of the Woman's Institute, and is very deeply interested in the work being done.

Miss White, who spent a few days in Ottawa last week attending the World's Poultry Congress, brought greetings from Mrs. Laura Rose Stevens, who organized the first Woman's Institute in Lakefield about twenty-five years ago. She was the first lecturer to go out when Institutes were founded. Mrs. Stevens was remembered by many of the ladies who had heard her speak, and to whom she had given recipes.

Miss White spoke of the advance of the Woman's Institute in Canada as a national organization. A step forward came eight years ago when all the Institutes were joined in the big central organization known as the Federated Woman's Institutes of Canada. The Federated Institute holds biennial meetings and at present, the Dominion president is a Miss Stuart, who lives in Wolfville, N.S., in the heart of the Evangeline country. The secretary is Mrs. Rogers, of Ft. Saskatchewan. The vice-president is Mrs. Field Robertson, of Lanark, who is also president of the Provincial organization.

At the meeting held this year in Wolfville, N.S., the institute took up the question of maternal mortality, which is increasing at an alarming rate, and a new standing committee was formed to deal with the matter, and work in every way possible to secure a lower death rate among the mothers of Canada.

Miss White spoke of the World's Poultry Congress, which was held in Ottawa this year and which is a triennial institution, and was held in Barcelona, Spain, three years ago. Canada entered a number of birds in this great congress, which were in charge of F. C. Elford, of the Poultry Division of the Department of Ottawa, and Mr. Rose. There were many exhibits from the United States also and the exhibitors derided the Canadian birds as being inferior to their own. However, the best American birds died in the voyage, whereas the Canadian birds throve finely, crowing and laying eggs and enjoying the trip. The endurance of the Canadian birds made a great impression in Spain, and Mr. Fulford presented as souvenirs to the delegates small shields inscribed "Canada, 1927," afterwards telling the recipients that he expected them to vote to hold the next congress in Canada. Three special pens of birds were taken to Barcelona as presents, one for the King of England, one for the King of Spain, and one for the Trappist monks from their brother monks at Oka, who have bred the Chanticler fowl which have become so famous.

The Congress in Ottawa is really a marvellous thing, with many buildings piled with birds of all varieties. There are many interesting people who are drawn to Ottawa because of the Poultry Congress. Mr. Edward Brown, the president, a dear old man from Newcastle, England, a Spanish Don, several Dutchmen, a man from Egypt, Chinese and Japanese, all thoroughly enjoying themselves. One Dutchman, who is a shipbuilder, is of English extraction, an ancestor, Farrier Smith, going to Holland with William of Orange. There were some remarkable women also, a charming English woman, who went into poultry farming during the war as a feeding industry, and who was so successful that she was appointed poultry expert for India with headquarters at Lucknow. She brought a pair of the brown jungle fowl, from which all varieties are bred.

Mrs. Aitkin, of Beeton, who is known as the White Wyandotte Queen, owns the Championship White Wyandocte hen with a record of 310 eggs. Mrs. Aitkin urged strongly a fuller knowledge of poultry.

Mrs. McKeever, of the Scottish Board of Agriculture was present and gave lectures on the scientific production of poultry. Hon. Flora Amherst, of England, had an exhibit of 154 varieties of eggs; she is an enthusiast on poultry and urges that hens be made to keep themselves and pay a profit.

The record of performance is a development of the poultry business. Each hen's record is kept. Trap nests are used and mating records kept, and every egg is expected to be a plus egg, that is, an egg weighing two ounces or over.

Among the birds exhibited were white wyandottes and buff rocks, belonging to the Prince of Wales. King George himself was an exhibitor also. The Yokohama fowl, with their tails twenty feet long attracted a great deal of attention. They were evidently great pets and were very friendly.

Brother Wilfrid was present from Oka and had an exhibit of the chanticler fowl which he and his colleagues have brought to perfection.

"We should feel very proud that our young country has succeeded so well that the World's Poultry Congress was held here this year," she concluded.

Miss A. M. Greig of Kingston, is a member of the Frontenac Woman's Institute, which is also affiliated with the local council of women in Kingston. In fact sixteen Institutes in Frontenac County are affiliated with the Kingston local Council of Women; other affiliated societies are the Red Cross, I.O.O.E. Teachers' Association, Conservative Women's Club and the Liberal Women's Club, and other organizations, all finding strength in the affiliation.

In the Confederation Day parade the local Council put on two floats, one representing conditions in 1867 and the other conditions in 1927. The former showed an old time quilting bee in full progress, with the float decorated with rag mats, patchwork quilts and a big open fireplace. The latter float showed the electrical labor-saving devices of to-day. The Woman's Institute did a great deal towards getting up these floats and in every case the Institute has been found to be a great asset in linking up town and country women with a common aim.

Tea was served by Mrs. Kingdon, assisted by Misses Darling, Frankish and Armstrong, of the Junior Institute, and little Miss Kingdon. Mrs. H. Kemp extended an invitation to the ladies to hold their next meeting at her home which was accepted for the afternoon of the first Wednesday in September.

After hearty votes of thanks had been extended to Miss White and Miss Greig for their interesting addresses and to Mrs. Kingdon for her hospitality, the meeting adjourned.

BOY INJURED IN RUNAWAY

Bill Frederick, 11, Suffers Broken Arm in Accident.

AT CAMPBELLFORD.

CAMPBELLFORD, Aug. 8.—There was a grand mix-up of broken harness, milk bottle boxes, milk, cream and boys at the top of Bland's Hill on Saturday afternoon. Out of the spill came one of the most manly little fellows in Campbellford, Bill Frederick, 11-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Herb. Frederick, Grand Road, with his left arm broken.

Hendy's milk wagon, in charge of Owen Hendy, was making its regular rounds and had collected its usual quota of small boys who work their way, taking turns at driving, carrying the milk into the houses, and sometimes just riding.

On this unfortunate occasion Bill had the lines and got the horse nearly to the top of the hill. Some of the boys had jumped off on the steep grade and were running behind the rig.

Something frightened the horse and it took to flight. Bill clung to the reins, but on reaching the top of the hill the horse turned shorter than it has been accustomed to turning at that particular corner for the last 28 years, the left front wheel struck a large boulder, the harness on the horse broke in several places, including a trace, and Bill hit the grass on the left side of the road still holding the reins, but the falling of boxes and milk bottle around the hoofs of the frightened horse causing it to make an extra effort for freedom, forced Bill to let go his hold.

The broken arm was immediately attended to by a local surgeon and is now in a big splint. The splint is as big as Bill's smile, which, by the way, escaped uninjured.

DRIVER PINNED BENEATH AUTO

Ernest Flint Badly Hurt When Car Turns Over Near Hastings.

WAS BEING TOWED.

CAMPBELLFORD, August 8. — What came near proving a fatal accident happened at 9.30 yesterday morning when, two miles out from Hastings en route to Campbellford, Ernest Leonard Flint was pinned under his car, which turned turtle.

Flint was being towed from Hastings to Campbellford by J. Dunlay. When two miles from Hastings, at the foot of a small hill, they had descended, Flint's car turned completely over, dropping into a two-foot ditch.

Flint, who was pinned under the car, with the steering wheel in his ribs, says that the heavy seat form got under the side of the car in such a way as to act as a prop, taking much of the weight of the car off him, thereby saving him more serious injury.

It is thought that on reaching the foot of the hill there was considerable slack in the tow line, and that in starting up the slack got around the front right wheel of Flint's car turning it over. The top of the car is completely wrecked, and the radiator and front mud guard put out of commission.

The whole of the right side of Mr. Flint's body is badly bruised, the leg sustaining the greatest injury. The unfortunate young man is an employee of the Weston Shoe Factory, and lives with his parents on Nasby Street.

WORLD PEACE CENTRAL NOTE

World's Federation of Educational Associations Opens Convention.

AT TORONTO UNIVERSITY.

TORONTO, August 28. — Canadian Press. — "World Peace" was the keynote of the discussion at the opening of the World's Federation of Educational Associations at the University of Toronto to-day.

Dr. P. W. Kuo, of Southeastern University, Nanking, China, and director of the China Institute in America, occupied the position of chairman Dr. Jesse T. Holmes, professor of Philosophy, at Swartmore College, Pennsylvania, delivered a stirring address on Education of Peace.

"Patriotism is not a noisy affair of talking of the advantages of your nation. Your country is not mere rocks and rails but a group of people. There is too much silly sentimentality about our patriotism, and we ought to get it out of our systems —and keep it from getting into the systems of our children," said Dr. Holmes.

"There can be little doubt that this military preparedness, while of advantage perhaps in some circumstances, must be regarded generally as the cause of war," E. J. Sainsbury, of Surrey, Eng., declared in his address on military preparedness.

Continuing, Mr. Sainsbury stated that by many it was held that military training in the schools and colleges of those nations where it is carried on, is not only not educational, but is in reality opposed to education.

"It therefore becomes our duty to try and discover the truth of the matter and to consider also whether other means to achieve what is desired by this military training can be recommended as effective without raising a spirit of militaryism," he concluded.

CEREMONIES HEARD ABROAD

British Fans Hear Prince's Speech, Cheers and Music.

MILLIONS LISTENING.

NEW YORK Aug. 7. —(AP).—When the Prince of Wales, with political leaders of this country, Canada and Great Britain, spoke yesterday at the dedication of the new Peace Bridge connecting the United States and Canada at Buffalo, their words were literally heard around the world. There is no means of knowing how many persons heard them, but hundreds of millions of persons were within hearing distance by radio.

Recent tests of the short- wave transmitters that were linked to microphones in the middle of the bridge and on the speakers' stand at the Buffalo end demonstrated that sound waves could be carried consistently to the Antipodes, according to the National Broadcasting Company, which conducted the radio arrangements. While no confirmation had been received from overseas, it was taken for granted that the voices and music that came through clearly to radio listeners in the East were heard likewise by those in London, Capetown, Sydney, Auckland, Honolulu and elsewhere where the English tongue is spoken.

Network of Stations.

Thirty-five stations in the United States, comprising the red and blue networks of the National Broadcasting Company, and another network on the Pacific slope, caught the picked-up sounds, even the shrill of a traffic policeman's whistle and the distant roar of a locomotive siren, and scattered them over the hemisphere. Stations in Canada did likewise. A powerful transmitter at Schenectady sent forth the ceremonies on 22 and 32.77 metre wavelengths too low for the usual type of receiving set to pick up, but with sufficient force to carry to Europe South Africa and Australia for rebroadcasting.

Britain Hears Prince.

LONDON, Aug. 8. — Wireless fans throughout the British Isles "listened-in last night and heard the Prince of Wales speak at the opening of the Peace Bridge between Fort Erie, Ont., and Buffalo, N. Y. The cheers of greeting to his Royal Highness were heard first and then his few remarks. His accent was perfectly distinguishable, and a few bars of "The Star Spangled Banner" were also heard.

A concert at Eastborne was being broadcast when, at 9.55 p. m., reception was interrupted , and the listeners-in were taken to Canada. The Canadian program lasted only a few minutes.

WORKMAN KILLED.

ST. CATHARINES, August 8 (Canadian Press). — Peter Berile, Welland, died last night as a result of injuries received when a locomotive struck a crane and sent it down grade into the spreader on which Berile was working.

FLIERS AWAIT GOOD WEATHER

SIX PLANES READY.

LONDON, Augu. 8. — Reports of improved weather conditions over the Atlantic had the European trans-atlantic flight aspirants in a bouyant mood to-day and the present week may see a veritable race for the honor of being the first to cross the ocean westward to the American continent.

Half a dozen expeditions, three German, two French and a British, are ready or very nearly ready for the take off when the weather man announcs the exact conditions for which they are waiting.

There is also the Bellanca plane Columbia which Charles Levine, its owner has been preparing for a return flight to New York.

WILD DRIVER RUINS BUGGY

Crashes Into Lighter Vehicle and Then Hits Another Car.

OCCUPANTS SHAKEN.

On Saturday night a touring car crashed into a horse and buggy at the corner of Simcoe and Aylmer streets, throwing Mr. and Mrs. Edward Prenneum out, and then struck another car which was standing near the curb.

The Ford did not appear to have suffered any damage and the driver never stopped on his wild and reckless tour going west on Simcoe street.

Mr. and Mrs. Prenneum, who live in Smith township, were not seriously hurt and were able to go home. The buggy was thrown up on the sidewalk and smashed.

IN POLICE COURT.

Two local residents appeared before His Worship Magistrate O. A. Langley this morning charged with being drunk in a public place and were fined $20.00 and costs or 30 days in the common jail.

Three employees of a summer resort, two boys and one girl, pleaded not guilty to a charge of being intoxicated in a public place early Sunday morning. W. F. Huycke appeared for the prosecution and J. A. O'Brien for the defendants. The case of the Crown was heard and then Mr. O'Brien moved for a dismissal as the evidence had shown that his three clients were intoxicated in the servants' private quarters and on the stairway leading to the quarters, which was only used by the servants.

Early Sunday morning High County Constable Pearson was called to the hotel to arrest the three who were creating a disturbance. When he and Constable Harry Young arrived they found one of the boys in his own room and the two others in another room. All three were intoxicated and two of them were making much noise. They were arrested and brought to Peterborough.

His Worship, in dismissing the case, said he disapproved of the conduct of the accused and he regretted that he could not deal with them as they deserved, but they were in their own quarters and could not be said to have been intoxicated in a public place. He regretted that the officers had charged them under that section of the code, for he thought they might have been convicted under a different section.

Hon. G. N. Gordon, K.C., appeared for a local resident who was charged with vagrancy. The Magistrate gave the prisoner two weeks to find work.

Carl Harrison pleaded not guilty to careless driving on George Street and the case was adjourned as Alderman Stocker, the complainant, was unable to have all his witnesses present.

WEDDING BELLS.

BLODGETT—FREDERICK.

The marriage was solemnized at Oshawa on Wednesday evening by the Rev. F. J. Maxwell, of Miss Emma Fredericks, to Mr. Clarence Blodgett, formerly of Peterborough. The young couple were attended by Miss Emily Cairns and Mr. Henry Rorabeck.

After the ceremony a buffet luncheon was served at the home of the groom's sister, Mrs. Henry Rorabeck, 204 Ritson Road, south. Mr. and Mrs. Blodgett will reside in Ottawa.

McNABB—DRURY.

A quiet but pretty wedding took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Drury, 533 Elm street, when their youngest daughter, Margaret Helen, became the bride of Mr. George McNabb, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. William McNabb, of Birsay, Saskatchewan, on Friday, July 29th. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Mr. Edgar of the Gilmour Memorial church.

The bride, entering the drawing room on the arm of her father, to the strains of the Lohengrin wedding march, played by Miss Dorothy Stevenson, looked charming in a dress of shimmering white satin, overdraped with white georgette, white shoes and stockings and the conventional veil and orange blossoms. She carried a bouquet of sweetheart roses and baby's breath. The bridesmaid, her sister, Miss Evelyn Drury, wore a dress of peach colored flat crepe with hat, shoes and stockings to match, and carried a bouquet of carnations and maiden hair fern.

The bridegroom's gift to the bride was a silver vanity case, to the bridesmaid a silver berry spoon, a pair of gold cuff links to the best man, and to the pianist a gold signet ring.

Among other numerous presents received by the young couple was a substantial wedding cheque from the bridegroom's grandparents, of Birsay, Saskatchewan.

Mr. and Mrs. McNabb left the following afternoon for Toronto, Niagara and Buffalo. The bride's travelling dress was of rose blush flat crepe with coat, hat, shoes and stockings to match. On their return Mr. and Mrs. McNabb will live at 533 Elm street.

OBITUARY.

ARTHUR T. WALKER

LAWRENCE, Mass., Aug. 8 (Canadian Press).— Arthur T. Walker, Brooklyn, N.Y., who inherited the greater part of the estate of the late Edward F. Searles, Methuen multi-millionaire, died suddenly last night at Searle's Mansion at Windham, N.H. He was stricken with an attack of indigestion and death came two hours later.

TORONTO, Ont., August 8 (Canadian Press). — Arthur T. Walker, who died at Windham last night, was once a school teacher in a small Ontario village near Chatham. He went to New York thirty years ago, and was employed in a law office as clerk.

At his home in Charing Cross, Ont., Walker was known by the nickname of "Rosy," because he was so modest and blushed so easily.

MAJOR GEN. F. L. LESSARD

TORONTO August 8. — Major-General Francois Louis Lessard, who served with the Canadian forces with distinction in the Northwest Rebellion and the South African War, died yesterday morning at his home in Meadowvale, Peel County, aged 66 years.

He underwent an operation last February for a malignant growth, and while he made temporary improvement it was not of a permanent character, and he passed away about 7 o'clock on Sunday morning.

The funeral will take place tomorrow morning from St. Basil's Church to Mount Hope Cemetery. It will be decided to-day as to whether it will be a military funeral. The officers commanding Military District No. 2 were yesterday out of the city with the Princes and Premier Stanley Baldwin at the opening of the Peace Bridge.

Born in Quebec City.

Major General Lessard was born in Quebec City, Dec. 9, 1860, the son of the late Louis L. Lessard, Secretary of the Permanent Building Society of Quebec. After receiving his education in the schools of Quebec, he entered commercial life, and at the same time served as a private in th Queens' Own Canadian Hussars. He was afterwards in the artillery corps, and was later transferred to the 65th Regiment of Montreal and the Cavalry School Corps. In 1888 he became a Captain of the Royal Canadian Dragoons, and six years later became Lieutenant-Colonel. His promotion to Brigadier-General came in 1911 and Major-General in 1912.

The late Mrs. Barry has been in poor health for many months.

Besides her husband, she leaves to mourn her loss two sons, William of Percy, and John of the United States

Letter is Mailed In Fire Alarm Box

OWEN SOUND, August 8 (Canadian Press). — Some young lady in Derby Township will receive a letter soon, but she won't know, perhaps, how come. The letter was "mailed" in a fire alarm box by someone, who pulled the alarm. The fire chief and the night platoon answered the call and mailed the letter, but are looking for the sender at present.

Frost In Canadian West Sends Wheat Prices Upward

CHICAGO, August 8. Canadian Press. — Frost at several points in Canada led to a decided early upturn in wheat values to-day. Worse black rust advices from this side of the Canadian border were an additional stimulus to the buying side.

Opening unchanged to 3-8c. higher wheat ran up quickly all around. Corn and oats strengthened also, corn starting unchanged to 5-8c off, but soon scoring a sharp general advance. Provisions were easy.

Opening prices were: Wheat Sept., 137 3-8; Dec., 141½; corn, September 109 1-8; December 113¼; oats, September, 47; December, 50 3-8.

Toronto Market Quiet With Changes Small

TORONTO, Aug. 8. — (Canadian Press.)—With the exception of a few minutes of active trading at the opening of the market, business was very quiet on the Toronto stock exchange to-day and price movements generally were of an insignificant character. International Nickel, with transactions amounting to more than 2,000 shares, was easily the leader. It sold up 5-8 to 64 1-8. City Dairy was very irregular in its movements. After selling to the new high of 151, it reacted to 145½, a loss of one point.

C.P.R. declined one to 187. Industrial Alcohol was fairly active and up 1-8 to 34 7-8, and Brazilian gained 1-4 to 166. B. A. Oil eased 3-8 to 26 5-8, while Imperial Oil declined 3-8 to 47 7-8. Massey Harris advanced 1-8 to 38 1-4.

New York Market Turn Down To-day

NEW YORK, Aug 8 (Canadian Press)—The market turned decidedly reactionary today on heavy selling for both accounts. Selling pressure was most effective against the high-priced industrials, several of which broke four to eight points. Rails yielded with the industrials, although the losses were not as large.

The weakness of the stock market, contrasted with the strength of the cotton market, which advanced $10 a bale on publication of a bullish government crop report, showing the prospective yield to be about one million bales less than expected

In the absence of any definite news developments the selling of stocks was construed as a further correction of a weakened technical position. Despite rumors of a substantial extra distribution to stockholders, Dupont broke more than eight points and General Motors four. Collins and Aiwman, Timken Roller Bearing, International Harrveste, Case Threshing, General Railway Signal, Houston Oil, U.S. Cast Iron Pipe and Manhattan Electrical Supply all sold down five or more points

A few issues moved against the current trend Bathlehem Steel crossed 60 to a new 1927 peak on buying influenced by the belief that the company would profit through the expected increase in naval tonnage as a result of the failure of the Genva naval confrence to reach an agreement. International Nickel and Congoleum also showed evidences of strength.

Mixed Price Trend On Mining Market

TORONTO, Aug. 8 (Canadian Press).—A mixed price trend prevailed in an active market on the Standard Mining Exchange today. The favorites were practically all weaker, though the dividend-paying gold stocks were mostly firmer. Amulet was the leader in activity with trading in more than 72,000 shares. Liquidation sent the stock down to 428, a loss of 12 cents. Area came second in volume with 53,000 shares traded in. It sold up ½ to 58. Kirkland Lake continued active at 156, a decline of six cents Conigas was the weakest feature, dropping 19 points to 490. McIntyre was a strong spot, advancing 30 cents to 26.00. Lake Shore gained 10 cents to 20.60.Hollinger five to 18.30, and Wright-Hargreaves two cents to 6.07. Nipissing was up five cents to 5.55.

ST. PETER'S CATHEDRAL

In a short sermon at St. Peter's Cathedral, yesterday morning His Lordship, Bishop O'Brien referred to the morning's gospel where Christ became so indignant with the people for buying and selling goods in the temple on the Sabbath day. Our Lord said "My House is a House of Prayer but you have made it a den of thieves."

When Christ regarded the actions of the Jews so jealously in their temple, which was one in name only, with what greater vigilance does he not regard our action in the real temple of His divine presence.

His Lordship also made announcements regarding the second annual pilgramage which will be held on August 21 to Fort Ste. Marie.

COOLIDGE SAYS DECISION STANDS

Definitely Out of Contest For Presidency—Is Considering Future Work.

RAPID CITY, S. D., Aug. 6.—President Coolidge is definitely out of the race for the Presidency in 1929. He feels that his 12-word statement of renunciation issued last Tuesday, "I do not choose to run for President in nineteen twenty-eight" needs no amplification, and ought to be regarded as defining his position.

Standing in the scantily furnished schoolroom office where he made his now famous announcement dramatically on the fourth anniversary of assuming office, he discussed his action, his future and plans as to further conferences on naval limitation, in such a way as to make certain that his early decision was final and irrevocable.

He assumed that the work of his Administration will be concluded by March 4, 1929, and disclaimed the probability of prompt action in calling a naval conference on the ground that there would not be sufficient time left in his Administration to have a treaty ratified. He did not close the door, however, upon the possibility of doing so, regardless of the lack of time. He is already considering his future work after his term closes.

MORE RUBBER.

BOSTON, Aug. 6.—The productivity of rubber trees should be increased, rather than efforts made to manufacture synthetic rubber, according to Dr. L. W. Weber, rubber technologist. He cited the greater production added to the sugar beet as an instance of what could be done with rubber, beets yielding nine times as much as they used to.

700 PEOPLE ON EXCURSION

Canadian Woollens Outing To Rochester Is Great Success.

WEATHER DELIGHTFUL.

Over seven hundred persons enjoyed the excursion to Rochester sponsored by the Canadian Woollens Company on Saturday. Five hundred left the city via Canadian National Railways to Cobourg, where they were joined on the boat by over two hundred more of the party who had motored to Cobourg.

With the weather man beaming on the happy throng, a wonderful sail to Rochester was enjoyed by every member of the large crowd. Upon arriving at the city of Rochester, the party broke up, some going to the ball game, while others just enjoyed the holiday by resting in the parks.

When the train arrived at Peterborough on Saturday night, it carried a tired but happy crowd. The youngsters were tanned by Old Sol, who had smiled so kindly all day.

Special tickets issued by the Canadian National Railways enabled those who had motored to Cobourg to stay till yesterday, and many took advantage of the chance to spend the two days in Rochester.

BISLEY MARKSMEN RETURN TO CANDA

Difference in Light Bothersome, Says Emslie—English Good Sports.

MONTREAL, August 8 (Canadian Press). — Six members of the Canadian Bisley team returned to Canada last night on board the liner Athenia. Sergt. G. Emslie, Lieut. H. Wood, Sergt. B. W. Beaumont, Sergt. G. H. Gray, Corp. E. G. Stock, and Pte. J. Holden were the six

"The greatest drawback to the Canadian competitors is the difference in the light in England as compared with Canada, due to the atmospheric conditions," said Sergt. Emslie. He also commented on the sportsmanlike attitude of the English marksmen toward the competitors from the Dominions.

YOUNG ROBBERS BREAK INTO SAFE

NEW YORK, August 8 (Canadian Press). — Four armed youths, operating from a high-powered automobile, early to-day knocked unconscious the watchman of the Glidden Buick Corporation, in Upper Broadway, forced open one of the three safes in the office, and escaped with several thousand dollars.

FROSTS IN WEST SENDS UP WHEAT

Advances Recorded To-day On Winnipeg and Chicago Markets.

WINNIPEG, Aug. 8 (Canadian Press).—Wheat advanced four and a quarter cents in the first hour and a half of trading this morning on the Grain Exchange, due to heavy local buying. Unconfirmed frost reports from a small section of Saskatchewan caused a spurt. All coarse grain advanced from three to five cents.

An early weather map showed two degrees of frost at Moose Jaw and Swift Current and freezing ploint at Regina. Cool temperatures were also reported from several other points. When the forecasts for the next two days were posted on the board, indicating danger of frosts in Saskatchewan and Manitoba tonight or Tuesday night, the market advanced further.

Grain Prices Up

CHICAGO, Aug. 8 (Canadian Press).—All grain prices were soaring today, largely on account of reports of serious crop damage by frost in Canada. Approaching the close of business for the day, wheat quotations were up six cents a bushel and corn more than four cents, with all deliveries of corn touching the highest level yet this season.

FLIERS PATCH UP DISPUTE, SIGN CONTRACT

Columbia Ready To Take Off Soon as Weather is Favorable.

GERMANS PREPARED.

PARIS, Aug. 9.—(Canadian Press.) With three French planes, two German expeditions and one English plane virtually ready to hop off for a westward flight across the ocean and waiting only for favorable weather, Charles A. Levine and Maurice Droughin, the French flier, yesterday patched up their differences to the extent of signing a new contract for the return flight of the Columbia.

The signing of the contract gave the Columbia a good chance to be the first to make the crossing as the ship, which already has the distinction of having flown from New York to Germany, is tuned up and ready to take off the minute that the weather is favorable.

The French expeditions, which are hustling to be the first to get into the air, are led by Dieudonne Coste, Leon Givon and sub-Lieutenant Paul Tarascon. Coste, whose flight was denied sanction several days ago because of the absence of floats on his plane, has now been given permission by the Ministry of War to attempt the hop.

The plane in which he flew from Paris to Djask, Persia, has been reconditioned at Villacoubley and has been fitted with floats which will enable it to stay on the surface many hours in case of an accident at sea. Costa plans to fly to the United States by way of the Azores.

The Bluebird, in which Givon has replaced Droughin as pilot, has made its test flight at Le Bourget and is ready to take off, while Tarascon, although virtually ready, has several tests yet to make.

Transfers Base.

SOUTHAMPTON, England, Aug. 9. —(Canadian Press.)—Captain F. T. Courtney, the British aviator, last night indicated he might start at any moment on his projected flight to New York, risking the possible inefficency of his wireless apparatus which has been giving much trouble.

Captain Courtney explained his temporary decision to transfer his base from Tophill on the northern coast of the Avalon peninsula, Newfoundland, to Trepassey, on the south coast of the peninsula, as due to information that the seas around Topsail are rough. The aviator said that because of this it had been necessary to re-arrange his re-fuelling plans. Petrol would be in readiness at Trepassey and a tug loaded with petrol will be stationed in Topsail Harbor ready to proceed to any point at which he descends. The captain said his landing place will depend on weather conditions. It is stated that all stations in Newfoundland will be on the lookout for him.

BRITISH PRESSMEN SAIL FOR DOMINION

Arrive at Quebec, August 12th For Tour of Canada.

QUEBEC, Que., Aug. 9 —(Canadian Press). — Cabled advice was received here yesterday to the effect that the members of the British Newspaper Society, to the number of ninety-five who will make a tour of Canada this month left England on Saturady on the Canadian Pacific Steamship "Montrose" and are due at Quebec August 12.

The party will spend two days here before proceeding to Saint John and St. Andrews. At Saint John where they will spend Monday the party will be the guests of the local newspapers for lunch and later they will meet representative citizens at a dinner tendered by the Provincial Government.

Before they return to Liverpool on September 16, the party will visit practically very corner of the Dominion, arrangements having been made to carry them to Vancouver and Victoria with stop overs at every city of importance along the route.

HELD FOR TRIAL.

HULL, Que., Aug. 9. —(Canadian Press). — Harold Mulligan, bachelor former of Hincks Township, near here, was sent down for trial at the next term of the Hull Assizes by Judge Roland Millar, yesterday when he appeared for voluntary statement on the charge of having murdered his brother, Thomas Oliver Mulligan, on June 19 last.

Through his counsel, the accused refused to make any statement in court to-day. No bail was granted and Mulligan will await in jail his trial next spring.

Woman Faces Charge Slaying Blacksmith

WINNIPEG, Man., Aug. 9. — (Canadian Press). — Charged with the slaying of Nels Sanderson, blacksmith, at Starbuck, Man., near here, Sunday night, Mrs. Alma Holm appeared in the Provincial Police Court yesterday afternoon and was remanded until August 10.

Sanderson died in the hospital here yesterday as the result of a bullet wound just over his heart. Police state that he entered the Holm farmhouse at eleven o'clock Sunday night, and was shot by Mrs. Holm, who had arisen from her bed to investigate noises made by the intruder. She took a shotgun with her when she went downstairs.

Mrs. Holm told a reporter yesterday that the gun went off accidentally while she was trying to ascertain the identity of the man who had entered the house.

BALKAN COURTS AT BAN CASTLE

PEASANTRY AWED.

BAN, Transylvania, August 9. — Canadian Press. — This little mountain town awoke yesterday to find itself famous. It suddenly had become the home of two reigning kings, a reigning queen, a dowager queen, a former king, a former queen, a self-styled czarina, and four royal princesses.

Forsaking the heat of Bucharest, and their thrones, Queen Marie, the King and Queen of Jugo-Slavia, the little King Michael of Rumania, the Princess Helen, motier of King Michael, the former King and Queen of Greece, Princess Ileana, daughter of Queen Marie, Grand Duchess Cyril of Russia, who claims the title of Czarina, the Infanta Beatrice of Spain, and Princess Hohenlohe of Germany, came to the convent like retreat under cover of darkness

The peasantry, who never saw a king or queen before, stood in awe as the black draped kings, queens, and princesses proceeded in dim twilight to the royal castle Led by Queen Marie, who held the tiny Michael by the hand, the sad eyed procession resembled a funeral pageant

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Meek Are Found Dead in Home.

DEAD FOR SOME TIME.

OSHAWA Ont., August 9. — The lifeless bodies of Mr. and Mrs. Frank W. Meek, 517 Simcoe street north, were found in their home yesterday. A leaky gas main in the cellar is believed to have been the cause of their death.

Mr. Meek, a member of the Waterous-Meek Co., Ltd., was found partly dressed in the doorway of his bedroom, where aparently he was overcome while seeking to escape the deadly fumes. Mrs Meek was found dead in her bed

The fatal accident was discovered by Herbert Wilson, an employee of the Waterous-Meek Company, who went up to find the reason of his employers unexplained absence. Escaping gas fumes warned him of what had occurred and he summoned the local fire department.

The bodies were brought out by the firemen in a futile hope of resuscitation. Examination showed that the victims had been dead for some time.

Fifty-three women now claim membership in the Fascisti in Italy.

EXPERTS FIND TNT IN BOMB

BARK SAVES FAMILY.

BALTIMORE, Aug. 9.—With the financial district and public buildings under heavy guard, investigation into the bombing of the home of Mayor William Broening centered yesterday in minute examination of the debris for clues.

Explosive experts are convinced that a T.N.T. bomb was set off directly beneath the kitchen of the Mayor's home, where two parts of the bomb, supposedly planted by a Sacco-Vanzetti sympathizer, were found.

A new hingle, imbedded in a tree in front of the residence, and a bit of an umbrella staff were declared to have been used in making the explosive.

Family in Hiding

With Mayor Broening back from Cincinnati, Mrs. Broening and their two children are secreted in the home of a friend.

Their nerves badly shaken by the bomb, which threw them from their beds and fired the home, they will remain in concealment until they have recovered, the Mayor said.

Barking of a neighbor's dog saved the family from being blown to pieces, Mayor Broening is convinced. He said:

"I believe the man was trying to enter the cellar to plant the bomb when the dog frightened him away, and he dropped it under the porch.

"I cannot imagine why any one, Sacco-Vanzetti sympathizer or not, should bomb my home. So far as I know, I haven't an enemy in the world."

THREE CHINESE KILLED IN FEUD

Prominent Vancouver Men Shot in Quarrel in News Office.

PARTY SPLIT CAUSE.

VANCOUVER Aug. 9. —(Canadian Press). — A political fued which in Vancouver's China town last night claimed lives of three chinamen, two of whom were prominent among their countrymen in the city. Dead are: Louie Man Ha, president and Editor of the Morning News, the City's Chinese Daily Newspaper, and special commissioner of the Vancouver Branch of the Chinese National League. Wong Park, a typesetter and writer for the News, and a Chinese believed to be Wong Sang Suey, of Kamloops.

The three died following a shooting affray in the office of the News. The police stated after the investigation that they believed the affair was a direct result of the recent split in the ranks of the Nationalist Party.

Engineer Dies, Stewardess Hurls Acid, Jailed As American Ship Docks In London

LONDON, Aug. 9.—When the Shipping Board vessel American Trader arrived at London yesterday the passengers learned that the sole stewardess had been missing for two days because she was accused of the death of a member of the engineering staff.

According to Captain Hubbard Fish of the American Trader, the woman, Mrs. Mary B. Waite of New York, threw carbolic acid on Lewis Fisher on Friday afternoon, apparently with intent to disfigure him in order to make his less attractive. Jealousy was given as the motive.

Fisher died within ten minutes after the acid was thrown in his face, but, according to the ship's doctor, he did not die from the effects of the acid but from fright or heart trouble. For the rest of the voyage the stewardess was locked in the captain's room. She did not know of Fisher's death until twenty-four hours afterward, the captain said. Mrs. Waite is a large, handsome blonde woman of about 45, and Fisher was a young man of 27.

It is understood that the British authorities contend that the case should be dealt with in this country, Mrs. Waite having been born in Liverpool, while the American authorities hold it should come under American jurisdiction, as the alleged crime was committed under the American flag on the high seas.

FROST IN WEST EXAGGERATED

Damage Done To Tender Garden Stuff—No Frost Last Night.

GRAIN LOSS NEGLIGIBLE.

WINNIPEG, Man., August 9 (Canadian Press). — Reports received today indicate that no frosts occurred in Saskatchewan or Manitoba last night, despite predictions of colder weather, and warm sunshine is predicted by the weather man for tomorrow.

The reports of frost on Monday morning in Saskatchewan, sent to the Winnipeg and Chicago grain exchanges, which caused a great flurry in those markets yesterday, were apparently greatly exaggerated. Frost occurred at a few points and damaged tender garden stuff. It is too early to say whether damage to the grain crops at these points resulted. If there has been any damage, it is negligible.

TOURISTS CATCH TWO BIG 'LUNGE

CATCH MANY BASS.

Apparently the tourists who are telling that the fish are scarce this year in the Kawarthas, are the ones who are telling the "fish stories."

A fishing party from Elwood City, Pa., headed by W. R. Thompson and Harold A. Cartwright, arrived in the city last night with two muskies weighing twenty-two pounds and nineteen pounds respectively. These were weighed and verified at White's Cycles and Sports, Charlotte street, and they claim that at the time the fish were caught they would probably have weighed at least two pounds more.

These fish were caught at G. Griffin's Heneden Park, Pigeon Lake, and the party reports that they have met with great success in this sport, having caught many bass and smaller lunge during their visit.

ISSUE WARNING FOR STRIKERS

Bruce Asserts Continuance of Dispute Will Result in General Strike.

AT QUEENSLAND.

BRISBANE, Australia, Aug. 9. — (Canadian Press). — A warning of drastic federal action against the Queensland Sugar Cane Strikers has been issued by Prime Minister Bruce. He asserted continuance of the dispute will result in a general strike, similar to the recent British upheaval.

"You have got to stand by the decision of the arbitration court," Bruce said. Racial factors enter into the dispute, as thousands of Italians are among the strikers.

Eighty five armed detectives watched the crowd as the Premier spoke.

Submarine Is Found Derelict In Pacific

HONOLULU, Aug. 9. — The Hydrographic Bureau, Navy Department, has received a radio from the steamship Liberator that discovered a derelict submarine 1,400 miles northwest of Honolulu. The party boarded it but were unable to open compartments because they contained strong gas. The submarine was numbered 027, but the Department announced its submarines are not numbered over sixteen.

TIE FOR SECOND.

MONTREAL, August 9 (Canadian Press). — D. A. McGregor, of The Vancouver Province, Vancouver, won the gold medal for the best editorial in Canadian Daily newspapers dealing with Confederation, its purposes and achievements. The competition for second place was so close that it was decided to give two silver medals. These were awarded to Charles Gautier Le Droit, Ottawa, and C. O. Smith, The Herald, Calgary.

The judges selected by the Canadian Daily Newspapers' Association were Abbe Emile Begin, Professor of French at Laval University, George H. Clarke, Professor of English Literature at Queen's University, and Charles Holmes, Montreal.

MRS. M'ELHINEY IS BADLY HURT

Knocked Down By Automobile in Chemong Park Last Evening.

TAKEN TO HOSPITAL.

Mrs. J. A. McElhiney, formerly with the Salvation Army here, was hurt last night at Chemong Park, when she was knocked down by an automobile. Mrs. McElhiney had been up to Mrs. Wheeler's cottage seeing a sick person, and was returning with Mrs. Wheeler to her own cottage, when a car driven by George Rutherford, struck her and knocked her down, causing a bad cut around the left eye and shaking her up badly. Dr. McNulty was summoned, and had the patient taken to St. Joreph's Hospital. County Constable R. C. Smith was summoned to the scene of the accident.

Sacrifices Own Life In Effort To Save Son

NANAIMO, B.C., Aug. 9.—(Canadian Press).—A. W. Hodgson, miner, at Extension, B.C., and his 9-year-old son Lloyd, were drowned in Nanaimo River, Sunday night in the presence of Mrs. Hodgson and other children of the family.

Hodgson could swim. It is believed he sacrificed his own life in efforts to save his son. The bodies were recovered yesterday morning, ten feet apart, in nine feet of water.

GILBERT AT WORK FOR KING GEORGE

LONDON, August. 9. — Albert Gilbert, the famous sculptor, who returned to London after twenty years' self-imposed exile to finish his memorial of the Duke of Clarence in St. George's Chapel at Windsor, has been working nine months according to The Westminster Gazette, on a memorial to Queen Alexandra.

At the wish of the King, Mr Gilbert undertook the work, for which he is to receive $10,000. It will take a year to complete.

The sculptor, who is noted for his shy sensitiveness has refused to show it to a soul until it is finished.

Savage criticism to which his statue of Eros in Piccadilly Circus and other works were subjected and which led him to leave England to form an art Utopia in Belgium, still burns in his memory and he swears he will never exhibit any of his works in England again.

OHIO COAL MINE PARLEY FAILING

FURTHER PLANS.

COLUMBUS, O., August 9 (Associated Press). — Ohio coal fields were quiet over the week-end as union miners and operators apparently waited Governor Donahey's next move in his attempt to bring about an agreement in the present wage dispute.

While no comment was made at the Governor's office following rejection on the part of Illinois operators of the invitation to a conference of miners and operators from Illinois, Ohio, Indiana, and Western Pennsylvania, it was indicated that Governor Donahey on his return may have some plan to overcome present obstacles in the way of such a meeting. At any rate, he is expected to take additional steps in so far as Ohio is concerned.

Rice Miller, president of the Illinois Operators' Association, in a letter to the Governor, declared that the coal miners and operators of each district must work out their own wage agreements.

SIXTH ARREST FOR ROBBERIES

LIVES NEAR BEETON.

BEETON, Aug. 9 (Canadian Press).—The sixth arrest by Provincial Police since investigations were started into the robberies that have been prevalent in this district for several months past occurred today, when Samuel Nevills, a married farmer, living in Tecumseh Township, near here, was arrested on a charge of stealing a dozen head of cattle last Fall and also on a charge of receiving stolen goods.

Nevills operates a farm owned by Charles Hammell, who is a partner of Joseph McDermott, now under arrest on charges of receiving stolen goods, perjury and stealing cattle. Nevills is also a brother of Elwood Nevills, now in jail at Barrie, charged with receiving stolen goods.

ST. JOHN, N.B., August 9 (Canadian Press). — The Canadian Government Merchant Marine steamer, Canadian Volunteer, which went aground in Cranberry Cove, about a mile west of Musquash, last night, was floated to-day by tugs. The Canadian Volunteer struck in a dense fog.

Provincial Police Seek Missing Youth

VANCOUVER, B.C., Aug. 9 — (Canadian Press).—A son of Lord and Lady Vivian, of Glen, Bodmin, Cornwall, England, and a nephew of Sir Douglas Haig, the Hon. A. C. Vivian, aged 21, is being sought by Provincial Police at the request of relatives. Six feet tall and weighing 145 pounds, the young man is reported to have left Calgary about July 12. It is thought that he is either in Vancouver or Victoria.

Rum Runner Wounded By Patrol Officers

SARNIA, Ont., Aug. 9.—(Canadian Press).—A somewhat mysterious shooting on the St. Clair River at Port Huron late Saturday night resulted in the admission to the Sarnia General Hospital of Albert Schatzline with a bullet wound in the ribs. Schatzline preented himelf at the home of a local physician and declared that he had been shot by United States patrol officers while in a gasoline launch. It is understood that Schatzline in company with several other men had landed a cargo of liquor on the Port Huron side and were preparing to return when American officers came alongside in a row boat and opened fire without warning.

Schatzline declared himself unarmed and on the craft reaching the Canadian shore sought treatment. He is not seriously wounded.

J. G. MANN WINS PRIZE FOR CROP

Has Score of 96 Points in Standing Crop Contest For Exhibition.

FOR FALL WHEAT.

The first prize in the fall wheat crop competition of the Peterborough Industrial Exhibition Board has been awarded to the crop of J. G. Mann & Son, of Smith Township. Dawson's Golden Chaff was the variety of wheat grown, and Mr. Mann was awarded 96 points by the judge, J. J. Virtue, of Hampton.

AVIATORS PLAN SAFETY DEVICES

One Man in Honolulu Flight Can Drop His Engine.

CANS HOLD UP ANOTHER.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 9. —(Canadian Press). — When the official list of entrants in Dole Air Race to Honolulu next Friday was trimmed to thirteen to-day, superstitious contestants started perfecting their safety devices.

Gobel, stunt flier entry, announced a plan whereby he can drop his engine into the sea by removing the few bolts holding it to the plane structure, making the remaining ris drained of its gasoline, a life raft upon which he might float about for many days.

Should misfortune overtake Martin Jensen, the "five-gallon can aviator" he will drop his plane to water and depend upon forty seven five-gallon gasoline cans to keep him afloat. These cans are to be taken to hold the gasoline needed on the air cruise and will be emptied as the fuel is used.

Dazzled By Headlights Driver Killed In Crash

MONTREAL, Que., Aug. 9. — —(Canadian Press). — M. Masse Montreal, was instantly killed and Eddy Lafond, also of this city was slightly injured when the automobile in which they were driving left the road and overturned in a ditch at St. Joseph Du Lac, about 35 miles from Montreal.

The accident occured when the driver of the machine was dazzled by the glare of the headlights of another automobile coming in the opposite direction. He miscalculated the distance between the road and the ditch and the car toppled, pinning the two men beneath it.

The Board of Health of Peterborough comprises seven members. A permanent member is Dr. T. W. Young, M.O.H. A seat is always provided on the Board for the Mayor of the city.

SACCO VANZETTI SYMPATHIZERS IN MANY LANDS

Demonstrations Reported From Europe, Africa, Latin America and Australia.

POLICE DISOBEYED.

(By Associated Press)

Some of the more important late developments in foreign countries, indicating widespread interest in the fate of Nicola Sacco and Bartolomeo Vanzetti are shown in dispatches to the Associated Press:

Europe

France: A crowd breaks the police line before the U 'S. Consulate at Cherbourg, singing the "Internationale" and demanding the release of the condemned men. Laborite demonstrations in Paris, following Monday's partial strike. Similar movements at Marseilles, Nante, and other principal industrial centres and ports.

Sweden: Fifteen thousand people in meeting and parade in Stockholm addressed by George Branting, the Swedish attorney, who investigated the case for interested Swedish organizations.

Africa

South America

Argentina: Trade unions order a general strike throughout the country tomorrow.

Uruguay: Police and soldiers held in readiness to prevent disorders in a general strike ordered for today.

Paraguay: Ascuncion, the capital, flooded with handbills and posters in favor of Sacco and Vanzetti.

North America

Panama: Labor syndicate organizes meeting of protest, but police permit is refused.

Mexico: The executive committee of the Regional Confederation of Labor, the largest workers' organization, ruled against a strike or public demonstrations of sympathy with the condemned men.

Australia

New South Wales: An unknown person affixed a paper to the American wreath on the war cenotaph at Sydney, inscribed in red "From the nation who will murder innocent men."

Suggests Moderate Cable.

LONDON, Aug. 9.—(United Press.) The Daily Express to-day printed a letter from Sir Hall Caine, British novelist, in which he suggested that representative and responsible British people send a temperate cable to the proper administrative authority in the United States pointing out the misgivings among the British as to the justice of the death sentence imposed on Sacco and Vanzetti. He said he could not believe that Americans would resent an expression of fear and doubt regarding the court's disposition of the case.

Dynamite Found.

PITTSFIELD, Mass., Aug. 9. — (United Press.) — Dynamite found under a culvert of the New York New Haven and Hartford railroad near here mystified police to-day.

An anonymous telephone call led the police to the spot last night. They found thirty-five pounds of the explosive in an uncovered box without caps or fuses.

Police said they did not believe it was intended to blow up the culvert but that the dynamite had been hidden there for future use.

Respite Refused.

DEDHAM Mass., Aug. 9. —(Canadian Press). — Judge Webster Thayer of Superior Court to-day denied motions by Defense Counsel for revocation of the death sentence and for a stay of execution for Nicola Sacco and Bartoleomeo Vanzetti. Their respite expires at midnight on Wednesday.

HAVELOCK PASSES DRAINAGE BY-LAW

Vote is 108 to 85 in Favor—35 Per Cent. of People Vote.

HAVELOCK, Aug. 9.—The drainage by-law, which provides for the expenditure of $5,000 for the covering of the present water course running through private property between George street and Ottawa street, carried by a majority of 23. Out of a voters' list containing 557 votes, about 35 p.c. of the votes were polled. Total vote, 193. For 108, against 85.

GENERAL UNREST CONTINUES AS APPEALS ARE DENIED FOR STAY IN RADICALS' EXECUTION

Court Takes Under Advisement Motion For Revocation of Sentence.

STRIKES PLANNED.

Petition To Governor Fuller For Stay Is Still Pending.

NEW YORK, Aug. 9 (A.P.).—Moves in two Massachusetts courts to save Sacco and Vanzetti from execution Thursday failed Saturday, while unrest continued both at home and abroad as the hours brought the doom of the condemned radicals one day nearer.

Judge Webster Thayer, before whom the men were convicted of murder six years ago, denied a motion for a new trial in the Superior Court, at Dedham, Mass., while Sheriffs, State and local police stood guard. He took under advisement, however, a motion for revocation of sentence.

Justice Sanderson, in the Supreme Court at Boston earlier in the day denied petitions for a writ of habeas corpus, a stay of execution and for a writ of error.

While the day was marked by no violence directly attributable to sympathizers, two bomb explosions caused damage to the extent of $300,000 in Utica, N.Y.

Paris taxicab drivers and 1,000 Colorado coal miners went on a protest strike. A group of New York Radicals and Labor leaders estimated that 500,000 workers would strike yesterday.

Strike on Wednesday

While workers in Buenos Aires returned to work at the end of a three day strike, another strike was planned for Wednesday.

Newspapers in several of the world's foremost capitals devoted first place to the Sacco-Vanzetti case, while police guarded United States embassies and consulates.

In New York fifteen threatening letters were received by owners of skyscrapers, prominent buildings and newspapers, threatening bombings if the executions take place.

They were signed "The Anarchists of the World for the Freedom of Sacco and Vanzetti," and as no such organization is known, they were considered the work of cranks.

Although the letters referred to the subway bombings of Friday calling them "only a sample" of what would happen, "if our comrades are not set free," New York police said they were still without conclusive evidence that the bombings were the work of Sacco-Vanzetti sympathizers.

Is An Impertinence

MONTREAL, Aug. 9 (Canadian Press).—"Outside interference with the processes of justice in the Commonwealth of Massachusetts is an impertinence."

This was the curt reply given by Albert Halstead, United States Consul-General here, to F. W. Gerrish, who had acted as chairman of a meeting of the Canadian Labor Defence League and had been commanded to ask Mr. Halstead to convey to President Coolidge the protest of the league against the electrocution on Thursday of Nicola Sacco and Bartolomoe Vanzetti, condemned murderers of a shoe factory paymaster and his guard in 1920. To Mr. Gerrish's comment that outside intereference appeared quite general, the Consul General retorted that it was still "impertinent" regardless of its extent.

Present Petition

BUCHAREST, Rumania, Aug. 9 (Canadian Press).—Six representatives of the Peasants' Party, successfully evading a heavily armed guard of soldiers and policemen, entered the Legation yesterday and presented a petition begging the President to save Sacco and Vanzetti from execution.

The Charge d'Affairies, Robert Patterson, of Ann Arbor, Mich., told the delegates that the Legation would forward their petition to Washington, but said that the Legation itself could do nothing to stay the course of the law.

Thereupon the chairman of the delegation reached into his pocket as if to draw a pistol but to the surprise of Mr. Patterson and the assembled guards, withdrew only a red carnation which he attempted to pin in Mr. Patterson's buttonhole. The Chairge d'Affaires avoided an awkward incident by grasping the delegates hand and shaking it with a vigor known only in Rotary circles, while the petals of the flower were scattered over the floor.

Workers Strike

PARIS, Aug. 9 (Canadian Press).—Part of the working population went on strike in Paris and many provincial cities yesterday as a protest against the death sentence which is hanging over Sacco and Venezttl. It was far from the general strike that the Communist leaders predicted.

WEDDING BELLS.

WITHAM—RANTON.

Peterborough citizens will be interested in a wedding, which was solemnized a short while ago, at the College Ave. Methodist Episcopal Church, Boston, Mass., when Miss Mary Sutherland Ranton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. G. Ranton, of Boston, and granddaughter of Mr. James Sutherland, of Peterborough, was married to Mr. Geo. L. Witham, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick L. Witham, of the same city.

Over one thousand guests including Mayor Leon M. Conwell were present.

The married couple were grammar and high school classmates. Both are members of the choir of the College Avenue Methodist Episcopal Church. The bride is well known as a mezzo soprano soloist graduated from the Somerville High School in 1921, studied piano at the New England Conservatory of Music, and voice at the Whitney School; graduated from Ratcliffe College in 1925 with honors in music conferred by Harvard University. During the past year she has been musical director at the Western Junior High School.

CLARK—STUART.

A very pretty wedding was solemnized in the presence of the immediate family at the home of the bride's father on Saturday, August 6th, at Kendal, Ont., when Pearl Bernice, daughter of George and the late Charlotte Stuart became the bride of George Clark, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Clark of 73 Welland avenue, Toronto. The Rev. Thomas Wallace of Newtonville officiated. The bride looked charming in a gown of chic georgette and carried a large bouquet of Richmond roses, lily of the valley, and baby's breath. The bride was attended by Miss Lenore Cornish of Kendal who wore a gown of pink georgette and carried a bouquet of Ophelia roses. Mr. James Clark, brother of the groom, assisted him. After the ceremony the happy couple left by motor for Detroit, Chicago and other western points. The bride travelled in a smart fawn suit with hat and shoes to match.

OBITUARY.

SAMUEL LEE.

BETHANY, Aug. 9.—Mr. William Lee received the sad and unexpected news on Friday evening of the sudden death of his brother, Sam Lee, at Swift Current, on Friday, August 5th.

The late Mr. Lee with his daughter was in the village the first week in June visiting friends and had only just gone to Swift Current, Sask., to see about some property he had there.

At present no particulars are known as to the cause of his death. The body was expected to arrive here this week, burial to take place in St. John's Cemetery, Ida, in the family plot. The sympathy of the whole community is with Mr. Lee and his sister, Mrs. Jemison, as this is the third death in their family in a few months.

MRS. WILLIAM JONES.

MARMORA, August 9. — Mary Bailey, beloved wife of William Jones, of Marmora Township, closed her eyes to the scenes of earth, sinking peacefully to rest in the late hours of Sunday afternoon. Ailing more or less for the past few years, she had been forced to take to her bed since shortly before last Christmas. The deceased lady, who had reached the age of 77, had resided all her life in this community, having been born on the next lot eastward of that on which her late residence stands. She was the daughter of the late James and Isabella Bailey, who are remembered as industrious and thrifty pioneers of this district. Besides her sorrowing husband, she is survived by one son James, who lives on the neighbouring farm, and three daughters, Mrs. Robert Phillips of Marmora, Mrs. John Simmons of Campbellford, and Miss Goldie at home. There are several grandchildren and great-grandchildren. She is also survived by two brothers, James of Marmora Township, and Joshua of Marmora, and two sisters, Mrs. John Bell of Marmora and Mrs. John Lough of Marmora Township. A son, Allan, predeceasd her nine years ago, while her sister, Mrs. William Pack, passed away about a year ago.

Deceased was of an industrious and charitable nature, possessing sympathy for any whom she knew to be in want or distress. From the early years of her married life onwards, she was noted for her readiness and self-sacrifice in nursing cases of necesity. She was a devout member of the Anglican Church, earnestly desiring its ministrations during her last long illness. Since its erection, she attended Holy Trinity Church, North Marmora, the daughter church of St. Paul's, for the building of which her parents had been largely responsible. She will be greatly missed by a large circle of relatives and friends.

WILL VISIT CANADA

Lieut.-Col. Right Hon. L. C. M. S. Amery, Secretary of State of Dominion Affairs, is now on the high seas bound for South Africa, on the first phase of his extensive tour of Britain's partner nations of the commonwealth. Mrs. Amery and her two sons, Julian and John, are accompanying him. From South Africa they go to Australia, then New Zealand and will visit Canada early in January on the homeward journey.

CARS COLLIDE AND HIT POLE

Both Automobiles Concerned in Crash Are Badly Damaged.

AT WARKWORTH

WARKWORTH, Aug. 9.—Much excitement was caused on Friday night when a car driven by Frank Marks and one driven by William McCubbin collided, and after colliding both bumped into the main telephone pole directly in front of the telephone office. Both cars were badly smashed. The only damage done to the pole was to knock off some lightning arresters. Fortunately no one was injured.

SPEAKERS UPHOLD DRAINAGE BY-LAW

Mass Meeting Held in Havelock to Discuss Tiling of Ditch.

HAVELOCK, Aug. 9—A mass meeting was called by the Council on Friday evening to discuss the proposed drainage by-law which provides for the expenditiure of $5,000 for covering the present natural watercourse running through private property between George street and Ottawa street from Quebec street east crossing Ottawa street and the C.P.R. property east of A. Derretti's property and running into Mr. William Methison's field.

In the absence of the Reeve who is away on his holidays, T. P. Lancaster presided. Mr. Lancaster explained that the engineer's estimate provided for cement tile manufactured in the city, including freight cost and that the council think that they can manufacture the tile in Havelock at a saving of from $1,800 to $2,000.

The plan provides for 12-inch tile from Quebec street to Oak street, 15-inch tile from Oak street to Orange street, and 18-inch tile from Orange street to where the drain crosses Ottawa street. The drain will not be tapped at every lot but will be constructed of continuous tile and manholes will be provided at street intersections. Only enough debentures will be sold to provide for the actual cost of the drainage.

On account of the increasing motor traffic each year the time has come, he said, when pavement seems to be absolutely necessary to save money on the streets and paving could not be done unless the streets were properly drained. The old open drain had been a constant source of expense and trouble to the town and in view of these facts he requested the ratepayers to support the by-law on Monday.

Councillor Leeson quoted figures which he had received from a contractor who would contract for and make the tile required for the drain for $918.40 and he thought if it was made here the cost would be less. He said that it had been rumored that water would not go through cement but the engineer says that it will and also that some were objecting to the expenditure because of higher taxation. He pointed out that supposing the drain did cost the amount of the estimate, $5,000.00, it would only raise the taxes 1¼ mills or $1.75 on an assessment of $1,000. He thought the ratepayers would make a mistake if they turned down the by-law.

Councillor Gordon said he was behind the by-law because his main aim in the council was to make the condition of the streets better and it could only be done by drainage.

A. C. Denike spoke about the unhealthful condition of the present drain and thought the expenditure was not the only thing to be considered because an epidemic of typhoid fever should start from this source the cost in lives might be great and for this reason alone he thought the by-law should be supported.

Others at the meeting who expressed themselves as in favor of the by-law were: C. W. Coon, T. Wood, D. McAdam, J. Ketchen, A. Leeson.

TROTSKY SILENCE PUZZLES MOSCOW

Meeting Called To Consider His Expulsion Makes No Announcement.

MOSCOW, Aug. 9.—Considerable surprise is being expressed in many quarters in Moscow that the joint plenary session of the Central Committee of the Communist Party and the Central Control Committee should now have been in progress more than a week without any announcement regarding the expulsion of the opposition leaders, Leon Trotsky and Gregery Zinovieff from the Central Committee.

Despite the profound mystery in which the proceedings are wrapped, it is generally known that before the session the opposition leaders considered expulsion inevitable and consequently were resolved to "go down with their flag flying." The speech of Lenin's widow at Krupskaya Tuesday revealed that in point of fact the opposition has been putting up a hard fight, sternly refusing suggestions of compromise that have been advanced.

But five days have passed since then and the still expected disciplinary measure has not been announced. More significant still, there is a marked lowering in the past day or two in the tempo of the anti-opposition articles that Pravda has been publishing all week.

Sunday, for instance, the third article of the series, entitled "The Danger of War and Our Policy," by a young Administration stalwart, Stetski, find nothing worse to say about the opposition than that the "struggle of a handful of discredited leaders again the Communist Party has been transformed by the foreign bourgeois press into a profound crisis," which is in sharp contrast to the accusations of treachery and defeatism hurled at the opposition earlier in the week.

Silence Puzzles Moscow.

"What does this mean?" Moscow is beginning to ask. "Is the Opposition after all, inclined to accept a compromise or is the Administration finding that the expulsion of Trotsky and Zinovieff from the Central Committee a rather tough morsel to chew?"

It is difficult to answer either question, but however defiant the Opposition may have let it be known that the leaders were, there is little doubt that neither M. Trotsky nor M. Zinovieff wished to receive the public censure involved by expulsion from the Central Committee.

On the other hand, moderate elements throughout the country, less vocal but perhaps more numerous than the respective protagonists, would welcome the idea of a compromise. Thus the writer is informed by a Russian-speaking American visitor, just returned from a tour of the industrial mining centres of the Don basin, that the rank and file of workers are constantly asking: "How does it come that we were taught to revere Trotsky and Zinovieff as heroes of the Bolshevist revolution only second to Lenin, and now we are told they are traitors?"

SEEK BOMBERS IN MASSACHUSETTS

NEW YORK, Aug. 8 (Canadian Press).—The search for the perpetrators of the bombing which wrecked two subway stations in the Madison Square District late Friday night has centered in Boston, it was learned today when police headquarters announced that a detective had left for Massachusetts to trail a man seen fleeing from the scene of one of the explosions.

MANY ENDANGERED BY TWO EXPLOSIONS

Property Damage Estimated at $30,000 Caused By Utica Explosions.

UTICA, Aug. 9. —(Canadian Press)—Damage estimated at $300,000 was caused here yesterday when two explosions shook several city blocks and endangered scores of lives.

Three dwellings were destroyed and score of other buildings in the Italian quarter were damaged.

Both explosions, occuring within two hours of each other and in the same section of the city, were premeditated and caused by a secret chemical explosive. Acting Chief Jas. J. Donovan of the fire department charged.

The second and the worst of the blasts occured in a thickly populated district. It levelled a two family dwelling, unoccupied at the time, broke windows and rocked homes for a quarter mile area and caused slight injuries to about twenty people who were in their homes at the time and cut by flying glass.

Police authorities believed that the explosions had no connection with Sacco-Vanzetti demonstrations.

BODIES RECOVERED FROM ST. LAWRENCE

MONTREAL, Que., Aug. 9. —(Canadian Press). — Two bodies recovered from the St. Lawrence river over the week-end were identified as those of George Henry Hedges and Leonard Baily, both aged 16, mess-boys aboard the C. P. O. S. Minnedosa, who fell from a row-boat on August 1. Both lads had families in Liverpool, England. They were returning from St. Helen's Island by night last Monday when their row-boat was swept by the current and capsized. A tug saw the small craft at the mercy of St. Mary's current and was able to save two other lads who were also in the boat.

Canada's Seed Grading Is Held in High Regards.

Commerce in seeds in Canada is conducted on a basis of legally defined grades and the quality of seed sold must conform to prescribed grade definitions. This involves responsible duties for the inspectors of the Dominion Seed Branch Department of Agriculture who grade all agricultural seed and a large part of the field root and garden vegetable seeds required for domestic use and for export. According to the latest annual report of the Minister of Agriculture 32617 control samples were examined and graded at laboratory points during the fiscal year 1925-26. The total quantity of seed represented by these samples amounted to several millions of bushels. That the system followed in the country is sound is shown by the recognition given on foreign markets of Canadian seed offered under official sale and grade names.

TOURIST TRAFFIC TO BE DISCUSSED

Will Be Important Subject at Good Roads Association Meeting.

Montreal, August 9.

Tourist traffic in Canada has in recent years assumed such proportions that it now forms one of the Dominion's most important and lucrative industries. The expenditures of vacation and sight-seeing visitors are a considerable factor in keeping Canada's balance of trade on the right side and constitute what the economists call an "invisible export" to the huge profit of the Dominion, and its citizens. The development and encouragement of tourist traffic is one of the interests which come within the purview of the Canadian Good Roads Association, and the subject will receive its share of attention at the fourteenth annual convention, which is to be held at the Clifton Hotel in Niagara Falls, Ont., on September 27, 28 and 29.

Last year, at the Edmonton convention of the association, some interesting statistics of the sums spent in Canada by tourists were given in a paper by J. M. Wardle, B.Sc., M.E.I.C., chief engineer of the Canadian National Parks, with headquarters at Banff, Alberta. Mr. Wardle also made some timely comments on the subject of securing adequate publicity for Canada's attractions for tourists. The following extracts from his paper should interest a wide public:

"Our great annual increases in tourist revenue are largely due to increasing motor traffic. The Dominion Commissioner of Highways has given to the public an estimate of the expenditures of American motorists in Canada for 1925, based on the touring permits issued at the Canadian ports of entry. This gives a total outlay in all provinces of $188,555,400.

"While it is difficult to estimate accurately the outlay of Canadian motorists while touring in Canada, various sources place it at approximately $150,000,000. Motor tourist traffic is accordingly espousible for a great part of our total tourist revenue.

"With good roads in Canada resulting in motorists spending over $335,000,000 in a single year, neither the federal nor the provincial governments need hesitate in providing further funds for highway construction and maintenance. The amount of money spent by American motorists alone in Canada in 1925, $188,000,000 is greater than the total expenditure of all Canada on roads during the last four years; it is nine times greater than the sum provided by the Federal Government under the Canada Highways Act; and ten times greater than the total of all provincial revenues from motor vehicle registration and gasoline taxes in 1925.

"In the Canadian National Parks we have a system of motor car registration that affords very close observation of the schedules of visiting motorists. Also, as most rail entries during the summer months are for touring purposes, we have an opportunity of getting fairly accurate figures on railway traffic to the parks. In 1925, 333,400 persons visited our National Parks, and the 1926 season had practically reached this figure at the end of August. Of the total of 333,400 visitors for 1926, three National Parks in Alberta, viz., Rocky Mountains or Banff Park, Jasper and Waterton Lakes, drew 148,000. Of these 87,000 came by rail and 61,000 by motor, 83,000 being Canadians.

"Remember that a tourist by rail spends about 3½ times as much as a tourist by motor, and allowing an expenditure of $100 for each foreign visitor by motor and each Canadian visitor by rail, we have a total tourist expenditure of $23,300,000; that is, three National Parks in Alberta put into circulation nearly $24,000,000 in 1925. This is 2½ times greater than the total government expenditure on all our National Parks since their inception.

"The natural advantages of Canada make her an ideal subject for tourist advertising. With scenery unequalled in variety and charm; with a wide range of interesting occupations to be observed; with a choice of climate in nearly every province, and with unlimited recreational facilities, she offers a wealth of advertising material.

"Various channels of publicity are available for an expenditure that would be small compared with the results. Newspaper and magazine advertising, distribution of literature from Canadian immigration offices in the United States; magazine articles, road maps—movie films, lectures, radio broadcasting, are all mediums of publicity that could be utilized to advantage.

"All that is needed is the agency to handle the mass of material available and to distribute it, after careful selection, through the various advertising channels. It has been suggested that this agency be provided by the establishment of a central or Dominion tourist bureau.

"The idea seems an excellent one and has many features to recommend it. While the various provinces could carry on individual advertising to advantage, they could not obtain the same degree of uniformity and of proper adjustment of advertising values as could a central or national bureau. The latter would also have a greater chance of securing the co-operation of all government departments and public organizations interested in the promotion of tourist traffic.

"The formation of such a bureau, particularly with the co-operation of provincial and federal governments, should not be difficult. It would be amply justified, and would be an important step in affording Canada full realization of one of her greatest assets."

A request addressed to the secretary-treasurer, Canadian Good Roads Association, New Birks Building, Montreal, will bring the tentative programme and other information regarding the approaching convention.

USE PLUMB LINE.

PARIS, August 4. — After a while they'll be using transits in dressmaking if the designers get any more particular. They're already using a plumb line. The test is to drop the line from the tip of the shoulder to the ground, while the arms are folded. If the line touches the hip, the woman is considered too stout and should reduce.

MAKES THE DEAF HEAR

Radio Music Heard By People Who Were Born Deaf.

From Norway, Maine, comes the report of interesting experiments performed by Charles D. Seely, a radio enthusiast. With the use of a powerful set, it was found possible for people who were born deaf to hear music and the sound of voices from the loud speaker though the voices were, of course, unintelligible to those who had never before listened to speech. The music, however, was most pleasing.

FLY-TOX

Your Doctor Will Confirm This.

The fly's mouth and tongue are covered with fine hairs. Consequently some of the filth in which they mess clings to them. And the microscope discloses these tiny drops of unspeakable uncleanliness alive with bacteria—disease germs.

A fly may infect anything it touches. Milk, food, baby's eyes, open wounds are favorite souces of infection.

But with Fly-Tox a house can be kept free of flies and similar insects. Fly-Tox is fragrant, stainless. Fly-Tox is harmless to humans but sure death to flies, mosquitoes and similar disease carrying insects.

WINNIPEG GRAIN.

WINNIPEG, August 9 (Canadian Press). — Grain prices soared upward yesterday as a result of unconfirmed private reports of frost in small sections of Saskatchewan. Closing prices for wheat were 7¼c to 6¾c higher than on Saturday, but they were down 2c from yesterday's peak. October closed at $1.51¾ and December at $1.47½.

Coarse grains rose with wheat from 4¾c to 6¼c. There was fairly large trading, although offerings were difficult to dislodge, and buyers could obtain requirements only by bidding up prices.

A fairly good export business in wheat was done over the week-end out of the local market most of the sales being made to the Continent.

In Peterborough Churches

IMMACULATE CONCEPTION CHURCH.

"And they shall not leave in thee a stone upon a stone because thou hast not known the time of thy visitation," were the words of the text taken by Rev. Father Carroll for his sermon on Sunday morning.

The morning's gospel which refers to the entering of Christ into the temple where He rebuked those who were buying and selling there, brings to mind an important occasion of our Lord's life, shortly before His death, telling of His entrance into Jerusalem.

Writers of Holy Scripture tell us that the magnificent scenery presented by the Oriental city cannot be pictured by the mind's eye. Why then was our Lord sad and why did He greet the city with the words, "O, Jerusalem thou dost not know the time of thy visitation."

Christ foresaw the destruction of the fair city, where three million of people, gathered to celebrate the Pasch, were destroyed. He wept, not only because of the destruction of the city, but chiefly because the havoc was wrought by sin. The rebellious nature of the Jews failed to recognise and honour Christ as king, despite the many miracles which He had performed. The Messiah, sent by God, was not their idea of an earthly king surrounded by luxuries.

The fate of Jerusalem may be compared with our immortal souls. Just as the Roman soldiers built huge ramparts around the city, so are we encompassed by walls of sin, which if we do not overcome them, will in the end destroy us. To us, falling constantly into vice, as well as to the ancients do those words of our Lord apply. The soul is God's handiwork and as such is immortal. God, though merciful, is just, and realizing this we must therefore live in accordance with the laws of God. We are masters of our own destiny and with the help of God's grace we should avail ourselves of every opportunity to gain everlasting happiness.

3,000,000 DUCKS SOLD YEARLY

Long Island Ranches Ship Produce as Far as Denmark.

HAVE GOOD CLIMATE.

NEW YORK, Aug. 6.—Miles of green inlets and bays of Long Island, almost in the shadow of New York's towering sky line, harbor extensive ranches that, together, form what is believed to be the greatest enterprise of its kind in the world.

They are duck ranches, some 90 of them, from which more than 3,000,000 "lily" or White Pekin ducklings will be shipped this year. So extensive are these ranches that tons of feed have to be trundled over miniature railroads to develop the birds into fat and meaty dinners.

The story back of this great enterprise is one of scientific feeding, scientific killing and plucking methods, scientific surveying and marketing investigation that has enabled this small colony to lead the world.

In 1915 there were only 15 ranches on the island. Feeding methods varied. Marketing was haphazard. The mortality of young ducklings was high. Profits were low.

Co-operation Brings Fame.

The farmers decided to organize. They formed the Long Island Duck Growers' Co-operative Association. They advertised widely.

They purchased on a stock basis a feed shop and mill at Eastport, L. I. They bought incubators wire netting, troughs, feeders, packing barrels, all on a co-operative wholesale plan. They opened a centralized shipping centre in New York. Last year this centre, under the guidance of General Manager Russell W. Hallock, did a business of $600,000.

Today, Long Island duckling with its familiar blue tag is known from coast to coast. Refrigerator cars carry the product to Canada, British Columbia and Newfoundland. Refrigerator ships carry them to Cuba, Liverpool, London whence they are in turn shipped to all parts of Europe, particularly Paris, Berlin and Denmark.

Why is Long Island the metropolis of duckdom?

Proper Climate Here.

"Climatic conditions," replies Manager Hallock. "Every farm has a stream cutting through it. There is plenty of sunshine. The temperature is just right for the ducklings. The soil is sandy and does not become too muddy or hold the water too long.

Hallock outlines briefly the life of a duckling as science controls it: "On each of the 90 farms there are mammoth incubators. They are in sections and they usually average 12 sections to the incubator. Each section holds 288 eggs.

"It takes 28 days for the eggs to hatch. Then they are taken to the brooder houses where a temperature of 72 degrees is maintained until the ducklings are about 2 weeks old. Then depending on weather conditions, they are put into 'cold brooders' where atmospheric temperatures obtain.

"We have the most scientific of feeding methods. A duckling likes his 'desert' which is green stuff, green corn, wheat, alfalfa and clover. This is chopped up, mixed with water and cornmeal, bran, white flour and beef scrap and the whole is trundled on a toy railroad to the various troughs.

Help Body Growth.

"Physicians are endorsing duckling as a food. All protein foods contain animo acids highly essential to life. The flesh of the duck is a notable example.

"A certain acid called 'tryptophane' is essential to maintaining weight in the adult human body. Duck contains it.

"Another acid which supports normal growth in the young is 'lysine.' Without this children become dwarfed and stunted. Duck flesh contains more than seven per cent. of these important acids."

WHAT DO 30,000 ISLANDS MEAN TO YOU?

Think of 30,000 Islands all in one holiday district! Up in Georgian Bay is an island-dotted paradise where you can spend an unforgettable vacation, sailing, canoeing and having a glorious good time generally. Fishing for black bass, lake trout and maskinonge is exceptionally good in these waters.

The Thirty Thousand Islands of the Georgian Bay is a wonderful vacation land. It is only a few hours' train ride from Toronto, yet it is in the midst of one of the greatest resort districts in the world. You can easily find accommodation to suit your purse.

OUT BY BOAT HOME BY RAIL

OVER 200 ON BOARD.

(By Frank Russell.)

On Monday morning last Commodore Frank ("Jerry") Young of the Stoney Lake Navigation Company, had arranged another of those delightful circular day trips—out by boat to Lindsay, return by rail. "The water way is the cool way," is a slogan with this experienced entrepreneur of water trips and there is usually a good gathering when any of these particular trips are announced.

Now as regards this particular one, more or less of us intending voyagers were in a more or less state of doubt, for late on Saturday night news spread of some accident having happened to the Life Lock, and that it was quite possible that necessary repairs could not be effected in time to admit of the passage through of the good, sturdy steamer 'Stoney Lake,' which was to convey the Lindsay-bound voyagers.

However, the necessary repairs were effected and within a few minutes after half past seven, the mooring ropes were thrown off the George street wharf and we were under weigh.

The Weather.

Now the weather is a most important factor in an event of this sort, and there were grave doubts in the minds of many as to the outlook of the weather. There was a haze over the water and the lower lying lands which might have signified heat; at the same time there were dark—even black— ominous-looking clouds up to windward in the west, which might mean much rain. But as it even finally happened, neither intense heat or much rain occurred. The only rain was a short shower of not more than five minutes' duration while a few miles up the canal, and so slight was this that many of those on board were not even aware of the fact. Otherwise we carried a light pleasant breeze and a beautiful sunshine during the greater part of the journey. We had the happy medium of it being neither too hot nor too cool.

The Start of the Voyage.

We steamed across Little Lake, which was now clear of the many logs which had somewhat impeded navigation on the previous Saturday night, passed quickly through the lock and in a few minutes had reached the Lift Lock. No signs of damage were visible to the layman's eye, but there is a general hard-looking face presented by the high, vertical wall which reminds one of the old temple whereon was ascribed on the facade, "Abandon hope all ye that enter here." But how could hope be abandoned when looking out from the door of the staircase between the two lock pounds, were two charming young ladies! Who could even dream of abandoning hope with two such elegant cretaures, giving as it were, a welcome.

Well we were through the lock in much about the same time as usual and were soon running along the Trent Canal. The various locks were negotiated without any mishap and in good time.

"What Go Ye Out For To See?"

Now I have before now had the remark made to me, "You must have gone down the river and up through the canal hundreds of times; whatever can you see in them?" "Why," I reply, "something new every time. Some fresh little piece of scenery, some new picture which I seem never to have noticed before. There is always something new to me or to anybody with an observant eye." And this particular trip did not vary in that respect; some new, pretty little bit of landscape I had not before noticed was revealed to my ready-to-accept-it eye. Anyway, the time taken in the passage from the Lift-Lock to Lakefield was to me not in the least degree wearisome.

By a few minutes after ten we had passed the new extensive cement works being erected in the Village of Lakefield, had viewed the new double span concrete road bridge erected over the river, had made a call at the Lakefield wharf and were on our way through Katchewanooka Lake towards Young's Point. We had a pianist on board—a Mr. Nixon, I believe—who in a very pleasant, able, unassuming way delighted us occasionally with some of his skill. It was not a dancing party, so there was no tripping of the "light fantastic." Rather needle work in various forms seemed to be the amusement or occupation of the ladies.

At Young's Point we saw the new lock, bridge and dam that had been built there, and by this time (eleven o'clock) some were feeling pretty hungry, for there seemed to be a big run on hampers of varying sizes and contents. Shortly the saloon dinner bell rang, and I am free to confess I was very glad to be opposite the very tasty dinner brought to me, which I need scarcely say was very much appreciated.

In the Lakes.

And now we were fairly in the lakes. There is no doubt but the Kawartha Lakes are on a par with any other chain of lakes in the world, as regards scenic beauty, not accepting even the far famed Lakes of Killarney, which are of a somewhat different kind of beauty.

Yes, as has been said, it was not without reason that the old Indian bards called the strip of Nature's jewels "Kawartha," or Bright Waters and Happy Lands! Here are to be seen some of nature's finest pictures framed in verdure.

Those we went through on this trip, if I am not mistaken, were Lakes Katchawanooka, Clear, Stoney, Lovesick, Deer, Buckhorn, Pigeon and Sturgeon.

Presently we came to the double lock at Burleigh and so on to Buckhorn through various pretty lakes as recently enumerated, until we got to Bobcaygeon, where large works have been carried out. We had picked up various passengers at various points en route until we numbered over two hundred. All this time the sun had been shining brightly and a pleasant, gentle breeze was blowing, and shortly we arrived at the entrance of the Scugog river and were on our way direct to Lindsay.

There is nothing particularly remarkable about this part of the journey, suffice it to say that having passed through the bascule bridge at this place we moored at the wharf at 5.40 p.m.

The Homeward Journey.

And now we had around an hour and a half to get through the three-quarter of a mile journey to the station, where a special train had been provided to start us off to Peterborough at 7.10 p.m. Commodore Young had accompanied us throughout the entire trip from Peterborough to Peterborough and looked well after our comfort and happiness. The home city was duly reached at 7.50 p.m., everybody seeming to have thoroughly enjoyed their day's trip.

And a big word of praise must also be accorded to Captain Scollard and his willing and obliging crew, and also to the able cooking staff, all of whom ministered so well to our comfort.

RETURN OF PRIESTS NOT AUTHORIZED

MEXICO, CITY, August 9 (United Press). — Reports in the press that exiled Mexican priests in the United States soon would be permitted to return to their parishes elicited a statement from President Calles that he had authorized no one to treat with the clergy. General Obregon denied connection with any such plan.

CAMPBELLFORD NEWS.

POST'S BED BUG POISON.

Post's Bed Bug Poison is composed of carbolic acid, Methyl Hydrate and Corrosive sublimate. When this preparation is used according to directions, it is sure death to bed bugs, cockroaches and insects of all descriptions. Two or three applications are all that is necessary, but as it is very poisonous, this preparation should be kept out of reach of children.

AN UNDESIRABLE PRACTICE.

Visitors to Peterborough frequently comment favorably on the cleanness of the streets of the city, and make comparisons entirely to its advantage with other localities in this respect.

This good reputation will soon become a thing of the past if we have many repetitions of an accident which happened to a Ware street boy last week. Running towards his home, the boy cut several arteries in his foot when he tripped and fell on some parts of a broken bottle which had been carelessly thrown on the street. At the hospital, it was found necessary to put nine stitches in the foot.

Thus through the thoughtlessness or laziness of someone this thirteen-year-old boy will be compelled to spend in confinement two or three weeks of the best part of the year so far as juvenile opinion is concerned.

The throwing of unwanted materials on the street is a practice that belongs properly to the cities of the Asiatic continent. It is utterly out of harmony with the ideals of sanitation of the people of Canada. Further, it is forbidden by a city bylaw, and any further breach should be followed by the imposition of a stiff fine on the offenders.

NOT QUITE CINDERELLA, BUT—

Without any suggestion of snobbery, it may be noted that two of the young ladies who received marked attention from the Prince of Wales and Prince George at some of the social functions in Ontario and Quebec were the daughters of Labor men. One was Miss Elena Murdock, daughter of the Hon. James Murdock, former Minister of Labor, and the other was the daughter of the Hon. Peter Heenan, the present Federal Minister of Labor. Miss Murdock is to be married shortly in Ottawa.

Both these justifiably proud fathers have been prominent in the Labor movement in this country. Both rose from the ranks of their unions in the railway industry, and are certainly not rich men. But if their daughters were not endowed with the wealth of those families whose fair buds were their rivals for royal favor, apparently they possessed charm and beauty, nature's unpurchasable gifts.

There is an element of the romantic in the fancy and fact of the daughters of Labor men being chosen so naturally by their future King for the favors so many other girls envied. Of such is the democracy of this country, of Britain's royal family and of the King's son, who is loved wherever he goes.

A SOVIET MAID'S TREASON.

There's a social traitor in the inner circle of the Bolsheviki if the report from London be true that Leonid Krassin's daughter is to marry a French Duke.

M. Krassin was Moscow's representative at London, and is one of the outstanding leaders of the Soviet. As such it should have been his duty to see to it that not only the proletariat of Russia but also the members of his own family were imbued with the sacred principle of the Bolsheviki, which prohibits, or is supposed to prohibit, all unavoidable associations with foreigners from the so-called benighted capitalistic countries.

Krassin's daughter should have been happy and content with some young flaming Red, and why shouldn't she avail herself of the new Soviet marriage law that permits of easy unions and easier divorces, companionate marriages, to use a phrase which Judge Ben. Lindsey has made current in the United States.

But no, she turns her nose up at the sons of the Revolution, scorns the memory and the cause of Lenin in this year of the tenth anniversary of the Soviets, to marry into the remnant nobility of that bourgeois Republic of France.

Surely the inner council of Moscow will take cognizance of this betrayal of its doctrine. However, love laughs not only at locksmiths, but also Bolsheviks. Besides, a title has to be reckoned with even when a fair maid of communism disposes her heart.

SWEEPING IN THE CORNERS.

The City Council deserves a special word of commendation for the attention it has directed this summer to many little minor improvements, which the citizens generally will notice and appreciate.

Some of these "odd jobs" include the enlarging of the junction of Park and Rubidge streets; the widening of the sidewalk fronting the C.G.E. Company's property; the paving of the link across Monaghan road between the end of the Charlotte street pavement and the recently surfaced Provincial highway; the ironing out of the Bethune street crossing on Charlotte street; the rounding of the sidewalk corners at Bethune and Hunter streets, and other similar repairs.

The construction of a new sidewalk has often seemed an undertaking possible of swift accomplishment compared with the removal of some projecting edge in an old walk which the frost probably heaved up to catch the unwary toe of a tax-paying pedestrian, who thereat assesses the efficiency of the Council by the continued neglect of this trifling but annoying disrepair.

Peterborough has a reputation of civic tidiness, and that reputation would soon be heightened if the present Council could set up a system that would carry on from year to year such improvements as the Council is now effecting.

SIR THOMAS WHITE'S APPEAL.

In his appeal to the people and Government of Ontario for more safety on the highways, Sir Thomas White, former Canadian Minister of Finance, declares his conviction that the increasing of the maximum speed limit this year was a mistake.

Whatever may be the opportunity and excuse for speed in the country, there should be neither in the city. The law should be so rigidly enforced, the penalties so severe, that no motorist would dare step on his accelerator along urban and suburban streets.

There is no conceivable excuse for such speed. No man's time or his talent is valuable enough to warrant his endangering the lives of others by fast driving.

Many children are killed by dodging through traffic and being run down by drivers who are legally permitted to drive their cars at a rate of speed that prevents them from stopping in the flashing emergency that confronts them. Children may and do thoughtlessly cross a street in spite of all their parents' warnings. What do they really understand of danger and death? In most of these fatalities the responsibility is officially and complacently registered against the little victim. But why should not some of the onus be fixed upon the driver whose speed was such, no matter what it was, that he could not stop his car in time to avoid a fatal accident.

Vigilant driving and a low rate of speed would restore that safety in city streets for which thoughtful men have become anxious. Sir Thomas White's example may arouse the people and the Provincial Government to the need of some remedial, restrictive action which the death roll on the streets and highways is making imperative.

MILITARISM AT HOME.

Military officers at Kingston who refused to honor the press passes issued to newspaper correspondents by the Dominion Government in connection with the visit of the Royal Princes, adopted an attitude which they will find hard to justify and which will be condemned by every thinking citizen of this country.

While considerable latitude is invariably extended during times of war and crisis to officers in command of troops compelled as they are to make momentous decisions on the spur of the moment, the idea of allowing officers of any rank whatever to be a law unto themselves is one that is totally foreign to the Anglo-Saxon mind. The military forces of this country are absolutely under the control of the Parliament of this country, and the orders of the Government are equally binding on soldier and civilian. But obedience to instructions which is one of the cardinal virtues of the good soldier was singularly lacking on several occasions during the ceremonies of the past week. Journalists from newspapers of high standing in Britain and the United States, as well as the correspondents from the newspapers of the principal cities of Canada, have been hampered in the legitimate exercise of the duties of their profession by the entirely unwarranted interference of officious individuals dressed in a little brief authority.

People who are familiar with the arrogance of the military caste towards the civil population in parts of Continental Europe will view with impatience and irritation such spectacles as that seen in Quebec when an officer of the militia roughly thrust a press photographer from his stand in the street as he attempted to take a picture of the passing of the distinguished visitors. Is it possible that some of these functionaries have just awakened from a slumber compared with which the long trance of the Seven Sleepers was a mere after-dinner nap, and are oblivious of the fact that the war with all its extraordinary measures and restrictions has now passed into history?

That the military chiefs were not the only offenders in the earlier stages of the Princes' tour is fairly well established by a despatch from Montreal last week, which described the unnecessarily rough methods adopted by the Montreal police to control the crowds which laboured under an excitement pardonable under the circumstances.

Police rough-riding the populace! Military officialdom flouting the orders of the Government These things seem decidedly out of their native element in Canada. Rather are they suggestive of conditions in the most graft-ridden cities south of the line, with a dash of the most offensive Prussian militarism of prewar days added to give a piquant flavor to the combination.

MOVIE MORALS.

(Ottawa Journal.)

The Provincial Treasurer, Hon. Dr. Monteith, has received complaints from numerous Ontario residents as to the undesirability of certain films which are being shown in picture houses in different parts of the Province. Dr. Monteith states that he is well satisfied and has the fullest confidence in the supervisory work of the official Board of Censors, but as their judgment is not always infallible, he will personally investigate these complaints.

Whilst retaining the highest respect for the integrity and good taste of the personnel of this board, The Journal must repeat its lack of faith in the ability of any purely official body to satisfactorily pass judgment on what constitutes the right kind of play for public consumption. The onus, as always, seems to rest on the owners and operators of our picture houses. Generally a fairly high standard has been maintained, and it is up to these gentlemen to see that their good name is not smirched by a few unscrupulous operators.

If all producers would realize that the clean, well constructed and thrilling production is always the surest money-maker, and that only a very small section of the public will deliberately patronize what is filthy or unwholesome, they would be going a long way towards maintaining the good name of their industry. They must realize that to the decent-minded, who constitute 90 per cent. of their patrons, there is nothing so dull as pornography and that only the clean-minded and supremely endowed artist can handle sex questions without giving offence.

MONTREAL GRAIN AND PRODUCE.

MONTREAL, August 9 (Canadian Press). — A moderate amount of business was worked with foreign buyers in Canadian grain here yesterday, the feature of the domestic trade was the strength of corn and oats ,and prices were advanced two cents per bushel. Car lots of Argentine corn were quoted at $1.04.

In sympathy with the advance in wheat prices at Winnipeg, the local market for spring wheat grades of flour was stronger, and values were marked up twenty cents per barrel. The market was quiet.

The undertone to the winter wheat situation was strong, and higher prices are possible in the near future.

Prices for all lines of millfeed were well maintained under a good demand from all sources. The trade in standard grades of rolled oats was quiet, but values were firm.

A fair amount of business was done in eggs, and the undertone continued strong. The receipts were 1,994 cases.

Under an increased demand from local buyers and the stronger cable advices, local butter prices advanced another ½c per pound yesterday. The receipts were 438 packages.

Extreme dullness marked the trade in cheese, but prices were well maintained. The receipts were 4,276 boxes.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

CHICAGO, Aug. 9.—(Canadian Press).—Frost damage of serious magnitude reported done to Canadian grain, brought about a mad scramble of buying here yesterday. Wheat went skyward, six cents a bushel in some cases, corn and rye about 5 cents and oats 3 cents. Many high price records for the season were smashed.

Closing quotations were greatly unsettled in all the speculative pits with wheat 4 cents to 5 3-8 cents higher, corn 2 1-2 to 3 7-8 cents up, oats showing ¾c to 2 cents advance and provisions unchanged to a rise of 45 cents.

With temperatures in Canada reported as low as 22 and with messages at hand indicating that heavy damage had taken place over a wide area, all other factors were virtually lost sight before the day was over. Announcement of an increase of 9,902,000 bushels in the United States wheat visible supply was altogether ignored.

Experts here said the Canadian frosts came when the great bulk of the wheat crop in the territory affected is in the bloom or in the milk stage, and that under such conditions a frost of even two or three degrees was an extremely serious matter. In some less conservative quarters, assertions were made that if some of the temperatures reported proved correct a large section of Saskatchewan would produce nothing but hog feed this fall.

Black Rust.

Black rust news indicating worse conditions than heretofore on this side of the Canadian border gave an additional stimulus to wheat buyers. Wheat straws in many fields of the Red River valley were reported falling, and farmers cutting the crop prematurely. Estimates of 30 per cent. damage to hard wheat Minnesota and the eastern portion of the Dakotas were current.

Oats and rye were influenced both by the action of wheat and by adverse field reports from the northwest.

Provisions went higher with grain and hogs and because of a violent upturn in the maket for cotton oil.

STERLING EXCHANGE.

MONTREAL, Que., Aug. 9.—(Canadian Press).— Sterling exchange rates were quoted here yesterday as follows:

Demand $4.86 3-16.
Cables $4.86 11-16.

ONCE GREAT NATION.

BAKU, Caucasus, Aug. 6.—(Canadian Press). — Russian archaeologists are inclined to believe that the present territory of the Azerbaidjan republic, situated in the Caucasus, along the shores of the Caspian Sea, was once a highly cultivated and civilized region. The scientists base this belief on excavations completed there recently in the Agdam district and the so-called Mill Plain.

Remains of a complete irrigation system have been discovered, estimated to have been built about 1000 B.C. Excavators have also found ancient graves containing skeletons with iron bracelets on wrists and ankles, and many clay pots from three to five feet high which were evidently used as burial urns. In one of them there were found three skulls of children.

GENERAL WOOD DIES SUDDENLY

WAS 67 YEARS OLD.

BOSTON, Aug. 8. — The long and spectacular career of Major-General Leonard Woods, Governor-General of the Philippines, is ended.

In deference to the wishes of Mrs. Wood, who accompanied him when he came to the hospital for observation three days ago the hospital authorities withheld from the public the fact that General Wood was there until Saturday noon. Late on Saturday night Dr. Alexander Lambert of New York said that an operation had been performed and that his condition was critical. Shortly after two o'clock on Sunday morning the hospital authorities announced that he had died at 1.20 a.m.. Dr. Lambert's bulletin indicated that the operation was for a tumor.

'Governor-General Wood,". he said, "17 years ago had a tumor which was removed by Dr. Cushing (Dr. Harvey Cushing of Boston. It was then found that the growth had involved the bone of the skull and a probable recurrence of the trouble was anticipated. For some time he had evidence of a return of his former lameness but owing to his high sense of duty he was unable to leave his post in the Philippines until he felt that the situation there justified a temporary absence."

Visited Coolidge.

General Wood was operated upon for hernia in Manilla last January. As soon as he had recovered sufficiently and condtions in the islands permitted he returned to America. Recently he visited President Coolidg in Rapid City S.D.

The end cam. in the city where he started his career. General Wood (who was born in Winchester, N.H., on Oct. 9, 1860,) was house surgeon at the Boston City Hospital for a year after his graduation from the Harvard Medical school in 1884.

JUBILEE ESSAYS.

This essay, written by Leata W. Baker, of Norwood high school, won second prize in the high school section of the essay contest conducted by Crafton's, Limited:

THE DIAMOND JUBILEE OF CONFEDERATION.

On July 1st of this year, Canada celebrates her Diamond Jubilee of Confederation, and it should excite in every loyal Canadian a feeling of pride and gratification when he considers what political, commercial and social progress she has made during those sixty years.

We Canadians enjoy so many privileges to-day that we can scarcely realize what a difficult task it was to bring about Confederation. Nevertheless, there were a few far-sighted statesmen who realized that if the North American colonies were ever to gain their rightful position in the world, Confederation was essential. John A. Macdonald was the man who was mainly instrumental in bringing about this long-desired result. The Hon. George Brown assisted him in Upper Canada, and although he disliked and distrusted Macdonald he forgot his personal feelings and the two great statesmen worked together for a common cause.

One of the most important provisions of the British North America Act was that the construction of the Intercolonial Railway, the existence of which was vital to the permanence of the Dominion, was to begin within six months. To-day in Canada we have two great railway systems—the Canadian National Railways and the Canadian Pacific Railway, by means of which goods of all kind are transported from coast to coast.

These were essential to the proper expansion of Canada's wonderful natural resources, which have developed a great deal since Confederation. She holds the key of the food supply of the world. As well as being the great timber storehouse of the British Empire. She also has the most extensive and productive sea fisheries in existence. Thus Canada has a wonderful variety of natural resources, and Confederation by uniting the provinces has helped to bring profit to our country as a whole.

Then, let us consider how our population has been increased since Confederation by immigration. Thousands of Europeans as well as Orientals are flocking over to make homes in Canada. Before the railways were constructed, they came over and settled on the eastern coast—in Nova Scotia and Prince Edward Island. But now since the C. P. R. has been built many more immigrants travel westward and establish communities in the provinces of Manitoba, Alberta and Saskatchewan. Many of these people are non-English-speaking, but in spite of that, and notwithstanding the fact that their customs and religion are different from ours they nevertheless find in Canada all that can be desired for a congenial home.

We ought to feel especially gratified to our pioneer ancestors—those worthy men and women who left comfortable homes in the Old Country to come over and help establish a young nation within our borders. They experienced many hardships but their noble efforts met with success for they have paved the way to a higher and better civilization—that which we are enjoying to-day. It is by means of the sacrifices of our forefathers that Canada occupies her present position among the nations of the world.

"Proud as the proud she moves among them
Well is she worthy a noble song!"

SOCIETY

Mr. and Mrs. John S. Mervin, Monaghan Road, announce the engagement of their daughter, Florence, to Mr. H. J. Alin Painter, son of Mrs. M. E. Painter and the late W. J. Painter, of Toronto——the marriage to take place quietly this month.

Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Siddall, Lansdowne Street, announce the engagement of their youngest daughter, Nora, to Mr. F. Jefferson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jefferson, Blackburn, England—the marriage to take place early in September.

Mrs. B. J. Crough and baby, Bobby of Detroit, Mich., are spending their vacation with relatives in the city.

Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Swanston, Milwaukee, Wisconsin, are visiting Mr. and Mrs. Max Swanston, Ashburnham.

Miss Gladys L. Green, Bolivar Street, has returned from a pleasant visit spent with friends and relatives in Toronto.

Mr. W. R. Morris is in Toronto attending the convention of the World Federation of Education.

Mrs. Craigie Edwards and children of Detroit, Michigan, who have been visiting relatives in Peterborough and Keene for the past five weeks, returned home on Sunday accompanied by her sister, Miss Loretta Roseborough.

Mrs. H. S. McDonald, of Montreal, is visiting with Mrs. W. J. Oke, at Chemong Park.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Bickell, and Mr. and Mrs. Albert Jones spent the week-end with friends in Campbellford.

Mrs. W. G. McIlveen, and sons, of Clinton, are visiting at the home of Mrs. McIlveen's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Lancashire, of Otonabee.

Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Grey, and son Reginald, have returned to Ottawa after spending the week-end with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Grey, George Street.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Udy and daughter Margaret, were among the excursionists to Rochester on Saturday.

Mrs. John James Common has returned to Montreal after spending a pleasant vacation with her mother, Mrs. A. Parker, at Lovesick Lake.

Mrs. Joseph Brailey, of Orillia, is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Lancashire, of Otonabee.

At a bridge and kitchen shower given last Friday evening by Miss Marjorie Best, Mrs. J. J Common, and Miss Olga Parker at the home of the latter, 384 Park Street, Miss Isobel Nesbitt, whose marriage takes place at the end of August, was the recipient of a number of pretty and useful gifts.

Mr. and Mrs. W. D. McDonald, of Detroit, are guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Oke, at their cottage, Chemong Park.

Mr. E. M. Henderson, Miss Margaret Henderson, and Mr. O. Henderson, who have been guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Morphet, left on Saturday, by motor, for Cleveland, Ohio.

Mrs. J. Ryan, Reid Street, is spending several weeks at Rice Lake.

Miss Lorna Cherry, of Ottawa, is the guest of Miss Mildred Morphet, Hunter Street, West.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Ryan have been visiting a number of places in the Southern States and at present are in Carberton, Ont.

Mr. D. Quinlan is spending his vacation in Niagara, Detroit and other places.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Linton and children have returned to Ottawa after a two-weeks visit spent with friends and relatives here.

Mrs. J. L. Holmes and son Douglas of Lakefield are visiting Mrs. C. J. Beauclerc.

On Friday evening last, Mrs. Hunt and Mrs. E. M. Wall were hostesses at a shower held at Mrs. Hunt's summer camp on the Otonabee, in honour of Miss Edith Smith, R.N. whose marriage takes place this week.

A noval attraction of the evening was a huge bonfire around which the guests were seated. A large receptacle draped with white, was placed before Miss Smith and the number of beautiful gifts which it contained testified to the popularity of the bride-elect.

A jolly weiner roast, at which other refreshments were also served, brought to a close a most enjoyable evening.

HINTS ON ETIQUETTE.

1.—When does one give an afternoon reception instead of an afternoon tea?
2.—How does an afternoon reception differ from a tea?
3.—Are the refreshments different, too?

The Answers

1.—Usually a reception is given to introduce some guest, debutante, or new "in-law" or neighbor.
2.—More formal.
3.—Yes, more elaborate.

CHOICE RECIPES.

Creamed Cabbage With Cheese.

Chop cooked cabbage finely and put a layer in a buttered baking dish. Cover with cheese sauce. Repeat these layers until the dish is full. Spread with buttered bread crumbs and serve hot.

The cheese sauce may be added to the cabbage and served without putting in the oven or without adding bread crumbs.

Potato and Cheese Salad.

Mix finely chopped or grated cheese with cold potatoes cut in cubes. Season with salt and pepper and moisten with salad dressing. Place by spoonfuls on lettuce leaves and serve cold.

Chopped celery, finely minced onions or pimento in small pieces may be added and give variety to the salad.

Cheese Paste for Sandwiches.

¼ ounce Tomato catsup.
2 teaspoonfuls chopped nuts.
A little onion juice or grated onion.
½ tablespoonful salt.
Pepper.

Mix ingredients together and beat well. Spread between thin slices of bread. This will be sufficient paste for about 24 sandwiches.

WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 10, 1927

(Copyright, 1927, McClure Syndicate.)

While this is an unimportant day in planetary direction, according to astrology, the aspects are mildly sinister.

Under this planetary government it is wise to make all possible adjustments to circumstances, accepting cheerfully whatever is not altogether pleasant.

Depression and discontent are supposed to be encouraged while this rule prevails. The wise will seek rest and recreation.

The sway should bring profit to proprietors of summer resorts, for there is to be much discomfort in cities.

Sudden changes in weather and intense heat are indicated for middle western as well as eastern cities.

Owing to the immense quantities of paper used by newspapers and other periodicals, serious economic problems are to be presented to coming generations, astrologers declare.

Advertising is to increase tremendously in the coming year when startling new devices will be introduced.

Changes in vocation will be one of the unusual features in the business world, the seers prognosticate.

Members of the artistic as well as the learned professions are to seek means of livelihood quite different from those previously followed, it is prophesied.

South America is to come into closer relationship with North America, it is prognosticated.

Persons whose birthdate it is have the augury of rapid advancement in business affairs by means of determined constructive work.

Children born on this day probably will attain leadership. Subjects of this sign are usually fine executives and generally clever.

SAINT and SINNER

She surprised herself by saying clever things, making demure little epigrams which kept the others laughing gayly and admiringly—all except Cherry. For Cherry was not happy. The spotlight had, for some reason which she could not fathom, been switched from her to her hitherto socially negligible sister.

George, seated at her right, leaned almost constantly toward Faith, serving her compliments even more assiduously than the well-trained butler plied her with delicate foods. Across the table, Bob tried gallantly to make conversation in a flattering undertone with Mrs. Pruitt, but Cherry noticed that his blue eyes kept straying to Faith, seeking her out over the top of the flower centerpiece.

"I'm still hoping you'll let me paint your portrait, Faith," George said suddenly, in a lull in the conversation. "Did she ever tell you, Hathaway, that I hounded her for weeks to serve as a model for me? She's absolutely the only girl in this town that could tempt me to dip a brush into paint. Won't you help me to persuade her, old man?"

Faith gasped mentally, but her face was still smiling and serene as she waited for Bob's answer. It came slowly, as a flush changed the tan of Bob's cheeks to bronze:

"Of course I'd be glad to have a portrait of my wife, Pruitt, if she cares to sit to you. She's pretty busy, of course, with the baby—"

"It's my baby," Cherry blurted out like a child that is about to burst into tears over being ignored. "But Faith has alienated its affections, I'm afraid. You'd think it was hers, the way she monopolizes it."

"Oh, Cherry!" Faith cried involuntarily. Then, remembering the occasion, she smiled around the table.

"That's right. You are playing mother to Cherry's infant while she works, aren't you?" George cut in eagerly. "Great, I'll paint you as a Madonna. That's what I've always wanted to do with you. When can I start work on the picture?"

"Well, I like that!" Cherry protested, her voice breaking. "It's my baby and if anybody is going to be painted as Madonna with it, I'll be the one! And I have the duckiest lace scarf that I can drape over my head—"

"You a Madonna?" George broke into a shout of laughter. Then as Cherry's golden eyes flashed lightning at him, he leaned toward her and chucked her impudently under the chin. "Listen, sweet child, if I paint you as anything it will be as the typical flapper or as 'Jazz-mania.'"

Faith was about to interrupt with a firm refusal to pose for the picture, since Cherry and Bob were both so obviously upset over the idea, when it came to her with sudden clarity that this one evening of social triumph for her had already enhanced her immeasurably in her husband's eyes, though of course he would not admit for the world that his admiration could possibly be increased. What harm could there be in keeping him interested, in letting him realize that others found her lovely and desirable, too?

"Of course Cherry will love having the baby's picture made with me," she said quietly. "And thank you, George. You're a dear!"

DRESS

By MARY MARSHALL

No doubt about it—the smart street frock for late summer and early autumn is to be black satin. It wouldn't be accurate to say that satins have come to the fore without saying "black satin." I haven't seen a single brown satin among all the many frocks I have seen in the shops or workrooms—an occasional navy blue one there may be, but these are only for the women who have a particular penchant for that color. But whether you have a penchant for black or not, you'll doubtless want to wear it because of its smartness.

The all-black frock—unrelieved by white or color—is, you'll have to admit, rather trying. But with a bit of lace or lingerie in white or excru about the wrists and the neck it can be worn by almost any woman to advantage. There are very thin women and very stout women who ought not to wear it, perhaps. To be sure, it has a slenderising effect—that is why I should advise my very thin friend not to wear it—but, on the other hand, the glossy surface with the conspicuous highlights somehow accentuates the roundness of exaggerated bodily curves.

Almost any color combines well with black satin. The mellow but still fairly pronounced tones that we call "Chinese"—jade green, lacquer red, Chinese blue, rich old gold—these make excellent affinities for black.

Remember this about satin. It has a marvellous way of shedding dust—it really stays clean—cleaner than a fabric with a softer, rougher surface. It stays clean the way a waxed floor does—turns a cold shoulder to dust and refuses to give it berth. For this reason satin is an excellent material for street or travel costumes. On the other hand, the glossy surface of the material renders any real spots and stains extremely conspicuous. A rough wool material like tweed picks up and holds more dust, but shows spots less. Satin sheds the dust but shows the spots.

From a clever dressmaker I have secured the pattern needed in cutting the petals for rag flowers which are used so frequently to give a finishing touch to new frocks. Once you know how to cut the petals it is easy enough to make a shoulder flower from scraps of material. I would be glad to send you this pattern with directions for making, if you will send me a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

The town of Pembroke, N.H., boasts the champion strawberry picker of New England in the person of Miss F. Lena Fowler, who has more than 2,000 boxes to her credit this year, with the season not yet closed. Her best record is 260 boxes in a day.

CROWE LAKE VERY POPULAR

Summer Resort Near Marmora Attracts Many Visitors.

COTTAGES IN DEMAND

MARMORA, Aug. 9.—As a holiday haunt, it is apparent that Crowe Lake has lost little of its old charm. Studding its shores today one finds as varied and attractive a succession of cottages as seen at other resorts. No wonder it is that visitors to Crowe Lake and Crowe Lake Park have been more numerous thus far this year than in the corresponding period of previous years. Camping parties have continuously invaded the aforementioned park and grounds adjacent to Tipperary House. The demand for cottages for this month is in excess of that for July and Marmora Booster Club which arranges to a great extent for the renting of cottages, has had to reply in many cases through its secretary-treasurer, Mr. H. W. Sabine that no cottages were available. "Kamp Kosy" the cottage owned by Mr. Jesse Barlow of Bonarlaw is thought to hold the record for accommodating the largest party this summer, seventeen persons occupying it for a week or more. Cottages on the southern shore of the lake occupied throughout the season by none other than their owners, are displaying well cultivated gardens in which vegetables and flowers compare with the best seen in town. Idlewild, owned by H. R. Haacke, is a fair example.

Tipperary House, the original catering establishment has received goodly patronage. In addition to a fine guest roll picnics have been accommodated at the other end. Marble Cliff Pavilion has had a successful season. Prospective picnics for the month are those organized by the Hastings County Medical Association and this particular District of the Independent Order of Oddfellows. The Royal Hotel, Marmora, has also received a good share of the tourist trade. Our American visitors will doubtless be interested in making the acquaintance of the 1st Deloro Troop of Boy Scouts who will be encamped for ten days commencing August 6th on the lakeside lot owned by Rev. Father J. J. O'Reilly. The possibility of a regatta this year as in the past three years, is hinted at. Good specimens of bass and lunge have been landed by lake and river fishermen.

BAY VIEW HOUSE HAS MANY GUESTS

All Those There Now Are From Same Part of United States.

BAY VIEW HOUSE, Deer Bay, Aug. 9.—There are about fifty guests at Mr. Pearson's popular resort, all from Washington county, Pa., and as all are well acquainted it might be termed a "neighborhood party" who are holidaying together. One evening recently a concert was given at the hotel with T. J. Underwood of Washington county Pa., in the chair. The North Smith Band was present and rendered several selections and Mr. Underwood delighted the audience with a topical song of some twenty verses which abounded in local hits and was loudly applauded.

Among those present were present Messrs. John McCreight, contortionist, and Erwin Cummings, sword swallower, who added greatly to the evening's programme; they are advertised as having been with Keith during the winter and previously with Barnum and Bailey, and are now spending a happy holiday at "Bayview." Their performance was much appreciated and they received many compliments from the audience.

Mr. Underwood is enthusiastic about the Kawartha Lakes. He has been coming up for twenty-five years and has summered on several of the lakes in the district. His object is "fishing, pleasure and rest" and he is thoroughly enjoying his vacation, and says he will continue to boost its attractions in his own country.

KEENE NEWS.

KEENE, Aug. 9.—Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Nelson and family have returned to their home at Watson, Sask., after visiting Mr. Nelson's sister, Mrs. James Shearer of Keene. Mr. Nelson thought that owing to late seeding in the spring some of the crops would be damaged by frost, otherwise conditions in that part of the west are very favorable.

Mrs. Mellin, Ada and Jack returned home last week after spending the past few weeks with friends at St. Williams, Ont.

Wheat cutting is practically finished in this district and many of the farmers have their wheat in the barn, also most of the alsike is in the barns.

Master Davie Pearse has returned to Peterborough from spending a month's holiday at "Sunnyside."

Mr. Matt. Sedgwick met with a painful accident while working at the new house for Mr. Carwrite. He stepped on a large plank, causing the other end of the plank to fly up and hit him in the face and nearly putting one eye out. He escaped with a nasty bruise, causing discoloring of the left side of his face.

Miss Cowan, Galt, is visiting at "Restholme."

WOOLER NEWS

WOOLER, Aug. 9.—A grand reunion of the members, old and young, of the Mutton family assembled as a picnic at Little Lake on Wednesday. Those who attended from this community were Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Down (née Annie Mutton), their son, Arthur, and wife and two sons, Wesley and Freddie.

Mrs. Bruce Ellis and son, Everett, returned home after a motor trip to Brockport, N. Y.

Mr. and Mrs. Pollard, of Toronto, were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. D. S. Austin over the week-end.

On Thursday evening Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Terrill and daughter, Frances, attended the garden party on the lawn of Mr. and Mrs. Grant Goodfellow, Mt. Olivet.

The Women's Institute met at the home of Mrs. A. G. Austin on Friday afternoon. It was a large gathering, especially the mothers with their babies from six months to four years of age. Presents of toys were presented to each kiddie. Music was furnished by Edith Austin, aged eight. An excellent address on the training of young children was given by Mrs. Donald McCall and was much enjoyed and appreciated. Mrs. Lloyd Bell entertained with piano solos during the social half hour. Lunch was served by the committee.

WHERE HAY FEVER IS UNKNOWN AND HEALTH REIGNS SUPREME

In Timagami, Nature has outdone Science in conquering hay fever. Any vacationist who knows this glorious summerland of evergreen hills and sky-blue waters will tell you that in Timagami there is perfect immunity from hay fever.

Timagami is more than 1,000 feet above sea level. Latitude and altitude unite in giving a clear, dry, rarified atmosphere with warm days and cool nights. It is easy to get to but hard to come away from, for where is there a fisherman who would willingly leave lakes that teem with gamey fish? Or who would but regret leaving such splendid summer vacation territory as Timagami. Its hotels, cottages, cabins, tents; its fine sandy bathing beaches and joyous days of swimming, boating, hiking and fishing all help to make it a summer home of health and happiness.

The Real Corn Flavor is Toasted In

POST TOASTIES are the most delicious Corn Flakes you've ever tasted, because they're made from the hearts of white corn, toasted by special process to double crispness. Their crispness and flavor last in milk or cream.

Get one of the red and yellow, wax-wrapped packages from your grocer, or send coupon for free test package. Shower the crisp flakes into a bowl, add milk or cream and eat. You'll find them crisp and crunchy—to the last spoonful.

Post Toasties are made in Canada. Get a package, or send postcard now. You can taste the difference!

Send postcard for trial package. Address Canadian Postum Co., Limited, Dept. T-28- 35 , Metropolitan Bldg., Toronto 2, Ont.

MISSION WORKER ADDRESSES W. M. S.

WARSAW, August 9. — The regular meeting of the United Church Woman's Missionary Society was held at Mrs. Thomas Cooper's home on Thursday afternoon, a good number of members being present, also visitors from Victoria, New York, and Detroit.

As only a very few had attended the July meeting, the June minutes were read, and the president commented on the excuses that were made, that so few attended the July meeting, and thought if the right interest were taken there would be a better attendance. The autograph quilt was given to Mrs. Robert Moore. The quilt for the mission box was donated by several ladies, each giving one part. The missionary study for the year is to be taken from the church study book, "New Paths for Old Purposes," which deals with missionary work on the American Continent. Mrs. E. R. Hamblin, it was announced, paid in $25.00 towards the missionary fund. This automatically makes her a life member. Miss Ruth Gerard, of Rutherford, .NJ., sang, unaccompanied, "My Task."

A letter was read offering the W. M.S. an agency for a mending tube, by which the missionary society could make $2.50 on every $3.50 invested. The mending tube is supposed to mend all sorts of garments.

As Miss Cronkheit, who has been doing work among the Chinese for nine years, was present, it was decided to give her all the time, and have the study lesson later. Miss Cronkheit spoke in a most charming manner and held the interest all the time. She began by reminding those present that thouh everyone could not go to the front, those who remained at home, prayed, and gave, did their work, and a necessary one. Often those at the front felt that those at home were praying. She is returning to Vancouver to a Chinese hospital, where she will have one nurse and two Chinese girls. She has only picked up the Chinese language. Those who go to the foreign field are given two years to learn the language, bue she was rushed into the work to learn as best she could. In Victoria there are two kindergartens which are open to orphan children. They are also havens for slave girls, and there girls must live under the school regulations. They teach up to the entrance from the kindergarten, also they teach domestic science. In the Chinese town proper there is a good Chinese school. Several Chinese girls are training as teachers. The school has its own mission circle and mission band. There is also a Japanese school, run along the same lines. Among the women there is a very much alive Woman's Missionary Society. The programmes are planned by the women, and they carry out the programme well. The prayers and singing are wonderful. In speaking of the customs of China, Miss Cronkheit told that the people believed in demons. Their's is a religion of fear rather than of love, and everything is done to appease or to keep away the demons. Visitors are not welcome at the home of an infant until it is a month old, lest a demon come. When a month old, the child has a birthday party, and his head is shaved, but no one must admire the baby for fear the demons might do harm to the beautiful child. Evil spirits are supposed to be everywhere, and all sorts of schemes are planned to drive them away. The speaker gave several examples of the persecutions Christians sometimes endure, and there have been times when they have been sorely tempted and seemed to see Satan; but when they prayed, at the name of Jesus Satan would disappear, and after that the people would cease to be afraid. Even the converts find it hard to rid themselves of the idea of demons. They also feel sometimes that they must revere the ancestral tablet, and who can wonder?

Miss Gunn is doing a noble work of her own on faith. She has always had what she needed, but has sometimes been down to 25 cents. She has Bible pictures and stories in Chinese. Tuberculosis is very common among the Chinese, because they sleep in small, close, dark rooms. Every word the speaker uttered was full of interest.

There was a victrola selection, "Building Every Day." Lunch was served by Group C.

On account of the Union Sunday School picnic coming on Wednesday of next week, and the play on Friday evening, the Institute will withdraw its picnic on Thursday.

HASTINGS COUNCIL.

Odd Phenomenom On Yucatan Coast

MERIDA, Mexico, August 9 — A marine phenomenon has taken place on the Yucatan coast, where, presumably on account of a volcanic eruption, dead fish in huge numbers, including large deep sea specimens, are floating about for miles all along the coast, poisoning the surrounding waters. Steps have been taken to avoid an epidemic by digging trenches along the coast to bury the millions of fish.

F. S. LAZIER IS APPOINTED

Campbellford Resident To Be Consulting Engineer For Paving.

MANY APPLICANTS.

CAMPBELLFORD, Aug. 9. — At a meeting of the town council last night, F. S. Lazier, consulting engineer, formerly of Toronto, now resident of Campbellford was appointed consulting engineer for the proposed street paving. A large number of applications for the appointment were received from many parts of the province. Four of the most outstanding consulting engineers of Toronto sent formal applications, and either appeared in person, or through representative before the council.

Surveys will be made immediately so that the plans and estimates will be ready before the next meeting of the county council, who must pass on same before the necessary grant is authorized.

The remuneration to be received by the newly appointed engineer is the same as asked for by the Toronto applicants, namely, 5 p.c., or approximately $2,500.

TWO ARRESTS FOR STEALING

FIVE NOW UNDER ARREST.

BARRIE, Ont., Aug. 9. —Two further arrests yesterday brought the Provincial Police still closer to the heart of the crime situation in the district surrounding Beeton, where the Alex. Hodge-Dan Forsythe death battle was lately staged.

The pair taken into custody yesterday are are Reginald Andrews, aged about 21, married, who faces so far one charge of the theft of 14 head of cattle; and Alfred Hartley, aged about 21, single, who faces a charge of theft of 13 hogs. The arrests were made in the afternoon by Inspectors Stringer, Gurnett, Rae and Creasy, who descended upon the farms which the accused operate and charged them with the offences which they were alleged to have committed. The prisoners were lodged in the Barrie jail.

The arrests represent an intensification rather than a ramification of the Beeton investigation. Over the week-end Provincial Police headquarters decided to strengthen the numbers which it had working upon the case, and Inspector Gurnett was sent to the field with Inspector Stringer, when the latter returned here yesterday afternoon. Rapid police work followed with the assistance of Inspectors Rae and Creasy, with the result that the two arrests were made with despatch. Neither of the prisoners, who were taken at their homes, resisted capture.

Occurred Near Cookstown.

The offences for which Andrews and Hartley are charged occurred in the neighbourhood of Cookstown some time ago. The cattle which were involved and likewise the pigs have by this time become respectively beef and bacon. But sufficient evidence remained of the thefts to bring Inspectors Stringer, Gurnett, and their colleagues upon the trail.

The police declare that Andrews and Hartley are both connected with the band of cattle thieves, who have been operating through the district for some time past, causing a reign of dread amongst the honest residents for fear of their depredations. So far five arrests have been made in connection. Four of those who have been taken into custody have already confessed.

FALL WHEAT REPORTS.

TORONTO, Ont., August 9 (Canadian Press). — "Reports on the whole indicate that fall wheat is turning out well, but not quite up to expectation," says the official weekly report of the Ontario Department of Agriculture issued yesterday. "There are lots of estimates of thirty bushels to the acre, but some run as low as twenty. Isolated patches are reported as giving as high as from 40 to 64 bushels to the acre.

"Not for many years have field crops varied in dates of maturity as during the current year," said the Departmental report. "In some cases wheat has been harvested and threshed, and in others not cut. Variable weather and frequent rains are responsible for the fact that large quantities of hay are still out. In some cases many hay fields are uncut.

Cutting of barley and oats is well on in some sections.

Live stock conditions are reported as good. In most sections to date, there has been abundance of grass. Varying reports are given from the several fruit districts. The apple crop will not be as big as promised early in the season."

BOY IS KILLED IN CAR WRECK

Ingersoll Lad Dies of Terrible Injuries Received.

INGERSOLL, Ont., Aug. 9.—Terribly injured in an automobile accident near St. Williams, on Sunday afternoon, the death of David E. G. Shoults, 14-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. David Shoults, Skye Street, occurred about midnight, in the Simcoe Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Shoults and their son left here early in the morning and spent the greater part of the day in the St. Williams district. Mr. Shoults was drving. While on their return trip the engine stalled on a steep incline. Car suddenly started backward and ran over a thirty-foot embankment. Mr. Shoults went to the bottom of the ravine with the car having a miraculous escape as the automobile was totally wrecked.

On looking for other members of the family he saw Mrs. Shoults at the top of the incline while the son was midway between them lying against a stump.

Now Indigestion Is Conquered

By a new scientific method which cannot fail to benefit—Here is the proof.

This new product of a Canadian laboratory is causing much favorable comment by physicians.

Renzyme cannot fail to relieve indigestion because it restores the digestive fluids to the stomach. Relief is obtained promptly because the very first dose of Renzyme is effective in helping to digest the food in the stomach.

Rev. A. B. Fahrney, The Rectory, St. James Church, St. Mary's, Ont., writes:

"Having been troubled for some years with indigestion I have tried a good many remedies but without results. Some time ago friends of mine spoke to me about a preparation called Renzyme being put out by your firm and immediately I secured a bottle and found almost instant relief.

"I can say without hesitation that it is the best remedy for stomach and bowel trouble that I have ever tried and wish to tell you that I will never be without it and take this opportunity to show my appreciation for what it has done for me."

You can obtain Renzyme from your druggist at $1.50 a bottle or it will be sent to you, postpaid, on receipt of price, if you mention this paper. The Renzyme Laboratories, Toronto, 2, Canada.

Leafs Lose Final Game Of Series To Orioles

RAYBESTOS RALLY IN SECOND TO WIN FROM BETHANY 11-1

GAME TONIGHT

Maudsley Shows Good Form on Pitching Staff for Rays.

A hitting streak in the second, which included a homer by Beavis, gave Raybestos seven runs and paved the way for a much-needed victory over Bethany last evening, the final tally reading 11 to 1. Ray Staples went on duty with his good pitching whip on the casualty list and retired to the middle bag after Beavis hit for the round trip. The ball took a long ride over centrefielder Price. Staples retired the side by taking a hot drive from Nicholls. Dawe finished the game, and after being touched up for three runs in the third, held the Rays safe.

Raybestos meet Cogs at Exhibition Park this evening, and Jimmie Coursey's crew must win or turn to golf for recreation. It should be a great battle with Maudsley and Vannest on the firing line.

The big second for Raybestos took all the excitement out of last evening's affair. Masterson had an edge on the visitors until he retired in the third with a lame back, and Maudsley who took up the burden sailed right through. He fanned the side in the fourth, retired them in order in the fifth and fanned two of the four batsmen to face him in the sixth. The game was called in Raybestos half of the sixth with one gone.

GOLF DEVOTEES INCREASING HERE

Many Take Up Pastime at the New Golf Course.

Three years ago suitable land near Zion was rented on which a nine hole golf course was laid out.

The membership then was very small, and not a great deal of expense could be undertaken to put it into playable condition. However, more and more have taken up the game until this year the Beavermeadow Golf Club has a considerable membership.

Time and expense have transformed the greens from rough grassy surfaces into levels that equal plenty of Ontario courses.

Many natural hazards make it a none to difficult round but provide plenty of excitement for even the more clever players.

Those who have worked hard from its inception have not worked in vain and golf enthusiasts in Peterborough would do well to look over their efforts.

Bobby Jones Leads In Ranking List

NEW YORK, Aug. 9.—(Canadian Press)—Robert T. Jones, Jr., Atlanta, Ga., was placed at the number 1 position in the ranking list for 1927 announced yesterday by the United States Golf Association. George Von Elm, Los Angeles, was number 2, and Jesse W. Sweetser, New York, number 3. Francis Ouimet, Boston, Watts Gunn, Atlanta, and Don Stein, Seattle, were placed fourth, fifth and sixth. Eddie Held, St. Louis, was seventh, Jesse P. Guilford, Boston, eighth, Harrison R. Johnson, Minneapolis, ninth and Roland Maskenzie, Washington, tenth.

JUNIOR REGATTA WELL CONTESTED

Young People of Stoney Lake Have Enjoyable Afternoon's Sport.

STONEY LAKE, Aug. 9.—The annual children's regatta was held at Juniper Island at 3 o'clock on Saturday afternoon and was attended by a large number of cottagers. The day was warm, and was ideal for water sports, and children and adults spent a happy afternoon. The children's regatta has become an institution on the lake and is practically confined to cottagers and their children who take a great deal of enjoyment out of it. It is decidedly one of the most popular events in the "good times" schedule.

The number of entries was greater than last year in most of the events and several were run off in heats. Each season sees some of the star performers of yester year barred from entering by reason of having passed the age limit, and each year likewise, introduces new competitors who have grown old enough to be eligible and who feel deeply the importance of the occasion.

The arrangements were made by the Regatta committee as carefully as for the bigger adult events of the past week, and every detail was complete at the hour set for the regatta. Gordon K. Fraser acted as starter and announcer, and Messrs. J. H. Renwick, J. R. Dodworth and George MacLeod were the judges. Ian Wotherspoon was clerk of the course. The following are the prize winners and prize list:

The prizes for the special race will be presented next Saturday at the children's masquerade and also a special prize to little Jane Currier, who although only seven years old, won her heat in the swimming race for girls of 12 years and under, and although the youngest entry, she took third place in the finals, winning all heats by her pluck and her sunny smile. These prizes will be procured during the week.

The prizes were presented by Mrs. J. R. Doadworth, who had been an interested spectator of the afternoon's contests.

The championship cup for the most points was won by Theodora (Skookie") Elmsley with 20 points. Jim Simpson was the highest boy with 9 points. Both received medals.

The championship cup, (Ryrie-Birks Cup) was presented last year and was won by Charles MacLeod with 14 points; Gladys Heward was the highest girl last year with 11 points.

The next special event is the children's masquerade which is being held next Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

WILL COMPETE IN NATIONAL TRACK AND FIELD MEET

Pictured above are three of the outstanding athletes who will compete in Toronto at the National Track and Field Championships on August 20. On the left is Andrew Malcolm of the St. John Y.M.C.A., who is one of the best athletes in the maritime provinces. Malcolm stands 6 feet 1 inch in height, and weighs over 200 lbs. As well as being a track and field star he is also at home on the basketball floor, where he is the crack centre of the St. John "Y" team. He will compete in the discus, hammer and shot put. In the centre is Harry Shanacy of Midland, Ont., who is one of the best high-jumpers developed in Canada in years. He has been credited with over 6 feet in the high jump and over 22 feet in the broad jump. He also throws the javelin exceedingly well. On the right is Stanley Glover of Saskatoon. Glover won the Canadian quarter mile title last year at Fort William and will be at Toronto to defend his laurels. Glover is looked upon as one of the best athletes in the west and is expected to make a place on Canada's next Olympic team.

CRICKET NEWS.

LONDON, Aug. 9 (Canadian Press Cable).—Owing to a misunderstanding the officials of the Derbyshire-Nottinghamshire match announced there would be no play yesterday. Rain held up the opening of the match yesterday morning, but play was possible late in the afternoon. Derby declared at their Saturday's score of 374 for 9. Notts batter for a short time, making 45 runs for 2 wickets before stumps were drawn.

No play was possible yesterday in matches between Surrey versus Middlesex at the Oval; Lancashire versus Kent at Manchester; Yorkshire versus Leicestershire at Sheffield.

Closing scores in other games were: Essex versus Glamorgan, at Swansea: Glamorgan, 192; Essex 219 (Crawley 59, Ryan 5 wickets for 76); Glamorgan 105 for 3 (Bates 61 not out).

HORSE JOCKEY IS DISQUALIFIED

Feature of Fifth Day's Racing at Blue Bonnet's Track.

FOR "BUMPING"

MONTREAL, Que., Aug. 9.—(Canadian Press).—The suspension of Jockey F. Moore and the disqualification of his mount, Missionary, were the features of the fifth day's racing at the Blue Bonnet racetrack here yesterday afternoon. Moore was suspended for "bumping." This occurred in the last event, a mile and a quarter race, in which were running Accokeek, Opperman, Pat Calhoun and Alletache. At the first turn, Missionary cut straight across in front of the leaders, throwing them all out of place, jolting first one horse and then another. Missionary finished in second place but the stewards ruled the horse out, giving second money to Opperman and third to Pat Calhoun. Accokeek won.

The racing yesterday was carried on amid showers and the racing strip was sloppy. The biggest price of the day was paid in the two-year-old race won by Thymon, owned by T. W. Frost. Thymon returned a dividend of $25.30 to its supporters.

SOFTBALL POPULAR

Marmora and Deloro People Engaged in Great Rrivalry.

MARMORA, Aug. 9. — Softball seems to have taken quite an hold on the employees of the Deloro Smelting and Refining Company of late and the two teams representing Marmora and Deloro are eager to clash once weekly on the grounds of each village. The sixth game between these teams played at Marmora on Thursday evening resulted in a win for the homesters by 6-4. This was quite the best game of the series. Moore in the box for Marmora shaped fine. The outfielders of his team were in fine form and brought off a good harvest of catches. Cousins on third, put out three men in the fourth. Hectotr Auger got the only home run of the game. Simmons and Reynolds made good catches for the losers as did McInroy and Prentice for Marmora. E. Horton and J. Neill umpired the game. Score by innings:

Deloro	0012010—4
Marmora	2010120—6

ORIOLES TAKE EARLY LEAD

Ineffective Pitching in Third Gives Birds Four-Run Rally.

GAME POSTPONED

NEW YORK, Aug. 9.—(Canadian Press).—The Orioles got away to an early lead to win the final game of the series from Toronto at Baltimore 10 to 6. Fisher's ineffective pitching in the third gave the Birds four of their runs. In the seventh the visitors showed strength, scoring three on Prudhomme's bunt, Spencer's single and Webb's double. The Bird's checkmated them, however, with three more and clinched the game in the eighth when Poole hit for the circuit with one on.

BETHEL WINS RIGHT IN MENIE

ERRORS CAUSE LOSS

BURNBRAE, August 9. — Bethel softball team threw a bombshell into the hopes of the Menie players and fans on Friday evening when they came from behind to win 14 to 8 on the Menie grounds. With their catcher just out of a sick bed for the game the Bethel boys were unsteady in the first innings and a few passed balls together with some safe hits including Frank Little's triple netted Menie five runs, while Bethel only collected two. Eagleson's pitching in this frame was remarkable, as every ball delivered was a strike.

Menie scored one in the third on hits by Shillinglaw and F. Little and a long sacrifice fly from Linn's bat. Thereafter they were held scoreless, only three men facing Broadworth in each of the next three spasms. In the seventh well placed bunts filled the bases for Shillinglaw's two bagger, but Eagleson was out on a close decision at the plate. S. Little drew the cheers of the crowd by stealing home with Menie's last counter.

Bethel were held scoreless until the fifth when a barrage of well placed hits, coupled with three infield errors and some misjudged flys in the outfield, netted them six runs. One error and four hits including Gibson's homer gave Bethel four more in the sixth, while two hits and two errors in centre field gave them a couple more for good measure in the last frame.

Bethel presented a team of young players, all snappy fielders and good batters. There are no weak spots in their defensive system, although E. Broadworth and Gibson impressed the bystanders as being more outstanding than others in the team. The third sacker shows remarkable fielding ability with a wicked throw to first. Everything to the outfield was effectively smothered and and speedy indeed was the runner who scored on sacrifice flies.

Both pitchers had good control, each walking but one man while Eagleson struck out four. The Menies' defeat cannot be attributed to the battery as both Eagleson and S. Little were in rare form, but errors at critical moments paved the way to defeat Shillinglaw with three hits was the only Menie batter to have any degree of success against Broadworth's slow spin ball, most of the local swatters going out over the foul tip and outfield fly routes.

M. Gibson had a perfect average at bat while E. Broadworth and G. Carlisle were right behind, each being out only once.

A large crowd, variously estimated from 400 to 600 persons, was on hand to witness the game. The visitors' rooting gang was in rare form and kept up a steady attack. The Menie manager had the playing field roped off and this proved decidedly helpful in speeding up the game as the spectators were out of the way.

Menie go to Stirling on Tuesday night to replay the protested win of last Tuesday. Should they win there a third game would be played at Glen Ross, probably on Friday evening.

GIRLS DEFEAT BOYS OF MILL

Win Fast Softball Game By Nine Runs To Eight.

AT CAMPBELLFORD.

CAMPBELLFORD, August 9. — Dr. O'Hara's sluggers, from Sluggersville, every player a direct descendant of the old original Swat family, staged a fas tgame of softball last night, when they defeated a picked team of men from the Paper Mill. The mill had as their pitcher the well-known pill-tosser, John Potts, late of the Myersburg Bearcats, who in their balmy days defeated Petherick's Corners and tied Menie in a 7-inning game.

The whirlwinds have an excellent battery and some wonderful sluggers, and they play the game for all there is in it.

The line-up:

Score—9-8 in favour of the Whirlwinds.

Umpire—Arlington Phillips.

TELFORD'S TEAM WINS AT CHEMONG

Beats Cooney and Joping's 16-14 in Softball Game.

Cooney & Jopling's softball nine were defeated by Clayton Telford's team in a game at Chemong Park last night, the final score being 16 to 14. Telford's team took the lead early in the game, and kept it the whole way through, although in the seventh the truck drivers staged a wonderful rally. Errors in the infield lost the game to Cooney & Jopling's.

JOHNSON DRIVEN FROM THE MOUND

Cleveland Keeps Senators' Hits Scattered to Win 6-1 Victory.

NEW YORK, Aug. 9.—(Canadian Press).—Shaute kept the Senators' seven hits well scattered at Washington yesterday, while his team mates drove the veteran Walter Johnson from the mound, Cleveland winning the game, 6 to 1.

In the sixth Jamieson, who had walked, scored on Burns' single. Later with the bases filled, Autrey doubled, scoring two. Eichrodt followed with another two bagger, and put two more runs across the plate.

Boston ran its string of victories to six straight by defeating Detroit 3 to 2 at Boston. Stoner held the Sox to five hits. A homer by Heilmann over the left field wall in the fourth and doubles by Warner and Gehringer in the eighth produced the two Detroit runs.

COGNAWAGA CLUB LOSES WILLIAMS

O.B.A.A. Rules He Must Not Take Part in Further Games This Season.

The eligibility of George Williams as to reseidence, to play with the Cognawaga club, having been questioned by the Crescents baseball club, the matter was taken to the O.B.A.A. for a ruling and that body has declared the player ineligible to take part in further games this season. The executive of the East Peterborough League had taken the stand that Williams should be permitted to play with the Cogs.

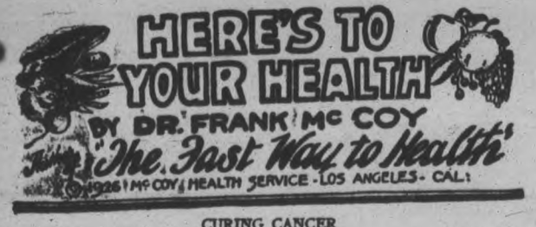
Williams will not take part in the important Raybestos - Cognawaga game at Exhibition park this evening. "Bud" Weese, who was at third base for the team last season, will return to the line-up.

Williams played with the Cogs in 1923-4-5 and crossed the border in 1926, returning to Peterborough in December. He again went across the line and returned here in April.

The O.B.A.A. residence rule says: "No player shall compete in any games who has not been a bona fide and continuous resident of the city, town or village to which his club belongs before the first of January of the league season."

BASEBALL PRACTICE.

The Kiwanis Bantams will practice at Sacred Headt church grounds Wednesday, August 10th, at 6 o'clock sharp. All players are requested to be on hand early.



CURING CANCER

I have so often told you, in these columns, that there are incurable patients, but no incurable disease. By this I mean that every disease can be cured if taken in time before the body becomes more dead than alive.

There are cancer cases which have developed to such an extent that a cure is impossible. Surgeons, who believe in removing cancerous tissue by the knife, are becoming more and more cautious about the cases they operate upon as they often find that such operations hasten death rather than retard it. The only successful surgical cases are those where the patient is operated upon when the cancer is very small, and even then, a new growth of cancerous tissue can be expected in two or three years either at the side of the original trouble or at some other part of the body.

Cancer is curable, but a complete cure is seldom accomplished by surgery. It is necessary to rid the system of the dead cells which have accumulated and formed the cancer. It seems almost impossible to do this with surgery alone, but here is where the magic of the fasting cure is shown. My files are full of records of different kinds of cancers which have been cured through fasting. These records are available to any medical society, doctor or layman.

Only to-day I re-examined a patient of mine who was cured of a breast cancer over one year ago. She had previously had one breast removed with a lump in it, which was afterwards declared to be cancerous. The same kind of a lump appeared in the other breast and when she came to me, it was about the size of a large walnut. This patient took a fast on fruit juices for about thirty days, during which time the cancerous lump was entirely absorbed and eliminated. The breast is now in perfectly normal condition and in a few months this forty-year old woman is to become a mother. It is reasonable to suppose that the other breast could have been saved by the same treatment.

Another case I can cite is that of a woman over sixty years of age who was told she had a stomach cancer which could not be operated upon. Fasting and a milk diet brought about a complete cure and now, at the end of two years, this patient is the picture of health, with no sign of her former trouble.

Another case which I re-examined the other day was cured of a breast cancer over three years ago and she has remained in perfect health ever since. This was accomplished by the fasting cure after the patient was advised that she would not live over three months if an operation were not immediately performed.

I predict that no better cure will ever be found for cancer for, even with the marvelous results from fasting, there will always be cases where the patient waits too long before starting the cure.

At the first sign of a cancerous growth, start the fruit fast immediately, and continue fasting and dieting until the growth has been absorbed. Readers are invited to send for more detailed instructions on the cure of cancer throughfasting.

Secretary Forgets Usual Golf Reply

NEW YORK, Aug. 8 (Canadian Press).—The New York Times says the response of the Prince of Wales to his formal introduction to Secretary of State Kellogg at Buffalo was, "I'm glad to meet you, Mr. Secretary, I hear you have been golfing. How's your game?"

"Fine," replied the American Minister, probably startled out of the time-honored reply of every golfer to that inquiry.

ODD INCIDENT IN ROYAL TOUR

Crowd at White River Fails To Recognize Princes and Premier.

MEDAL PRESENTED.

SCHRIEBER, Ont., August 9. — There is one spot in the wide Dominion of Canada where the Prince of Wales may pass unknown. During a five minutes stop of the Royal train at White River, the Princes and Premier Baldwin hurried down the platform, shaking hands and extending words of greeting. Flags flew overhead. There were answering smiles in some cases, puzzled looks, but not a cheer. Perhaps it was the clothes they wore which did it. Both had light flannel suits and possibly White River may have expected something more regal on the heir to the throne. Perhaps it was the informality of their manner, for there was nothing of ceremonial. Besides Mr. Baldwwin's staff were givin an attractive display of medicine ball down the platform. Whatever the cause they went unrecognized, the oddest incident of the tour.

Both the car of the two princes and that of Mr. and Mrs. Baldwin are gay with baskets of pansies grown along the line and sent aboard from Chapelau.

Greeted by Bull Moose.

As the Royal train carrying the Prince of Wales Prince George and Premier and Mrs. Stanley Baldwin swept through Northern Ontario yesterday a huge bull moose gave its greeting to the distinguished visitors. The train was rolling by a lake fringed with forest and woodland. Back along the track there had been a succession of children waving flags with here and there an Indian settlement joining in the welcome. The moose stood by the lake for a few moments, staring at the royal train as though challenging its invasion of his domain, and then disappeared.

At Chapleau a number of war veterans were at the station. The Prince of Wales and Premier Baldwin chatted with them for a few minutes before the train resumed its journey westward. Indian children from the Shingwak Home lined the platform.

At Calgary the Royal brothers bid au revoir to Mr. Baldwin and proceed to E. P. Ranch, where they will enjoy ranch life for five days before leaving for Vancouver.

The Royal special merely slowed down at Sudbury. The crowd on the platform cheered and waved as it went by

The Prince of Wales last night presented the Humane Societys Medal to a man who escaped death by much less than a second. He was Sergeant O'Brien of the C.P.R. investigation department stationed at Schreiber, where the presentation was made.

The story dates back to June 7th last when Mrs. Millie Woodcock of Webbwood Ont., intending to board an incoming train at Sudbury became confused and stepped in front of it. Sergeant O'Brien, who was the platform, seized her around the waist and lifted her bodily from the train's bath.

Dr. Otto Peltzer, the famous German runner who has held the world's half-mile championship, is a schoolmaster and a student of philosophy.

AT THE CAPITOL.

ALICE TERRY AND RAMON NOVARRO IN "LOVERS"

The Capitol has a very interesting programme for the first half of the week. Two of the screen's best-looking actors are featured in "Lovers?" and there is an extremely funny comedy and a Sportlight shows some of the stars of the screen in athletic moments. The favorites portrayed include Fairbanks and Mary Pickford, also the late Rudolph Valentino in a boxing episode.

"Lovers" is rather unusual in its theme. It shows the harm that may be done by slanderous gossip and, strangely enough, the gossips in this case are men, in a group of club room habitues who cook up a tale about a lovely married woman and her husband's handsome ward. The story is placed in Madrid, and the chief gossip-maker is the always notable villain, Roy D'Arcy, in the role of Senor Galdos. Alice Terry, as blondely beautiful as ever, is Felicia, wife of Don Julian, played by Edward Martindale, and Ramon Novarro is Julian's ward, Jose.

Don Julian hourly expects an appointment from the King, as ambassador to the United States, but the gossip engendered in the club goes a long way toward spoiling his chances. However, Jose leaves Don Julian's home, not, however, before the seed of suspicion has been implanted in the older man's mind. Julian is on the point of going to receive his appointment from the King, when a brawl in a cafe between Alvarez, one of the scandal-mongers, and Jose, leads to a challenge to combat. Julian hastens back to protect his wife by engaging with Alvarez himself, and Felicia, in the meantime, hearing the news, goes to try and persuade Jose to give up the idea of fighting. After her husband has been wounded, he comes to Jose's rooms and finds her there and at once believes what he has heard about his wife and his youthful ward.

One of the most thrilling hand to hand combats screened here for some time is the sword duel between Jose and Alvarez, its realistic atmosphere being so complete that the audience last night burst into repeated clapping when the younger man finally wounds his opponent mortally.

"Lovers?" ends satisfactorily for the two who have suffered most from scandal-mongers.—Jeanette.

LAWN BOWLING

Something new in bowling will be held at the Brock Street Greens tomorrow afternoon, beginning at 1.30. This will be a mixed tournament, the first to be ever held in the city, and is being looked forward to by members of both sexes as something really good.

Entries have been received by the secretary of the club from Tweed, Stirling, Campbellford, Cobourg, and Beaverton. This is the first time that Stirling and Beaverton have competed in the tournaments held in Peterborough. This mixed tournament promises good bowling, and should provide intense interest to the large crowd of spectators that usually attends the meets.

BUT——

CASTROL will give you 2,000 miles of superior service. There's a grade for every make of car, motorcycle and aeroplane. Consult your dealer's chart to-day.

THE need for changing oil at five to seven hundred mile periods is now eliminated. Wakefield CASTROL, the world-famous British owned oil, requires draining only after TWO THOUSAND miles of service. A saving of over half your oil costs!

It's the Castor Oil in CASTROL that makes the difference. Wakefield chemists possess the only successful formula for blending castor oil with mineral oil to retain the qualities and reject the disadvantages of each. The result is the most successful enemy of friction existing today. That's why the Royal Air Force, the British Army and Navy selected CASTROL as the best oil for the preservation of their engines.

CASTROL mixes with all other oils, but 100 per cent. efficiency is only obtained when CASTROL is used alone.

Start using CASTROL today and get the most from your motor. Consult the chart for your proper grade at one of these dealers. If your own dealer does not stock CASTROL, advise us.

Irish Hearts

By MOLLIE MALONE

Copyright 1927, Warner Bros. Pictures, Inc.

"IRISH HEARTS," with May McAvoy, is a Warner Bros. picturization of this novel.

SYNOPSIS

Emmett Murtough of Killanmaul, Ireland, emigrates to America and is followed by Sheila Kildare, to whom he is bethrothed, and her father. Sheila makes friends with the family of Rory O'Shea, a professional boxer whom Emmett scorns. Rory escorts Sheila to Coney Island and takes her for a motor trip. Emmett is jealous, but Sheila is beginning to see through the idle boasting of Murtough and is glad Murtough has evaded setting a date for their marriage.

CHAPTER VI—Continued

Sheila liked him; she knew that love could not come to her in a single meeting, but he was a decent homeloving boy, even if he was a prizefighter. Emmett Murtough scorned the O'Sheas. He was a frequent guest at the Kildare home, but Sheila came to look forward to his visits with apprehension. Always Emmett took occasion to assail the boxer, and, his sneers won Old Tom Kildare to his side in the arguments.

"Emmett is right," Old Tom would insist; "no decent girl could marry a pizefighter; an' no daughter of a Kildare will ever marry one, I tell ye!"

"But it isn't how a man earns his living that counts, father; it's the kind of a man he is inside. Mr. O'Shea is a good boy. He's good to his father an' mother, an' he's good to the children. He's a gentleman an' I don't care whether he fights in a prize ring or not!"

"Ye must be in love with him," sneered Emmett.

"I'm not in love with anybody, but he's been nice to me an' 'tis a shame for you, for you, father, to be running the lad down since the O'Sheas got you yer job."

"I suppose you have forgot Annie Finnegan an' the beating Finnegan gave ye!"

"I'm earning what I get an' 'tis not beholding a man is to the man he works for as hard as I do."

The defense that Sheila offered for Rory against the sneers of Murtough warmed her heart the more to young O'Shea and sometimes she wondered why Rory did not call upon her to take her out more frequently. It was when Sheila flounced from the kitchen where the three had been sitting that she heard the rap on the door.

"Come in, come in, Mr. O'Shea," she cried as she opened it.

"I can only stop for a minute," he said. "I come to ask you if you wouldn't want to go for a ride with me tomorrow evening. Tim is coming over with his car and he said I could use it. Will you come?"

"Gladly I will, Mr. O'Shea, an' thank ye for asking me."

"You know I go away to camp on Monday to get into training."

"You'll be gone long?"

"For two months, but you and your father can come over and see me. It's just a ways into Jersey. I guess he would like to see a training camp."

"I know I would, an' sure he'll come."

"Then I'll come and get you tomorrow about six and we'll have something to eat in the country some place."

"I'll be ready. Good-night."

The door hardly had closed when she heard Emmett cry loudly to her father:

"Ye'll be letting that scut take her out to the roadhouses? Oh, I've read about them in the papers an' the fellows at the Club have told me, where's there's gin an' whiskey drinking."

Sheila ran to the kitchen.

"Is it worse for me to go to a roadhouse as ye call it than it is for you and' father to be here drinking the same gin and whiskey?"

"A good girl can be safe any place, Emmett Murtough. An' 'tis yerself that knows it well, if ye remember the night ye forgot yerself with me."

"But I was only playing with ye." Murtough defended himself. He did not know whether Sheila ever had told her father or not of the escapade when he had tried to woo the fiery Sheila by force.

"Playing with me? Yes, ye were playing, just as ye had been playing with the girls on the Knockbotherum road. I suppose ye have forgot Annie Finnegan an' the beating Finnegan gave ye' the night ye rode like the divils were after ye away from Killanmaul?"

"There, there, Sheila, an' isn't that past an' forgot?" put in Old Tom.

"Maybe he has forgotten it, but I never have," answered Sheila bitterly. "An' what has he done since we came to New York after him to help us be a bit happy? Did he do anything to get ye a job, an' has he done anything for me?"

"He has told me he wants to marry ye, girl."

"Aye, an' make me a servant for the two of ye.' No, thank you, I'm willing to work an' to take care of you, father, but not anyone else."

"Wait till I make good an' you'll change yer tune," Murtough boasted. "I'm going to quit the department to attend to my private business."

"Private business! An' what will ye be living on?"

"That I'll not worry about, but there's big money ahead fer me; more than any 'has-been' prizefighter will ever make," Murtough added jealously.

"Enough of this," interrupted Old Tom. "Ye'r both squabbling like children. But, Sheila, I forbid ye to go out riding with that O'Shea."

"If I could take care of myself in Killanmaul against him," Sheila pointed to Emmett, "then I can take care of myself here in New York. I'm going with Mr. O'Shea an' I trust him in spite of all yer sayings against him."

And go Sheila did. It was sunset hour when they left the flat and Rory elected Riverside Drive, then east and north into Westchester where the Twin Oaks Inn snuggled on a beautiful lawn beneath huge trees. They spoke rarely the early part of the trip. Sheila had quarreled again with her father before leaving and her thoughts were confused. Rory, sympathetic with her silence, did not press her. He was too deep in wonderment over the future; the coming fight with Campeau, his hope of victory and what the purse would permit him to do, if he won. He halted the car far out on the Drive as the sun began to sink behind golden red clouds over the Palisades. He marked the shafts of sunlight that burst through and like bronze searchlights spent themselves in shimmering copper ripples on the breast of the river.

"'Tis too beautiful for all the world," whispered Sheila and in her moment of glory in the radiant picture her hand sought him. Rory let it lie without gesture on his part. His own Irish heart was drunk with the love for beauty which every true son of Erin possesses. It is a Celtic inheritance. Purple and gold and red and copper colors flung themselves across the heavens of white fleecy clouds and the blue of endless space until they spread even to the East like an inspired mural painting on the Bowl of the Potter which envelops the Earth and all creatures who inhabit it. And, the two who occupied the splendid motorcar offered simple thanks to that which had conceived this beauty for them.

As the sun became a crimson ball and disappeared Rory swung the car about and stepping on the gas he sped away to the northward. The enchantment was not broken but the scene they had left behind had cleansed the youth and the girl of all thoughts but of themselves and with its passing it had rationalized them into the ordinary human relationship.

Rory talked then. He knew the countryside. He told Sheila of Washington Irving and the Legend of Sleepy Hollow as they swept onward, for Rory had not wasted his years in high school though he had elected the prize ring for a career. And Sheila related the folk-lore stories of Killanmaul hills. These two then were no "pug and his moll" out for a joyride.

Twin Oaks is one of the really old fashioned inns that are situated to the north of the City. It has not yet succumbed to the fast smart crowd, nor can one wink at the headwaiter and be served with prohibited refreshments. The dinner is celebrated among those who enjoy good food. There is a small string orchestra and those who wish may dance. Sheila never had danced the modern steps, but Rory found her to be a ready pupil. It was a night to be remembered. Rory drove home slowly, and talked of his coming fight with Campeau.

REPORTS TO CITY COUNCIL

Fire, Water and Light.

The Fire, Water and Light Committee reported and recommended as follows:

That a report from the chief of the fire department recommending the installation of a number of hydrants be referred to the mayor and the chairman of this committee to report.

That the petitioners who asked for a hydrant south of the Canadian Pacific Railway freight shed be informed that the city does not place hydrants on private property and that a number of such hydrants are being paid for by other companies.

That the Act of the Legislature amending the act respecting the two platoon systems in fire departments be referred to the chairman of this committee for a report.

Board of Works.

The Board of Works reported and recommended as follows:

That a petition asking for a sewer on Centre street and a cinder path on that street be received and that the cinder path be constructed.

That the petitioners for the sewer on Centre street be written to and informed that the council cannot see its way to construct the sewer and that a cinder path will be laid.

That a report from the city engineer on a suggested sewer on the lane between Antrim and Smith streets be referred to the local Board of Health.

That notice be given of the intention of the council to construct a sewer as a local improvement on Reid street from the end of the present sewer south of McDonnel street southerly to a point thirty (30) feet north of Kirk street.

That a by-law be prepared to appoint each member of the police force a weed inspector.

That notice be given of the intention of the council to pave as a local improvement Charlotte street from the west side of the Monaghan road to the east side of the Monaghan road.

That the chairman be authorized to arrange with the Warren Bituminous Paving Company of Ontario, Limited, to pave the intersection of Charlotte street and the Monaghan road.

That Ontario Amiesite, Limited, be written to and asked when they will begin the work on their contracts for paving in this city and to answer at once.

Finance Committee.

The Finance Committee reported and recommended as follows:

That the city solicitor prepare an undertaking by the Canadian General Electric Company to pay for the paving in front of their office in five annual instalments with 5½ per cent. interest on deferred payments.

BUILDINGS RUINED BY SEVERE STORMS

NEWARK, N. J., Aug. 9. —(Canadian Press). — For the third time in as many weeks, New Jersey to-day was suffering from the effects of electrical storms which left floods and destruction in their wakes. The destruction by the latest, which began afternoon yesterday and continued intermittently late into the night, was caused mainly by lightning and high winds.

So strong was the gale in West Berlin that three homes were lifted from their foundations, the roofs of small buildings were blown off, and trees uprooted. No personal injuries were reported.

Fires started by lightning caused damage estimated at a hundred thousand dollars on the estates of Richard V. Lindabury and Reeve Schley. The blazes were confined to the barns, valuable farm machinery and many tons of hay being destroyed.

SITE SELECTED.

CHICAGO, Aug. 9. — (Canadian Press.) — Jack Dempsey and Gene Tunney will fight for the heavyweight championship on the fifty-yard line of the football gridiron of Soldiers' Field here. The site for the same was selected by Tex Rickard and other prominent boxing officials yesterday.

SINKING OF THE FAVORITE

Life guards, aided by Johnny Weismuller (arrow), famous swimmer, are shown helping to recover bodies from the excursion boat Favorite which sank in Lake Michigan near Lincoln park, Chicago. Twenty-six bodies were brought out of the boat after the disaster, but Eugene E. McDonald, Jr. (inset), wealthy radio manufacturer and a member of the Byrd-MacMillan Arctic expedition, reported there seemed a score of bodies still in the craft before she was raised. McDonald went down in a diving suit to explore the boat.

Uncle Wiggily

By Howard R. Garis

To-day's Bedtime Story

UNCLE WIGGILY AND KATY DID (Copyright, 1927, by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

"Unkie Wig, does 'oo know how to tie hair wibbons?" asked Baby Bunty of the nose twinkling rabbit gentleman in the hollow stump bungalow one day.

"Why, I think I could tie a hair ribbon if I tried very hard," answered Mr. Longears. "But I wish you would stop that baby talk, Bunty. You are getting to be a big rabbit girl now."

"Aw wite, Unkie Wig, I 'top baby talk!" lisped the mischievous little tyke, laughing as she still spoke some of it. "An' here's my hair wibbon," she went on, holding up one of a beautiful light green color.

"Say 'ribbon,' Bunty, if you please, and not 'wibbon,' my dear," chided Uncle Wiggily.

"All right, ribbon then! But please tie it behind my ears," she begged, and when this had been done Bunty hopped off toward the woods, saying:

"I'm going to look for adventures, with my green hair ribbon. Come on, Unkie Wig!" and she spoke no more baby talk.

Bunty ran after it

answered. And when he had found his red, white and blue striped rheumatism crutch, he followed the little bunny girl. But she hopped so fast that when Mr. Longears reached the forest Bunty was out of sight.

Now we shall see what happened to her, and then what happened to Uncle Wiggily. Bunty hopped along into a cool, dark part of the woods, and, all of a sudden, she noticed her green hair ribbon was gone.

"Oh, my goodness!" exclaimed the little orphan rabbit girl. "Who took my nice new, green hair ribbon?" and she put her paws to her head. "Who took my ribbon?"

Then from somewhere amid the trees a voice seemed to answer.

"Katy did! Katy did!"

"Oh, so Katy took my green hair ribbon, did she?" cried Bunty. "Well, I don't know who Katy is, but I wish she would give me back my ribbon. Are you sure she took it?"

Again a voice answered: "Katy did! Katy did!"

"Oh, there it is!" cried the little rabbit. "There's Katy now, with my ribbon she took. Katy! Katy! Come back with my ribbon!" Bunty begged.

But as the little orphan rabbit watched, she saw the green patch flutter away to another tree. And of course Bunty ran after it, calling:

But the voice answered:

"Katy did! Katy did!"

"I know you did," sighed Bunty. "I saw you go away. But will you please come back!" This time Katy did not reply, but seemed to go deeper into the forest and Bunty followed until at last the little rabbit girl was lost. She did not know which way to go to find Uncle Wiggily's hollow stump bungalow.

"Oh, dear!" sobbed the little orphan rabbit. "What am I going to do? My hair ribbon is lost and I am lost! Oh, dear!"

Then there sounded a rustling in the bushes. Baby Bunty looked up to see Uncle Wiggily hopping toward her. He had followed her through the forest.

"Oh, Uncle Wiggily!" sobbed Bunty. "I'm not lost any more, 'cause you have found me. But somebody took my green hair ribbon."

"Who did?" asked the rabbit gentleman.

"Katy did! Katy did!" suddenly trilled the same voice again. And then Bunty saw the flash of green and she cried:

"There she is! There's Katy now! She has my ribbon."

"Yes, that is Katy all right," chuckled Mr. Longears, "but she hasn't your hair ribbon. Come here, Katy, if you please!" And over toward the rabbit gentleman and little orphan flew a large, green bug, just the color of Bunty's hair ribbon.

"But she hasn't got it!" Bunty exclaimed, looking at the bug. "Why did she keep saying she did, she did, if she didn't take it."

"Because this bug is a Katy Did and the noise it makes, as a cricket calls sounds like the words Katy did," explained Uncle Wiggily. "No wonder you were lost, Bunty, following a green Katy Did bug through the woods, thinking it was your green hair ribbon!"

"Well, anyhow, I'm glad you found me," murmured Bunty. "Please take me home. I guess I'll never find my hair ribbon." But we shall see what happens in the next story, which will be about Uncle Wiggily and Katy Didn't. That is if the milk bottle doesn't fall down the steps and wake up the alarm clock.

ANCIENT BUILDING DEFIES LIGHTNING

MARMORA, Aug. 9.—What is regarded as the oldest barn in Marmora Township, a structure unquestionably a century old, was violently struck by lightning, yet without igniting, during the thunderstorm which visited this district in the past week. Sylvester Phillips, present owner of this interesting building, was amazed to find the other morning that its two plates had been dislocated, its gable end torn and a rafter broken in two and yet otherwise it stood unimpaired.

Interviewed by The Examiner, Mr. Phillips voiced the opinion that the current must have grounded near the horse stable which forms a part of the structure. He also mentioned that on account of its age, he was unable of recent years, to place insurance upon it. All his machinery was stored therein at the time of the storm, but none of it was damaged. The old barn (for there is a modern up-to-date one on his property) was erected by the first settled on that land, John Jones, a native of Merthyr Tydfil, South Wales. Prior to this, the said John Jones had been a furnaceman in Marmora. He was the grandfather of Llewellyn Jones, now seventy-seven years of age, from whom Mr. Phillips purchased part of his property some twelve years ago.

The barn is twenty feet by thirty feet in size. Its logs were neither hewn nor dovetailed, another indication of its age. It is situated on Lot 5 of the 8th Concession of Marmora Township, a little off the Madoc Road about four miles from Marmora. As far as is known, this is the first time for such an experience to befall it.

About two miles further along the same road is a log house quite eighty years old, concerning which the following humorous story is told.

A certain Mr. Pitchett who was shantying in the neighborhood, decided to put up this house, so he hired some Glengarry Scotchmen, who were fellow shantymen, to hew and dovetail it. Upon the completion of their task, he declined to give them their suppers. So that night, while he was asleep in the shanty—for he had not taken up residence—they stole back to the new dwelling and tore it down. Undaunted, this pioneer organized a bee among other neighbors and had it erected once more. It is on land now occupied by Mr. James Hammond.

SELLER OF COW IS NOT LIABLE

Judge Renders Verdict in Suit About Animals Dying of Tuberculosis.

BUYER COULD EXAMINE.

His Honor Judge Huycke has given judgment in a case of interest to farmers and others dealing in the sale of cattle.

The action was tried at Norwood, without a jury, the plaintiff claiming to recover the sum of $120.00 from the defendant, by way of damages, on the ground that the cow and calf bought by him for $120.00 were infected with tuberculosis at the time of sale, causing the death of the cow within a short time of the purchase, and that he was therefore entitled to recover back the amount of the purchase money.

"Buck vs. Richardson"

"This action arises out of the sale of a cow and calf by the defendant to the plaintiff. The cow died shortly after the transfer. The cause being tuberculosis.

"The claim is made on a threefold basis. First, on the ground of fraud by the defendant. Second, a warranty by the defendant. Third, under the Contagious Diseases Act. The onus is on the plaintiff to make out his case. The evidence is very contradictory and in view of the contradictions not very convincing. The claim fails on the basis of fraud, as it is not made out. Nor is there any expressed warranty of the cow by the defendant and of course there is no implied one.

"The defendant has also produced a certificate showing that the Contagious Diseases Act. referrable to animals has been amended by Order in Council, excepting tuberculosis from the diseases to which the Animal Contagious Diseases Act of 1923 is applicable. This, therefore, disposes of the plaintiff's claim, and he must fail.

"This result is to be regretted, but I must not forget that the plaintiff, although he says he made no specific examination himself before the sale, had every opportunity of doing so.

"I am inclined to believe that the parties are both innocent of any intentional wrong doing. This action must be dismissed, but it is not a case for costs, and no order is therefore made."

J. A. O'Brien appeared for the plaintiff, and F. D. Kerr, K.C., for the defendant.

HEIRS OF $50,000 WANTED IN TORONTO

TORONTO, August 9. — With two estates waiting to be disposed of because of their absence, renewed efforts are being put forth to find some trace of the whereabouts of Charles Kenneth Grey Kains and his son, George Kains, who mysteriously disappeared from their boarding-house in Toronto in May 1920, and have not been heard from since. The two men are heirs to about $50,000, and there is every reason to believe that they are alive.

Charles Kains, the elder of the missing pair, is a man 72 years of age. He was of a very quiet and retiring disposition, smoked a pipe almost incessantly and since moving to Toronto from St. Thomas, where he was employed in the Michigan Central Railway shops, had done but little actual labor.

The son, a man of about 45 years of age, was of a roving disposition, and sailed the lakes for a time. The supposition of the detectives, who have been following the case, is that the pair may have struck off together for some distant point, but the fact that neither has drawn on the fund created under the will of Mrs. Charles Kains, gives a mysterious turn to the case.

An attempt was made some time ago but without success to locate the landlady with whom the Kains lived for a considerable time in Toronto but she was found to have left the city.

FOR RESTLESS BABIES.
Warm weather is a trial to both mother and babe and the task of keeping the little one in perfect health is often very difficult. Probably the matter of proper food for the infant is of greatest concern to the average mother.
If you cannot nurse baby and it does not agin upon the breast milk give him Borden's Eagle Brand Milk—the food that has successfully reared hundreds of thousands of babies. Easy to prepare—just add boiled water as directed.
In this paper from time to time you will find an advertisement of Borden's Eagle Brand Milk, a food that has raised more healthy babies than all the prepared infant foods combined. Cut out the advertisement and mail it to The Borden Company Limited, Montreal, and they will send you, free of charge, instructions for feeding your baby, and a Baby Welfare Book and Baby Record Book. Or, just write the Company, mentioning this paper, and they will be sent.

LIVING IN STATES.

CHATHAM, Ont., Aug. 9.—Archie Hyatt, a much wanted Chatham young man, for whom the police of the province were conducting a diligent search a few weeks ago throughout western Ontario, has made the statement to his father that he was not in the country when the search was going on. It was reported that Hyatt was hit on the arm by an officer's bullet at a little railway station in Ontario but this Hyatt denies. To his father he bared his arms and body to show that there were no bullet wounds.

The father, Leslie H. Hyatt, insurance man of this city, received a message stating that his son was in a nearby American city and wished to see him. The elder Hyatt went to the city yesterday, met his son at an hotel, where he was registered under his own name, and talked to him for several hours.

During the course of the conversation the young man admitted that he had been in Tilbury. He had taken a car of liquor from Hamilton to Riverside for a friend, and on the way home through Tilbury he was recognized by a Tilbury police officer, who ordered him to stop. Hyatt claims that he had been doing nothing to deserve arrest, and he refused to stop. The police officer fired at the tires of his car but he got away.

He claims that from there he went direct to Hamilton over No. 3 Provincial Highway, returned the car to the proper owner that night, and at 2.30 the next morning boarded a train for Buffalo, and he has been in the United States ever since.

Was not Shot.

Hyatt says he was not in Ontario when the shooting took place and he certainly was not wounded in the arm or body. He also claims that he was not in the country when the petty thefts of which he was suspected, were committed. His statement also is to the effect that he was not present in Brantford when the shooting affray took place. Some of the young men in that affray used his name, but Hyatt says that he was not there.

Hyatt also told his father that he was married to a southern girl last Easter while he was in the South. He states that she is now on her way north to meet him in a certain American city, and they are going to settle down in a peaceful home of their own.

Yesterday the father received a letter from the new Mrs. Hyatt, in which she verified the story regarding the marriage and the intention of herself and her husband to establish a modest home.

Interest On Mine Market Shifts To Quiet Stocks

TORONTO, Ont., August 9 (Canadian Press). — Several stocks that have been quiet of late sprang into prominence on the market of the Standard Mining Exchange to-day, and held the centre of interest in place of the old favourites. Ribago led the market in activity with more than 78,000 shares changing hands. It held firm until near the noon close, when it eased two points to 32. Potter Doal was next most active, and it sold off 1½ points to 17½. Amulet was a strong feature, advancing seven points to 433. Area was active and weaker, easing 2½ points to 55. Teck Hughes was the feature of the divident paying gold stocks, with an upward movement of nine cents to 848.

Little Trading in Toronto Liquor Stocks Very Dull

TORONTO, Ont., August 9 (Canadian Press). — Trading took place on the market of the Toronto Stock Exchange to-day. The list was fairly broad, but the volume of business was small. International Nickel was the active leader, with transactions amounting to more than 900 shares. It sold up ⅝ to 64⅞. Barcelona recorded the widest gain, with an advance of 2½ points to 63½. F N. Burt was stronger at 61, a gain of ⅞. City Dairy, with one share changing hands, dropped 4½ points to 141. Davies A was active and firm to 40. Dominion Stores gained one point to 84½. British-American Oil was the most active of the oil stocks. It held firm at 26⅞. The liquor stocks were dull. Seagram dropped ½ to 22½. Walker was off ½ to 45¾, and Gooderham & Worts declined ½ to 47½.

Recovery In Prices On Wall Street To-day

NEW YORK, Aug. 9 (Canadian Press). — Impressive recoveries in prices took place in today's stock market, indicating that the corrective reaction underway since last Saturday had been completed. Pools, influenced by a continuation of easy money rates and a plentiful supply of funds, marked up more than a dozen issues to new high levels. "Bear" traders, who had sold stocks freely in the last few days, stimulated the advance with their covering operations, particularly in Baldwin and other issues which command a premium in the "stock loan" crowd.

Outside the stock market, the chief speculative interest centered in the farther advance of $5 or more a bale in cotton futures and the establishment of a new high record for the year by sterling exchange.

Bethlehem Steel was again a leader in the industrial section, crossing 61 to the highest price since 1923. A five-point jump in American Linseed was predicted on the belief that the company was about to retire $1,000,000 in six per cent notes. Renewed strength and activity in General Motors was associated with prospects of special dividend action, and a possible stock split up, at Thursday's meeting of the board of directors. Collins and Aikman, Dupont, Timken Roller Bearing, and Case Threshing also were prominent in the early afternoon rally.

Wheat Prices Go Down On News From Canada

CHICAGO, August 9 (Canadian Press). — Indications that damage from frost in Canada is less severe than was supposed gave an early setback to wheat prices to-day. Profit-taking on the part of yesterday's buyers was a feature. Opening at ¼ cent decline to ⅜ cent advance, wheat later showed a moderate general drop, but also displayed power to rally. Corn, oats, and provisions were relatively firm, corn starting ⅜c off to 1⅜c up, and subsequently holding near to yesterday's finish.

Opening prices were:

Wheat — September 149¼, December 146⅜.

Corn — September 112, December 117⅞.

Oats — September 48⅜, December 52⅝.

Tanks of Levine's Plane Filled For Flight To New York.

PARIS, August 9 (Canadian Press). —The gasoline tanks of the monoplane Columbia, which already has received the distinction of flying from New York to Germany, were filled to the limit to-day, and the plane was all set to start on the return flight to New York whenever the weather man says "go." The weather at present is unpropitious.

WEDDING BELLS.

HOWLAND— GLADMAN

A quiet wedding was solemized today when Marjorie Juliet daughter of Mr. George Goodwin Gladman and the late Mrs. Gladman, became the bride of Mr. Lucien Russell Howland of Toronto.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Canon F. J. Sawers of Toronoto in the spacious living room, which was beautifully decorated for the occasion with gladioli, sweet peas, and ferns. Stately hollyhocks, and cathedral candles formed an appropriate back ground.

Two little cousins of the bride and groom, Margaret Lundy and Ruth Kingan, preceding the bride, formed an aisle with white satin ribbons. They were daintily frocked in shell pink georgette, and carried baskets of blue forget-me-nots.

The bride, who was given away by her father, looked charming in a gown of moonglow crepe, with rose point lace, pearls and orange blossoms. She wore a bandeau of pearls and carried a bouquet of roses and lily of the valley.

Miss Muriel Gladman, sister of the bride, was bridesmaid. She was gowned in a period frock of rose taffeta, with picture hat of black satin, and carried an arm bouquet of pink and mauve sweet peas. Mr. Milton Howland, brother of the groom, acted as best man, and Miss Eileen Morrow played the wedding march.

After the ceremony, a buffet luncheon was served in the drawing-room. Mr. and Mrs. Howland left later on a trip to the Pacific Coast, the bride travelling in a beige georgette frock, powder blue coat and hat to match.

On their return they will reside in Toronto.

FAIL TO START BRITISH FLIERS OWING TO ADVERSE WEATHER

Courtney Announces Start Will Be Postponed For 24 Hours.

EVERYTHING IN READINESS.

First Stage of Hop Will Be From Calshot to Valentia, Ireland.

SOUTHAMPTON, Eng., Aug. 10.—(Canadian Press).—Owing to adverse wind reports, Capt. Frank T. Courtney, decided this morning that he would not make the attempt to fly to Valentia, Ireland, on the first lap of his trans-Atlantic flight. He had been studying the weather conditions since three o'clock at which time his flying boat, "Whale" was made ready for the hop as he expected to get away about 6.30 a.m.

Courtney announced that the start would be postponed for 48 hours owing to adverse weather.

DUBLIN, Ireland, Aug. 10 (Canadian Press).—Army headquarters last night confirmed reports that Captain Frank T. Courtney, British aviator, planned to start this morning from the aviation field at Calshot for Valentia, Ireland, on the first stage of his projected trans-Atlantic flight.

Two Saorstat army planes, flown by Captains Fitzmaurice and Crossley were scheduled to leave Baldonnell at dawn to meet and escort him to Valentia.

It is learned that Courtney expects to reach Valentia in about four hours and hopes to proceed for Newfoundland immediately after re-fuelling. He will be accompanied seaward for about 40 miles by Captains Fitzmaurice and Crossley.

News has been received here that Colonel F. F. Michin and Captain Leslie Hamilton expect to arrive at the Baldonnell airdrome August 17, for their proposed flight to Ottawa. They intend to start from Clifden, Ireland, and refuel at the Baldonnell field at Valentia. They hope, on reaching Ottawa to re-fuel there and make a return flight to Vienna in an attempt to break the world's non-stop record.

Fair Weather

NEW YORK, Aug. 10 (Canadian Press).—Captain F. T. Courtney, British aviator, expected to hop off Wednesday morning on a flight from England to the United States, will have fairly good weather across most of the Atlantic between Ireland and Newfoundland, the weather bureau said last night.

However, a bureau attache said, it is quite possible that he will run into a storm before he reaches Newfoundland. This storm is the one that struck New York and vicinity Monday and which, he added, was last reported passing out to sea off Newfoundland.

The scarcity of reports from ships prevented a more complete report of conditions over the Atlantic, although it was known that the weather between here and Newfoundland was "not so good."

DESSAU, Germany, August 10. — Excitement throughout Germany reached fever heat yesterday when rumors became current that the French fliers might hop off at any minute for America. For a time there was a tendency on the part of the Junkers Company to keep secret regarding the details of the flight to New York planned by Johann Risticz and Cornelius Edzard in the Europa and by Friedrich Loose and Herman Kochl in the Bremen, but since the German citizens see no advantage in this sort of tactics the barriers of secrecy have been battered down by popular opinion.

At a press conference last night the Junkers spokesman made an official announcement that the trans-Atlantic flight will not be undertaken before Saturday. This postponement is chargeable to the fact that Herr Koehl has not yet fully recovered from the effects of the gas fumes by which he was overcome during the short flight last week when he and Herr Loose tried for the endurance record. Physicians believe Herr Koehl will be fully recovered and able to start the trip Saturday.

The Electrolux Manufacturing Company yesterday offered an additional 50,000 marks for the first German flier to cross the Atlantic.

Every train brings huge quantities of letters from all points in Europe to Dessau's postmaster. Men, women, girls, boys, grandmas, grandpas, the butcher, the baker and the candlestick marker all are begging the popular official to get their letters on either America-bound plane as the first official post to be carried from Germany to America by air.

Each plane will carry ten kilograms or twenty-two pounds and these amounts were long ago in hand at Dessau postoffice. Despite notices that the mail is closed, letters and postcards continue to pour in in the hope they will be forwarded. The Postmaster has even proposed that an additional plane be sent to America for the express purpose of carrying excess mail.

Since letter weighing twenty grams or less cost $6 in postage and postcards $3 each, the Government will receive not less than $150 per pound. A plane with two pilots and no passenger could carry 220 pounds of mail, paying the Government $26,000 for the flight.

British Premier Adds To Pipe Collection

BRANDON, Man., Aug. 10. — By the Staff Correspondent of The Canadian Press).—Premier Stanley Baldwin, who is famous, among other things, for his collection of pipes, has added a pipe of peace to his treasure. So far he sticks to the old favorite he has made familiar at dinner and luncheon, but should he change to the new, it will create a greater commotion than when Mr. Baldwin addressed the Montreal Canadian Club in his shirt sleeves.

The latest addition to the Premier's collection is an Indian pipe of stone bowl and wooden stem, adorned with eagle feathers such as, in days gone by, Indians smoked in war, peace and trade. It was among the Indian souvenirs presented to Mr. and Mrs. Baldwin at Winnipeg.

LIBRARY WINS SECOND PRIZE

Offered For Arrangement of Canadian Books By MacMillan Company.

JUBILEE COMPETITION.

A short time ago the Macmillan Publishing Company of Canada offered prizes of various amounts to the public libraries throughout the Dominion for the best and most artistic display of books by Canadian authors published by this firm in Canada. The competition was entitled: "The Macmillan Confederation Jubilee Canadian Book Display Competition."

The Peterborough Library entered the contest and word has just been received that it was awarded the second prize of twenty-five dollars. A cheque for that amount accompanied the letter.

This is a fine record for the Library and reflects credit on the artistic taste of the staff as well as shows that Canadian authors are not neglected by those who have the selecting of the reading matter.

MORE PLANES FOR AIR SCHOOL

Five Arrive in City This Morning—Needed For Solo Flights.

FORTY TAKING COURSE.

Five more aeroplanes arrived for Captain Ayres via C.P.R. freight this morning. Mr. Ayres, in speaking to The Examiner this morning, stated that many of his students are now taking solo flights, and so the new planes are necessary.

His enrolment is now forty.

FINAL HEARING AT NOON TO-DAY

Judge Will Hear Defence Exceptions To Refusal of Writ.

SACCO-VANZETTI CASE.

BOSTON, Aug. 10. —(Canadian Press). — Justice George Sanderson, of the State Supreme Court, to-day notified Arthur Hill, chief counsel for Sacco and Vanzetti, and Attorney A. K. Reading that he would hear at noon to-day arguments on defense exceptions to his refusal to grant a writ of error. Completing their notice of appeal given yesterday, counsel filed a formal bill of exceptions this morning.

THE WEATHER

The lowest temperature last night was 53 degrees, and the highest yesterday 75. Days or nights with oppressive heat have been very few this summer. Reports of serious damage to crops in the prairie provinces during recent nights are evidently circulated by speculators as the official figures show temperatures well above the freezing point. Fine and clear weather prevails all over the continent at present as shown by radio reception last night, which came in remarkably clear and with great volume, from the southern states and the far west—W.P.

Slaying Attempt Jails Film Actress

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 10.—Irene Preston, film actress, who says she is the daughter of a surgeon in the court of Czar Nicholas before the Bolshevik uprising, today was charged with attempting to commit murder as the result of a shot fired at her husband, Ygor Presniakoff, picture actor, said to have been a former officer in the Russian Imperial Guards.

PLANE CRASHES, KILLING TWO

Airship Bursts Into Flames, Causing Death To Two.

ENTERED IN BIG FLIGHT.

SAN DIEGO, Calif., Aug. 10. — (Canadian Press). — Lieutenants George Covell and R. W. Waggener, United States Navy who left here to-day in an aeroplane they had entered in the dole flight to Honolulu, were killed when the ship crashed into Point Loma, near here.

Less than fifteen minutes after they hopped off to the North Island for their flight to the Oakland Airport, the aviators, crashed to the ground, near the end of Point Loma their plane immediately bursting into flames and causing death of the two. The plane was entered in the dole flight to Honolulu. Word of the crash was sent to North Island Naval Air Station and rescue party left at once. A Marine Detachment was also hurried to the scene. The flames from the plane set fire to the surrounding bush and a call was sent to a fire company at Ocean Beach.

BRITISH LABOR FACES PROBLEM

Likely To Leave Amsterdam International—May Break With Soviets.

MEETING NEXT MONTH.

LONDON, August 10. — (British United Press). — When the Trade Union Congress assembles in Edinburgh on September 5th, the main business will be defining its attitude towards the union of Soviet Socialist Republics.

The rejection of A. A. Purcell as chairman of the International Federation of Trades Unions is likely to lead to the complete withdrawal of the British Unions from the Amsterdam International.

The question then to be faced will be whether the British Unions are going to throw in their lot with the Soviet or confine their International activities to the International Labor Office at Geneva.

CHAIR READY FOR RADICALS

Seven Year Fight Will End Tonight Unless Respite Granted.

WORLD-WIDE BATTLE.

BOSTON, Aug. 10. —(Canadian Press) — Nicola Sacco and Bartolemo Vanzetti awoke to-day to face what presumably was their last day of life. Unless Governor Alvan Fuller and his council decide to grant them an eleventh hour respite, or their counsel can succeed in their last minute legal strategy, the seven year fight of the condemned men to escape the electric chair will come to a dramatic end shortly after midnight.

The electric chair at Charlestown State Prison, its straps freshly oiled and its electrodes brightly burnished, waited to claim the two adjudged murderers whose cause, sponsored by the radicals of every nation, has become known throughout the world.

OTTAWA TO STAY STRICTLY ALOOF IN SACCO CASE

Matter Regarded as Purely United States' Domestic Affair.

NO PRECAUTIONS ASKED.

Resentment Over Walter Muir Case, Three Years Ago Recalled.

OTTAWA, Ont., August 10 (Canadian Press). — The Government of Canada will not be drawn into the international radical outburst against the execution of Sacco and Vanzetti in Massachusetts this week.

"The matter is entirely one of internal administration of justice by the United States," is the official attitude here. "The men involved are not of Canadian or British citizenship and Canada has not even an indirect interest in the case."

Suggestion that Canada would be urged to protest the execution at once recalled the resentment of Canadians when semi-official and private efforts were made by United States citizens to halt the hanging of Walter Muir, bootlegger and murderer, at St. Johns, Que., three years ago.

Not Forwarded.

Protests of radical organizations in Canada since Governor Fuller refused to intervene in the carrying out of the sentence have not been forwarded to the Government. Where they have been delivered to the United States consular representatives in Canada, they were forwarded to the United States Minister, and will probably be sent along to Washington.

The Mounted Police have not been asked to assist in precautions against last-minute demonstrations in favour of the condemned men, and little, if any, trouble is anticipated in this country.

Bombing In Buenos Aires

BUENOS AIRES, Aug. 10. —(United Press) — A bomb exploded at the side entrance of the Palace of Justice about 3 a.m. to-day. No one was hurt. Damage was slight. A small bomb exploded about midnight in the Velez Sarsfield Station of the Great Western Railroad. No one was injured and there was no damage.

An unexploded bomb was found under the bridge which crosses over the Great Southern Railway lines just out side Buenos Aires. All municipal employees with the exception of hospital, cemetery, lighting plant, and first aid staff were called out to-day to join other workers in a 24 hour general strike as a manifestation of sympathy for Sacco-Vanzetti. City wide demonstrations were planned.

Girl Leads Rioters.

CHICAGO, Ill., Aug. 10. —(United Press) — An 18-year-old High School Girl paced her cell at Police quarters to-day shouting she was an anarchist after having been arrested while leading thousands of shouting Sacco-Vanzetti sympathizers through the streets last night. It is the girl who brought chaos to an orderly Sacco-Vanzetti protest meeting.

As the meeting ended she dashed to the street shouting "General strike" General Strike."

With the girl, Aurora Dangella, at the lead, the crowd surged into the street and marched along shouting the "International" and appealing for a general strike. For a few blocks the protest parade was orderly Then a motor car was ripped and torn by the crowd. A street car was boarded and the girl slapped the motor man.

One small police motor car attempted to stop the parade but its passage was blocked. Additional police motor cars swept into the tide of shouting enthusiasts and tear gas bombs were unloosed into the crowd. The gas bombs caused the crowd to disperse and fifteen of the leaders, including the 18-year-old girl were arrested.

Abie's Irish Rose Passes All Records

NEW YORK, August 10 (Canadian Press). — Abie's Irish Rose the play by Anne Nichols, which opened in 1922, was yesterday in possession of a new world endurance record. Last night it gave its 2,239th performance, one more than the previous record which was held by Chu Chin Chow. The play will be continued until public demand decreases.

POSSIBILITY OF NEW REPRIEVE FOR RADICALS

Governor Fuller Announces He Has "Taken Under Advisement" Plea For Stay.

BAR OUTSIDERS.

Belated New Plea Will Be Given Careful Consideration By Council.

BOSTON, August 10. Canadian Press. — The possibility of a new respite for Nicola Sacco and Bartolomeo Vanzetti, loomed large last night, when Governor Alvan T. Fuller announced that he had "taken under advisement" the plea of Attorney Arthur D. Hill, of defense council, for a further stay of execution.

At the same time it was announced from the state house that the regular meeting of the governor's executive council ,which had been set for Thursday, had been advanced to to-day. If a new respite is granted the Governor must act "by and with the advice of his council," and the hastening of the council meeting gave rise to the belief that the new plea for a further respite will be given careful consideration.

Made in Person.

Attorney Hill made his plea for further respite in person before the Governor late yesterday afternoon, basing his appeal on the ground that legal action to prevent the execution of the two men, now scheduled for some time after expiration of their present respite at midnight to-night, was still pending before the State Supreme Court.

The new move on which Attorney Hill based his plea to the Governor was made in the State Supreme Court, where defense counsel yesterday filed an appeal to the full bench from the decision of Justice Sanderson Monday in refusing to grant a writ of error. Justice Sanderson will announce this forenoon whether he will permit this appeal to go before the full bench.

Previously in the Superior Court Judge Webster Thayer, who after a hearing Monday rejected a petition for a new trial, yesterday disposed of other defense motions in his court by refusing to revoke the death sentence or to grant a stay of execution.

Exceptions to these rulings also were noted by defense counsel, and will be carried to the state Supreme Court. With these two possible moves still left in the State Courts Attorney Hill stressed the fact that he still has recourse to three federal courts—District Circuit and Supreme—and that he intends to take his fight there if the state courts render adverse decisions.

Meanwhile preparations for the execution sometime after midnight to-night, went forward quietly within the prison at Charlestown

For the actual execution there remains little to be done. More than a week ago the chair in which the two will be executed was made ready. Straps were oiled and adjusted and the apparatus gone over. Some time before the hour when the men are to die the state executioner will make a final inspection but his visit will probably be secret.

The preparations for the most part were precautionary. Yesterday visitors found it as easy as usual to enter the prison yard but to-day admission will be more difficult. The number of guards already more than normal will be increased and only those having important business will be shut off and to-night no one but those who can pass the muster of the guards will get near.

Machine guns will be mounted on the walls. Yesterday several searchlights were taken into the warden's office and it is expected that these will be placed at points upon the walls from which they can command the surrounding streets

Refuse Food

Within their cells in the death house Sacco and Vanzetti prepared to pass what may be their last full night on earth in a manner no different from those that have gone by since they were transferred to the death row. Neither ate the food that was offered him.

In an adjoining cell Celestino Madeiros, sentenced to die with them, though for another crime, lay upon his cot, except when the meals were brought, when he arose to eat. For him there has been no hunger strike. Sacco has not eaten in more than three weeks. Vanzetti has fasted much of the time but has eaten occasionally.

Mrs. Rose Sacco wife of Nicola, paid her daily visit to the condemned men yesterday.

Expert sure of Guilt.

BOSTON, August 10. — Major Calvin H. Godard of New York City, a consultant in the identification of bullets, made a test of the 'fatal' bullet in the Sacco-Vanzetti case, which convinced him that it was fired from the pistol found on Sacco. He so reported to Governor Fuller, and the Advisory Committee during the course of their investigation.

The circumstances of the test and the report itself were made public yesterday by the Boston Transcript, which further reveals a controversy regarding the examination of the bullet.

The results of the test were so convincing according to the Transcript, that an expert who had in 1923 made an affidavit that he did not believe the fatal bullet was fired by Sacco's gun, severed his connection with the defence.

Ducking Kills Girl Warrant Out For Man

ST. LOUIS Aug. 10. —A warrant for the arrest of an unnamed man was issued to-day by Coroner Bopp. It charged him with the death of Miss Dorothy Woolford, whom he is accused of ducking in the Meremac River. The coroner's report charged that after the man had ducked Miss Woolford, he made no attempt to save her when she did not reappear. Her body was recovered four hours after.

ROYAL PARTY IS NEAR RANCH

TALK WITH FARMERS.

CALGARY, Aug. 10. —(Canadian Press). — After days of travel across the Prairies of Western Canada through ripening grain fields which skirt tracks, His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales, H. R. H. Prince George, Prime Minister Baldwin, and Mrs. Baldwin, with the official party, were nearing Calgary early this morning prairies, the Princes and Premier showed the greatest interest in the country and people, and at every train stop chatted cordially with the scores of agriculturists and country folk gathered on the station platforms.

From the time the Royal special left Winnipeg yesterday long into the night cheers greeted the distinguished visitors as they journeyed westward, with little groups gathered at the wayside stations shouting their greetings to the Princes and the distinguished statesman.

MORE AT WORK IN BRITAIN NOW

Depression in Some Industries Offset By Prosperity of Others.

WAGES ARE HIGHER.

LONDON, Aug. 10. —(Canadian Press). — Premier Baldwin's recent dictum that Great Britain was "far from finished" is supported by figures published to-day showing that despite the depression in certain industries there are 1,150,000 more men employed now than in 1922, and that wages in actual values are higher than at any time before the war.

The reason Britain is able to recover from strikes and depression is that the younger and more highly skilled trades and industries are flourishing and not suffering the stagnation under which the old staple industries are labouring.

TAINTED ICE CREAM CAUSES EPIDEMIC

BATH, Eng., Aug. 10. —(Canadian Press). — An epidemic that is supposed to have resulted largely from the consumption of tainted ice cream has affected more than three hundred people in Bath, Somerset, and the surrounding district. The majority of those who are ill are children. One child has already died.

Sweet Peas Stem Has Seven Blooms

Robert Haddow, of 573 Homewood avenue, when he was picking his sweet peas to-day came upon one stem with seven blooms on it.

This is considered by florists as being a most extraordinary thing, as usually only four blossoms are found on one stem. This bloom was of the Spencer variety.

EFFORTS TO PROTECT MAKERS OF TOMBSTONES ARE REPORTED

More Protests

Protests came from nearly all over the civilized world to save Sacco and Vanzetti on this, the last scheduled days of their lives. The protests were mostly peaceful.

France, Ireland, and Canada reported meetings marked by good order.

In Havana and Santo Domingo the American Legations were guarded.

Governor Fuller's reply to their request for a delay of execution was not expected until late in the day. Their counsel was promised consideration at midday by the Supreme Court of the State on a plea of errors.

Sacco refused to sign the petition for a writ of habeas corpus. Vanzetti, however, signed it.

BUS COMPANY NAME SETTLED

NOT "BORDER CITIES."

In reference to the statement quoted by The Examiner in which a local business man suggested that the company operating the street busses of the city, should be called by a name suggestive of Peterborough rather than the Border Cities, a telegram has been received from Frank J. Mitchell, president of the firm, who points out that the concern is registered under the title, Border Transit Company, and not Border Cities Company, as The Examiner's correspondent assumed.

DECISION HELD TILL TOMORROW

SACCO REFUSES TO SIGN.

BOSTON, Aug. 10 (Canadian Press).—The possibility that the execution of Nicola Sacco and Bartoleomo Vanzetti might be postponed from early tomorrow morning was seen when Judge Sanderson of the Supreme Court announced today that he would not give his decision until tomorrow morning on the move by defence counsel. He is to decide whether he shall permit a bill of exceptions from his refusal to grant writs of error and habeas corpus to go to the full bench of the Supreme Court. Governor Fuller, however, had made no announcement of his decision on the petition for a stay of execution.

Nicola Sacco today refused to sign the petition for a writ of habeas corpus, which Alfonso Gagliolo, attorney associated with the Sacco-Vanzetti Defence Committee, submitted to him at the State prison. Gagliolo, accompanied by a notary public and a lawyer associated with the defence committee, said, after coming from the death house, that Sacco had become angry when the petition was shown him, had denounced the courts, and had exclaimed: "They have crucified me for the last seven years. I will have no more to do with them."

Vanzetti, the lawyer said, had seemed pleased at the idea of a petition and had signed readily.

ENNISMORE SOCIAL THURSDAY, AUG. 18TH

A Fine Community Affair at Which City and Country Folk Fraternize Freely.

The annual social held under the auspices of St. Martin's church, Ennismore, will be held this year on Thursday, August the 18th.

This fowl supper and social has become a fine community affair, not only in the township of Ennismore, but in the surrounding district and the City of Peterborough.

A great many people meet their friends and acquaintances and have a most enjoyable time.

Customs Committee of Association of Memorial Craftsmen Gives Report.

AT CONVENTION HERE.

Monumentless Cemeteries Becoming Common, Says Speaker, Urging Fresh Efforts.

The annual summer convention of the Ontario Association of Memorial Craftsmen began its sessions at the Empress Hotel yesterday afternoon at 2.30 o'clock, with the president, Thomas Pryde of Exeter, in the chair.

Alderman G. A. Macdonald, in the unavoidable absence of His Worship Mayor Holloway, welcomed the visitors to the city. "I can assure you," stated Mr. Macdonald, "that it is with great pleasure that I welcome this convention to Peterborough, and trust that you may have the best time possible; to have every freedom, including," humorously remarked Mr. Macdonald, "police protection. It is fourteen years since your convention was held in our city, but we hope you will return for another in Peterborough in the very near future."

H. S. McLeod, in responding to Alderman Macdonald's cordial welcome, remarked that the convention as a whole was glad to return to this city for their summer meeting, for the last one fourteen years ago was still recalled with pleasant memories of the city and its citizens. Speaking on the aims of this convention Mr. McLeod stated that they were trying to put forth great efforts to educate themselves and others in making cemeteries beautiful; to clear up wayside cemeteries of the province—working to make these castaside cemeteries, as it were, into beauty spots of rest and contentment for the living and the dead.

William Edwards, chairman of the executive committee, in giving his report, stated that due to the efforts of Mr. Loveday, much had been accomplished throughout the year, and that the grievance committee handled by H. S. McLeod had been excellent. In concluding, Mr. Edwards said that on the whole all the committees had done good work during the past year.

Reports Presented

In a report on the district committees it was stated that great success had been attained through the untiring efforts of E. J. Young and R. C. Carbine, auditors of the association. A splendid forward movement had been going on in Toronto, Chatham and other cities.

The following is the report of M. G. Wardell, chairman of the customs committee:

"To prevent undervaluation and also to prevent the possibility of foreign manufacturers shipping goods into Canada, which might get the buyer in Canada into difficulties with the Customs Department, it was decided that some method should be developed which would enable local appraisers for the Customs Department to determine the fair market value for finished granite in the countries from which the various shipments were made.

"Immediately after the appointment of the customs committee several meetings were held and considerable time spent in working out a

HAMBURG-AMERICAN LINE PLAN TRANS-ATLANTIC AIR SERVICE BETWEEN GERMANY AND STATES

Planes To Carry 170 Passengers—Fitted With Ten Motors.

WEIGHT IN WINGS.

Fuselage Abolished in Rumpler Cruiser Designed To Make Great Speed.

BERLIN, August 10. — A regular trans-atlantic air service with giant planes capable of carrying 170 persons, is to be opened between Hamburg and New York early next spring by the Hamburg-American Line, it was learned last night from a reliable source. The banking firm of Warburg and Co., is said to be backing the project.

Rumpler super-cruisers are to be employed. They will be fitted with ten motors of 1000 horsepower each, capable of a speed of 200 miles per hour. Including two intermediate landings the trip will not require more than 24 hours.

Dr. Edmund Rumpler, who is one of Germany's foremost airplane designers, said last night that he was not at liberty to give any information for the next two or three days, but intimated that negotiations for the service were progressing.

Dr. Rumpler's design is a radical departure in that the weight will be carried in the wings and the plane will have no fusilage. Passengers will have commodious staterooms in the forward wing, separated from the motor rooms by a corridor. In the wing spread, which is slightly more than 100 yards, there will be space for 135 passengers and a crew of 35, besides space for freight and mail of five or six tons. The entire plane when carrying a capacity load will weigh approximately 143 tons.

Kept Secret.

The plans were drawn up by Dr. Rumpler six years ago but owing to criticism of the whole thing as fantastic, he kept it a secret until two years ago, when the development of air traffic gave people the vision to understand his project. Germany's foremost aeronautical engineers now endorse Dr. Rumyler's idea as well as his method of carrying weight. He says it is wrong to attach wings to weight and that the right method is to put weight in wings Pontoons will contain fuel and also support the machine in the water.

The inventor's trouble was to find funds with which to finance his project and it was not until Lindbergh, Chamberlin and Byrd demonstrated that trans-ocean flights could be made did big transportation companies and financiers show deep interest.

It is understood that the work of construction will begin immediately, and that tests on the first machine can be made before the end of the present year.

WINNIPEG GRAIN

WINNIPEG, Mon., Aug. 10.—(Canadian Press). —Warmer weatehr reported from Prairie district, eliminating the fear of dangerous frosts, was responsible for lower grain prices here yesterday. Only one district, Outlook, Sask., reported slight frost on Monday night and yesterday's forecast predicted favorable weather conditions for Wednesday.

Wheat closed ¾c to 1c lower, with October at $1.50⅝; and December at $1.46¾ while coarse grains declined sharply.

In the first two minutes of trading wheat prices broke 2c to 2¼c, but an expectedly good demand developed in the first hour which carried prices back to within a fraction of the previous close. The buying was not sustained however, and values eased off. Trade volume in the coarse grains was small, and selling pressure was pronounced at times.

Millers were fairly good buyers of cash wheat but the offerings were light and in firm hands. Export sales Monday amounted to 1,600,000 bushels.

New Brunswick Man Faces Murder Charge

PRESQUE ISLE, Maine, Aug. 10 (Canadian Press).—John Cox, of Bath, N.B., arrested here and taken to Woodstock, N.B., will be given a preliminary hearing before Magistrate Bramley at Bath, Friday, on a charge of murder, Sheriff Tompkins of Carelton County, NB., stated yesterday. He is alleged to have poisoned Cornelius Cox, his uncle, an elderly man, who was ill and being cared for by him. The uncle, who willed his property to the accused relative, died very suddenly recently, and after interment certain circumstances aroused a suspicion of foul play.

The body was exhumed and it was alleged Paris green was found in the stomach. It was also alleged that John Cox had borrowed some Paris green of a neighbor before his uncle died, and this led to his arrest. He came to Presque Isle after the funeral and was working in a livery stable here when taken into custody.

GOOD WEATHER FOR RIPENING

All Grains Are Maturing Rapidly in Western Provinces.

SOME CUTTING BEGUN.

WINNIPEG, Man., Aug. 10.—Fine and moderately warm weather during the day with cool nights has proven favorable and all grains are maturing rapidly according to reports reaching the Agricultural Department of the Canadian Pacific Railway here. Apart from some evidence of rust infection, principally in Southern Alberta, and hail in Saskatchewan, there is scarcely a break in the favorable reports upon the outlook of all grains. Pasturage is abundant and hay heavy, clover and other fodder crops are benefitting the live stock situation with cattle moving to the markets somewhat earlier than usual. Some cutting of early wheat and barley has begun, but this will not become general until August 20 or 25 in the southern parts of the provinces and a week later in the northern areas.

Manitoba—A week of favorable weather, non conductive to the extension of rust, which is manifest in part of the province, advanced crops splendidly with some wheat and barley cutting in progress. Damage by rust can only be determined by the experience of the next two weeks. Within a fortnight harvesting should become fairly general. Rain would benefit some districts and help in filling out the grain. The general situation is, however, quite promising. The abundant feed crops will enable live stock to go into winter quarters with more fodder ahead than in many years.

Saskatchewan—Apart from severe hail storms on Friday and Saturday last, weather conditions have been favorable. Rye cutting is general but wheat and other grains will not be ready until either the third or the last week of August although some, earlier sown, will be ready within the next week. The districts hailed August 5 and 6 are: Tributary to Oxbow and Glen Ewen, Estevan subdivision, an area of about twenty square miles, the loss is variously estimated at from twenty to one hundred per cent. At Carlevale—a strip half a mile to a mile wide and ten miles long, the loss is estimated at approximately 50 per cent. At Tompkins, Maple Creek subdivision, north of the village, a strip of 3,500 acres was hailed with a total loss reported. Scotsguard, in the Shaunavon subdivision 3,500 acres are reported damaged beyond recovery. Frontier, in the Notuku subdivision, a strip three miles wide and fifteen miles long is reported fifteen per cent loss. At Gouverneur, in the Shaunavon subdivision, a strip two miles wide and 15 miles long was damaged to the extent of approximately 100 per cent. The hail damage to date in the province does not exceed one per cent of the volume of the crop.

Alberta—Excellent weather conditions have prevailed and all crops are in splendid shape with promise of a large yield. Native grasses as well the cultivated are reported to be the best in years and livestock is thriving. Harvesting will not become general until the third week or the end of the month.

British Columbia—Clear warm weather is advancing all crops. Grains, fruits and vegetables are good both in quantity and quality. Early potatoes, early apples and mixed vegetables are now moving to markets.

New Antiseptic Becomes Popular

Ever since the discovery of germs, and their relation to disease, men of science have bent every effort toward the development of preventive measures for combating infections at their source.

The problem of securing a germicide which is strong enough to do this, but which will not harm the most delicate membrane, has been solved by the discovery of Dr. Chase's Every-Day Mouth Wash.

Although prepared primarily as a Mouth Wash, the healing and non-irritating qualities of this lotion make it an ideal general antiseptic. It can be used effectively in the nasal passages, throat, skin tissues, and for every purpose for which a healing lotion is needed.

Dr. Chase's Every-Day Mouth Wash is most effective in affording prompt relief. While it destroys the germs it is also delightfully soothing and healing to the delicate irritated linings of the throat.

It is a fine habit to rinse the mouth after each meal with Dr. Chase's Every-Day Mouth Wash. In this way the teeth and gums are kept in a healthy condition, the mouth is clean and antiseptic and you safeguard yourself against sore throat, tonsilitis and other germ diseases, most of which have their beginning in the throat.

Hunter Says Gorillas Are Left-Handed Always Attack With Arm Outstretched

LONDON, August 10. — That every gorilla, unlike his supposed relative, man, is a left-handed animal, is the theory of Colonel H. F. Fenn, who has just returned to civilization after obtaining fine gorilla specimens for the British Museum in the Kivu district of the Belgian Congo.

Whenever the gorilla attacks, says Colonel Fenn, he always runs on his two feet assisted by his right hand, with his left hand outstretched.

The Kivu bush is intersected by gorilla tunnels three and four feet high. Colonel Fenn had just entered one of the tunnels following the sound of a bark, when a gorilla rushed at him, mouth open, and mighty arm outstretched. When he was only seven feet away, Colonel Fenn fired from the hip and wounded the animal, which dashed away.

The explorer found that female gorillas never attack, but disappear when in danger. One old male, who appeared about to attack the party was shot in the lung, but kept going more than two hours. He then charged again, and despite another bullet in the chest, continued his fight for half an hour more before he was finally treed and shot.

LOVE CAUSED ACID SLAYING

"Normally I Couldn't Hurt a Fly," Stewardess Declares in British Court.

PLEAD INSANITY.

LONDON Aug. 10 — Professing her love for the man she is charged with murdering, Marie Josephine Waite, twenty-four, pretty stewardess of the Shipping Board Vessel American Trader, was arraigned yesterday in connection with the death of Louis Fisher, ship's engineer.

After she heard the coroner's charge of murder in Thames Police Court, she declared:

"I loved Louis Fisher. That is why I threw acid on him. I love him now, even though he is dead. Normally, I would not hurt a fly.'

Her brief statement is believed to be preliminary to a defense plea of temporary insanity.

Fisher died at sea, off the Scilly Islands, from the effects of carbolic acid poured into his mouth while he slept. The crime with which Mrs. Waite is charged occurred outside British territorial waters.

After arraignment the hearing was adjourned and the magistrate ordered the stewardess transferred to Bow Street Court pending a decision on the question of extradition to the United States.

SASKATOON BERRIES SHOWN IN TORONTO

City In West Is Named After Plant Found in District.

TORONTO, Ont., Aug. 10.—(By Canadian Press).—In the window of a local newspaper office there is displayed a bunch of Saskatoon berries. The card describing them says that they were brought to the city by Mrs. W. E. Dyer, a daughter of the late John Lake, of Toronto, who in 1881 named the Western City after the berries so plentiful in the district. Helena Coleman, the well-known Ontario poet, has made the flower very lovely in a poem written some years ago beginning, "The little sweetheart Saskatoon."

Fifty-three women now claim membership in the Faciati in Italy.

LIGHTS WENT OUT WHEN CAT DIED

Marmora and Deloro in Total Darkness When Feline Hits Wire.

MARMORA, August 10. — Losing all its nine lives at one fell swoop on a Hydro wire at Deloro, a cat put the two villages of Marmora and Deloro in total darkness when it was electrocuted in an endeavour to make its way down to terra firma.

The animal, which attracted a great deal of attention from passers-by as it perched on the top of the pole, evidently found the climb up a much easier proposition than the getting down, and when it tried to make a get-away, it landed on a high-tension wire, and was instantly electrocuted.

A report that the interruption to the lighting was caused by the coming in contact with the wire of a young child caused considerable apprehension in the two villages until investigation revealed the real state of affairs.

ARKANSAS FARMER AGAIN HARD HIT

New Floods Halt the Work On Lately Inundated Zones.

FORT SMITH, Ark., August 10 (Canadian Press). — General rains throughout the Arkansas River valley will send the streams to flood stage, 22 feet, in the opinion of the weather bureau officials here yesterday.

The Arkansas River reached a stage of slightly more than 21 feet, but was receding on Monday. Reports said that Oklahoma tributaries, however, were rapidly rising.

At Pendleton and Medford, in South-eastern Arkansas, the water was pouring through old breaks in the levees and was spreading over a large area in Dessa and Chicot County. Approximately 60,000 acres will be flooded, it is estimated.

Overflow is not expected to drive many persons from their homes, but will paralyze farm work on the recently inundated lands, which have been planted with cotton, corn, cow peas, and other crops by farmers attempting to use the soil after the late spring recession of waters.

SEVENTH ARREST IN BEETON CASE

BEETON Aug. 10. —Wm. Langley, farmer married, with seven children was arrested late yesterday afternoon on his farm in Adjala township, Simcoe County, 12 miles from Beeton on a warrant charging him with stealing ten head of cattle from John Dermott, ninth line, Tecumseh. This is the seventh arrest by provincial police in the sensational Beeton case and the second to-day.

Langley objected to coming, saying his crops would be lost not garnered at once. After an argument of twenty minutes he was forced to leave his home, children looking on in tearful amazement.

BRANDON GREETS ROYAL BROTHERS

BRANDON, Man., Aug. 10. — (By staff Correspondent of the Canadian Press). — Thousands of people gave enthusiastic greeting to the Prince of Wales, Prince George and Right Hon. Stanley Baldwin upon their arrival in Brandon yesterday afternoon. Accompanying the Princes and the Prime Minister, were Mrs. Baldwin, and daughter, Mrs. Gordon Munro and Mr. Munro, Robert Forke, Minister of Immigration was also on the train. The Royal visitors were welcomed by Brigadier General Kirkcaldy.

As the Prince of Wales had previously expressed a wish to meet the members of the Canadian Legion in Brandon and district, immediately upon his arrival he inspected some 250 ex-service men who were lined up on the station platform. He chatted with some of the returned men prior to walking the length of the platform while the crowd voiced their pleasure at seeing him. The boy scouts and cubs, on parade, were also inspected by the Prince.

The Prime Minister, accompanied by Colonel Clark and Colonel Templeton, of this city, also passed down the lines of ex-service men and gave each veteran a hearty handshake.

The Prince of Wales is saving his right hand. He has had so many hands to shake since he arrived in Canada, that he is taking precautions. Yesterday it was his left hand that frequently was held out in greetings. Both Prince and Premier are to be seen among the crowd at every opportunity. There are no speeches, no formal replies to formal addresses of welcome. Prince and Premier just stroll among the crowd, laughing and chatting and shaking hands.

IMPRESSIVE CEREMONY.

Archbishop of Rupert's Land in Charge—Tribute To Tranquility and Peace.

Jasper National Park, Alberta, August 9. (Special.) — On the spot where in a few years the beautiful memorial church of Nurse Edith Cavell will stand, the third annual memorial service to the great heroine of the world war was held on Sunday.

In the foreground the multi-colored waters of Lac Beauvert lay still in the afternoon sun a perfect mirror for the stately snow crowned head of Mount Edith Cavell, which rises majestically above all other peaks near by and dominates the whole of the Athabasca valley.

Around the flag draped domes which served as a pulpit were gathered more than three hundred visitors to Jasper Park Lodge representing eleven countries, and also a large number of the residents of the village, so that the congregation which assembled to pay tribute to the heroism of Nurse Cavell and the principles for which she sacrificed her life, totalled more than five hundred.

It was a simple service in which there was no trace of the bitterness and hatred of war. Rather it was a service of thanksgiving that a heart of such unflinching courage and a soul of such pure nobility should have been born into the world and have left behind an idealism for those who came after to live up to and follow. It was a tribute to tranquility and not to turmoil. It was a message of peace and not a glorification of war. It was a dedication to unselfishness to devotion and and duty.

He'd Better Not Go Near Chatham, N.B.

CHATHAM, Aug. 10.—The name of Chatham, while a lucky one for most people, seems to possess a jinx for Robert Wynne, of Detroit. Years ago, when he was a student in Chatham, Va., a dynamite explosion nearly cost him his life. Last Christmas, while motoring in Missouri, he entered a place called Chatham, and met with a serious automobile accident, which nearly claimed his life.

As he was passing through this city on his way to Niagara Falls with his wife, the latter asked him if the name of Chatham meant anything to him. His light-hearted reply was that it certainly did, but he thought the jinx was killed. After successfully passing over the streets, however, and while he was proceeding along the highway about a mile east of Chatham, he met with an automobile accident in which both he and his wife had narrow escapes.

The car ahead of his, driven by John McGregor of this city, suddenly turned left at a crossroads, and the two machines came together and headed into the ditch. All of the occupants of the cars were cut and bruised, but not seriously. The cars were badly wrecked.

Provide Life Belts For Pampered Pets

NEW YORK, August 10. — Pampered pets of passengers will have their day on trans-Atlantic liners. The French Line announced yesterday that their new flagship, the Ile De France, has been equipped with life preservers for dogs . The lifebelts come in three sizes—the dogs come in all sizes, but will find one to fit, the steamship company boasts. Lifebelt drills for dogs have not been tried out yet.

Scienec Measures Sideral Universe

SAN FRANCISCO, August 10. —Science at last has measured the sidereal universe. And our little world, according to computations of astronomers at the Lick Observatory on Mount Hamilton is but an atom in a vast space of 192 quadrillion miles.

Observations were made by means of a two-prism quartz spectograph. His final compilation of th diameter of the sidereal universe was put at ten thousand parsecs, an astronomical unit roughly equal to nineteen trillion miles.

Photographs were successfully made, it was announced, as far away as 5,000 parsecs, or 96,000,000,000,000,000 miles. At that distance the milky way began to thin out, and a few stars were observable.

NAVAL RIVALRY IS TURNING EAST

May Begin Large Naval Construction Programme Because of Failure.

MORE AIRPLANES.

WILLIAMSTOWN, Mass., Aug. 10. —Naval supremacy in the Far East is now the objective of the three competing maritime powers— the United States, Great Britain and Japan—Lieut. O. B. Gary of the Naval Intelligence Department told the round table of Dr. Herbert Heaton on "Problems of the British Commonwealth" at the Institute of Politics yesterday.

Lieutenant Gary said that Japan has raised problems of naval supremacy in the Far East which the British have not had to face since they drove the French out of India nearly two centuries ago. As a result of this Britain's naval policy since the war has had to be moulded in accordance with three considerations:

"The intended increase in the naval power of the United States and Japan to a point where the former would have superseded that of Great Britain, and which forced Britain to the unwonted acknowledgement of the principle of naval equality.

"The shift in world politics naval centre of gravity from Europe to the Far East, from the North Sea to the Pacific.

"This, I believe," continued Lieutenant Gary, "is the most significant and portentious political naval consequenece of the war, and involves issues which may not be apparent for decades."

Referring to the naval base which Great Britain is now building at Singapore at a cost of $100,000,000, Lieutenant Gary maintained it "will make Britain a combined Atlantic, Mediterranean and Pacific naval power, capable of challenging any other power, or group of powers, in those waters."

Role Played by Colonies.

Dr. Heaton called attention to the role which the Colonies play in the foreign and defence policy of the British Empire. He said these Colonies look at the outside world "through spectacles of different color and focal length." While it is true, Dr. Heaton said, that Britain is deeply concerned with problems almost every day, due to her far-flung interest, the Dominions have no such tie.

"They might be keen to sell more goods to Germany or Italy,' he continued, "but Europe's bickerings look very small when seen through the wrong end of a telescope, 3,000 or 11,000 miles long. New countries want all the money they can get for the development of their natural resources and in their eyes, sums spent on armaments seem to be good money thrown after bad."

Dr. Heaton cited Canada as showing slight interest in questions of defence and said that, in spite of her strong participation in the war and the enormous value of her floating cargo, "a naval discussion would draw very small audiences in most Canadian cities."

"But Australia and New Zealand feel the helplessness of their geographical position acutely," said Dr. Heaton, "because much of their trade is with Great Britain and because they feel the Pacific may be the storm or peace centre of politics in future. Even before the war Australia began to acquire a navy of her own, while New Zealand gave a battle cruiser to the British Fleet."

The naval base at Singapore, Dr. Heaton showed is strongly supported by Australia and New Zealand, the latter country having decided to give $5,000,000 toward th cost of that base in addition to building up a small fleet of its own.

Handcuff Styles Are Changeable Too

TORONTO, Ont., Aug. 10.—(By Canadian Press).—Interest in handcuff styles has been revived with a recommendation made to the Elgin County Council by the constables. They urged less antiquated equipment for prisoners' wrists, declaring that the pattern of handcuffs in use was at least one hundred years old.

A pair of antique handcuffs, which locked with a key, and which served the constable of Markham many years ago, are now in possession of Mrs. James Defoe. These handcuffs were the property of Mrs. Defoe's father-in-law, who held the distinction of driving the first stage coach running between Toronto and Kingston.

PRINCES TO SIGN INDIANS' BIBLE

Page Contains More British Royal Signatures Than Any Other.

SIGNED BY QUEEN ANNE.

BRANTFORD, August 10.—When the Prince of Wales and Prince George return east it is probable that they will be greeted either at Toronto or Ottawa by the Council of the Six Nations Indians, who wish to obtain their signatures in a Bible presented to their forefathers by Queen Anne.

It is claimed in the address to be presented to the Princes on this occasion that the Bible contains on one page the autographs of more members of the reigning house of Great Britain since the time of Queen Anne than any other similar volume in the world. It was previously autographed by the Prince of Wales during his visit in 1919.

Referring to the fact that the Bible is the only important historical relic in the possession of the council the address reads:

"In the passage of years your Royal Highness the heritage of our Grand River lands has shrunk until miles are now but acres and our relics the great silver pipe of peace, and our wampum belts, pledges of our treaties, and the signs manual of loyalty and friendship to the Crown and to Canada, have been stolen by knaves of our own people, who betrayed their trust, and now lie in public museums and private collections in foreign lands."

U. S. PARTIES TOUR IN WEST

Several Large Groups Travel By Special Trains To Winnipeg.

WINNIPEG, Man., Aug. 9.—(Special.)—Two large parties of prominent United States' citizens who have been touring Western Canada were welcomed to Winnipeg this morning and are spending the day here before proceeding to their homes in the east. The New York Evening Graphic "Friendship Tour," comprising 106 travellers, arrived at the Canadian National station at 9.25 and the 75 members of the Keystone tour came at an earlier hour. All were in the best of spirits and were taken on automobile drives around the city.

The Evening Graphic party was informally welcomed just before the luncheon at the Port Garry hotel, when R. A. Fanciulli, personal representative of Bernhard MacFadden, publisher of the newspaper which is sponsoring the tour, presented a letter of good will from Mayor James J. Walker of New York City to Acting Mayor Dan McLean of Winnipeg.

Members of both parties were most enthusiastic over Canada and were particularly impressed with Jasper National Park, where they stayed over a day or two. Their trips extended to Alaska and a voyage along the Pacific coast was greatly appreciated. The larger party left here at 8.20 in the evening for Toronto and Niagara Falls, and the Keystone group left for Duluth at 5 p.m.

Two other large tours are expected in Winnipeg shortly. The Northwest Alaska Tour No. 2, which arrived in Vancouver from the United States yesterday, will go to Skagway, Prince Rupert and Jasper and will be in Winnipeg Saturday morning, August 20th, leaving on the evening of the same day for Duluth and Chicago, also covering the scenery between Vancouver and Duluth, but not going to Alaska.

The International Association of Fire Chiefs' Tour will leave Vancouver on August 13 to spend several days at Jasper and will go from Winnipeg to Duluth on August 18. There are 85 in the first party and from 90 to 100 in the second.

The Raymond Whitcomb Land Cruise No. 7 will arrive in Vancouver on Wednesday of this week and will proceed by Canadian National Steamship to Prince Rupert and Stewart, afterwards going to Kitwanga and Hazelton, where they will see the totem poles and other Indian relics, then to Jasper and Mount Robson and to New Westminster, B.C. There are 53 in the party.

Women Get Bananas From Garbage Pail

MONTREAL, Que., Aug. 10.—(Canadian Press).—"Yes, we have some bananas. But where do they go?" This is the comment of a Montreal citizen in telling how some of the garbage from Montreal's uncovered rubbish heaps gets disseminated, to spread germs.

He was passing by a fruit store recently when he saw a young woman with her head hidden in a barrell sorting out discarded fruit and handing it to another woman nearby. The two were engaged in filling two potato bags with the half-rotten fruit that had filled the barrel. No cover had been applied for the barrel and it was a veritable paradise for germs, being divided and perhaps distributed to a dozen homes.

TWO WAYS TO SECURE Free Palmolive Soap

1 With a Purchase of NEW PRINCESS SOAP FLAKES

2 With a Purchase of Palmolive Soap

Dear Madam In the next few days, every home in Peterborough will receive two metal tokens which are good at your dealer's for two cakes of Palmolive Soap absolutely free. One token entitles you to a free cake of Palmolive Soap with the purchase of a package of the new, better Princess Soap Flakes. The other token gets you two cakes of Palmolive Soap for the price of one.

This is a wonderful opportunity to secure free two cakes of the world's most famous toilet soap. You will want to try the New, Thin, Princess Soap Flakes anyway. You will want to find out how much better they are than any soap flakes you've ever used before. The free cake of Palmolive Soap is simply to induce you to make this trial at once.

You are probably now using Palmolive Soap "to keep that schoolgirl complexion". If so, you will welcome the further opportunity of securing two cakes for the price of one. If you are not using Palmolive Soap, this is a splendid chance to become acquainted with it.

When you receive your tokens, take them to your store, get two cakes of Palmolive Soap free when you buy one package of the new Princess Soap Flakes and one cake of Palmolive Soap.

Newer, Better Soap Flakes

When you go to buy your Princess Soap Flakes you will find better soap flakes than you have been able to buy before. Thinner, so that they whip up even more quickly into a mountain of suds. Whiter, if that is possible. And a bigger package for the same old price.

Of course all the old Princess Soap Flake quality is there. Won't make the hands red. Wash clothes cleaner. Make easier every household washing task. Contain no harsh chemical filler.

PLATITUDES.

Bored reporters have taken the trouble to mention the pleasant platitudes which have burdened public addresses delivered in Ontario and Quebec to our English visitors.

But what would these jaded journalists have a City Council or Provincial Legislature say in its greeting of goodwill and loyalty? Perhaps they would prefer the omission altogether of the offending but amiable formal address of welcome. Then the wires would burn with the "hot stuff" of such an indignity.

As to the platitudes which help express a people's kindly and affectionate sentiments to distinguished visitors, they are none the less sincere, appropriate phrases because they are worn and shiny from much use.

They sound dull and trite to the newspaper men who hear their stereotyped cliches repeated at receptions along the visitors' itinerary, but the public's re-echoing message becomes not more wearisome and flat than, for example, the reiterated and somewhat barren addresses of a transcontinental political tour.

Perhaps it would not interest veteran reporters to know that in many instances these public addresses, which they disparage as full of fustian and blah, are actually written by men who had graduated or retrograde from the press.

ANY OTHER BEETONS?

Are there any other Beetons in this proud Province of Ontario, any communities whose people are so cowardly that they submit for years to intimidation by a night-riding gang of cattle thieves?

No element of this sensational investigation is more surprising and disappointing than this public pusillanimity, illumined and somewhat mitigated by the contrasting courage of Alex. Hodge when he had to fight barehanded for his life against an armed assailant.

The enquiry has revealed so far that the residents of the Beeton district endured in silence a long series of robberies because they feared a vengeance that might strike at their homes or their lives.

Only the dead man's miscalculation of the spirit of the lone bachelor farmer lifted the pall of fear, if not of terror, that had too long oppressed those frightened farmers.

What a pitiful spectacle is a community overawed and victimized by a ruthless, little band of criminals If there are any others as supine as the Beeton countryside they should take heart from its recent relief.

But when these conditions existed within a short truck-ride from Toronto, what might be expected from remoter but surely not wilder sections of the Province!

A NEW INDUSTRY.

The Vancouver company that has imported 5,000 reindeer from Alaska to be the nucleus of a ranch herd which is to be established north of the Great Slave Lake has inaugurated a scheme which may have as a result an important and welcome addition to the industries of the Dominion.

That a lucrative market exists for the sale of reindeer meat for domestic consumption is demonstrated by the fact that last year one million pounds of reindeer flesh entered U. S. homes from Alaska where there are now more than 600,000 privately-owned animals. A steady demand has also grown up for reindeer skin and horn as raw materials for the manufacture of leather goods and knife handles.

Under ordinary conditions a herd of reindeer doubles itself in 3 years; it is estimated that by 1937 the value of the reindeer herds of Alaska will be in the neighborhood of $20,000,000.

The not inconsiderable measure of success that has attended the venture in Alaska has evidently proved an inspiration to the sanguine B. C. promoters, who, undaunted by past failures of similar attempts in the Canadian Northwest, are endeavoring to reproduce the happy results of the experiment in Alaska. In 1913, largely under the influence of the exhortations of Vilhjalmar Stefansson, the famous explorer and author of "The Friendly Arctic," who advocated the project in season and out of season, a number of reindeer ranches were established, but the results were very far below expectations.

Many causes contributed to this disappointing issue, but the chief were lack of adequate preparation of the pasture grounds and insufficient knowledge of the habits of the reindeer.

Given feeding grounds within reasonable distance, reindeer may be safely trusted to forage for themselves.

In an effort to avoid previous mistakes, it is proposed to despatch Dominion botanists to the North to seek suitable areas extensive enough for the sustenance of the large herds. If the outcome of such an expedition should be the launching of the scheme with reasonable hope of success, nobody in this section of the country will grudge the moiety of expense involved.

BRITISH SEA POWER.

One of the things which is frequently overlooked by hostile critics of the position taken up by the British delegates at the Geneva Conference is that the British flag is no new interloper in the seas of the world. Because of her geographic position Great Britain has always carefully fostered her sea power, and the fact that her spokesmen were willing to let the old historic supremacy pass into oblivion, speaks well for the British regard for the peace of the world.

The naval renown of Britain dates back to the time of the Roman occupation. Carausius, a Roman general in command of the forces in Britain, rebelling against Caesar, maintained his position by means of a fleet with which he guarded the British coasts. Not until after several years of maritime warfare was the Imperial army landed and the rebellion crushed.

Alfred the Great, harassed incessantly by the piratical incursions of the Danes, built a fleet of small galleys designed by himself, each carrying sixty rowers, by means of which he was enabled to encounter the Danes with success on the element where they had hitherto roamed unchallenged. One of Alfred's successors, King Edgar, had a fleet of between three and five thousand galleys, which he divided into three fleets, for the western, southern and eastern coasts, respectively. A later King, Ethelred II., stipulated that every owner of 310 hydes of land should contribute one vessel to the defence of the coasts.

With the Norman Conquest came a full realization of the importance of sea power. One of the conditions demanded of the Cinque Ports by the Conqueror, in return for certain privileges conferred on them at their establishment, was the obligation to furnish for the service of the crown in any emergency fifty-two ships, each carrying twenty-four men. When Richard sailed from Sicily, in 1191, to take part in the Third Crusade, he was accompanied by thirteen "monster" ships, one hundred and fifty war vessels, and fifty-three galleys. King Richard's luckless brother and successor, John, was the first British ruler to claim the sovereignty of the seas, an hopour which was formally conceded to the British flag over four centuries later—by the Dutch in 1673, and by the French in 1704. In 1293 the first of the many naval contests with France took place in the middle of the English Channel and resulted in the capture of 250 French vessels.

Thanks to the wisdom of the great Robert Bruce, Scotland, during the reign of his son, David II., had a navy for trading and fighting purposes, which infested the coasts of England to the terror of English merchantmen. We find reference to the damage done to English commerce in an old record which contains an account of a message from Edward III. to his admiral, Roger de Hexham, in which he urges him to attack three Scottish ships of war hovering in the Bristol Channel. James IV. was also imbued with the ambition of making Scotland a naval power. During his reign the Great Michael, the largest ship of her time, was built in Fife for the Scottish navy, and in his admirals, Sir Andrew Wood and the brothers Barton, he had three of the most skilful fighters of his day. The quixotic folly of James at Flodden, his death, and the subsequent troubles of the kingdom, led to the decay and dissolution of Scotland's navy.

To Henry VIII. of England is usually ascribed the credit of the formation of the British navy as a distinct organization, although it is probable that he borrowed the idea from his brother-in-law, James IV. of Scotland. Besides building several large ships for purely navy purposes, however, Henry established royal dockyards at Deptford, Woolwich and Portsmouth, and instituted the Admiralty. Throughout the reigns of Edward VI. and Mary the fleet was greatly neglected, and even Elizabeth, always a rigid economist, depended greatly on the patriotism of her ship-owning subjects for naval defence; the nucleus of the navy which in 1583 outfought the Spaniard being only seventeen royal ships. It is interesting to note that among the ships that distinguished themselves on that great occasion were three bearing the familiar names, Lion, Tiger and Dreadnought.

At the Union of the Crowns in 1603 the navy consisted of forty-two ships with a total tonnage of 17,000 tons, and 8,346 men. From that period both the number and dimension of the ships were steadily increased. Under the direction of Mr. Phineas Pett, "sometime Master of Arts at Emmanuel College, Cambridge," was built in 1610 the Prince Royal, of 1400 tons burden, armed with 64 guns, a ship which marked a great departure, in that it was without the high poop and forecastles of earlier designs. Another advance was made in naval architecture when in 1637 the Sovereign of the Seas was launched at Woolwich. As may be expected the fleet was seriously depleted during the Civil War, Prince Rupert carrying off no fewer than twenty-five ships for the service of his uncle, Charles I., against the Commons. When Cromwell seized the reins of government he found in the navy only fourteen two-deckers, which in the space of five years his indomitable energy increased to 150 ships, manned by twenty thousand men, who proved their valour in Blake's many stern fights with the Dutch. During Cromwell's regime the first British frigate, the Constant Warwick, was built after a French design, and in the same period the first naval estimates were introduced into Parliament, which voted £400,000 per annum for the service. Shamefully neglected by Charles II., the navy received better attention when the King's brother, the Duke of York, who, among a large catalogue of faults, undoubtedly possessed some of the qualities of a good admiral, assumed control. He employed Sir Anthony Deane, who first estimated the displacement of ships before launching to improve the model of the ships, and commanded the fleet which captured New Amsterdam from the Dutch and gave it its present name, New York, in honour of the admiral. In later years James had the mortification of seeing these same ships and men rout at Cape La Hogue a French fleet, which set out with the purpose of placing him on the British throne, from which he had been expelled in 1688.

At the Revolution of 1688 the strength of the navy was estimated at 173 ships of a total tonnage of 101,892 tons and 42,000 men. By 1782 these figures had increased to 117 ships of 500,000 tons, and in 1813 to 1,000 ships of 900,000 tons, with a personnel of 146,000 seamen, and during that time the triumphs of Duncan, Hood, St. Vincent, Rodney and Nelson had raised its already formidable reputation to a pinnacle unequalled by an fighting force in either ancient or modern times.

From 1815 until 1914 British supremacy at sea was never seriously challenged. During that time science introduced numerous far-reaching changes. Tomorrow her greatest ships may be obsolete, but today, shortly after the British navy's greatest ordeal, we all realize that in spite of the fact that the navy is bandied about in discussion by admirals and politicians, the men of the fleet are worthy successors of the tars who swept Britain's enemies off the sea at the Nile and Trafalgar, and snatched Gibraltar from under the eye of an enemy.

GIVES IT ITS NAME.

Recent newspaper reports say William McAdoo, Chief Magistrate of New York City, who has had a lot to do with criminals, law-breakers and accused persons in a long career as newspaper reporter, lawyer and judge, has arrived at a very simple explanation of crime in his country. In an article in the Scientific Monthly, Judge McAdoo discusses the conclusions of modern criminology, and admits that there is a place for psychology and psychiatry and other sciences in dealing with wrongdoers. But the trouble with them, he says, is that they tell us only about a fellow's head. "I would like to see them able to give us an analytical biography of the subject by which we could look into the heart of the man as well as his head."

In Judge McAdoo's opinion there is no need for high-sounding scientific terms to describe the condition of the average young man who goes wrong. He is simply lazy. "In this country," says the Judge, "no young fellow who wants to work need go idle, so there is no economic distress which would force recruits into this murderous army." The remedy, he says, is a great custodial institution, which will be neither a State's prison, a penitentiary, a jail or a reformatory, but will be a self-supporting community with farms, shops, churches, schools and every other feature of modern progress." From this institution the prisoner, he says, would not be discharged until cured of his laziness.—Ex.

MONTREAL GRAIN AND PRODUCE.

MONTREAL, Aug. 10 (Canadian Press).—The export trade in grain on the Montreal market yesterday was quiet owing to the fact that foreign buyers did not respond to the higher prices asked.

The trade in cash grain in the domestic market was also slow, but the tone was steady.

A fair amount of business was done in spring wheat grades of flour under an improved demand from local and foreign buyers. The trade in winter wheat grades was also good and values were unchanged.

The millfeed market was moderately active and prices were firm. The market for standard grades of rolled oats was steady under a moderate demand.

The demand for eggs continued firm and prices were well maintained. The receipts were 1,476 cases.

The strength which has characterized the local butter situation for the past few days was again a feature of the trade and prices were advanced another 1 cent per pound. This is attributed to the improvement in the demand of late. The receipts were 31 packages.

The spot trade in cheese was fairly active and values ruled firm. The receipts were 9,306 boxes.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, Aug. 10 (Canadian Press).—Warmer temperatures together with indications that Canadian frost damage may prove less severe than was supposed had a bearish effect on wheat. Black rust advices from North Dakota and Minnesota, however, were again a source of anxiety. Closing quotations for wheat were unsettled ⅝ to ¾c net lower; corn unchanged to ⅝c off; oats ⅝ to ¾c up, and provisions varying from 5c decline to a rise of 27 cents.

Although prospects of a bumper crop of wheat northwest appeared yesterday to have been seriously impaired both by frost and rust, profit-taking sales on the part of Monday buyers acted as a constant weight on the market. Besides, reports were current here that 80% of Canadian wheat around Battleford, where frost was the most severe, is in the dough stage and may not be seriously damaged. The fact that no new frost damage was heard from and that any immediate additional danger from excessive cold had been averted, did much also to handicap the bulls.

Export Demand Larger

On the other hand, export demand for wheat from North America was larger yesterday, Europeans taking 1,100,000 bushels, chiefly Canadian. In some quarters, considerable significance, too, was attached to late advices that black rust damage in North Dakota and Minnesota is not confined to late wheat. There were some reports also current near the end of the day that contrary to earlier information the Saskatchewan crop had been badly hurt by frost.

Indications for a smaller amount of domestic wheat southwest were likewise given notice.

In the corn trade and in wheat as well, some dispcsition was shown to mark time pending the government crop report due today. December corn, however, touched a new high price record for the season. Field reports as to corn remained unfavorable. Oats proved responsive to news of adverse threshing returns northwest.

Provisions averaged higher.

STERLING EXCHANGE.

MONTREAL, Aug. 10 (Canadian Press).—Sterling exchange rates were quoted here yesterday as: Sterling demand $4.86⅛; sterling cables $4.86⅛.

C.N.R. EARNINGS

MONTREAL, Aug. 10 (Canadian Canadian National Railways for the Canadian National Railways forr the week ended August 7, 1927, were $4,592,919.00 as compared with $4,696,090.53 for the same week of 1926, a decrease of $103,171.53 or two per cent.

CAVAN W. I. VISITS MOUNT PLEASANT

Visiting Ladies Conduct Business and Put On Programme.

MOUNT PLEASANT, Aug. 10. — On Wednesday afternoon the Mount Pleasant branch of Women's Institute held a joint meeting with the Cavan Women's Institute at the home of Mrs. Harry Bland. Owing to the busy season, many Cavan ladies were unable to attend.

The meeting was conducted by Mrs. J. D. Hunter, President of the Cavan Institute, which was in charge of the business part of the meeting, and also supplied the program. Mrs. Richard Matchett acting as Secretary-Treasurer.

The meeting opened in the usual manner. On motion, the final arrangements were made in connection with the choral class to be held in Cavan Community Hall during the month of August, with Miss Daisy Murray, of Peterborough, as teacher in charge.

The picnic to Chemong which had been arranged was discussed, and on motion, left over, the date to be set later. The Cavan ladies put on a very interesting program. Miss Hunter delighted those present with a couple of vocal solos.

Mrs. Creighton Carr read a well-prepared paper on the subject of "Checking Up." Mrs. Milton Carr read an excellent paper, entitled "The Value of Cheerfulness," prepared by Mrs. Lloyd Sutton, who was unable to be present. Many of the ladies answered the roll call with humorous stories, after which the meeting closed with singing, "God Be With You Till We Meet Again."

A social hour was enjoyed by all while the Mount Pleasant branch served refreshments. The committee in charge of the lunch was Mrs. Thomas Graham, Mrs. George Jamieson, Mrs. Clew. Morden and Mrs. Ira Lowe.

At the conclusion Mrs. Lowe, President of the Mount Pleasant branch, and Mrs. Bland, at whose home the meeting was held, were asked to come forward, when a hearty vote of thanks was tendered to them by the Cavan ladies. Both Mrs. Bland and Mrs. Lowe replied with a few suitable remarks.

Among those present were: Mrs. Ida Keegan, Mrs. Creighton Carr, Mrs. J. D. Hunter, Mrs. Richard Matchett, Mrs. Jos. Perrin, Mrs. Eber Syer, Miss Lily Syer, Mrs. Ray Syer, Mrs. J. G. Matchett, Mrs. Howson, Mrs. R. W. Howden, Mrs. H. Sisson, Mrs. Milton Carr, Miss Eleanor Pritchard, Miss Eileen Hunter, Miss Gwendolyn Hunter, Mrs. Thomas Graham, Mrs. Chester Best, Mrs. Norman Fee, Mrs. Garnet Shield, Miss Grace Shield, Miss Lena Finley, Mrs. Austin Best, Mrs. Henry Lowes, Mrs. Joshua Eggleston, Mrs. Ira Lowe, Mrs. John Handley, Mrs. Richard Graham, Mrs. James Sisson, Mrs. Wesley Downer, Mrs. Gertrude McLean, Mrs. Clew. Morden, Miss Alice Hunter, Mrs. Melville Jones, Mrs. Arthur Bryans, Mrs. Wilbert Bryans, Mrs. Bruce McPherson, Miss Hazel McPherson, Miss May Jamieson, Mrs. Harry Bryans, Mrs. Arthur Rutherford, Miss Helen Rutherford.

MARMORA SCHOOLS RECEIVE VISITOR

President of County Sunday School Association Is In Village.

MARMORA, Aug. 10.—The word "Gospel" was taken by the rector, Rev. A. B. Caldwell, as his subject at St. Paul's Church on Sunday morning. There was again a good congregation, and the heartiness of the service was commented upon. Miss Marion Halliwell, who is camping at Crowe Lake, was the soloist, rendering in a sweet soprano voice the solo, "There is a Green Hill Far Away." Mr. Donnelly, of Tweed, President of the County Sunday School Association, attended the morning session of Sunday School preceding the service and gave an encouraging address to those present.

Owing to the minister being away on holiday, there was no service in the United Church on Sunday. There was a fair attendance at the ten o'clock Sunday School, which also was attended by the County President.

A Thought For To-day

FAMILY INSOLVENCY.

The home, in its economic aspect, is as much a business proposition as any industrial corporation, just as dependent on good management, just as subject to failure through bad management. In all this talk about prosperity, we forget that the first point where insolvency begins is in the family, and that the origin of it is debt which represents no productive investment. Credit that burdens the family instead of releasing the family's energies is the initial blow at prosperity. To keep the family solvent and independent, carefully protected by sound household management, is the first requisite of national prosperity.—Henry Ford.

HOROSCOPE

The Stars Incline, but do not Compel.

Thursday, August 11, 1927.
(Copyright, McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

Again sinister stars rule, according to astrology, which finds the business hours subject to thwarting and disturbing influences.

Women to-day may be stimulated to energy and activity, but they should be careful lest they expend energy in futile faultfinding.

The sway is most threatening to domestic peace, for quarrels may be precipitated by means of mistaken efforts or opinions on the part of wives or daughters.

Divorces will multiply, but their great number will bring about serious reforms in social manners and customs, the seers predict.

The summer will be a time when the planetary influences seem to stimulate romantic impulses in women who may use initiative in love affairs.

Because there is to be established a new order of things in domestic relations this period will be marked by strange vagaries in sentiment, it is forecast.

Signs of times that appear discouraging to philosophers are read by the seers as cheering since they mark the turning point.

Under this sway one's financial affairs may seem especially depressing, but it is well to forget them until the configuration changes.

Industry will have reason to rejoice, astrologers foretell, for there is to be great activity in many lines of manufacture.

Workers in iron and steel probably will be in great demand, for the government may have great need of them.

Diet now will be discussed from a new point of view, for less food will be important as a means of economy rather than a beautifier.

Rise of prices in wheat and other grains may cause a sharp advance in the cost of bread, astrologers foretell.

Persons whose birthdate it is probably will have a happy year. The young will court or marry.

Children born on this day probably will be lucky in love. They are likely to have talent in mechanical lines and may become inventors.

HINTS ON ETIQUETTE.

2—If seriously overcharged, how can a host adjust the matter without embarrassing his guests?

3—How can a woman, entertaining both men and women, pay a restaurant dinner bill gracefully?

The Answers.

1—No.

2—Excuse himself and see the head waiter.

3—Order the dinner and pay in advance.

FASHION NOTES.

ABOUT INDULGENT PARENTS

By HEDDA HOYT
(United Press Fashion Editor)

NEW YORK, August 10.—(United Press).—The young groom of today is often forced to regard his bride as a liability rather than an asset. Parents, particularly those in moderate circumstances, often spoil their daughters by yielding to their desires for finery while they are in their teens. Once having acquired a taste for the better things of life, a girl expects her intended husband to be able to continue satisfying her demands.

The girl of today expects a young man to dress her better than her parents dressed her. She wants a home furnished in antique furniture, an automobile, a servant, silk undergarments, frocks for all occasions, six-dollar theatre tickets, etc. These are the reasons why many able-minded young men starting out on business careers steer clear of romance and place themselves on the bachelor list. They realize that they can't hope for success in any profession with a loadstone tied around their necks.

The working girl who has to battle for existence is no different from the pampered girl who lives with her fond parents. For the working girl often accepts marriage as a means of bettering her position in life. Of course, there are exceptions where girls continue to work after marriage to help the household budget but these exceptions are few and far between.

The other day I talked with a very sensible mother of an 18-year-old daughter. She informed me that her daughter was forced to wear cotton stockings until she was 14 years old. She has been deprived of silk underclothing until she had graduated from High School. Most of her party dresses were made by herself. This girl had been trained in her teens for wifehood and she will doubtless make some man a successful partner. If mothers would pay less attention to making their daughters "physically" attractive to men and would make them more attractive mentally, there would be fewer unmarried girls on the market today.

Many men believe that all girls of today want only the luxuries of life and that romance is a thing of the past. This isn't true. The modern girl is just as romantic as her mother was at her age but she has been pampered and spoiled by over-indulgent parents. The old adage "shoe the horse and shoe the mare, but let the little colt go bare" isn't a bad idea for parents to follow. Youth should be taught privations in order to be appreciative of the advantages which come in later years. This idea of parents depriving themselves of luxuries in order to provide them for growing children is unfair both to parents and children.

Woman Finds That Swoon Is Useless

TORONTO, Aug. 10.—(Canadian Press).—A woman seemingly about to be overcome in the Women's Police Court here, finding herself charged with stealing a shirt from a departmental store, sat up as though doesd with cold water when Dr. Margaret Patterson said, "No swooning here, it does not do any good."

SAINT and SINNER

"Faith, I want to show you some pictures of Selma and George when they were babies and little children," Mrs. Pruitt said when the eight of them were scattered about the drawing room after dinner. Selma was playing Schubert on the grand piano, trying to look unconcerned over the fact that Andrews, the sandy-haired young man who was supposed to be paying court to her was devoting himself to Cherry, a devotion which had sprung up suddenly toward the end of the meal. And Cherry was happy again, dimpling, glittering, tossing her little copper-and-gold head and dazzling her new conquest.

"I'd love that," Faith cried, instantly abandoning the two men who had been hanging over her devotedly—her husband just as adoringly as George Pruitt.

Mrs. Pruitt, a large and handsome woman whose bearing was a constant reminder of the fact that the Pruitts were among the richest and most socially prominent people in town, cuddled Faith's arm affectionately as they ascended the staircase to the second floor.

"Of course that was an excuse to get you away for a private talk," the older woman acknowledged brusquely. "Faith, my dear—sit here beside me—I want you to tell me something quite frankly, something that concerns me most vitally. Don't look so startled! I'm not going to ask you if you're in love with George. It would be obvious to a blind man that you're crazy about that husband of yours. But tell me—does Cherry plan to marry my George when she gets her divorce from that scoundrel, Wiley?"

Faith went white, was silent for a moment, then answered honestly: "I—I'm afraid she does hope to, Mrs. Pruitt."

Mrs. Pruitt's large bosom rose on a great sigh. "Thank you, my dear. It is charming to find someone so thoroughly honest. Cherry usually gets what she wants, doesn't she?" she mused, rather than questioned.

"Usually," Faith managed to smile. "Tell me—has George asked her proposed to her—provisionally, of course?" Mrs. Pruitt's voice was harsh with anxiety.

"I—don't think so, dear Mrs. Pruitt," Faith reassured her softly. "He— I—"

"He's still in love with you, of course," George's mother helped her. "Pity you wouldn't take him. We were all so pleased that he had fallen in love with exactly the right girl——" Her voice roughened on a sob. "But that's all over now, of course," she went on determinedly. "You're married and happily. It's refreshing to see a man so devoted as your Bob. I've heard rumors, but maybe it's just Selma's way of reporting things, that Cherry was likely to make trouble for you there, but—forgive me, my dear. I'm a free-spoken old woman who may learn some day to mind her own business," she scolded herself as her keen eyes noted that Faith's face flooded with color. "Now, tell me—that's a dear—whether I should try to discourage George if he seems to get at all serious. Naturally you can imagine how we feel—the trial and Cherry's unfortunate marriage, the baby and all——"

"I do know," Faith acknowledged despairingly. "But, oh Mrs. Pruitt, I know also that Cherry is innocent of any really evil action. She has simply been the victim of a series of unfortunate circumstances. She was cleared of the murder charge, as you know, and her separation from her husband was Chris' fault, not hers. She had been infatuated with him for months, and married him because she could not help herself. She found that he wasn't worthy—and later that she was going to have a baby. That's all. There's really nothing to blame Cherry for, except her beauty and her impulsiveness. Please try to be fair to Cherry, Mrs. Pruitt."

"All right!" The older woman rose abruptly, then stooped to kiss Faith on the lips. "You're a jewel of a sister, my dear. I wish you'd taken my George."

FINE IMPOSED ON GORDENIER

Suspended Sentence of One Year Passed On Marmora Man.

ALSO PAYS COSTS.

MARMORA, August 10. —(By a Staff Reporter). —Convicted of an indecent assault on an 18-year old girl, visiting Marmora on July 29, Charles Gordenier was yesterday given suspended sentence for one year and in addition was called upon to pay a fine or $20 with costs which brought the total up to $97.

Magistrate G. L. Jarman, of Bancroft, occupied the bench.

Gordenier was defended by Charles Payne, of Belleville. Crown Attorney B. C. Donnan, of Belleville, conducted the case for the prosecution.

The case was tried in open court at Marmora Town Hall and the room was filled with spectators, mostly men whose titters repeatedly became audible during the relation of the evidence of the two chief witnesses.

Violet Washburn, the complainant, described the assault which took place on a side road between Havelock and Trent Bridge after a dance at Trent Bridge to which she and her hostess' daughter, Norah Peever, were taken in Gordenier's car by accused and some other male friends. She identified a dress which was produced in Court as the one she was wearing on the night in question and which was torn as she tried to make her way out of the car after Gordenier had made some improper advances.

Rumour Incorrect.

Answering Mr. Payne, witness agreed that a report that she had been stripped of her clothing were incorrect. She admitted writing a letter to Gordenier after the incident, threatening him with proceedings, if he did not pay for the damaged dress. She acknowledeged that a statement made in the letter to the effect that her dress was torn off her back was an exaggeration.

Norah Peever gave corroborative evidence.

Addressing the court, Mr. Payne pointed that no bodily injury had been inflicted and maintained that Gordenier's actions could not be construed as indecent assault. He admitted that the language quoted by witnesses as being used by Gordenier was objectionable but accused was being tried for what he had done, not what he had said.

Crown Attorney Donnan declared the evidence was sufficient to convict Gordenier of indecent assault. He pointed out that common assault under certain circumstances became indecent assault when accompanied by obscene language or suggestions.

On The Increase.

Announcing his decision, His Worship, said he regretted to see that the class of crime under consideration was on the increase. He felt he would be lax if he did not punish Gordenier. In view of the fact that the prisoner had a wife and young family, he would not send him to jail. Gordenier as being the oldest of the party and as the driver of the car ought to have been a restraining influence and a protector of the girls.

Under the sentence, Gordenier was compelled to enter into a bond of $200 for good behaviour during the year of suspended sentence.

OBITUARY.

MRS. WILLIAM JONES.

MARMORA, Aug. 10.—The funeral of the late Mrs. William Jones took place on Tuesday afternoon, service being conducted at St. Paul's church by the rector, Rev. A. B. Caldwell. The church was filled to overflowing, relatives alone occupying the major portion of the seats. The rector delivered a consoling message from Matt. 25, 21-23. The hymns were: 'Cast Thy Care on Jesus," "Jersusalem My Happy Home" and "Peace, Perfect Peace."

The bearers were R. E. Bonter, C. A. Lummiss, T. E. Potts, T. Derry, J. Moffatt and F. Blakely.

Interment followed in Marmora cemetery.

RALPH LAYCOCK

MARMORA, Aug. 10.—In the passing away of Ralph Laycock at his home in Marmora Township on Monday evening, the community has lost a highly honored agriculturist. The deceased, who was in his seventy-fifth year, had for about three years been confined to his bed, the many friends who visited him finding him the cheeriest of invalids. Mr. Laycock figured well in the public life of the community. When severing his connection with Silver Leaf cheese factory through failing health, he had completed thirty-five years of dutiful labor as its president. He also served Marmora Township for a while as its tax collector. Farming, however, was his main pursuit, and here, rather than in politics or the like, did he achieve fame. At the age of sixteen, he took over the farm on which he was born, then a stoney property and burdened with debt and by the exercise of good judgment and perseverance, brought it to its present prosperity. For many years his herds have ranked among the best in the township. His life and that of his devoted wife have had the added joy of seeing their children prosper. Mr. Laycock was a strong devotee of the United Church. In politics, his choice was Liberalism. He was one of the oldest members of Marmora Lodge, No. 222 A.F. and A.M. Besides his widow, four sons and a daughter survive him, namely, Thomas at home; John of New York; William of Port Arthur; Professor Samuel Laycock of Edmonton University, and Mrs. Percy Thompson of Edmonton.

The funeral, under Masonic auspices, takes place at Marmora United Church this afternoon, the service there being preceded by a private service at his late residence. Bro. Rev. C. J. Beckley, pastor, will officiate, assisted by Bro. Rev. A. B. Caldwell of St. Paul's Church. The pallbearers are V.W. Bro. W. L. Rigg. Bro. G. O'Neil, Bro. F. Melvaer; W. Bro. H. Loveless, Bro. N. Kilpatrick, and Bro. F. Marett. Interment takes place in Marmora Cemetery.

MAYOR IS ADMIRAL

LONDON, Aug. 10. —The Lord Mayor of London, looking through some musty records, discovered that he also is an admiral. By hereditary right, he is admiral of the port of London. He assumed his robes of office and went to the docks where he was piped aboard a liner with all the ceremony accorded an admiral of the fleet.

LINDBERGH HOP IS LATEST RIDE

One Will Be Included in Midway Attractions at Exhibition.

MANY OTHERS THERE.

Riding devices of every description, ten in number and all of them constructed with an aim of "Safety First" ,will be featured on the midway at the Peterborough Exhibition this year, to be held the week of September 12. The riding devices are the pride of the Zeidman and Pollie Shows and they range in size from the mammoth Hey-Day, which requires one and one-half seventy-foot railroad cars to load, to the Lindbergh Hop, a new ride constructed on the type of the old Seaplanes and requiring but two wagons to load. Among the rides will be found the merry-go-round and ferris wheel, familiar and beloved in the days of grandmother, and the Caterpillar, with its thrilling "lover's tunnel." Over the Jumps, with its chariots and animals gaudy in their paintings and gold leaf; the Rocky Road to Dublin, with the quaint little mules and funny little carts. Then there is the Honeymoon Trail for newlyweds and those who would like to be, and the Bug House for those who like a safe thrill with their fun.

Besides the ten riding devices that will be brought to Peterborough by the Zeidman and Pollie Shows, twenty-two separate shows will be erected on what can now be pictured as a virtual world fair midway. More than 400 persons are required to operate the many amusements of this gigantic organization and forty double length railroad cars are needed to transport it from city to city. Far more wagons than are used by all but one circus in existence will be unloaded from the Ziedman and Pollies Shows train and teams of horses, immense tractors and Caterpillars will be used to move those wagons to the fairgrounds.

Floggers Sent To Jail Set Alabama Precedent

ONEONTA, Ala., Aug. 10. —(AP).—With the sentencing yesterday of the last of seven men who participated in the recent flogging of Jefferon Calloway young farmer, a precedent was set in Alabama. Before this trial no one had been convicted in this State for masked floggings.

To-day's five principals entered pleas of guilty and were fined $500 each and sentenced to serve six months in jail on charges of inciting to riot. They are Dr. L. S. Fennell, Amos Covington, Peter Carlisle, Chester Clayton and Clifton Clayton.

The first of the cases growing out of the Calloway flogging was tried last week. It culminated in the sentencing of Eugent Doss and L. A. Clayton to terms of from eight to ten years each in the State penitentiary. The pair were the only persons found guilty of charges of kidnapping in Alabama in more than two score years.

DELORO SCOUTS UNDER CANVAS

FIRST CAMP.

MARMORA, August 10. — The 1st Deloro Troop Boy Scouts went into camp on Saturday last under the direction of Scout-master S. B. Cheeseman. The camp is situated on the shore of Crowe Lake about an half mile west of Booster Park.

This is the boys first experience under canvas so that even the morning Nujol parade is tinged with the glamour of the occasion.

Roland Cheeseman, of Toronto, is present as swimming and signalling instructor, so that considerable progress will be made in test passing.

Two features of the programme still being anticipated are the treasure hunt and a back-to-native fishing trip when the boys, armed with no tackle other than horn and vines secured in the surrounding woods, will attempt to beguile the denizens of the lake who by now perhaps are rather bored with the sophisticated lures of the complete angler. The regular visitors time is Sunday afternoon although any passing traveller is welcome to a seat around the evening camp fire when the day is closed with story and song.

CROPS ARE GOOD NEAR MARMORA

Hay Crop Very Heavy—Some Spoiled—Grain Looking Good.

SOME POTATO ROT.

MARMORA, Aug. 10.—Generally speaking, the crops this year in the Marmora district give little cause for complaint. Rain has interfered with the storage of hay in many cases and on nearly every farm a quantity has been spoilt. The crop, however, is abundant.

Slyvester Phillips who owns an 140 acre farm in Marmora township has drawn in forty-one loads of hay and expects to take in another nineteen loads off about forty acres.

Wheat, oats, and fall grain look good on every hand. Potatoes show signs of rot in some cases. The year's second crop of alfalfa looks exceedingly promising.

NEW LIGHTING AT CAMPBELLFORD

Streets Well Lighted By New System—More To Be Placed.

ON MAIN STREETS.

CAMPBELLFORD, Aug. 10.— The power was turned on Campbellford's new street lights for the first time last night. Those who had to do with the placement of these are to be congratulated. Front street, between Bridge and Market, looks good. Bridge street could stand a few more lamps, which it is the intention of the commissoin to place. The light in front of Birmingham's hardware is well placed, but another a little further up on the opposite side, is said to be under consideration, as is also a light in front of the Bridge street entrance to Ferris' store.

LAKEFIELD NEWS

LAKEFIELD, Aug. 10.—Lakefield is living up to its old reputation as the home of athletes, as in the Stoney Lake regatta Jack Ridpath won the championship cup for points, and at the children's regatta the championship cup was won by Theo Elmsley. Lakefield is proud of its champions.

Miss Edith Spence, who is a pupil of Miss Grylls, took honors in her elementary music examinations at the Conservatory of Music.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Chappell, Misses Ida Webster, Helen Watson, Winifred Payne, Odell Watson, Amy Watson, Goldie Wannamaker, Grace Watson and Dorothy Holmes and Messrs. C. C. Stenner, W. Wannamaker and E. Robertshaw attended the Peterborough District A.Y.P.A. picnic at Wallace's Point on Thursday last.

Mrs. (Rev.) S. A. Kemp and a number of the girls in the C.G.I.T. group of the Regent Street Church are in camp at Ayotte's Point, Clear Lake, and are having a delightful time. The girls at present in camp are Misses Janet Charlton, Merle Crawford, Helen Everett, Margaret Richardson, Irene Sanderson, Marion Wagar and Hannah Webster. Master Gray Kemp is the camp mascot.

The Royal Black Knights Preceptory of Lakefield attended Knox United Church in a body on Sunday evening. Rev. S. A. Kemp delivered an inspiring sermon, and the choir rendered appropriate music. The Knights wore their full regalia and were accompanied by the Citizens' Band.

A moonlight excursion will be held on Friday evening, August 12, under the auspices of the employees of the Canada Cement Co. The excursion will board the steamer Stoney Lake and proceed to Juniper Island, where a couple of hours will be spent.

Deer Bay.

A successful concert was held at Bay View Hotel, Deer Bay, on the evening of Friday, July 29. There was a large attendance made up of guests at the hotel, neighboring cottagers and campers, and the neighboring farmers and their families. The North Smith Brass Band was in attendance and rendered several selections, which were greatly appreciated. Mr. T. J. Underwood, of Pittsburgh, filled the role of chairman in his inimitable fashion, keeping the audience in roars of laughter by his witticisms.

The following is the programme:

Chairman's address—T. J. Underwood.
Solo—Miss Edna Harrison.
Speech—Bob Beman.
Duet—Miss Mary Nicholls and Everett Graham.
Band selection.
Piano solo—Mrs. Shatto.

School Furniture Inventory Is Made

LONDON, Ont., Aug. 10.—(By Canadian Press).—An inventory of all articles of furniture in the public and high schools of this city fought for two years by Trustee Mrs. J. I. A. Hunt, has now been prepared. The inventory was called for by the Board of Education after it was found that a number of chairs in a certain school were missing and had been located in a local second-hand shop. From now on no articles of furniture will be exchanged from one school to another without the consent of the works superintendent and he will also decided on the disposal of all old furniture.

HARVEST DELAYED AT BAILIEBORO

Held Up By Heavy Rains — Some Wheat and Alsike Cut.

BAILIEBORO, August 10. — Harvest in the district has been held up for the last couple of days by the heavy rains. The majority of farmers have their wheat and alsike cut, but the greater part of it is still in the fields. Some of the peas and barley are cut, and are a good average crop. The cutting of oats will commence in some places the last of the week. Oats, as a rule, are heavily rusted, but the grain is fully enough developed to assure a good yield.

PARADE DATE SET FOR WAR VETERANS

Princes To Review Ex-Service Men on August 30th.

OTTAWA, Ont., August 10 (Canadian Press). — August 30th has been set as the date of a parade of ex-service men of Canada, veterans of the wars of the Empire, which is to be reviewed in Toronto by Their Excellencies, the Prince of Wales, and Prince George.

A message to this effect from Admiral Sir Lionel Halsey, personal aide to the Prince of Wales, was received yesterday by Lieut.-Colonel L. R. Lefleche, acting National President of the Canadian Legion of the British Empire Service League.

The review will take place at the Canadian National Exhibition Grounds during the Toronto Exhibition. Veterans from every part of the Dominion are to march in the parade.

YOUTH DROWNED.

Fell From Dredge While Talking To Members Of Crew.

RIVIERE DU LOUP, Que, August 10 (Canadian Press). — Arthur Berube, a youth of 16, was drowned here. A dredger came into the quay and young Berube, with a companion, boarded the dredger to talk with members of the crew. His foot slipped, and he fell into the water. Although every effort was made to save him he had disappeared before assistance could be given. Berube was employed in a lawyer's office at Riviere du Loup.

M JAIL TO JAIL CANADIAN WANDERS ACROSS CONTINENT

Shanghaied On Ship, Man Has Series of Troubles For Lack of Papers.

COMES BACK TO FARM.

MONTREAL, Aug. 10.—The peaceful life of a farm worker in Canada looks "mighty good" after half a year of life in various prisons, where he was held because he could not prove his Canadian citizenship, according to C. Wark, repatriated Canadian, who has been placed in farm work by the Colonization and Agricultural Department of the Canadian National Railways. Before his departure for Lacolle, Mr. Wark, who reached Canada on the Cunard liner Ausonia, related a tale of having been "shanghaied" aboard a French freighter, carried to Sicily and there discharged—stranded—to undergo many hardships before securing his return to Canada. According to Mr. Wark, this was his third voyage "before the mast," and it will be his last, the Canadian farm looking attractive after his adventures.

Claims He Was Tricked.

In his statement made at the Colonization office of the Canadian National Railways at Bonaventure Station, where employment was found for him, Mr. Wark stated that in December last he had been offered employment as a fireman on a French freighter, the S. S. Leopold, of Marseilles registry, then lying at Quebec. Fare to Quebec, Canadian wages and free return to Canada were offered, he declared. He and a companion, therefore, went to Quebec, and, arriving there late at night, went aboard the Leopold to interview the Captain. Wark declares he asked the Captain regarding wages and his return to Canada, and was told to retire to the crew's headquarters for the night, as it was late, and the details of engagement would be discussed in the morning. With his companion, Wark retired, and next morning awoke to find the vessel steaming down the St. Lawrence, while he and his mate were aboard without any papers which would identify them. They had no choice but to continue the voyage to Catania, Sicily, where they were informed that the crew was to be paid off and replaced by a French crew.

Wark claims he was then refused return passage to Canada, and on seeking an interview with the nearest British Consul, was informed that that official could do nothing for him, as he had neither birth certificate, passport nor other papers to identify himself.

Held as Spies.

With his companion, Wark therefore took a train, intending to cross France and try to reach England. When they reached the Italian border, however, they were stopped by Italian border police, and as they could produce no passports, were held as suspected French spies. Three days later they were released by the Italian police and passed over the French border, where they were immediately arrested by the French border police and held under heavy guard, as trouble was then brewing between France and Italy. At the end of two days they were again released, and proceeded to Le Havre, where Wark again went before the British Consul. Here again he was told that nothing could be done for him, so he went to work for three weeks unloading coal vessels. He then got passage to Cardiff on an English ship, and arriving there, he declares, he found that, though the crew were being paid off, his pay was refused because he had no papers which would admit him to Britain.

Deported From Britain.

On Feb. 5, Wark states, he was brought before the immigration authorities and was sent to London, where he was further examined. He was refused permission to visit the High Commissioner's office, he claims, and also permission to cable his parents at Bobbington, near Owen Sound, Ont., to establish his identity. On the following day he was deported to Dunkirk, France, for having entered Britain without proper passports.

"From Dunkirk," Wark stated, "I took the train to Antwerp, and after I had been there four days, and my funds had given out, I was arrested by the police and brought before a Magistrate. As near as I could understand through the interpreter, I was sentenced to eight days on a vagrancy charge, and at the end of that time, with other prisoners, I was taken by the police to Hoogstraeton, put in prison clothes, fed on prison fare, and put to work on a farm, under heavy guard, being promised wages which about equalled one Canadian dollar per year. I was given to understand that I was simply being held there until it could be arranged to send me back to Canada. On May 3 I had become tired of this, however, and with a Czechoslovak fellow-prisoner made my escape while working in the fields and ran for the border of Holland, which we reached at 7 o'clock in the evening.

Eluded Border Patrol.

"There we found border police on patrol, and to escape them had to swim a river. After reaching Dutch soil we travelled ten kilometres, and came to a town, where we were immediately arrested. We were returned to Belgium, but not handed over to the police, and managed to make our way back into Holland again. We reached the town of Dorp, and were again arrested and returned across the Belgian border. Again we crossed to Holland, this time reaching the border on our hands and knees at night, and hoping to cross Holland to Germany. We got within thirty kilometres of that country when we were again caught and taken before the Burgomaster at Barnstadt. He took an interest in our story, provided us with boots and socks, both of which we were without, and finally sent us to Cologne. There I went to the British Consul, who, after a lengthy interview, gave me train fare as far as Hambourg. There I visited another Consular official, who said: 'Well, you appear to have walked all across Belgium, I would suggest you walk back again.'

Escaped From Ship.

"I then went to the city police, who gave me a passport allowing me to stay in the city for six days, and advising the Consul that he must get me out of Germany within that period. At the end of five days I was called and told I was to be placed aboard a British ship sailing for Canada. When I got on the boat I found she was sailing to North Shields, England, thence to Buenos Aires and then back to Hambourg. In spite of the Captain's threat to put me in irons for attempting desertion, I managed to escape from the ship at North Shields—broke—and by subsisting on bread and cheese, tramped my way to London, 280 miles, in two weeks. At the end of that walk I was again arrested by London police and sent to a workhouse, where the condition of my feet and legs was such that a doctor ordered me kept in bed for a week before I was allowed to visit Canada House.

"When I finally reached Canada House I was told that nothing could be done for me. I finally got them to cable to my people, but at the end of a week was told there was no reply to the cable. Another week later I was taken ill with diphtheria and tonsilitis, and sent to a hospital for two weeks and then back to the workhouse to recuperate. When I returned to Canada House I found a cable waiting which established my identity, but I was informed that there were no funds to take care of stranded seamen, and they could not help me. One of the secretaries did, however, give me two shillings to keep me going until there was a reply to a cable they had sent asking Ottawa to repatriate me. I was still in part of the rags of prison clothing I had worn when escaping from Hoogstraeton, and I was moved from the workhouse to another place. After three days Ottawa cabled that I was to be repatriated, and the High Commissioner's office then provided me with a pair of pants and jacket, second-hand, and informed me that I was to be returned to Canada on a passenger ship.

"And my case is not a solitary one. In the prison at Hoogstraeton there were three Canadians, with birth certificates and discharges, all held because they have not proper passports and unable to secure help from the British Consul, as I was. It is for them that I want to bring this matter to the attention of Canadians rather than for myself—for my troubles are over, I'm back in Canada and I've got a job."

F. H. Benedict, Cobourg, Ont., writes:

Our Pease Mogul Boiler is giving the best of satisfaction. This boiler requires little attention, is easy on fuel, and always has the house warm and of the same temperature in every room, even in weather of 20 degrees below zero. I delayed writing you until we had some extreme cold weather, but can now say that its heating qualities are even better than I could have expected.

Pease "MOGUL" Boiler

HUNGER THREATENS ICE CREAM VENDORS.

By Nea Service

LONDON, Aug. 10.—This has been a cold summer in England—such a cold one, in fact, that vendors of ice cream are face to face with bankruptcy. There are more than 900 such peddlers in London, and the impending starvation of 900 persons is a big enough problem to bother God about.

At least, so said Signor Pomps, leader of those who sell ice cream. So Signor Pomps arranged a special high mass to be celebrated at Clarkenwell as an act of supplication for warm and sunny weather so that other people would suffer from the heat—and buy ice cream.

But on the morning the mass was to be held, only half a dozen of the 900 vendors appeared. The reason was that the sun came out bright and hot that day and most of the peddlers were busy at their trade.

Cognawagas Win Place in the League Finals

WIN SHUT-OUT VICTORY 3-0 FROM RAYS

Vannest For Victors Allows Four Hits and Fans Ten.

ERRORS COSTLY.

Double Win For Bethany Tie Crescents—Raybestos For Second Place.

With Vannest going strong all the way, Conawagas scored a shutout over Raybestos by 3 to 0 at Exhibition Park, last evening, and made sure of a place in the East Peterborough League finals. Raybestos, as a result of the loss are out of luck unless Bethany takes two wins from Crescents, who entertain the Durhamites here this evening and go to Bethany on Friday evening. A double win for Bethany would tie Crescents and Raybestos for second place.

A big crowd of fans saw a smart game of baseball last evening. Vannest in turning in one of his best performances of the season, fanned ten and allowed but four hits, one a dubious double, when Cripps lost a long fly from Beavis, after a hard chase. Maudsley also was in good form, and on perfect fielding by the Raybestos infield, the Cogs would have been held away from the counting station.

Cripps was the star fielding performer with two fine running catches.

Cogs grabbed a pair of handy runs in the second after two were out. Wilson popped to Moore and Delahaye who took one of Maudsley's slants went down to first and stole second. Howden struckout. Delahaye took a long lead to third when Weese grounded to Hillier. The throw to first was dropped by Corrin, and Delahaye took advantage of the play to get home. Vannest shot a triple over Beavis to score Weese. Prest walked, and when Vannest tried to score on a short passed ball, Maudsley went to the plate to get the throw from the catcher and tag the runner.

Raybestos had a chance to tally in the third. H. Nicholls accepted one in the ribs and walked. Masterson fanned and Maudsley forced the runner to second. Hillier singled to left and they advanced, only to be left stranded when Moore fanned.

The Cogs' half was featured by a good-looking play by Rogers. Rooke was caught off first base on a throw from Maudsley, and when sandwiched by Corrin and Moore, coaxed the former away from the bag in an attempt to get back. And the runner might have succeeded had not Rogers sauntered down to first to take the final peg and make the putout.

Harold Nicholls' wild peg to first paved the way for the third run in the fifth when Vannest got on and made second, taking third on Prest's infield out and scoring on Crary's sacrifice fly to Beavis.

Raybestos displayed a short spurt in the seventh but failed to make the grade. Beavis fanned, and Manager Coursey, batting for O. Nicholls, sent a high foul to Bill Prest. H. Nicholls singled into ueft. Masterson was safe when Delahaye dropped the third strike and loafed on the play. Maudsley ended it with a short fly to Vannest.

Bert Abbe Wins In Racing Classic

GOSHEN, N.Y., Aug. 10.—(Canadian Press).—Bert Abbe again showed a clean pair of heels to the American pacing Derby winner when he defeated Prue Grattan in straight heats for first money of the John Gentry purse of $5,000 in the 2:10 pace, concluding event of the first day's programme of the Orange County Circuit meeting here yesterday.

The track was somewhat heavy after hard showers Monday night, but the first two heats of the pace were travelled in the excellent time of 2:05 3-4 each.

YELVERTON WINS LEAGUE HONOURS

PONTYPOOL, Aug. 10.—Before one of the largest crowds this season Yelverton defeated Pontypool on the local diamond, the score being 3-2, the same as the first game. Clarke pitched well for the losers, having 11 strikeouts and allowing only 5 hits. Wilson had 2 strikeouts and allowed 9 hits, which were well scattered, not more than two coming in in any inning.

The Yelverton infield played great ball and pulled off two very fast double plays. Pontypool threatened on several occasions and filled the bases, but the necessary hit wasn't forthcoming. The only extra base hits were two-baggers by Wilson, Heaslip and Bannon.

After the game Mr. Charles Hickling, of Toronto, presented Mr. Geo. Heaslip, captain of the Yelverton team, with a handsome cup, the same to become the property of the team winning it the most times in five years.

Best of good feeling existed between the two teams, and the Yelverton team was congratulated by the local team and given great applause. The local team is the best aggregation of ball players to represent Pontypool on the diamond for many years, and the fans have been seeing a brand of ball which is of the best calibre. The officers of the local club are: Manager, Albert Stewart; assistant manager, E. Masters; captain, O. Bannon, and secretary, J. Payne. They are to be congratulated on the success of their team for the first year, and are hoping to see the cup come back here next year.

The line-up:

Yelverton—W. Heaslip, 3b; C. McGill, c; E. Capstick, 1b; C. Evans, 2b; W. Kerr, ss; H. Wilson, p; A. Wilson, rf; G. Heaslip, lf; G. Kerr, cf; D. Wilson, lf.

Pontypool—Mitchell, 1b; Clarke, p; Payne, 3b; Bannon, c; Chapman, cf; L. Lowery, 2b; Taylor, rf; Stewart, lf; Walker, ss.

Score by innings:

Yelverton	120000—3
Pontypool	010010—2

Umpires—Sisson, plate; Chapman, bases.

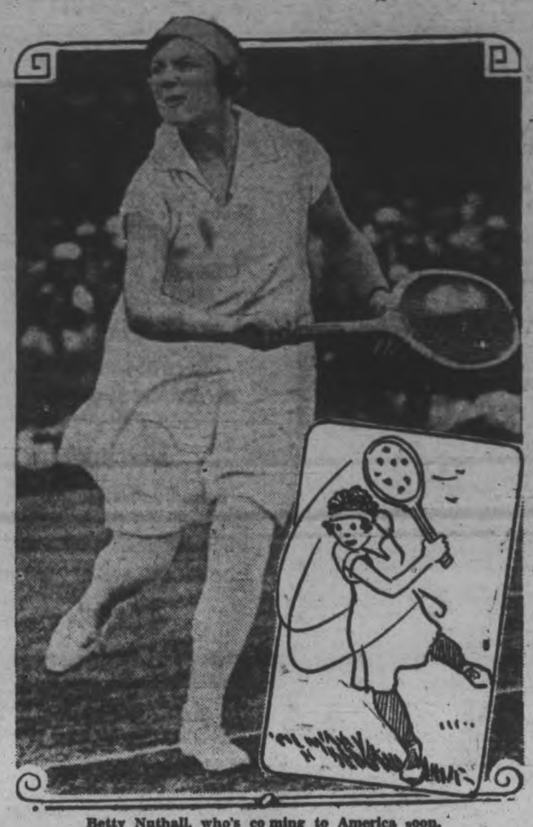
Fraulein Hauptlein, of Elberfield, has beaten her own world record for putting the weight with the new distance of 11.71 metres.

MAY BE NEXT TENNIS QUEEN



Betty Nuthall, who's coming to America soon.

LONDON, Aug. 10.—Want to see a Briton grin? Or start flag waving? Or squaring off his shoulders and boasting a bit?

Just say—Betty!

Betty Nuthall is the candy kid in England these days because on her all England pins its hopes of a British successor to the throne in tennis once held by Suzanne Lenglen.

Should Betty ever acquire that standing in the tennis world she'll be ever so much more popular than Suzanne was—not only with Britons but also with Americans.

Of course, Britons were disappointed just a wee bit this year, when Betty lost out, but no one really expected her to stand the pace that eventually won for Helen Wills the singles championship at Wimbledon.

Yet during the tournament, she defeated two of the most formidable entries, Fraulein Aussem, the 16-year-old German star, who had been called the "German Lenglen", and Mrs. Molla Mallory, many times American woman champion.

With such a record to her credit, the tennis friends over here look forward to the day an epic contest between their Betty and our own little Helen Wills will take place.

Like Suzanne, Betty was destined for tennis glories from her cradle. Stuart Nuthall and his wife trained Betty, and they were both good tennis players from tennis playing families.

The child made her first appearance in regular tennis when she was nine years old. She was entered in the Surrey junior championships, almost rejected because of her tender years by the officials.

But Betty got in because of her parents and proceeded to beat her opponents — twice her height and many times older!

Betty progressed from then on. When her father moved to Richmond he had a hard court built in his spacious gardens where she could practice day and night. So that schooling would not interfere with her tennis, he brought the school to her by hiring an instructress. Her opponents were well-known players who visited her parents.

In 1924 she made a clean sweep of the junior championships of the United Kingdom, winning in singles, doubles and mixed.

Just as her father was on the point of taking her to the Riviera to play, he died. Later, however, her mother took her to southern France and there she played with the great Henri Cochet and won the mixed doubles at Beaulieu.

Ever since then she has played steadily in women's contests in England and has given a good account of herself in every tournament.

Her wins over Fraulein Aussem and Mrs. Mallory made her the best drawing card the famous Wimbledon tournament has ever had. Even Suzanne in her glory did not draw bigger crowds.

You see, the British are more enthusiastic than ever now that they have in Betty an English girl to cheer.

BISONS TAKE DOUBLE HEADER

Defeat Reading 2-1 and 11-2—Bisonette's 20th Homer Wins First.

BEARS WIN 7-1.

NEW YORK, N.Y., August 10 (Canadian Press). — Buffalo defeated Reading in both ends of a doubleheader at Reading yesterday, 2 to 1 and 11 to 2. Del Bissonette's 20th home run of the season, scoring Fisher ahead of him, won the first game for the Bisons. The Herd walloped three Reading pitchers to easily win the second game.

At Newark, Bill Moore's fine pitching in pinches, with hard and timely batting by Conlan, Elliott, Kelly, and Manion, gave the Bears the third straight victory over the Rochester Tribe by the score of 7 to 1.

At Jersey City, Erwin Brame hurled a two-hit game yesterday, and the Jerseys captured the final game of the series from Syracuse, 4 to 0.

Baltimore and Toronto were not scheduled.

Getz Given Permission To Stage Dempsey Bout

CHICAGO, Aug. 10.—(Canadian Press).—George F. Getz, the millionaire coal operator and promoter of fights for the civic glory of Chicago, was given permission yesterday by the Illinois State Athletic Commission to stage the Dempsey-Tunney heavyweight battle in Soldiers' Field, Tuesday night, September 22.

The Commission, in addition to approving the date, also approved the scale of ticket prices, ranging down from $40 to $15.

The Commission, however, decided that it would need to inspect the blueprint of the field before Tex Rickard could place the tickets on sale. The Commissioners wanted to know where the various priced seats will be located before they would permit any to be sold. The plans probably will be presented to the Commission at its regular meeting next Tuesday.

GEHRIG MAKES 38TH HOME RUN

Circuit Blow Advances His Lead on Ruth to Three.

YANKS LOSE 8-1.

NEW YORK, N.Y., August 10 (Canadian Press). — Lou Gehrig's 38th circuit drive of the season in the ninth inning yesterday averted the Yankees' first shut-out of the year, but did not materially affect an 8 to 1 triumph for the Athletics at Philadelphia. Gehrig's rap advanced his lead on Babe Ruth to three. Dutch Ruether started for the New Yorkers, but gave way to Pipgras after six innings. All the Mackmen hit safely, Cob band French getting three apiece, a double, and two singles for each. Rube Walberg checked the Yanks with six hits.

At Washington, the Senators gained an even series break with the Cleveland Indians by taking yesterday's game 4 to 2. Buckeye, who has never won a game from the Senators, was pounded out of the box in the seventh. Thurston held Cleveland in check with nine scattered hits.

Chicago and St. Louis were not scheduled.

ROBINS GAIN ON CUBS' LEAD

Split Double Header at Chicago While Pirates Defeat Giants.

THREE GAME LEAD.

NEW YORK, Aug. 10.—(Canadian Press).—Brooklyn sliced Chicago's lead in the National to three games yesterday by forcing the Cubs to split a double header at Chicago while the Pirates were defeating the Giants at Pittsburgh 7 to 6.

The Bruins shut out the Robins in the opener by 2 to 0 but lost the aftermath 5 to 4. An overflow crowd estimated to have been close to 40,000 was on hand and made necessary the enforcement of ground rules.

Jess Petty and Hal Carlson hooked up in a pitching duel in the first game, Carlson gaining the edge to turn in his ninth victory for the Cubs which stretched Cubs winning streak to nine also. It was the ninth shutout against the Robins this season. Thus far the Cubs have won thirteen out of fifteen starts against Brooklyn.

Guy Bush was pounded hard in the fourth and fifth innings of the closing fray, when bunched hits gave the Robins all their runs. Clark replaced Doak when a Cubs' rally threatened in the fifth.

Hartnett Spiked.

"Gabby" Hartnett the Cubs' best catcher, was spiked on the foot by Felix as the latter attempted to score in the second inning of the second game. The catcher probably will be out of the game for a couple of days.

Pittsburg's victory over the Giants came when Paul Waner's double in the ninth drove in the deciding run after the New Yorkers had tied the count in their half of the same session.

Meadows, starting pitcher for the Corsairs, was driven out during a two run rally in the last frame, Carmen Hill assuming the mound. Fitzsimmons was sent into the box by McGraw to hold the Pirates in their half. After Gooch was retired, Hill, singled and Lloyd Waner forced him. Grantham then walked and Lloyd's brother drove a long hit to right, scoring the margin of victory.

The batting of Wright and Barnhardt featured, the latter sending in three runs with a triple and double while Wright had a perfect day in four times up.

Kiki Cuyler, fleet Corsair outfielder who was fined $50 seevral days ago for failure to slide into second base during a recent game, was benched yesterday, Barnhart replacing him.

CLERKS WIN FINAL GAME

Beat Hydro 18-17 — Crowd Spoils Players' Efforts.

RIGHT ON DIAMOND.

CAMPBELLFORD, Aug. 10.—By one run, 18 to 17, Hydro lost to the Clerks last night. This means that the Clerks will now meet the Millionaires for the league cup.

The game last night was a good exhibition of lack of control. Baseball playing was entirely out of the question; the crowd made it impossible for a runner to reach first without a detour towards the pitcher's box. The catching of flies in the direction of first base was entirely out of the question. The umpire was forced to stand almost on the plate to accommodate the mob that wanted to get a close-up of the batter.

Lack of control on the part of those whose duty it is to see that proper conditions prevail on the grounds has marked the games throughout the season, but at no time quite so bad as last night.

MAY RACE EACH OTHER

Two brothers may race each other in the coming $50,000 Canadian National Exhibition swimming marathon. Peter Myer, left, was the hard-luck swimmer who was carried south by the tide off the Catalina coast, and missed the breakwater in his effort to win the Wrigley $25,000 in January. His brother, on the right, will act as his trainer, and may enter himself for the swim.

Star Sterling's Problem

A Serial for Boys - By BERT REED

No. 6.

OUT OF A BAD HOLE.

The face of Chip Bascombe, captain of the Beamville team, glowed with eager anticipation.

"It's a cinch," he urged guardedly. "Drop it in his glass of water at the table to-night. I'll start something at the other end of the room. Before the noise is over, slip it in. There's a job on the Beamville team waiting for you. It's like finding a roll of money."

It was a stocky, well-built fellow Bascombe addressed. The rough, rugged look gave one the impression of a certain "toughness" acquired through long association with certain types of sporting men. An older person might have called him sophisticated.

"You can give me the job on my rep on the field," he argued. "This kind of a game ain't in my line. I'll shave the corners of the bags, and let the other guy take chances with my spikes, but—"

"Your only chance of playing ball with our crowd, Grahame," Bascombe cut in shortly, "is to put this over to-night. Beamville is going to gather in the flag. If you won't do it, I'll put it myself, but you won't be in the picture."

Bascombe's eyes shone with unholy triumph as he pulled a small package from his pocket.

"Now you're listening to reason," he exclaimed. "The stuff won't do him any harm—just knock him out for the game and crowd the Riverviews into second place."

The other stretched out his hand, took the package, and without another word walked quickly away.

Sterling had left the brighter lights of Long Point far behind. He had started out for a walk and had passed the more respectable quarter of the town. That afternoon he had brought the Riverviews over to play Long Point in one of the Silver River League games on the following day. Just now he was worried. Shortly after dinner Larkspur, who was playing short, had been taken suddenly ill, and the doctor who had been called in ordered Lark to bed. With one man short, Starr was in a bad way. He had only nine men on the Riverview team and, consequently, had to depend on every man in order to play in the league.

His bright manly face was clouded and thoughtful. Lark's illness was mysterious. Through the whole summer, never once had he complained of illness of any kind, and now, in an instant it seemed, he was in bed under the doctor's care.

The Riverviews were still holding first place in the league, but the Beamville team was pushing them hard. Should they drop this game to Long Point, they would step into second place in the league, for on the previous day Beamville had won their game with Cedarvale. If Larkspur's illness was serious, the possibility of disbanding altogether faced Starr.

Sterling had not noticed the direction he had taken. As he looked around him for the first time, he saw that he was in Lower Town.

Lower Town harbored the least desirable of Long Point's population. Few of the visitors who made Long Point their summer home strayed in that direction. And fewer still chose midnight for such an excursion. It is quite likely that Sterling would have chosen another route had his mind been centred on his journey, but Larkspur's sudden illness had driven everything else from Starr's mind.

The narrow streets seemed deserted, and he was about to retrace his steps when, from around the corner, came the sound of a scuffle. Two quick steps and a sight confronted Sterling that set every nerve a-tingling. One lone boy backed to the wall was pluckily withstanding the attack of three apparently much older than himself.

"Soak him, Spike," urged one of the young toughs. "Knock de sneak's face in."

Sterling was a chap who never sought trouble, yet few youngsters of his age could defend themselves as well as he. Clean minded as well as clean limbed, he had always kept himself in perfect condition, and now the unequal struggle aroused his fighting blood.

With a spring he was amongst them. His hands clutched the collars of the two nearest. Before they realized that another had appeared upon the scene, the whole street seemed filled with stars, for Sterling had brought their two heads together with terrific impact, then with a sweep flung them both aside.

The victim of the attack was already staggering under the blows that had been rained upon him. The third assailant landed a left full on the point of his chin, and for a moment he swayed dizzily. Another blow would crumple him up.

Sterling closed in on that blow before it could land, swinging a stinging left on the side of the fellow's jaw. Then he jumped to the side of the boy against the wall. "Steady, old man," he called cheerily, "we'll have these fellows on the run in short order."

There was no time for further orders. The first two had scrambled to their feet and joined the third in a combined onslaught. For the next few minutes Starr was kept busy.

His arms worked like the pistons of a locomotive. Again and again they found their mark on the faces and bodies of his antagonists.

Relieved from the onslaught of three, the boy with the smile was handling himself like a veteran.

Then, with the force of a sledge hammer, the man in front of Sterling swung. Starr ducked—and his hard fist met only the brick wall. Sterling heard the bones of his hand crack.

With a curse, his arm dropped useless. Remorselessly, Sterling drove a rapid left and right to the ribs and chin. Like a sheet of paper the man crumpled up.

With one apiece, the fight was on fairer ground, and the two boys flung themselves upon the remaining two with renewed energy.

Smash! The stranger had ripped out a crashing blow that sent one of the remaining two backwards. He did not renew the attack, but disappeared into the darkness. The first had already vanished. The third, who faced Sterling, followed the trail the others had made.

Starr turned to the chap he had befriended.

"Pretty tough game while it lasted," he grinned.

"Say," gasped the other, "you're some fast worker. Where did you drop from? Mulligan will be nursing that mit of his for the next three months."

"You know them?" questioned Sterling.

"Know them? You bet your last pair of pajamas. I know them. Tim Mulligan, Spike Driscoll, and Rat Howland. They've been trying to get me ever since they were jerked for a little job they pulled when they stole Doc White's Ford. Thought I squealed—"

"Did you?" asked Sterling.

"No chance. What do you think I am?" he answered resentfully. "But say, who are you? Gimme your mit. The guy that can handle his dukes the way you ladled the soothing syrup out to those birds can travel with me all the way."

"Sterling is my name," smiled Starr. "I'm with the Riverview team."

"Sterling!" stammered the other, dropping Starr's hand and backing away. "Sterling!"

"The same," returned Starr. "What's the trouble?"

"Nothing," mumbled the other. "Nothing, but say—thanks for the lift." Then he turned abruptly and hurried away into the night.

"A first draft of the new system was submitted to the chief appraiser at Ottawa. In our discussion with the chief appraiser, it developed that there were irregularities in the plan. the appraiser making some suggestions which your committee thought were in order. Later on those plans were revised. Instead of having one plan to cover the entire European market, it was though advisable to have five different sets of prices. The new schedules were prepared and submitted to Ottawa on March 18. We understand that the chief appraiser has forwarded these schedules to Europe, as it is necessary to prove if the values shown on the schedules are fair market values for home consumption in each of the foreign countries.

"No word has been received from the chief appraiser since our plans were submitted and we assume that he will not have any further word for us until he receives the new schedudes back from Europe, which will probably be in three or four months."

Tour Marble Works

The reading of this report concluded the afternoon session, and then the visitors were transported by buses to the Ontario Marble Works, where a tour of inspection was made under the direction of the manager, J. F. Rudin.

From here the visitors motored to the famous Lift Locks, where all expressed their intense admiration of such a remarkable piece of engineering construction. Following dinner at the Empress, a theatre party was held by the ladies of the convention, while the meeting of the members began at 8.30 p.m.

More Monumentless Cemeteries.

A special feature of the convention was the interesting address delivered in an inspiring manner by H. S. McLeod: "Is the Monumentless Cemetery Affecting Our Industry?"

"A few years ago," began Mr. McLeod, "the monumentless cemetery was a thing unheard of, and when it first did become an actual thing, men in our industry took little heed, expecting its passing in a short while. United States monumental men scoffed at the idea a short time ago, but the States now has hundreds of those monumentless cemeteries."

Toronto men of the industry claimed that they would never reach Canada, but that city now has five of these cemeteries, of landscape. There is only one way to stop it, and that is by making monument cemeteries into more artistic places; to co-operate with the cemetery superintendents who have ideas of the correct and more beautiful method of placing stones in the cemeteries.

"Many of these non-monumental cemeteries are but real estate offers, and it is my belief that a cemetery is a sacred place, not a money-making scheme, and so it is up to you men gathered here tonight to co-operate and make it a place not only for the remains of the dead, but a beauty spot where the living will care to go," he concluded.

It was decided at the convention to send a representative to the annual meeting of the Workmen's Compensation Association, held in May.

This morning the delegates to the convention left for a motor trip to South Beach and from there will take a trip on the boat through the Kawartha Lakes, returning to the city at nine o'clock tonight.

BEETON CRIME IS BLAMED FOR MORE DEATHS

Two Children of Samuel Neils Were Killed By Dynamite in June.

Eight Men Now Held On Various Charges of Theft and Receiving.

BEETON, August 10. — Beeton's crime wave which went on uninterrupted for two years or more, was responsible for three deaths—Daniel Forsyth, the marauder who attacked Alexander Hodge and two children of Samuel Nevils, farmer and serious injury to a third child. The two children died and the third was injured by exploding dynamite caps found in the barn of their father on June 27, but it was not until yesterday that the tragic affair on the Nevils' farm was charged up to principals in the Beeton crime wave.

In a statement full of sensational details obtained last night by the Ontario Provincial Police from one of the seven men charged with cattle stealing or other offences the charge is made that the explosive kept in the barn on the Nevils farm was placed there by Daniel Forsyth, the dead marauder, and was to be used in safe-blowing operations in the Beeton district. This is the most sensational development of the many important revelations which have come since Alexander Hodge was attacked in his lonely farmhouse.

The revelations regarding the dynamite came fast upon the arrest yesterday of Samuel Nevils, father of the three children, upon the charge of stealing ten head of cattle from John Dermott and receiving some clothing stolen in one of the many robberies.

Just after the arrest of the father, word came from Barrie that his 3-year-old daughter, Martha, had succumbed to injuries received in the explosion on June 27. The third child is still in the Barrie Hospital.

William Langley, farmer, was the seventh man arrested yesterday. He was taken on his farm in Adjala Township, and charged along with Samuel Nevils with the theft of ten head of cattle from the farm of John Dermott. He was also arrested after Samuel Nevils had made his statement to the police. Langley protested his arrest, claiming that his crops would be ruined unless taken off at once. He was however induced to accompany the officers to the Barrie jail.

Partnership Dissolved.

Another significant development yesterday was an announcement that the partnership existing between Joseph McDermott and his brother-in-law Charles Hamill, had been dissolved. McDermott and Hamill were the two drovers who paid over the money to Hodge the night he was attacked. Hamill is asking for an accounting of the partnership. McDermott is in jail on charges of perjury, receiving stolen property, and also with receiving stolen cattle.

The two more arrests made yesterday brought the number in custody to seven, although Samuel Nevils is on bail to attend his child's funeral.

He will return to the police cells Thursday according to an undertaking he gave the police and his bonds man, Charles Hamill, who acted solely upon compassionate grounds, and at the urgent wish of Dr. Keith Rogers, who said Mrs. Nevils was in a serious condition and nearing collapse. Under the tragic circumstances of the case, the provincial police did not oppose the application for bail.

Brothers both Arrested.

Samuel Nevils is a brother of Elwood Nevils the farm hand who has admitted frequent trips in his automobile with Daniel Forsyth to the Edward Hickland farm to fill grips with stolen property, the proceeds of a dozen robberies. Elwood Nevils, the police say, has made a full confession of his participation in the crime wave around Beeton and Cookstown and even other places. The arrest of the brother, Samuel Nevils, followed a statement given to the police by Elwood Nevils, and the further revelations about the dynamite came out yesterday evening after Samuel Nevils had been questioned by the police.

Appearing before Magistrate Jeffs in the Barrie police court yesterday, Alfred Hartley and Reginald Andrews were remanded until Friday at 10 a.m. They were arrested on Monday night, Andrews on two charges of stealing cattle and Hartley with stealing pigs in Tecumseh Township. In one of the charges Andrews is associated with William Langley and Samuel Nevils.

Eighth Arrest Made.

Every arrest that is made seems to bring another. Following a statement by the Provincial Police that William Langley had told them of his alleged connection with the theft of 11 cattle, a warrant was issued last night for the arrest of his neighbor in Adjala Township, Frank Skelly, charging Skelly with stealing nine head of cattle. Skelly was locked up in the Barrie jail with the other six prisoners already there. One is on bail.

In a search of the home of Samuel Nevils the police found a green Axminster rug and a suit of clothes, which were brought to the house by one of the men under arrest. The police are now looking for owners for the rug and clothes.

Police Probing Blast.

Last night Inspector Stringer began an investigation to prove, independent of any statements made to him, that David Forsyth, the dead marauder visited the Samuel Nevils farm and was the owner of the dynamite caps found in the Nevils barn. At the inquest into the death of the Nevils boy it was sworn that the explosive was used to dislodge large rocks on the farm.

According to the police there are no rocks on the Nevils farm large enough to have to be moved by dynamite. Inspector Stringer refused to talk last night about the dynamite feautre of the crime wave but he promised a full investigation mite feature of the crime wave but would be made at once. The father of the children denies making any statement respecting the explosive which injured his children. Owing to the illness of the mother and the death of the child yesterday, the police did not submit Nevils to a lengthy examination.

After the inquest he will be asked to explain some matters which have arisen since Daniel Forsyth was killed in the Alexander Hodge home.

WILL GERMANY EVER HAVE KING

Alarmists see in this picture an indication that Germany is drifting away from democracy towards kaiserism. The picture shows President Paul Von Hindenburg (le ft) who has sworn to uphold the Republic, dressed in his full war-time uniform of old imperial Germany. With him is General Mackensen st aunch imperialist. The picture was taken when the two attended the re cent funeral of Prince Friedrich Sigismund.

(By Milton Bronner, NEA Service Writer.)

BERLIN, Aug. 8.—When you have traveled a lot in Europe, not as a mere sight-seer, but as a trained observer seeking to get at the truth about these people over here, you learn to remain humble. You hesitate to generalize, to draw rapid conclusions, to state as certainties what are after all only surmises or guesses.

For instance; I suppose there is no greater problem connected with Germany than this: Has she become really permanently a republic, or is that only temporary and will monarchy come back?

Answers All Unexpected.

Every time I go to Germany on business I talk with all sorts and conditions of German people in the endeavor to answer the riddle. I can't answer it. I can't even begin to answer it. I would say it was a far more hazardous betting proposition than gambling on the races. When you go to the race track, you at least have in your possession the "form" of the horses, their birth, breeding and past performances. But there is no "form" on Germany. The country was never a republic before.

I sit in a dining car. Opposite me is a prosperous looking German; who might be either a big business man or a Prussian farmer on a large scale—one of the Junker class. I open up the inevitable problem and expect to hear him say the monarchy is sure to come back. He assures me that Germany is done with the monarchy forever, at the same time hastening to say he has no sympathy with either the Socialists or the Communists.

My neighbor in the movies is a chap who looks as if he might be a highly skilled and paid workman. I say to myself he is either a member of the Social Democratic party or a left wing of the Catholic Center. To my surprise, he assures me that the republic will not last and that the people are sure to turn back to a monarch when the time is ripe.

On the movie screen a German film of the first years of the war is shown. The crowd sits silent and only breaks into vigorous applause when old Hindenburg is shown as the victor of the Mazurian Lakes against the Russians. Now some of that applause is for the old monarchist general. But an equal share of that applause is for that same old monarchist who, once elected president of the republic, respected his oath and disappointed the nationalists who expected him to trample upon all signs of democracy.

Anything Can Happen.

So, when you leave Germany the best you can say is this:

Public opinion is in a fluid state. It has been firmly fixed neither in a republican nor in a monarchist mould as yet. The events of the next five or ten years may harden it in one direction or the other. What the former Allies and the world in general do to Germany; what success German industry will have in giving employment to its industrious millions and once more restoring something like a measure of general prosperity and well being; these are the factors that will largely decide whether Germany will go back to a monarchy like England or remain a republic like France.

U. S. TO FINISH EIGHT CRUISERS

Centre of World Political Gravity Is Now Pacific, Says Officer.

BRITAIN PREPARING.

RAPID CITY, S.D., Aug. 10. —The United States will complete construction of eight cruisers which Congress has authorized, and will then determine upon further expansion of the navy, with the likelihood that a big navy programme will be adopted by the administration as the result of the failure of the Geneva conference, it was indicated here yesterday following a conference between President Coolidge and Secretary of the Navy Wilbur.

While both President Coolidge and Secretary Wilbur said nothing more was contemplated than completion of the present program, and both insisted the outcome at Geneva was not involved, there were definite indications of a changed policy on the part of the United States. The attitude of Great Britain, insisting upon the right to build a large navy, appears to have decided the Coolidge Administration in favour of the building of a large number of cruisers by this country.

Not only is it likely the cruiser program will be considerably amplified after the eight authorized have been built, but the air program is expected to be increased. President Coolidge indicated he felt the program of the Morrow Board should not only be carried out, but that the advances made in aviation since the report of the board would result in amplification of the air defences of the United States.

"We expect to go ahead with the building and replacement plan of ship building for the navy as developed by the general board." Secretary Wilbur said, "there will be no changes in plan due to inability to reach agreement at Geneva. The exact details to be presented to the next Congress have not been determined."

Board of Navy at Work

It is understood the general board of the navy is already at work upon a new naval building program, which is to be presented to the budget director and the President in the usual way before being submitted to Congress. When Congress authorized the eight cruisers, the President was given power to cancel the authorization in the event of an agreement at Geneva.

The Administration is hopeful Great Britain will change its position eventually and make an extensive naval building program by this country unnecessary, but since there is no likelihood of an immediate agreement, the United States will begin to build more ships.

With respect to the air defences, Secretary Wilbur let it be known the Government and the Zeppelin Company have been unable to agree upon the construction of the proposed dirigible which was to be three times the size of the Los Angeles. The company has refused to accept the contract on a cost plus basis, Mr. Wilbur said.

When Congress meets, Mr. Wilbur will make a report on this dispute and leave it to Congress to determine whether to go ahead with the building of the ship or not. The dirigible was to cost $4,500,000, and would be constructed to carry three fighting planes.

Mr. Wilbur said he expected the navy would have 1,000 first class fighting planes within five years.

THE ONION FAMILY

Most patients coming to me for advice report that they cannot use onions, although they like them. Some say that onions seem to cause so much gas, and others report having headaches within a few minutes after eating either onion, garlic, leeks, or chives. Those people who consider themselves well will perhaps not be interested in such experiences, but it is not likely that many who are reading this article believe themselves to be in perfect health. Consequently, my readers should be interested in the overwhelming evidence against the onion family.

The onion, as used for food, is the bulb of a plant which is a member of the lily family, and has been cultivated and used for centuries. It was first grown in western Asia, and then by the ancient Egyptians and Hebrews. Doubtless, because the Egyptians liked the onion so well, it was held up as an object of worship long before the Christian era. History records that nine tons of pure gold were spent in buying onions for the workmen who built the pyramids.

If there is any healthful effect of the onion, it can only be because of its laxative effect. The volatile, sulphur oil which it contains is irritating to the mucous membrane of the stomach and intestines, and besides exciting the flow of digestive juices, the intestines are also filled with quantities of excess gas from the chemical changes produced by the digestive juices which change the sulphur into sulphur dioxide gas.

Claims are often made that the onion is an especially good blood-building food; but its composition shows it to be about the same as the other non-starchy vegetables, and it is evident that it does not contain any mysterious principle which could increase strength in the body any more than could be received from spinach, string beans, lettuce, or any of the other greens.

In Europe, the laboring classes eat onions as we eat apples, but of course are not injured as much by this as some of us might be by only a small amount of onion used to flavor a salad. The injurious effect of any particular article of food is gradually lessened by its long continued use over many years. However, those of my readers who now feel the bad effects of onion eating will be wise to discontinue its use, and not try to force themselves to get used to this odoriferous member of the lily family.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

QUESTIONS: Mrs. M. G. W. writes: "Please explain if milk is not to be taken at meals with other foods, how young children three years and over are to get the needed amount."

ANSWER: If it seems advisable to give milk to children who are over three years old you can give them a meal a day with milk as the principal food, using a pint in combination with one or more of the cooked non-starchy vegetables. This makes a good luncheon for children who are not inclined toward catarrhal trouble.

QUESTION: Mrs. F. E. B. writes: "For the past three and one-half years I have had a "cold" leg extending from the toes to the hip. Applying heat does not produce any feeling of warmth in my leg. I am sixty years of age. Can you tell me what causes this, and if anything can be done?"

ANSWER: Go to a chiropractor or osteopath and see if he cannot find the cause of your trouble in some misplacement of the lumbar vertebrae or sacro-iliac bones in your pelvis.

QUESTION: Mrs. B. W. writes: "I am forty-two years of age and have a stubborn cough that has been hanging on for several weeks. It is worse at night, and breathing is very difficult. Please tell me what to do."

ANSWER: I cannot diagnose your trouble through this column, as you may have bronchitis, asthma, or tuberculosis. Any cough that hangs on for several weeks requires a careful diagnosis, after which the proper treatment can be suggested.

Lyrics Of Life

(By Douglas Malloch.)

THE MEASURE OF LOVE.

(Suggested by D. E. L., Roanoke, Va.)

This is the measure of love, I think:
That it does not wait for the need to ask;
For love is first at the chasm's brink,
And love is near to the daily task.
Love does not wait for the rocket's glare
To see the storm, and the ship out there,
For love, like the keeper who keeps the light,
Watches the waters and knows the night.

That it does not wait for the need to call;
When the wild winds blow, when the boats go out,
Then love is always the first of all.
When the storms of life are the storms that roll,
When the ship that sinks is a human soul,
It is love that comes, it is love that saves,
For love, like its Master, walks the waves.

This is the measure of love, I know:
That it does not wait for the need to be:
'Tis the hand on the shoulder that helps us so,
It is swift to come, it is quick to see.
Oh, some will come when the soul's athirst,
But love will come, and will come the first:
When the heart cries out, then the world will heed,
But love does not wait for the hour of need.

Theatres

AT THE CAPITOL.

ZANE GREY'S "DRUMS OF THE DESERT"

In "Drums of the Desert" Paramount's screen version of Zane Grey's "Desert Bound" which comes to the Capitol Theatre tomorrow is again told the story of the Navajo Indians that so dominated that earlier Zane Grey production "The Vanishing American."

In the current production the tale is told, however, from the white man's angle, with Warner Baxter, in the role of John Curry, the friend of the Indian. It is the story of oil that was found under the desert lands of the Reservation, of the attempts of thieving whites to gain possession at the expense of the Indians, of the red men's shielding their ancient altars and of Curry's defense of the Indians.

In this production Warner Baxter returns to Westerns. In this production, too, does Paramount introduce to the American screen its newest acquisition from Europe, Marietta Millner, former UFA players, who makes her local debut as the only white girl in the picture.

Ford Sterling, featured comedian, playing Painless Perkins, a desert faker, is abetted by Heinie Conklin, Wallace MacDonald appears as villainous Will Newton. Bernard Siegel is cast as Chief Brave Bear. All other Indians parts are played by Indians from the Navajo reservation, who enact on the screen the stirring drama in which they themselves took part only a few years ago.

Irish Hearts

By MOLLIE MALONE

Copyright 1927, Warner Bros. Pictures, Inc.

"IRISH HEARTS," with May McAvoy, is a Warner Bros. picturization of this novel.

SYNOPSIS

Emmett Murtough of Killanmaul, Ireland, emigrates to America and is followed by Sheila Kildare, to whom he is bethrothed, and her father. Sheila makes friends with the family of Rory O'Shea, a professional boxer whom Emmett scorns. Sheila begins to see through Murtough's boasting. Rory takes Sheila to Coney Island and for a trip in an automobile which inflames Murtough's jealousy. Rory is going away to camp to train for his coming fight with Campeau.

CHAPTER VI—Continued

"This fight will tell the tale. Win or lose, I'll know whether I'll ever go into the ring again. I might win; I've got a good chance, but to win wouldn't be proof that I am good enough to get any farther. I'm not like most fighters. They stick to it hoping they can get by with luck. I don't. I know that I've gone back a lot; I fought too many fights too early, before I was fully developed. I'd like to win because the money would give me a chance at something else."

"Wouldn't it be splendid if ye could get into business, like your brother Tim."

"I've thought of that and if I win this purse I'm going to ask Tim about it. If I don't win I'll have to get a job in something that has a future in it. Lots of ex-fighters stick around the game and become trainers or managers of other fighters, but I wouldn't want to do that. When I'm through I'm through for good."

"We will," promised Sheila as she ran up the stairs.

"I shouldn't think it would be as good as something steady and sure," Sheila said.

"You're right, and besides I'm beginning to want a home of my own and a wife and children. After all that's the best thing that life can give anybody."

"I love children," exclaimed Sheila.

"So do I."

"I saw that the way you acted with Tim's little ones."

"They're a fine pair," Rory said enthusiastically. "Tim's a lucky man with his family."

Each avoided personal conversation, but when they reached home and Sheila said good night Rory took her hand.

"I'll be away two months and I won't get a chance to see you again unless you and your father will visit the camp some Sunday."

"We will," promised Sheila as she ran up the stairs.

Old Tom Kildare had news for her. Emmett Murtough had decided to quit his job on the morrow. He was going into business with one of the members of the West Side Club. There was lots of money to be made in it. Some king of trucking work it was and Emmett was to learn to drive a truck. He would be a big man soon, Old Tom declared.

But Murtough had not told all the truth about the trucking business. True he would learn to drive a truck, but for the present he would be a guard, armed and ready to shoot to kill, if need be, because the loads in the covered vans he would ride were liquor. Emmett had drifted into a gang of bootleggers headed by Mannie Clocker. Clocker's crew had long been the bane of the local prohibition agents, but with graft and political pull he had managed to pursue his business practically unmolested. He had assured Murtough that there was no danger but that the men on the truck had to be prepared for any emergency. This Murtough had not told Kildare.

Sheila made little comment. She was filled with thoughts of the glorious night she had spent and Emmett's venture did not arouse much interest. She only asked her father if the work would be steady. Kildare told her that it was a business that did not require all of Murtough's time, that he would work only two or three nights a week and he would make from fifty to one hundred dollars a night depending upon the length of the trip.

"'Tis not good for any man to be loafing too much," said Sheila. And Old Tom flung back at her that he was working six days a week and making little over half as much as fifty dollars a week. "But it is regular," she insisted.

Murtough liked the job. The excitement of speeding at night the length of Long Island, or far into New Jersey with lights out suited the devil may care spirit that was his. It gave him more time to loaf about the Club and, of course, there was plenty to drink all for the taking. Some weeks he was paid as much as $150 but the money did him no good. He was invited into card games and he felt he could not refuse because they were members of the Club and members of Clocker's gang. Always he lost, for he knew nothing of cards or gambling. He learned to drive an automobile and was detailed to his own truck with another gunman as guard. Frequently a pilot car, a high powered roadster accompanied the truck. It was Emmett's business to keep the pilot car always in sight. Never must he let the red tail-lights pass out of his vision. Murtough had accomplished a dozen trips both as guard and as driver and had had no difficulty. Once only was he stopped but it was by a local constable and a ten dollar bill freed him of the possible ticket for speeding. The officer did not suspect that the van was loaded with contraband liquor.

He saw less and less of Sheila nowadays. And, Sheila was just as happy. Evenings when Murtough did drop in there was always argument about her marriage to Emmett and slurs cast at the absent Rory. The effect of Murtough's money making "business" was creating more discontent in the heart of Old Tom Kildare. The meagre wages he earned working for Tim O'Shea goaded his pride and he raged at fortune which permitted Emmett to succeed at what the old man believed was a legitimate job.

One night he returned home and announced that he had quit O'Shea. He would not be doing the dirty work of a laborer any longer, he declared, and it was now up to Sheila to marry Murtough.

"I'll never marry him an' 'tis a shame ye have no manhood in ye. I'll find work myself if need be but I'll never marry Emmett. Our savings are almost gone, too, an' 'tis little a girl can earn in this city, a girl that hasn't a trade or anything. Shame on ye, father, shame on ye."

"Oh, I'll find work that will suit my talents," the old man boasted. "But ye ought to be getting married an' settle down, just the same."

But even though Emmett took the old man to the club and introduced him to his friends there, those who were ignorant of the bootlegging business, Old Tom Kildare found no job that was to his liking. The savings were exhausted. Murtough lent them some money, but though he was paid a great deal, his gambling and the liquor he bought consumed most of his earnings and it was little that he could do for them.

A month after Rory O'Shea had left for Jimmy Tree's training camp Sheila started out to look for any kind of a position that would pay the rent and keep the table. It was far from the dream that Sheila had visioned when she left Killanmaul many months before.

CHAPTER VII

Murtough's Change of Heart

Nick's Restaurant in Ninth Avenue was the popular cafe in the neighborhood where the Kildares lived. It was owned by N. Acropolis, a Greek, who had started business with an old fashioned lunch wagon and now possessed this fast money making establishment. It was frequented by many members of the West Side Club, among them Emmett Murtough. Occasionally he had taken Sheila there for supper. Nick was a good restaurant keeper; he knew food values and he hired competent chefs. In the day time, from eleven o'clock until nine o'clock at night, he employed girls as waitresses. Men relieved them at that hour for the all night watch.

Sheila had answered a score of want advertisements but her lack of training and knowledge of any craft proved her to be unfit for any of them. The housekeeper of a hotel in the Forties, patronized by small time theatrical folk, had employed her as maid, but an experience with one of the male guests so frightened Sheila that she applied for no more hotel chamber work.

Murder Victim's Sister Suicides

BELFAST, Ireland, August 9 (United Press). — George Patterson, whose sister-in-law was strangled to death in Winnipeg, Canada, during a series of "gorilla crimes" there, to-day found his wife dead in bed with her throat cut and the gas turned on. The Patterson home is at Carrick-Fergus. Mrs. Patterson was 28 years old. She had been extremely nervous and worried ever since the Winnipeg murder.

OUTLINE OF SCIENCE — CCLIV.—Science in the World War—Part II. — by MAX HAHN

ONE OF THE DEADLIEST WEAPONS OF THE WORLD WAR WAS POISON GAS. ALTHOUGH THE USE OF POISON GAS WAS FORBIDDEN BY THE HAGUE CONVENTION, THE GERMANS PUT IT INTO USE AT YPRES IN APRIL, 1915. IMAGINE THE TERROR OF THE CANADIAN TROOPS WHO WERE THE TARGET OF THE YPRES GAS ATTACK. THEY WERE UNPREPARED AND 5,000 WERE VICTIMS.

THE ALLIES WERE RELUCTANT TO RESORT TO THE DEADLY GAS WARFARE. THEY HAD SIGNED THE HAGUE AGREEMENT AND THEY DIDN'T WANT TO VIOLATE THEIR PLEDGE. BUT THE ENEMY'S CONTINUED USE OF POISON GAS FORCED THEM TO ORDER CHEMISTS TO DEVISE DEADLY FUMES.

© McClure Newspaper Syndicate

THE GAS ATTACKS WERE PLANNED TO CRIPPLE THE ENEMY BEFORE AN ARTILLERY ATTACK. IF THE SUPPLY OF GAS WAS IN HUGE CYLINDERS, THE ATTACKING GROUP WAITED UNTIL A STRONG, STEADY WIND WAS BLOWING TOWARD THE ENEMY TRENCHES BEFORE OPENING THE CYLINDERS.

IF THE WIND FAILED OR BEGAN TO BLOW BACK INTO THE TRENCHES, THE ATTACKING GROUP WAS IN DANGER OF ITS OWN WEAPON. ANOTHER METHOD OF GAS ATTACK CONSISTED OF USE OF THE GAS SHELL. THIS WAS FIRED FROM A SMALL CANNON AND WORKED HAVOC ON THE VICTIMS.

THE LOCKWORKS ANNUAL PICNIC

Delightful and Successful Day's Outing To Gore's Landing and Wallace's Point.

(By Frank Russell)

Last Saturday there came off another of those delightful picnics engineered by the employees of the Peterborough Lock Works. Were it possible, these outings would appear to improve year by year; but it really seems as if perfection had been arrived at. One fails to see where a suggestion in the way of improvement could be offered. The present outcome is the result of careful thinking, and planning and consideration on the part of the able and energetic committee which has from year to year devoted a large amount of care and thought to this much-looked-for event.

Accordingly on Saturday morning last the good, staunch pleasure steamer Stoney Lake was, as usual, alongside the George Street Wharf, ready for the many passengers waiting to embark at 8 o'clock.

The Weather.

The weather was everything that could be desired ;there was a lovely blue sky, here and there enhanced by a few white flocky clouds, a pleasant breeze and glorious sunshine—in fact, everything that could be desired by the most fastidious in the make-up of a lovely, perfect day. And so it lasted all day. It would almost appear as though some special providence watched over the aggregation in question, for they are invariably favoured with a fine day for this, the most popular and generously managed water picnic of the season.

The Start.

At about five minutes after the advertised time, the starting whistle was heard and the steamer, bearing some two hundred and sixty passengers, was on the move. There was, of course, an orchestra on board for music and dancing. This was the aggregation known as Joe Minicola's Orchestra, and consisted of Messrs. J. Minicola (cornet), Snelgrove (saxophone), Robinson (pianoforte), and G .Chambers (drums and traps). No sooner had the start been effected, when music was commenced and many worshippers of Terpsichore, the Goddess of Music, were doing the "light fantastic." As a matter of fact, with the exception of a few halts for community singing, step dancing, comic songs, and reasonable rest, dancing lasted from start to finish.

We steamed across Little Lake, where we took on two or three passengers, and thence to the lock, which was quickly and safely negotiated.

Shortly after the start the hospitality began. Ice-creams were distributed to the ladies and children ,as well as chocolates and other candies and cigars—good ones, too—to the wicked men who indulged in such wickedness as smoking. The writer knows that he enjoyed some very much.

Down the River.

Then on down the pretty and winding Otonabee River, where there is always something new and pretty to be seen by the observant voyager, until at shortly before eleven we entered Rice Lake. Then a short sail brought us up alongside the landing wharf at Gore's Landing. By this time dinner seemed to be the order of the day amongst the generality of the trippers. Luncheon baskets were opened and the contents discussed by many on the steamer, while many other carried theirs on shore. An hour or so was allowed here, when the warning whistle was sounded, and shortly the passengers had all reembarked and a move was made towards Wallace's Point.

Up the River.

By this time dinner was ready in the saloon, and a right good meal was cleverly and tastefully set up by the new cook. She appears to be quite a young girl of about eighteen years, but right cleverly had she performed her duties for her cooking was simply excellent.

At 2.45 p.m., after a delightful sail up the river—a beautiful soft breeze blowing and a glorious sun shining—arrived at Wallace's Point. Here everyone went ashore for the great event of the day, viz.,

The Sports.

These consisted of races, softball games, and so forth, of which the following is the programme:

Girls' flat race, 8 years and under —1, J. Whaley; 2, C. Caldwell.

Boys' flat race, 8 years and under —1, J. Moher; 2, F. Kent.

Girls' flat race, 12 years and under —1, E. Marchant; 2, M. Whaley.

Boys flat race, 12 years and under —1, J. Whaley; 2, M. Larone.

Girls' flat race, 16 years and under —1, M. Cavanagh; 2, M. Whaley.

Boot race—1, A. Morocco; 2, H. Jay.

There was also two softball matches which worked out thus:

Jobbitt's team defeated Morrow's team by 36 to 20, while W. Whaley's team defeated F. Whaley's by 20 to 2.

The Homeward Journey

was started at 6 p.m., weather still lovely—in fact, all that could be desired. Teas then became the order of the day, and the writer enjoyed his, served by the same able little cook before mentioned. And on and on we went, dancing still going on to the enjoyment of the many nimble, light-footed dancers, who evidently thoroughly enjoyed themselves. Among the dances were several square ones which were "called off" in an able manner by Mr. O'Brien. The lock was again successfully negotiated, and Little Lake was entered. Here the only difficulties of the day —and they were only slight — were encountered. On arrival at the Mark Street Wharf the available room had been taken during the day by two American power yachts, which rendered the landing of many passengers more difficult than usual. While a number of logs appeared to fill Little Lake, it was a matter of considerable difficulty to get clear through these. Where they had come from is a question. Had they come down since we crossed the lake in clear water in the morning, or had they broken away from their original moorings?

However, by dint of care, our able captain overcame this difficulty, and eventually we came alongside the George Street Wharf at 7.45 p.m. Coming through the rye, or rather logs, the last dance was held. Oh! it was a wild—I mean quick—one; the fun was fast and furious. I never remember seeing one danced at such speed. But, you see, all were happy and joyful.

Just as we were mooring the orchestra struck up "God Save the King," which was heartily joined in just as such loyal subjects as we all were, would be likely to be the case. Then came ringing cheers for the King, then three more each for the Princes, for the committee, for the Captain and crew and eventually three more for whoever pleased to appropriate them.

A Word of Praise.

Must be entered here for the kind and able conduct of Captain Scollard and his crew generally for the kind way in which each and every one carried on their respective duties, which added so much to the comfort and happiness of the trippers, every one of whom most thoroughly enjoyed their day's outing.

The Committee.

To these gentlemen are due praise and thanks of all for the careful and able way in which they carried out the numerous duties connected with such a delightful outing, words of thanks and praise were to be heard on all hands, and very edservedly so. They were Messrs. H. Hill H. Black, W. Whaley, G. Cannon F. Whaley, D. Burke, J. Primeau, F. Guerin, J. Clancy, F. Jobbitt, M. O'Brien, H. Archambault and J. Burke, (chairman.)

If by any chance the writer has omitted a name or names he offers his regrets hereby and hopes for forgiveness for a wrong not intended.

The prizes, it may be mentioned, were as usual good, as they always have been on this well established picnic and were evidently well appreciated.

CAVAN NEWS

CAVAN, August 10. — Mr. Clifford Carr has returned to Detroit after spending his vacation with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. Carr and other friends.

Miss Ruth Keegan has returned from a visit in Rochester.

During the electric storm of last Monday, August 1st, Mr. James Paul's barn was struck by lightning. The fire was extinguished before much damage was done. A tree in front of the house was also splintered.

Choral Class Organized.

On Friday evening a choral class was organized, with the following officers elected:

President—Miss Gwendoline Hunter.

Secretary—Mr. Archie Matchett.

Treasurer—Miss Helen Staples.

Miss Daisy Murray, of Springville, will teach the class, which will meet on Friday evening of each week in August ,and probably continue longer. All young people of the community are invited to attend.

There was a good attendance at the initial meeting, and a number of the officers and members of the Institute were present to assist in the organization. Mrs. R. Matchett, secretary of the Institute, conducted the meeting.

Rev. Mr. Merriam, of Bay Circuit, preached in Cavan Church on Sunday evening.

Mr. Howard Murray, Millbrook, moved his clover mill to the Kelly farm on Monday evening, where it was in readiness to thresh alsike on Tuesday. The weather has been very unfavourable for field threshing.

Cavan Community Club had a softball practise in the school grounds on Monday eevning.

GIVES ADVICE TO MARRIED MEN THOSE WITH FAMILIES, TOO!

If you must take your wife with you, says the sage, take her to some place where she can have a good time without tagging behind you all the day. Bon Echo is a good suggestion because if you do get tired of one another, there is always the lake and a canoe to jump into. On one side of the Camp there is a "babies'" beach ,where the kiddies can walk out a hundred yards without wetting their tummies. On the other side, the real water babies play. There is riding and tennis and hiking, every facility for aquatic sport, good meals, and bungalow or "house" accommodation. An outdoor theatre helps cater to the aesthetic.

The station is Kaladar, just a few hours from Toronto. Ask any Canadian Pacific Agent for particulars. 27-10-20

A POPULAR VACATION RESORT LAKE OF BAYS

"Distant fields are greenest" does not always hold true, for Lake of Bays is close to Toronto, just 146 miles north, and as a place of beauty or a holidaying spot of various interests, it is not excelled in Canada.

For the Nature lover, Lake of Bays is truly edged with a thousand interesting bays each with its own peculiar beauty inviting close study and exploration.

For those who prefer sport, the splendid summer hotels offer every facility for golf, tennis, boating and bathing, while Lake of Bays and adjoining lakes abound with trout, pickerel and bass that thrill the fisherman.

Complete information and literaure may be had from any Agent of the Canadian National Railways. 1d

CANNING TIME IS HERE AGAIN

Many Fruits and Vegetables Offered Now For Preserving.

SOME QUOTATIONS.

The rows of baskets and boxes, heaped with shining fruits and vegetables displayed by local fruit stores are very tempting to the eye of the industrious house-wife. Canning season is here and the shelves in the empty fruit cellar must be re-stocked for winter use.

To the city people, who have not the pleasure of picking fresh fruits and vegetables from their own orchards and gardens there is a wide range to choose from at the fruit stores at reasonable prices.

Berries were plentiful this year and are selling at 10 cents a pint box for raspebrries, and 25 cents a quart for huckleberries. Pears and peaches are selling at 5 cents each or 6 for 25 cents and plums range in price from 15c to 30c a dozen, according to variety. The cherry season, is over and the last of the currants are selling at 20 cents a quart. Apples are anywhere in price from 60 cents to $1 for a peck.

As no winter supply is complete with numerous jars of pickles, relishes and catsups, from the following list of prices those vegetables may be chosen which can be the most economically put away for a season when fresh vegetables are difficult to obtain or are more expensive than the average housewife's income will allow.

The price of cauliflower ranges from 15 cents to 30 cents a head according to size while celery may be had at two bunches for 25 cents. Local tomatoes range in price from 10 cents to 30 cents a pound; peas are selling at 4 quarts for 25 cents, beets at 5 cents a bunch, cucumbers at 5 and 10 cents each, and cabbage at 10 and 15 cents a head. Corn is available at 30 to 40 cents a dozen ears.

Canteloupes ranging in price from 15 cents to 35 cents, honeydew melons at 5 cents a pound or from 25 cents to 60c according to size and juicy water melons at $1 to $1.50 make delicious breakfast foods and easily prepared dinner desserts.

ATLANTIC FLIGHTS ARE POSTPONED

Little Chance of Contenders Hopping Off Within Next 48 Hours.

PARIS, Aug. 10 (Canadian Press). —With weather conditions over the Atlantic still uncertain, it was said at the Le Bourget Field today that there was little chance of any of the trans-Atlantic contenders hopping off within the next 48 hours.

Leon Givon took his "Bluebird" up for a trial flight and said he was so satisfied with its performance that he would take off at the earliest possible moment without an all night test previously planned.

Another plane tried out today was Paul Tarasoon's "Tango Bird," which attained a great speed during the short flight.

THE MARKETS

Prices Make Recovery; Rails Remains Strong

NEW YORK, Aug. 10. —(Canadian Press). — Stock prices made a further recovery in to-day's market, with the rails taking a more prominent part in the advance. Buying of the industrials embraced a wide list, but the motor, mercantile public Utility Steel and Farm Implement shares gave the best exhibitions of group strength.

An increase of 88, 768 tons in the July unfilled orders of the United States Steel Corporation helped to create bullish sentiment, as bid the increase in freight car loadings in the last week of July over the preceding week. Call money was again in plentiful supply at 3¾ per cent.

Bethlehem Steel crossed 62 to the highest price in four years, Republican and Vanadium Steels also recorded good gains.

Favorable Crop Report Effects Wheat Market

CHICAGO, Aug. 10 (Canadian Press).—With the Government crop report on spring wheat this afternoon expected to make a bearish exhibit, wheat prices early averaged lower today. Gossip was current that at present a less promising condition than on July 1 would not be reflected until the next report. Opening ⅛ to ⅝c lower, wheat underwent a slight further drop and then scored rallies. Oats developed strength. Provisions tended to sag.

Area Makes Advances; Turnover Of 200,000 Shares

TORONTO, Aug. 10 (Canadian Press).—Area overshadowed all other issues on the market of the Standard Mining Exchange today, when with a total turnover of more than 200,000 shares it advanced 12¾ points to 68¾, which was the high and closing figure of the morning session. Amulet continued active and strong, gaining 7 cents to 440. Kirkland Lake firmed 2 cents to 159, and Beaver was up 1 to 121. Hollinger was the firmest feature of the dividend paying gold stocks with a gain of 5 cents to 1825. Teck Hughes was active and firm at 8.50, as was Wright Hargreaves at 6.05. McIntyre was a weak spot, declining 15 cents to 25.80. Noranda dropped 10 cents to 21.40, while Central Manitoba Gold eased 3 points to 1.55.

Trading Is Heavy In International Nickel

TORONTO, Ont., August 10 (Canadian Press). — International Nickel monopolized the trading on the market of the Toronto Stock Exchange to-day. With more than 5,000 shares changing hands, this stock moved up ¾ to 67¼, the balance of the listed issues were quiet, and price changes were of an insignificant character. Cosmos was fairly active and eased off ⅝ to 27¼. Barcelona strengthened ½ to 6¾. Industrial Alcohol was the lone liquor stock to show strength —it gained ¼ to 34½. Seagram was Gooderham & Worts was a weak feature at 45½, a loss of 2¼ points. Walker was active and inclined to weakness, selling off ½ to 44¼. The oil stocks were featureless.

STRANGE CASE TO BE SETTLED

SUES FOR $162,000.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla, Aug. 10. —Details of one of the strangest cases in medical history were revealed yesterday when Etna Gladys Smythe filed suit against the Empire Refineries, Inc., for $162,000, charging that her brother, Travis Bowie Smythe, had died as the result of inhaling benzol fumes in the laboratories of the company.

In the lengthy bill of complaint the story of a two-year fight by doctorse to save Smythe from bleeding to death is told. He died April 20, 1927, after forty-three blood transfusions submitted to by his sister Etna, his brother Culver and a number of his friends had totally destroyed the veins of his arms.

Smythe, according to the petition, was employed testing the viscosity of lubricating oil in the Okmulgee plant of the company, a subsidiary of the Cities Service Company, on July 12, 1924.. One of his duties was to pour benzol in a hot vat where it was boiled down so that the residue could be examined. Day after day he breathed the not unpleasant fumes from the vat.

One morning about a year later Smythe cut his face while saving and noticed that the blood flowed for hours in copious quantities from the tiny wound. His teeth also began to bleed when he brushed them and when the flow failed to stop after several days, he consulted a doctor. The diagnosis was that the benzol fumes had broken down the walls of his blood vessels.

In all, more than 36 pints of blood were infused through his arms, until when the veins had been destroyed, it was necessary to cut into his body to open other veins. During the whole time, up to eight hours before his death, the complaint recited, Smythe was conscious and in pain except when narcotics were used.

SOCIETY WILL HOLD GLADIOLUS EXHIBIT

Horticultural Members Will Put On Show in Turnbull's Window.

At a meeting of the Peterborough Horticultural Society on Friday night it was decided to hold a gladiolus exhibit on the 26th and 27th of this month. This exhibit will in all probability be held in the window of the J. C. Turnbull Company, George street, and will be of an amateur nature.

The annual lawn judging competition will be held this year between the fifteenth and twentieth of this month, the judging to be done by J. McGiffen, B.S.A. The competition this year should create great interest for beautiful lawns have become almost a habit in the city during the past few years.

TORONTO RECORDS BIG EARTHQUAKE

Disturbance Is Believed To Be About 2,595 Miles Distant.

TORONTO, Aug. 10. — (Canadian Press). — One of the largest earthquakes ever recorded on the seismograph at the Toronto observatory was that reached at 20.42 last night. A maximum movement was at 20.56 and vibrations lasted for three hours Distance of disturbance was 2,500 miles, officals estimated and they believe the quake occurred in Central American or Southern California. A slight shock very distant, was recorded at 6.57 a.m.

OTTAWA, Aug. 10. —(Canadian Press). — A severe earthquake was recorded yesterday at the Dominion Observatory. Distance to Epicentre was 2,595 miles. Record continued for three hours.

OVER 1,500 LAKES IN ALGONQUIN PARK

For those who seek a new, more fascinating and wonderful spot in which to spend their precious vacation days, this summer, there is, close at hand, a glorious playground of 3,000 square miles—a land where cool northland lake waters with sandy shores or great green forests, when mankind allows his kindred of the wild to roam their shady trails and favorite haunts unmolested, where the air is pure and fishing good—it is Algonquin Park some 2,000 feet above sea-level in the Highlands of Ontario.

Here are over 1,500 lakes and a veritable maze of beautiful streams where there are countless ideal camp sites, summer hotels, cottages and boarding houses. Highland Inn, Nominigan Camp and Camp Minnesing offer unexcelled accommodation.

IRISH MEMBERS TO TAKE SEATS

DEFEAT EXPECTED.

DUBLIN, Aug. 10. — (Canadian Press.)—Political commentators are talking of the possibilities of the government being defeated when the Dail meets Friday if the Fianna Fail members decide to take their seats. Such a decision was foreshadowed inasmuch as the executive committee of the Fianna Fail, party of Eamon De Valera, is understood to have declared almost unanimously after six hours' session last night in favor of the Fianna Fail deputies taking their places in the Dail. These deputies have steadfastly refused to claim their seats because it involved taking the oath of loyalty to the King and British Empire. Eamon De Valera himself remains adamant in his opposition to this oath and threatens to resign and seek re-election on the question. But in the meantime it is learned he has released his followers from their undertaking.

FOURTH FLOOD SWEEPS STATE

LEVEES BREAK.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Aug. 10. — (Canadian Press). — Swept by three successive floods this year, South-Eastern Arkansas to-day faced an inundation again as the flood waters of Arkansas River poured through gaps in the levees at Pendleton and Medford, forty miles South of Pine Bluff, Arkansas City, out from under flood waters less than a month prepared to carry on if the approaching flood reached the city.

IN POLICE COURT.

The local member of the Chinese colony who pleaded guilty recently to having opium and other utensils suitable for the smoking of opium, was given the minimum sentence by His Worship Magistrate Langley this morning. He will be sent to the Ontario reformatory for a period of six months with hard labor, and pay a fine of $200 and costs. In default of payment three months will be added to the sentence.

J. A. O'Brien appeared for the accused and pleaded that the man be given the minimum penalty as he had not sold the opium to any outside his own race and in their country the act was legal.

RESPITES GRANTED THREE MEN BY GOVERNOR AND HIS COUNCIL AFTER A LAST MINUTE APPEAL

TO DIE AUGUST 22.

Twelve Days' Delay Allowed For Reconsideration of Their Case.

BOSTON, Aug. 11.— (Canadian Press.)— A respite to and including Monday, Aug. 22, for Nicola Sacco, Bartholomeo Vanzetti and Celestino Madeiros, was granted by Governor Alvan T. Fuller and the Executive Council last night. The first announcement that this action had been taken was made at 11.24 p.m. by Warden William Hendry of the State prison, where preparations had been completed for the execution of the three men shortly after midnight.

A formal statement announcing the respite was given out by Governor Fuller at midnight. It said that the Governor had recommended the 12-day respite and that the Council had unanimously approved it.

At the same time, statements by Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes of the United States' Supreme Court, Judge George W. Anderson of the United States' Circuit Court and Attorney-General Arthur K. Reading, were issued from the Governor's office.

Governor's Statement.

The Governor's statement follows:

"The courts of the Commonwealth are actively engaged in the work of considering the deciding the various motions and petitions filed by the counsel in these cases. The courts themselves have no power to grant a respite.

"To afford the courts an opportunity to complete the consideration of the proceedings now pending and render their decision thereon, I have recommended to the Executive Council that the sentences of Sacco, Vanzetti and Madeiros be respited for twelve days, or until midnight on Monday, Aug. 22, 1927.

"The Council has unanimously adopted this recommendation. Prior to its adoption it was recommended by the Attorney-General."

The statements of Justice Holmes and Anderson were in explanation of their denial to issue writs of habeas corpus.

Premature Announcement.

BOSTON, August 11. — At 10.30 last night Warden William Hendry at Charlestown State Prison announced that Governor Fuller had granted a respite for Nicola Sacco, Bartolomeo Vanzetti and Celestino Madeiros. The men were to have been executed a few minutes after midnight.

The Governor's council was still in session at that hour having commenced a sitting delayed from noon. They were listening to Arthur D. Hill, chief counsel for the defense. No confirmation of the reprieve came from the State house.

A few minutes later Warden Hendry said he was sorry, but he would have to take back his announcement and that he had no statement to make. When the Warden's telephone rang at 10.30 he answered it and had a brief conversation. Then he turned to the reporters and said: "Boys there's a respite for two men."

"Who are they and for how long?" asked the reporters. The telephone rang again and once more Warden Hendry answered it. Again he turned to the reporters and said: "Boys, I want to correct that statement. There's a respite for all three men." He started toward the death house, when the bell rang a third time. This time when he turned away from the telephone ,the Warden said: "Boys, I'll have to take it all back. I guess I was premature. I can't make any announcement now."

Fate in Balance.

While the fate of Sacco and Vanzetti hung in the balance throughout the day Boston was calm. Excitement reigned for a few minutes this afternoon when the police repeated yesterday's action of arresting picketers before the State House but aside from this there was little reflection of the high feelings that have taxed police powers in New York and in foreign countries.

The elaborate measures taken by the police to avert a demonstration before the Charlestown State Prison were in working order early in the afternoon with uniformed officers and plainclothesmen posted at intervals along a line two blocks from the jail. The precautions had been widely announced and few persons ventured that way who were not on business

Horse Sits Down For Traffic Officer

LONDON, England, August 11 (Canadian Press). — London has a horse that sits down in the roadway when a bobby puts his hand up to stop the traffic. The horse belongs to a firm of coal merchants, and draws a load of coal every day. When the cart happens to be stopped by a traffic cop, the horse sits down on its haunches. As soon as the traffic is released, it gets up again and goes on. The owners say he is a very intelligent animal.

RULES DRAWN FOR BIG DANCE

No Traffic Allowed at Corner —Horn Blowing Forbidden.

PROGRAMME ANNOUNCED.

Co-operating with the executive committee of the community dance sponsored by the Canadian General Electric Community Club, the police have drawn up regulations as to parking in the neighborhood of Rubidge and Rink Street.

The roads will be blocked to traffic up and down Rubidge and Rink and west on Park Street.

People parking in the vicinity are forbidden to honk the horns of their cars after each dance. Those breaking this regulation will be ordered out of the way by the police. Inspector Reid points out that the making of unnecessary noise is in itself an offence.

Seats have been blocked off for the occasion. The sidewalks will be kept clear, leaving access to the public.

The dance, which will be the largest community dance ever staged in Peterborough, will be held tomorrow night at the south end of Rubidge Street and on Park Street in front of the Canadian General by the Social and Athletic Club of that company.

The Warrenite Paving Company has jus trecently completed paving the streets in that locality and a fine open square is to be found there which is well suited for a community dance.

The Peterborough Rangers' Band will supply the music and a program of quarettes, solos, solo dancing, special dances and dancing will be provided. The Kiwanis and Rotary Clubs will have booths where those who do not wish to dance can go and play games. All the proceeds of these booths are to go to helping the children's outdoor camps. There will also be refreshment booths. Many of the prominent people in the city have been invited.

A band program will be given at 8.00 o'clock and dancing will start at 8.30.

The program is as follows:

Quartette.
Four Dances—Paul Jones, Fox Trot, Waltz, and Fox Trot.
Dance by Misses McLaren and Burns.
Dance by Messrs. Quinlan and Westlake.
Four Dances.—Fox Trot, Waltz, Fox Trot, and Paul Jones.
Solo—T. Bartley.
Dance—Miss A. Logan.
Four Dances.—Fox Trot, Waltz, Paul Jones, and Fox Trot.
Solos—Messrs. Thompson and Spellman.

Orders More Secrecy Concerning Hop Plans

SOUTHAMPTON, Aug. 11. — (Canadian Press) — Tired of disappointing the local public about the hour of his hop-off for the United States and equally disappointed himself that weather conditions have been too poor to justify a start, Captain Frank T. Courtney, yesterday ordered even greater secrecy than heretofore about his plans.

The British aviator is ready to start the flight in his flying boat, the Whale, at any hour that weather conditions are favorable and last night there was a report that he intended to start for Valentia, Ireland, on the first stage of his flight, this morning. This could not be confirmed at the Courtney camp beyond a statement from the Captain that everything depends on the weather.

"The public will know when I am gone and not when I am going," said Captain Courtney. "I have had enough of saying when I am going."

LONDON PAPERS ARGUING OVER "HONOR" FUNDS

Mail and Post, Both Conservative, Differ in Matter.

LLOYD GEORGE ASSAILED.

Party Denies Having Won Election With Money Paid For Honors.

LONDON, Aug. 11. — (Canadian Press). — The Daily Mail and Morning Post, both nominally organs of the Baldwin Government, are having a lively controversy over political matters. The post is hammering Lloyd George for having retired from the Premiership with a political fund amounting to "millions of pounds in his sole possession and control," which the Post asserts must have come largely from men whose names appeared later in honor lists.

The Mail rebukes the Post for harping on this matter. It says, in so many words, that the Conservatives have done the same thing in connection with honor lists.

To-day, the Central office of the Conservative Party stepped into the controversy with a repetition of the former flat denial that in 1922 the Conservatives won the election with funds that had been collected under the Coalition Government in the manner suggested with reference to honor lists, and asserting that the Conservative Funds were always kept distinct from the funds of the Liberal wing of the Coalition Government. The Mail publishes this denial "for what it is worth" and promises to return to the subject later on.

FLIER LOSES LIFE IN PLANE ACCIDENT

Ship, Heading Pursuit Squadron, Plunges Into Gatun Lake.

BALBOA, Aug. 11. —The first fatal accident in the aviation forces in the Canal Zone for more than two years occurred yesterday morning when Captain Oliver W. Broberg was drowned, his plane falling into Gatun Lake. Captain Broberg was commander of the Twenty-Fourth Pursuit Squadron at France Field and was leading a formation of ten pursuit planes flying low over Gatun locks.

The opinion is expressed that he had given a signal to turn and in looking around to seen if the other planes were following, temporarily lost control of his machine a single-seater pursuit craft. It struck the water before he could rise and sank. The wrecking tug Favorite rushed to the rescue but the plane sank two miles from the locks. A diver brought up the body. The rest of the squadron saw the fall, but were unable to assist, as their machines were of the land type. Captain Broberg leaves his mother and a sister in Texas.

Exhibits New Schneider Cup Planes Speed Said To Exceed 246 Miles An Hour

LONDON, August 11. — The first high-powered geared racing engine produced for a seaplane was placed on exhibition yesterday when there was an official inspection at the Calshot Airdrome of the Royal Air Force machines with which it is hoped to recapture the Schneider Trophy for Great Britain. Only two of the six machines which go to Venice on September 25 were on view, but these embody many interesting features. Their speed, it is asserted is a great advance over the Italian machine which won last year's race at a pace of 246 miles an hour.

A super-marine Napier S-5, a monoplane, has a wing surface which is largely a radiator and cools the engine without adding to the wind resistance. A flat surface oil cooler runs alongside the all-metal fuselage and the gasoline tank is carried in the starboard float. The cockpit is so small that it fits the pilot like a suit of clothes. The other machine is a Gloster-Napier-4, a beautifully stream-lined biplane. Both planes have special reduction gears on the engines, the effect of which is to enable a slower running airscrew to be used, thus giving higher efficiency. Although their speed is being kept secret, both of the machines travel so fast that they appear to go faster than their own sound.

Speeder's Excuse Is Not Accepted

TORONTO, Ont., August 11 (Canadian Press). — "I've been driving for nine years and never went over the speed limit. My wife wouldn't ride with me if I did," said a man charged in the County Police Court with driving his car at 45 miles an hour. "I've seen those kind of wives before, and they never seem to make the cars go any slower," observed Judge Brunton.

REPUBLICANS TAKING OATH

De Valera's Supportres Swearing Allegiance To King To-day.

WILL TAKE SEATS.

DUBLIN, August 11. Canadian Press. — Eamon de Valera and all the other members of the Fianna Fail (Republican party) who were elected to the Dail Eirrean at the recent general election took the oath of allegiance to-day, qualifying them for participation in the proceedings of the Dail.

DUBLIN, Aug. 11 (Canadian Press) —Members of the Fianna Fail (Republican party) who were elected to the Dail Eirrean at the recent general elections and were then denied admission when they refused to take the oath of allegiance to the King, today began to visit the clerk's office to take the oath in accordance with their decision reached last night.

COSGRAVE'S DEFEAT EXPECTED.

DUBLIN, August 11 (United Press) —The Fianna Fail deputies who hitherto have refused to qualify for office after election by taking the oath, will enter the Dail to-morrow. The defeat of the Cosgrave Government is expected. In that event a new Government, consisting of a Coalition of the Fianna Fail deputies and Labourites probably would be formed with the support of De Valera.

CRISIS THREATENED.

LONDON, August 11 (Canadian Press). — The decision of Eamonn De Valera and his entire following among the members of the Dail Eireann to take their seats in the Assembly to-morrow after subscribing to the oath of allegiance, to which hitherto they have strenuously objected, threatens to inject an immediate political crisis in the Free State, and possibly may have an important reaction in the relations between the Free State and Great Britain. Exactly what will happen when the Dail meets on Friday can only be conjectured, but the present assumption is that the Government's defeat is inevitable, because the Fianna Fail deputies will add greatly to the opposition, and that its resignation necessarily will follow.

Private Broadcaster For Empire Service

LONDON, Aug. 11.— (British United Press.)—A private broadcaster will provide the British Empire with radio programmes next month. The British Broadcasting Corporation, or BBC as it is usually known, which controls all broadcasting in Britain, has refused to undertake an Empire radio service at present because of its inability to perform adequate broadcasting until it has completed a winter series of experiments with Canada and the United States.

In the meantime the Post Office has granted to a prominent private expert in London the right to provide an Empire service for a period of six months beginning Sept. 1st.

STREET PAVING IS BEING DONE

Work on Water Street Section Started By Amiesite Company.

MUCH GRAVEL MOVED.

The Ontario Amiesite Company has commenced work on the Water Street pavement between Dublin and Antrim Streets. This company has the contract for two pieces of pavement the one on Water Street and the other on Smith Street between Water and George. These pieces have been in a very bad condition all summer. The amiesite is a new kind of pavement in this city and it will be watched with great interest as its contract price is usually a few cents cheaper than the Warrenite which the city is laying this year.

A considerable amount of gravel is being moved off Water Streets and many citizens have suggested that this be used to level up the bank of Goose Pond, so that it may be terraced and sodded, making it a thing of beauty instead of an ash dump as at present.

NINTH ARREST IN CATTLE RING

Weston Man Held As Being Connected With Beeton Crimes.

CATTLE RECOVERED.

BARRIE, Ont., Aug. 11.—The roll of prisoners in the celebrated crime complex of the district of Beeton continues to mount. It soared by one to a total of nine yesterday when Manning McEwen of Weston was taken into the police toils.

McEwen's arrest constitutes one of the interesting incidents of the case so far, due to the fact on one occasion he stated in comment on the entire Beeton situation that, if he himself were in any way guilty in connection with it, he hoped that he would be punished. Not in compliance with this expressed sentiment, but rather acting upon evidence which had come into their hands, Provincial Officers Cantwell and Hammond descended upon McEwen on Tuesday and took him into custody. It is alleged that he was the driver of the car used by two of the cattle-thieving gang who are now under arrest.

Apart from the one arrest yesterday, Inspectors Stringer, Gurnett, Rae, and Creasy of the Provincial Police Force spent an active day in investigating the case. One of the tangible results of their labors was the recovery of two head of cattle, identified by John Dermott as having been stolen from him in November of last year. The animals were found pastured on the Edward Hickland farm, but under the charge of Harry Cannon. It was stated to the police by Cannon that he had purchased the cattle from Hickland and given him a $50 note in payment.

To judge from the experience which the Provincial Police are having in their work on the Beeton case, the elaborate crime organization which existed in the district was practically a house of cards and only waited a wind of sufficient strength to topple it over. The whole structure is at any rate crashing into ruins now. Confessions are being volunteered to the police upon an important scale, and there seems little doubt that the neighborhood will receive a "clean-up" such as it has never experienced.

Have Been Working Hard

The Provincial Police have been working on the case with such energy that Inspectors Stringer, Gurnett, Rae and Creasy, the men detailed to the investigation, have had scant rest or leisure. An omen of the finish of the case in the comparatively near future was seen by local townspeople last night in the fact that the detectives had all returned to their headquarters by midnight to enjoy their first good night's sleep of several days.

VANZETTI AND SACCO DIFFER IN RE-ACTIONS

Former Shows Signs of Deriving Hope From Respite.

SACCO APATHETIC.

Continues Hunger Strike, Now in 25th Day—Still In Death House.

BOSTON, Aug. 11 (Canadian Press).—Bartoleomo Vanzetti awoke this morning with a more cheerful outlook on life by reason of the 12-day respite granted him, Nicola Sacco, and Celestino Madeiros, a short time before they were scheduled to be executed last night. Vanzetti drank the coffee brought him at breakfast and in other ways, according to prison officials, evidenced that he derived real hope from the respite. Sacco, however, remained apathetic and refused all food for the 25th consecutive day.

Whether the three prisoners would also obtain a brief respite from the death house, where they have been confined for more than a week, was still undecided this morning. Their cells in the main prison have been occupied since their removal by others, and some re-arranging would be necessary if they are to be returned.

Bill Goes To Court.

BOSTON, Aug. 11. — (Canadian Press.) — Judge Sanderson, of the Massachusetts Supreme Court, today announced that he would allow the exceptions to go before the full bench on his denial of a writ of error in the case of Sacco and Vanzetti. The announcement came after a conference with Arthur Hill, defense counsel, and Attorney General A. K. Reading. The bill of exceptions was finally agreed upon and after this had been formally worked up and approved Judge Sanderson indicated he would allow it.

BOMB KILLS ONE.

GENEVA, August 11 (Uniedt Press) —One person was killed and fourteen were wounded last night at Basle, when a bomb exploded in a telephone booth at the Grand Place street car station, a despatch from that city said to-day.

The bomb was believed to have been placed by Sacco-Vanzetti sympathizers, although there was no direct evidence.

Prisoners last to Hear.

BOSTON, August 11. Canadian Press. — Chronologically Nicola Sacco Bartolomeo Vanzetti and Celestina Madeiros were the last persons to learn that their electrocutions this morning had been deferred by executive respite until midnight of August 22. They were told exactly 15 minutes before the first of them, Maderois, was to have gone to his death. That was at 11.45.

But at 10.22 newspapermen had received the news and before that Warden William Hendry had been told. The fact of the respites however was not officially announced till 11.45

FIRE ON WHARF AT ST GEORGE'S

Several Stores Destroyed By Blaze in Newfoundland Town.

BIG COAL PILE BURNING.

ST. JOHN, Nfd., Aug. 11. —(Canadian Press). — Several stores on the waterfront at St. George's have been destroyed by fire, according to reports reaching here. Meagre information indicates that a serious fire was still raging there with considerable damage to the Government wharf. It was stated that a pile of 120 tons of coal had ignited and was still burning.

THIEVES ROB ALMS BOXES

BREAK BOXES DOWN.

BRANTFORD, Aug. 11—Some time during the night or early morning hours, thieves entered St. Basil's Roman Catholic Church, by breaking a window at the rear of the edifice and stole a small quantity of money from the alms boxes. The perpetrators of the miserable offence even pried the boxes from the standards on which they were supported, in order to gain the few silver pieces that were contained therein.

William King Meets Instant Death While Repairing Power Line

Receives Shock of 6,600 Volts While Changing Transforme Fuses on a Pole Outside House of Refugee, Near Lakefield.

DEATH WAS INSTANTANEOUS; BODY WAS BADLY BURNED

Found Necessary to Have Current Turned Off at Auburn Power House in Order to Remove the Body.

LAKEFIELD, Ont., August 11. — William "Boxer" King, 39, was electrocuted last night when he came in contact with a line carrying 6,600 volts while changing transformer fuses on a pole outside the House of Refuge Death was instantaneous, and the body was badly burned. It was necessary to telephone to Peterobrough to have the current turned off at the Auburn Power House in order to remove the body.

Mr. King was foreman of the linemen of the Canada Cement Company, and had been in Lakefield for about nine months. Before that, he had been with the Bell Telephone Company, and he worked at electrical wiring of various kinds for ninteen years. Last night he was doing some overtime work helping Mr. Leggott, superintendent for the Lakefield Hydro Commission. The accident occurred about 7.30, and the village was without light for about on hour

The deceased was a war veteran, having gone overseas in 1914 with the 4th Field Battery, C.F.A. He was married, and leaves a wife and two children, living in Peterborough. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. John King, live on London Street, Peterborough. One brother and one sister also live in Peterborough, and one brother in New York.

Mr. King was a very popular man, not only with his men, but with citizens generally. Two comrades of his in France, A. J. Hudson and Asa White, testified to his popularity with his fellow soldiers while in the Army.

An inquest will be held to-morrow afternoon in the Memorial Hall, Lakefield, Coroner Dr. J. C. Smith announced.

Lavallee To Hang On Friday Morning

OTTAWA, Ont., Aug. 11. — (Canadian Press). — Alex Lavallee will suffer the death penalty, on Friday morning for the murder of his daughter some months ago, near Three Rivers, Quebec. The execution will take place at Three Rivers.

The case was reviewed by the Governor-inCouncil, and it has been decided that there will be no interference with the sentence of the court.

PRINCES SAIL IN SEPTEMBER

Will Spend Few Days in Montreal Before the Embarking.

LEAVE VICTORIA AUG. 22.

CALGARY, Aug. 11. —(Canadian Press). — The present arrangements of the Prince of Wales and Prince George, it is announced, are that they will commence their cross Canada trip from Victoria in the night of August 22. Next day, they will leave Vancouver, arriving in Winnipeg on the morning of August 27. Early following day the Royal tourists will leave for Toronto, which they will reach on the afternoon of August 29. They will remain in Toronto the following day and leave for Ottawa on the morning of August 31. They will proceed to Montreal on September 1 and will spend a few days there before proceeding to Quebec to embark for England.

Nineteen Putts In Eighteen Holes

OTTAWA, Aug. 11.—Joe Sherry, well known Northern mining magnate and formerly a well-known figure in the Yukon, achieved a remarkable distinction while playing on the Ottawa Hunt and Golf Club course on Tuesday. Playing with A. Bergeron, W. Bedard and G. Booth in a four ball match, he took only 19 putts on 18 greens. The only one he missed was on No. 8, an elevated green, which had just been top dressed.

His first putt was fully thirty feet and most of the remaining one putts were from fifteen to twenty feet and he wound up his remarkable performance in full view of a small gallery by putting 45 feet by actual measurement. His score was an eighty-seven, the best he has ever shown on the difficult Hunt and Golf Club course. This putting record attested to by his three companions, is a record for Ottawa, and is believed to be a Canadian record at least.

PLANES READY FOR BIG FLIGHT

GERMANS READY, TOO.

PARIS, August 11. Canadian Press —All of the French pilots now preparing for the trans-atlantic flight were at Le Bourget to-day and the general atmosphere was tense with the belief among the spectators that not many more hours of the day would go by before one of the airmen would take the air for New York.

The sky was bluer than it has been in weeks, but reports from the mid-atlantic and the Newfoundland coast were not quite so optimistic as the appearances in Paris.

Leon Givon pilot of the Farman "Blue Bird," announced that he would start at five o'clock to-morrow morning.

Dessau, Germany, reports that the Europe and Bremen, Junker planes in which four German airmen hope to fly across the Atlantic to North America, were absolutely ready to-day for the start of their long journey. It has not been decided however, whether the third plane which has been prepared for the trans-atlantic flight is to carry mails or a newspaperman. In the former case three planes will start simultaneously.

CANAL TRAFFIC LIGHT THIS YEAR

Sault Lockages Nearly Two Million Tons Less in July.

DROP ON ST. LAWRENCE.

OTTAWA, Aug. 11. —(Canadian Press). — The summary of canal statistics for July, issued to-day by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics, shows that traffic on the Sault Ste. Marie Canals was lighter by 1,949,736 tons than during July, 1926.

On the Welland Canal, Barley, Oats, and Rye showed large declines, while Wheat Pulpwood Sand and merchandise all increased. The St. Lawrence canals showed decrease in the traffic over July last year.

R. S. SMITH CONSTABLE.

Sworn In To Succeed Frank Pratt in County Force.

Humane Society Inspector R. C. Smith is Frank Pratt's successor as a county constable.

Mr. Smith, who took up the duties some weeks ago, was duly sworn into office by His Honor Judge Hayes.

GRAIN CROPS ARE FAVORABLE

Make Good Progress Throughout Provinces Despite Late Season.

GOOD YIELD IN WEST

OTTAWA, Aug. 11 (Canadian Press). — The report gives general conditions at the end of July as follows:

Atlantic Provinces.—The hay harvest has been greatly delayed by excessive rainfall. The growth of other crops has been rapid and their condition has improved during the month. Potato crops are above average, and pastures are excellent. Prospects on the whole are favorable.

Quebec.—The season is everywhere late, but favorable weather during July resulted in rapid growth of the grain crops, the appearance of which is generally excellent. Haying has been delayed in some districts, but the hay crop is good. Corn is below average. Pastures are excellent.

Make Good Progress

Ontario.—Grain crops have made good progress, but in some places have lodged. In low-lying fields the growth is patchy, and there is a certain amount of rust. Fall wheat, rye and barley have matured rapidly, and cutting is general. Hay crops and pastures are excellent. Corn is very backward.

Manitoba.—Conditions have improved, and crops, though late, are promising. Durum wheat, which is largely rust-resistant, has a heavy stand. Barley and oats, though affected somewhat by stem and leaf rust, show good growth. Rye will soon be cut. Weeds, especially wild oats, are plentiful. There are excellent yields of wild upland hay, but low-lying meadows are still under water. Pastures are luxuriant. Slight damage has been caused by hail.

Saskatchewan. — Crops made good progress in July especially during the latter part of the month. They are generally reported as late but a continuance of good crowing weather in August will assure a better than average crop. Hail in July has done more damage than usual and will reduce the yields in the affected areas. Rust is reported in some districts in the south eastern part of the Province, but is not sufficiently developed to indicate the likelihood of damage.

The following telegram was received from the Saskatchewan Department of Agriculture under date of August 8, 1927: "Crops are in good condition and have made good progress during the past two weeks. Forecasts of commencement of cutting show a wide variation, ranging from August 15 to September 1. Rust is reported at only a few scattered spots, and in some places in the southeast but, on the whole, the reports are not alarming Frost is reported at a few points on the morning of the 8th, and in some cases damage to tender garden stuff is reported. It is too early however, to ascertain if any damage has been done to grain crops at these points. Cutting of fall rye has commenced in the majority of districts, and in a few cases it is completed"

Indicate Excellent Yields

Alberta.—Conditions indicate excellent yields of the principal grain crops, providing that frost does not catch the later fields before ripening. In some districts much damage has been caused by hail, but the grain is expected to recover. There are excellent hay crops and pastures are in fine condition. Rye cutting should be general soon.

The average yeild per acre of fall wheat in Canada is estimated at 27.6 bushels per acre, as compared with 25.5 bushels last year and with 24.2 bushels, the decennial average. On the harvested area of 731,200 acres the total yields is 20,170,000 bushels, as compared with 22,442,000 bushels from 880,154 acres last year.

In Ontario the preliminary estimate this years is 17,325 bushels from 630,000 acres, as compared with 20,934,000 bushels from 807,015 acres last year, the average yield per acre being 27.5 bushels, as against 26 bushels last year and 24.6 bushels, the ten-year average.

In Alberta the yield is estimated at 2,442,000 bushels from 86,000 acres, as against 1,073,000 bushels from 58,128 acres last year; the average yield per acre is 28.4 bushels, as com-

COLUMBUS, Ohio., Aug. 11. —(Canadian Press) —Jockey Frank Alexander, 23 year old rider from Riceland, Ky., was knocked unconscious in the first race at Beulah Park yesterday afternoon when his mount, "Winnie Stuart," stumbled and fell, 25 yards ahead of th finah line. His condition is critical.

LONDON POLICE DISPERSE MOB

Sympathizers for Sacco-Vanzetti Gather Around United States Embassy.

HALT TRAFFIC

LONDON, Aug. 11. — (Canadian Press). — Late last night, after a demonstration in favour of Sacco and Vanzetti in Hyde Park, crowds estimated to number 10,000 marched down Park Lane, passing near Buchingham Palace, to the United States embassy, where they were dispersed by a strong force of foot and mounted police.

The demonstrators who were singing the Internationale and carrying red banners, became packed and immovable when they joined thousands of other spectators in Grosvenor Gardens, opposite the embassy.

Mounted police, riding four and six abreast, charged at a canter into the throng. The people fled in a panic as fast as the human masses could be dissolved, amid the screams of women and the outcries and curses of men.

Push Through Mob.

Without drawing their clubs, the mounted police, supported by hundreds on foot, pushed through the mob which retired shouting in the various streets as the "bobbies" tugged at them and exhorted to "come along." The traffic movement presently was restored, over caps, hats and remnants of clothing which had been abandoned by the crowd.

The march from Hyde Park had been orderly, the dense ranks being closely convoyed by lines of police on foot and on horseback. The demonstrators appeared cheerful but earnest, singing in snatches, and crying in unison "Sacco and Vanzetti shall not die." An occasional derisive shout of "Cossacks" was hurled at the mounted officers. For the most part the thousands of people apparently were not looking for trouble.

At Hyde Park, one of the numerous speeches was made by A. J. Cooke, secretary of the Miners' Federation who shouted amid mingled cheering and booing.

"I warn you and I warn Americans that if they murder these two men we shall get even with them. I ask you to take off your hats and pledge yourselves to get even. I am not anti-American, but anti-capitalist. We must boycott America.

"British justice is no different from American justice. I am more concerned with the results of this execution, if it takes place, than with the murder itself. If America kills these two men it will be murder, and we shall reply and we shall repay."

Throughout his address Cook was heckled by sections of the crowd. As he finished speaking, he tore off one of the numerous flags decorating the platform, waved it aloft and started singing "The Red Flag." One section of the crowd joined him. Another section started the British National Anthem, and for a time the British Anthem and the Communist battle song were being lustily voiced simultaneously.

TOWNSHIPS APPOINT WEED INSPECTOR

Hugh McArthur Receives Appointment for Belmont and Methuen.

HAVELOCK, Aug. 11.—The regular meeting of the Belmont and Methuen Council was held recently, with all members present. On motion by Councillors Barrows and Whitney, Reeve Breckenridge was authorized to sign and execute the application for the public liability and property damage policy of the Globe Indemnity Company of Canada, relieving the Townships of Belmont and Methuen of one hundred per cent. of its liability to the public on its highways and bridges for the term of one year.

On motion by Councillors Spencer and Whitney: Hugh McArthur was appointed weed inspector for the Townships of Belmont and Methuen at a salary of $3.00 per day and 10c per mile, mileage one way.

On motion by Councillors Whitney and Sanders, the following accounts and road grants were passed:

George Melville, $26.90; David Burgess, $20.00; Ross Barrons, $6.75; John Cochrane, $7.50; W. J. Peoples, $25.00; W. Youmans, $14.90; United States Oil Co., $60.50. Total $161.10. Previously voted $231.93. Grand total $2,47503.

On motion by Councillors Barrons and Spencer, Council adjourned to meet August 27th or at the call of the Reeve.

WELCOMED TO TORONTO

PORT CHURCHILL CHOSEN AS PORT

British Expert's Choice at Once Accepted by Hon. C. A. Dunning.

IMMEDIATE ACTION

PORT NELSON, Man., Aug. 11 — (CP)—Port Churchill will be recommended to the Government as the Hudson Bay port, by Frederick Palmer, engineer, according to an announcement he made here yesterday. "I shall recommend Churchill to the government as the Hudson Bay port," he said. "It is a natural harbor in which practically unlimited shipping accommodations can be provided in the shortest time and at a minimum of cost."

"The government will act immediately on Mr. Palmer's recommendation," Hon. C. A. Dunning, minister of railways, said to-day. "I have had the opportunity of going over every engineering fact regarding Nelson and Churchill with the aid of the best engineering advice obtainable, and feel sure the detailed report will carry conviction to all as the wisdom of the course proposed.

"The department will proceed at once to push forward work at Church ill from sea end, and the Canadian National Railways, acting for the department, will complete construction of the remaining railroad link as speedily as possible.

"The borings recently taken over an extensive area show easily dredged material and no rock within fifty feet of low water level. It is almost incomparably superior to Nelson in safety, cost of construction and economy of time. It is accessible for thirty foot vessels at all stages of the tide; whereas Nelson can only be made available by extensive dredging for twenty-six foot vessels over periods averaging three hours each, twice in every 24 hours of the shipping season.

"A preliminary report will be submitted during August, to be followed by a detailed report dealing with the questions placed before me by Mr. Dunning last January."

General Patterson, president of the 'on-to-the-Bay' association which has been urging completion of the Hudson Bay route, who accompanied Mr. Palmer, stated:

"I am fully in accord with Mr. Palmer's decision. Churchill has so many natural advantages over Nelson that notwithstanding the longer rail haul it should prove more economical. It certainly can be put into operation sooner. This investigation has proved beyond doubt that we have a first class deep water port. The only question remaining is the period of navigation in the straits. The preparation being made to push the port forward are most satisfactory."

Work done on 350 miles during the last twelve months has resulted in a line over which it is now possible to operate safely and without delay in bringing forward equipment and materials for completion. The department dredge Kinniquahair has been ordered to leave Halifax, N. S., for Churchill by September first.

Much of the plant and material now at Nelson which is serviceable after ten yearss' idleness will be immediately removed to Churchill to be used there . A wireless station will be established at Churchill for communication with Ottawa, and an air patrol is now operating at Hudson's Straits.

"Nature has given us a wonderful harbor at Churchill and it is the policy of the government to develop and make use of the whole Hudson Bay route as quickly as possible."

SMALL CARDS ARE TO BE DISCOURAGED

Postal Authorities Work is Delayed by Small Cards and Envelopes.

From time to time efforts have been made by the Post Office to discourage the use of small cards and envelopes.

It is pointed out that as a result of the small size of cards or envelopes the Post Office cancellation mark frequently fails on the address partially obliterating it, with the possibility that the article may be misdelivered or at least delayed. Then again there is not sufficient space for directions for forwarding, etc., in cases where it is necessary to forward such matter in order to reach the addressee.

There is a greater possibility of loss, as such cards or envelopes are apt to fall out of bundles in which they are tied. Envelopes and cards smaller than size 3 by 4 inch should not be used as they seriously delay the work in offices at a time when the facilities are taxed to the utmost.

TRENT RIVER NEWS.

FROM CANADA

Canada is to have a representative in the San Francisco-Honolulu air race August 12—Major Curson O. Osborne of Vancouver, B.C., a member of the British Columbia air force. Major Curson will fly alone in a Fokker monoplane.

AVIATORS SIGN FLIGHT CONTRACT

LONDON, Ont., Aug. 11—Capt. T. B. Tully, for the past several years superintendent of the Ontario Government Air Service at Sault Ste. Marie, with Lieut. James V. Medcalf, of the same service, are definitely the pilots for the London, Ont., to London, Eng., non-stop flight. They signed their contracts yesterday with Charles Burns, donor of the $25,000 prize, and left at once for Detroit to take charge of the Stinson monoplane scheduled to be completed and fully equipped with all navigation instruments in time for delivery in London next Monday.

The pilots hope to be ready for a take off if weather is favorable any time after August. Both have had nearly 12 years of active continuous flying. Tully was wounded at the Dardanelles, but transferred upon recovery to the Royal flying corps He was in the King's birthday honors on June3, 1918, for the air force cross and was twice mentioned in dispatches for valor. He holds the I.A. certificate of the Gosport School which is the highest rating known to aviation. His partner Medcalf knows the seas around the world. For seven years he flew with the British navy in Atlantic, Mediterranean, Red Sea, Indian Ocean and the Pacific.

WINNIPEG WHEAT.

WINNIPEG, August 11. — Buyers were active in the local wheat market yesterday, and limited offerings resulted in prices descending from 1¼c to 1⅝c at the close; October at $1.51⅝, and December at $1.48.

Export demand seems much keener than for several days. The Canadian and United States reports to be issued yesterday were awaited with deep interest.

Values in coarse grains advanced, due to some short covering. There was good demand for everything, but offerings were light. Flax was steady and about 1 cent higher, and rye advanced 1 cent. Oats gained 1½ cents, but barley held steady.

There was a good demand locally for cash wheat from both Canadian and American mills, and spreads were generally unchanged to 1 cent better.

Moscow Set Curfew For Eleven O'Clock

MOSCOW, August 11 (Canadian Press). — Merry Moscow citizens will henceforth have to do their drinking, fox trotting, and "throwing of parties" so as not to interfere with the nocturnal rest of the hard-working proletariat. The Moscow Administrative Department has so decreed.

It is pointed out that with fifteen or twenty persons, in many instances, occupying an apartment of four or five rooms, unnecessary noise must be abated. Hence there must be no drinking or carousing after eleven o'clock at night.

W.M.S. MEETING

Omemee Women Meet in Trinity United Church School Room.

OMEMEE, Aug. 11.—The regular monthly meeting of the Women's Missionary Society of Trinity United Church, was held in the Sunday school room on Thursday afternoon with the president, Mrs. Rowland, in the chair. There were twenty-eight members and visitors present. Following the opening exercises, the treasurer read the names of all paid up members.

A letter of appreciation was read from Mr. W. J. Kennedy and family for the many kindnesses shown during Mrs. Kennedy's illness and also at the time of their great sorrow.

Several bills were presented and on motion were ordered to be paid by the treasurer of the supply fund.

A donation from Mrs. S. T. Wilson, who has been unable through illness to attend the meetings, was thankfully received.

The president then informed the ladies that the allocation for this year for the W.M.S. and Mission Band was $320.00 and as the year closes Dec. 31 greater activity to raise this amount by that time will be necessary. Mrs. J. Shield reported the value of the bale which was packed and sent away last week to be $70.00.

Miss Eva Race, convenor of the finance committee spoke a few words regarding the envelopes which she had received for systematic giving and which were distributed at the close of the meeting.

The Misses Lillian Race and Florence Rutherford were appointed a programme committee for the next three months.

The scripture lesson was read by Miss Florence Rutherford after which Mrs. Lamb read the devotional leaflet on "The Fellowship of Faith." A duet, "Go Home and Tell", was well rendered by Miss L. Parsons and Rev. E. W. Rowland.

Mrs. J. Courtney then gave a reading on the honeymoon trip to China of Mrs. and the late John McDougal, pioneer missionaries.

Miss Lillian Race then favored the gathering with an excellent piano solo, after which the president welcomed all visitors present.

The meeting closed with prayer after which a social hour was enjoyed with Mrs. I. Fee, Mrs. H. Laidley and Mrs. R. Wilson as hostesses.

NINTH ARREST IN BEETON CASE

Manning McEwen Taken Into Custody by Provincial Police.

SAYS HE DROVE CAR

BEETON, Aug. 11.—Manning McEwen of Weston, was arrested on the road near Weston just before 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon in connection with the series of thefts in the neighbourhood of Beeton.

This is the ninth arrest in the provincial police drive in an effort to solve a long series of thefts in Beeton and Alliston districts.

It is alleged that McEwan was the driver of the car said to have been used by two others under arrest, McDermott and Hammill.

Provincial Officers Cantwell and Hammond made the arrest.

The choice of connoisseurs the wide-world over

IF YOU were dining tonight at The Brook Club in New York, at the embassies in Washington, at the Savoy in London, at the Ritz in Paris, or at the magnificent Suvretta Haus in St. Moritz, you would find an old, old friend listed prominently on the crested menu which the waiter places so graciously in your hand.

Instinctively you would know that only "Canada Dry" could be quite so much at home amid such surroundings—quite so fitting—quite si à point, as the French would put it.

For three generations this fine old ginger ale has been a famous and an honored drink in Canada, and in recent years it has also become the accepted choice of connoisseurs the wide-world over.

Everywhere you go you will hear people praising the matchless flavor and quality of "Canada Dry." It has probably done more to advertise the excellence of Made-in-Canada goods than any other home product.

DENMARK GIRLS ALL HAVE JOBS

Many Women Are Dentists and Doctors in Danish Cities.

INTERESTED IN POLITICS.

TORONTO, Ont., August 11 (Canadian Press). — Miss Kitty Christensen, of Copenhagen, Denmark, who has been a happy traveller around the world for some years, is interested on the subject of her native city.

"Nearly all our girls work, even the daughters of the well-to-do. We have a great many women dentists, our dental college admitting each year an equal number of male and female students. The medical profession seems to attract many of our women also, and then, of course, they are found in hospitals, stores, offices, and factories."

Politics are alluring to a great many of the Danish women, according to Miss Christensen, and already the important position of Minister of Education, Literature, and Art has been filled by one of them. For two years Mrs. Nina Bang occupied this position in a Socialistic ministry. The voting privilege is appreciated by Danish women as a whole, but those in the Labour ranks use it most conscientiously.

Asked concerning the educational system of her country, Miss Christensen referred with pride to the Folk High Schools, where during the winter months, most helpful courses in agriculture and many other types of "culture" are given for the benefit of young men and women on farms. As school days frequently end for this portion of the nation at the early age of 14, the winter courses of the Folk High Schools make possible extension work in many subjects.

OTTAWA ORDERED PRINCES GUARDED

General Elmsley Says Press Representatives Weren't Mentioned.

KINGTON Aug. 11. — Major-General J. H. Elmsley, Officer Commanding this military district, who has been indirectly criticized by the Toronto press, owing to what was termed "a first class exhibition of red tape," on the occasion of the visit of the Royal Princes to Kingston on Friday of last week, was interviewed yesterday following his return from attending the funeral of the late Major-Genera lF. L. Lessard in Toronto.

Ottawa Provided List.

"Prior to the Princes' visit we received instructions from Ottawa, which outlined the programme for Kingston and gave us a complete list of the Princes' party to be landed in Kingston and stressed the fact that adequate protection must be provided for the arrival of the Princes and their party," said General Elmsley "In these instructions, and in the official programme, no mention was made of any press representatives other than Mr. C. L. Bishop and a local representative.

"At a meeting held in the office of the Mayor of Kingston to discuss the details of the Princes' visit the following points amongst others were agreed upon as appropriate and necessary in the interests of the Princes' safety:

Precautions decided upon.

"That the officials of the Yacht Club should have their wharf clear of all yachts and individuals by 6.30 p.m. on the day of the Princes' arrival; that the wharf should be handed over to the Chief of Police of Kingston for protective measures and no one be permitted on the wharf except those persons authorized in the orders from Ottawa and known by the Chief of Police; that no one be permitted in galleries or or grounds of yacht club except those persons authorized by the yacht club's oficials

"On the day of the arrival of the Princes, in the afternoon, the Mayor telephoned me that a party of press corrcespondents represented as officially accompanying the Princes on their tour, desired to be present on the yacht club wharf on the arrival of their Royal Highnesses. I advised the mayor to refuse the application and stated I was prepared to take full responsibility for the refusal."

FULL LENGTH PLAYS

PARIS, Aug. 10.—A demand for old drama in its original form has swept Paris and many a theatre-goer has to watch the stage for five and six hours without intermission. Hamlet is given in its full five-hour length. Mussett's Lorenzaccio was played for the first time since Sarah Bernhardt in its eighteen tableaux, without intermission.

WHEN A BOY OF FIVE BECAME KING

The solemn scenes in Rumania ensuing upon the death of King Ferdinand are vividly recorded in these first photos to reach Canada. At the left above you see the royal casket borne from Sinaia, where death culminated the monarch's long illness, to lie in state in Cotroceni Palace, Bucharest. Queen Marie (left) and her daughter, the Queen of Jugoslavia, are seen at the lower left tearfully watching the pall's passage out of Sinaia. At the right, above, the young Prince Michael, Ferdinand's grandson and successor, is seen entering the Chamber of Deputies to receive the oath of allegiance from his regents, as pictured at the lower right (arrow points to the young ruler).

Paris Hairdressers Expect Long Hair Era

Hold Everything Is Waiting For Customers

PARIS, Aug 11.—Paris is having some success in its determined campaign to foist long hair upon its short-haired customers.

Some ladies who said they would never wear hobble skirts, and wore them; or trouser skirts and are wearing them, declared they would not give up their short hair. Yet the least trained observer in the smart restaurants and dancing places of Paris notes the growing number of washionably dressed women with long hair.

Hair dressers are so confident long hair is due for a revival that they are laying in large supplies of detachable transformations to tide their clients over the transition period. Even hairpins are in readiness for the renaissance ow women's crowning beauty.

Amulet Continues Standard Feature

TORONTO, August 11. Canadian Press. — Amulet continued to featurn the market on the Standard mining exchange, when it sold up 9 cents a share to $4.44, with trading in more than 40,000 shares to-day. Area was the leader in activity with o total volume of 116,000 shares.Considerable profit taking developed in this issue and it declined two cents to 69.

Kirkland Lake was strong at 162, a gain of 4 points. Beaver in sympathy, firmed three cents to 124. Lake Shore and Hollinger were the strong est of the dividend paying gold stocks. Other issues advanced ten cents to $20.50 and $18.10 respectively.

Break In One Stock Causes General Decline

NEW YORK, Aug. 11 (Canadian Press).—A violent break of 56 points in the common stock of the Manhattan Electric Supply Company started a general reaction in the stock market just before noon-day after an opening outburst of buying had lifted a dozen specialties to new high levels. A handful of other high-priced pool specialties broke from 5 to 15 points, while declines of 1 to 3 points took place throughout the general list.

The break in Manhattan Electrical Supply came while the Stock Exchange was investigating reports of a technical corner in that issue following its sensational advance from a low of 53⅛ this year to a high of 132 a few weeks ago. The stock closed last night at 120½, fluctuated erratically within a 5-point range in the first hour, then broke precipitately to 75, rallied above 80, and then collapsed again to 64½ early in the afternoon.

Houston Oil dropped 15¼ points to 128 and rallied to 135. Timken Roller Bearing dropped 10 to 123⅛ and snapped back to 130, and Dupont, Commercial Solvents "B", and Delaware and Hudson sold down 5 points or more.

Violent fluctuations of this nature invariably scared many traders and investors away from the market and resulted in heavy liquidation throughout the list. Little attention was paid for the time being to outside news developments. A further shading in time money rates, bringing the shorter maturities below 4 per cent for the first time year, indicated that there was no strain on the credit situation. Call money was in plentiful supply at 3¾ per cent.

Bank Shares Strong; Distilleries Are Weaker

TORONTO, Aug. 11. —(Canadian Press.)—Mackay common stock featured a broad but somewhat irregular market on the Toronto stock exchange, when it advanced ten points to 124. The preferred gained 1½ to 70. The bank stocks were strong features, scoring gains ranging from twelve points to three points. Royal Bank recorded the widest advance, selling at 302, up twelve points. Dominion gained six points to 252, Nova Scotia five to 345, Standard three to 223, Commerce three to 267, and Imperial three to 235.

Brazilian was stronger at 169, up 1¾. International Nickel was a weak feature, declining 2 3-8 to 63½. The Distillery issues were soft. Industrial Alcohol eased one point to 33½. Walker, which led the list in activity, dropped 1 1-8 to 43¾. G. and W. was down 1½ to 44. Carlings was an exception, firming ¼ to 25¾.

Black Rust Damage Causes Rise In Wheat

CHICAGO, Aug. 11.— (Canadian Press.)—Reports of increasing black rust damage to domestic spring wheat carried prices upward fast early to-day. At the same time, corn and oats advanced to new high price records for the season, the government crop report apparently indicating future heavy abandonment of corn acreage.

Opening at 1-8 to 7-8 up, wheat later showed gains of about 3 cents. Corn started a half cent to 1 3-8 down, sagged a little more, and then jumped rapidly. Provisions averaged lower.

Opening prices were: Wheat, September 144, December 147 7-8. Corn, September 112 7-8, December 115 5-8. Oats, September 49 1-2, December 53 1-2.

CABINET REFUSES TO GIVE CLEMENCY

Man Who Killed Daughter at Three Rivers Must Pay Penalty.

OTTAWA, Aug. 11.—The case of Alex. Lavalee, who was sentenced to hang at Three Rivers next Friday morning for the murder of his daughter, was considered by the Cabinet yesterday afternoon, and if the Governor-General signs the recommendation of the Council the execution will be proceeded with as arranged.

The case is interesting by reason of the fact that Lavalee is 73 years of age, and an appeal for clemency was based on that ground. The circumstances of the slaying, however were such that it was difficult for the Government to interfere, and the probability is that justice will take its course.

Lavalee was convicted of killing his daughter after committing a serious crime against her, which alone is a capital offense. The tragedy occurred in the Province of Quebec near the City of Three Rivers.

FAMOUS LADIES ATTEND CONGRESS

Misses Cornelia Adair and Helen Pankhurst Well Known Educationalists.

TORONTO, Ont., August 11 (Canadian Press). — Two very distinguished women delegates will be present at the convention of the World Federation of Education Association. Miss Cornelia Adair, who has just been signally honoured by being elected president of the National Education Association of the United States, the second largest national organization in the world, with t membership of 160,000, is to give several addresses. The originator of the Dalton Plan, Miss Helen Parkhurst, is also to be present. The Dalton Plan, like the Montessori Plan, has created a great deal of stir in educational circles throughout the English-speaking world.

Reciprocity in Protection

Ontario Police Watchword

General Victor Williams, Provincial Police Commissioner, did battle on the Peace Bridge last Sunday afternoon with "Reciprocity" as his war cry.

It was this way, so the story goes: When the General reached the Buffalo side of the bridge it was to find twenty husky armed cycle-cops lined up in escort formation.

"What for?" he asked skeptically.

Official Explains.

"Oh," said the official in charge of them in language to the following effect, "we're going to see Vice-President Dawes over to your side of and safely down to Queenston when he goes with the Prince and his party."

"Oh, are you?" said the General, with a mild uplift of eyebrow.

"I think so," said the U. S. official.

"Well, my man," said the General in his best sallent style, "I'm afraid you have sonther tnink coming."

"But why?" persisted the American.

"I'll tell you why," said the General. "Listen!" The American listened. From the amplifiers on the distant speech-making platform there was borne to the spot the voice of the Prince of Wales.

"Hear him?" asked the General.

"Sure," said the American.

"Well," said the General, "that's why. There he is—the heir to the British Throne — right over here on your side of the line and there's not one armed Ontario or Canadan officer that I know of with him."

"Huh!" pondered the American. "I don't quite get you."

"Reciprocity, man!" snapped the General. "Reciprocity We're leaving to your hands, here in Buffalo, what protection, if any, his Royal Highness requires. Surely you can do us, in Ontario, the compliment of believing us capable of looking after your Vice-President for a couple of hours. Get me now?"

"Gosh!" breathed the American, or something of that sort. "You sure know your onions."

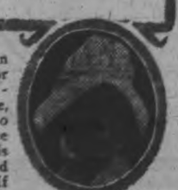
And so Charles G. Dawes, Vice-President of the United States of America, went to Queenston and up and down the Canadan side escorted by two mild-looking Canadian cycle-cops and not by the two dozen "bristlers" who had been selected for him in the first place.

Isn't it astonishing what a little diplomacy, well timed and well executed, can do nowadays?

Boy, page General Williams!

Safer Summer Hygiene
While Wearing
Filmy, Thin Frocks

By ELLEN J. BUCKLAND
Registered Nurse



INSTEAD of risking old-time "sanitary pads," 8 in 10 better-class women employ a NEW way called "Kotex." Filled with Cellucotton wadding, the world's super-absorbent, it is 5 times more absorbent.

Kotex also deodorizes. It discards easily as tissue—no laundry. Thus, in three important ways, it solves a serious summer problem for women.

Obtain Kotex. For peace-of-mind's sake, accept no other. See that box is marked "Kotex." If it isn't, it is not genuine Kotex.

ENTERS UNIVERSITY

Royal Princess Will Study Incognito At Leyden.

LEYDEN, Holland, Aug. 11. — Queen Wilhelmina's 18-year-old daughter, Princess Juliana, will begin her studies at the famous university here with the coming September term.

The Queen has decided that the young princess-graduate must mix freely with other girl students and while she is at the university, she will drop her rank and be known as plain Miss Louise van Buren to which name she is entitled by the fact that one of the Queen's titles is Countess van Buren.

Louise is the princess's second Christian name which she took from Louise de Coligny, the second wife of William the Silent.

"Miss van Buren" will major in law and Dutch literature.

A 40 PER CENT. SAVING FOR YOU.

Have you bought your tickets for the Peterborough Industrial Exhibition?

This week the Fair Board is offering 8,000 tickets for sale at twenty-five cents each. They are sold in strips of four, and are good for both the gate and grandstand.

An advance sale yielding $2,000 not only provides ready cash for the Exhibition Board, but it affords a saving equivalent to forty per cent. for patrons who buy their tickets now.

If you don't get your share of these 8,000 tickets it will be your own fault. The Exhibition is only a month away, and you know you are going. Why not buy your tickets now!

It is not every day you have a chance of making a saving, if not a profit, of 40 per cent.

CLEAR THE COURT.

Little can be said in favor of the holding of open courts sitting in trial of unsavorary cases such as engaged the attention of the Magistrate at Marmora Police Court on Tuesday.

In a fairly well filled court-room, with men preponderating in the audience, a Marmora man was convicted of an indecent assault on a girl of 18 years. Two girls, one the victim of the assault and the other a friend, one year younger, were called upon to give evidence, some of which consisted in the quotation of improper expressions used by the accused man. During their evidence the sniggering of various listeners could be heard all over the room.

Some, at least, of those present appeared to regard the proceedings as a cheap form of spicy entertainment—a fact which of itself would have been sufficient justification for the holding of the hearing in camera.

Many assaults on women go unfinished because of the shrinking of the victims from the public attention which is inevitable when the case is brought before the courts. To a pure and modest girl or woman the idea of appearing in court to relate, even to the sympathetic ears of judges and counsel, the nauseous details of an unpleasant experience conveys something terrible. But the ordeal becomes a thousand times more trying when such evidence has to be given before a number of smirking males in a crowd composed almost entirely of individuals among whom she has to live and earn her daily bread.

For example, the two chief witnesses in Tuesday's case at Marmora had to quote a statement made by the prisoner, in which he reflected on their character. In cases where girls are called on to give such evidence, the court should be closed to the public.

And Marmora Police Court should have been closed to the public on Tuesday.

THE LABOR LEADER SPEAKS.

Perusal of Mr. Ramsay MacDonald's speeches leaves the reader without the least anxiety or worry over the possible return to parliamentary power of the British Labor party, says The Ottawa Journal. For instance, in a recent address to workers' clubs the Labor leader said (quoting The London Times):

"Mr. MacDonald said the Labor party had reached the time when it must make itself seriously responsible for the government of the country. They must trust more and more to the political weapon. He knew how slow the House of Commons was. Nevertheless, it was not today that meant so much. The method they had to adopt was the method that was going to bring them through in the end. By being too anxious about today, they might miss the opportunity of tomorrow. That was not good business. As a party, they must settle down to that solid journeyman work of building up on unassailable foundations and within weather-proof walls, the new state in which was to abide happiness, peace and prosperity. That was his point of view, and that point of view would remain so long as he was associated with the Labor party."

Mr. Baldwin is a radical Conservative. Mr. MacDonald a conservative Radical, and it is almost impossible to distinguish the mark where the one ends and the other begins. Mr. MacDonald would achieve the ideal state by a process of education, evolution and strict constitutional methods; so would the Conservative Premier. The Labor leader's programme knows nothing of revolution or the upsetting of tested institutions, and at least so long as he is at the head of his party of "Reds" in its ranks will make little progress.

TWO OLD SOLDIERS DIE—WOOD AND LESSARD.

The camps may sing of the ultimate evanishment of old soldiers, but, alas, those fireside fancies fade out, too, in the stronger light of reality.

Old soldiers die like the rest of us, though their spirits, denied release in the fury of battle, at last go thundering with Brunhild and her Valkyrs through the shadowy vales of Valhalla.

Two of them were buried on Tuesday, Major General Leonard Wood at Washington and Major General Francois Louis Lessard C.B., at Toronto. Veterans both, with splendid military records behind them, they were refused the final glory of leading the armies of their countries in the European war.

General Wood first won attention in the operations against the Apache Indians, capturing Geronimo, chief of the tribe; and in the Spanish-American war he was chosen to command the Rough Riders recruited by Theodore Roosevelt, who contented himself with the subordinate rank of lieutenant-colonel.

General Lessard was even more exclusively a cavalry man than his American contemporary, and in Britain's campaign against the Boers in South Africa he led the Royal Canadian Dragoons. At Bloemfontein, the Vet River and Lilliefontein, he displayed such daring and resource as a commander that he was paid a grateful tribute by General Smith-Dorrien, and was even recommended for the Victoria Cross.

When the United States entered the war against the Austro-German alliance, President Wilson withheld from General Wood the honor and responsibility to which his experience and ability entitled him.

Nearly three years earlier Sir Sam Hughes, assembling the first Canadian Expeditionary Force at Valcartier, faced a similar problem of selecting his staff. General Lessard was popularly regarded as a logical choice for a high command.

For some reason, Sir Sam Hughes, Minister of Militia, passed over the Quebec-born Lessard and chose instead a junior officer to lead the first detachment of the C.E.F. to England.

Subsequent events down to this day might have been somewhat different had Sir Sam Hughes conferred the baton of leadership upon General Francois Louis Lessard.

Sir Sam Hughes, as Minister of Militia, decided to ignore the sentiment of Quebec and the pride of French-Canadians in that initial rush of recruits, and if there have been silent but significant and much lamented and resented repercussions, who shall at length be charged with the first offending fault?

General Wood and General Lessard were given responsible but comparatively inactive duties at home, in which they carried on without protest like good soldiers, chafing in doubt under the disappointment of a grievous rejection.

THE BRIDGE OPENING.

The ceremony and public service yesterday to commemorate the opening of the international bridge connecting Fort Erie and Buffalo was an event of great significance, emphasizing the friendly relations and commercial intercourse of two nations over a hundred years of peace. It was planned to celebrate that event fittingly in the year 1918, but the Great War then occupied so much energy of the two peoples that it was thought advisable to dispense with the ceremonies earlier thought of. There was no oversight of the importahce of the peace and friendly relations. But the then present events of war forbade attention to rejoicings among friends.

The bridge itself is an example of its kind in steel and concrete of what modern engineers may undertake and accomplish. The practical value will be proven from day to day to the people in this part of North America, and to many from other parts who travel over the continent in automobiles and will find the bridge a means of reaching their destinations with saving of time and in comfort.

The idea of associating the bridge with the century of peace was well conceived seeing it conveys the thought of unity and of intimate relations. Through all those years, since 1814, there has been peace between the United States and the British Empire, and although at times there were differences on passing events, like the differences which arise in families, there was continued business relations, particularly between the United States and Canada. It is the will of Canadians that this bridge may ever stand as a reminder of the intelligent good relations of the two peoples and suggest to public men and writers that these good relations should be permanent in character like the steel and concrete which have been formed on plans of engineers to serve for the bridge.—Hamilton Spectator.

LIFE'S LITTLE WORRIES.

Half the irritation of life is caused by the peculiar pranks of inanimate things—things that have no business to be tiresome, such as teapots and clocks and doors and other objects intended to add to the amenities of existence. When a teapot has got a proper spout, for instance, why is it that it will persist in dripping over one's best tablecloth, or in making a horried mess of the tea tray? And if it drips sometimes, why doesn't it drip always?

Yet sometimes the same teapot will behave like a perfect lady and make no trouble at all.

Why is a clock possessed of such obstinacy?. Yet it sometimes is. There are clocks which in spite of everything anybody can do keep themselves ten minutes fast. They laugh at watchmakers and pay no attention to regulators which might as well not be there. You put it a little slow sometimes and think "Now I've diddled you, my friend. Tomorrow you will be all right." But not a bit of it.

Tomorrow it will have leaped on and got to its ten minutes fast again.

Why do doors mysteriously swing open just when you don't want them to, and, on the other hand, mysteriously close in your face when you desire to enter them?

How is it that a piece of string which you know quite well you put in one place has secretly moved somewhere else or totally disappeared? One could write reams about the irritating habits of string and sealing wax and brown paper; there is no doing anything with them.

And why do people ten minutes before a meal is due look into the drawing-room and remark they are just going out to get a paper?

Of course, they are not inanimate. But just as irritating.—Glasgow Weekly Herald.

TORONTO LIVESTOCK.

TORONTO, Ont., August 11.—With receipts of 730 cattle and 750 held over from Tuesday, trading at the Union Stock Yards yesterday continued steady for good butcher cattle.

Good butcher's steers and heifers sold from $8.00 to $8.75, but the common moved slowly at easier prices, selling downward to $5.00.

Baby beeves were in good demand, with an odd fancy making $13.00. Cows and bulls sold at steady prices.

The springer trade is brightening up considerably, one exceptionally fine animal selling for $150.00.

The calf trade, with receipts of 318 head, was strong. Best vealers brought from $11.00 to $13.50, with a few head of fancy at $14.00.

Trading in hogs was steady at $11.40 off cars and $10.50 f.o.b. for selects. The receipts yesterday were 1,568 head.

With receipts of 1,432 sheep and lambs, the latter were 50c lower, with the bulk of good lambs bringing $14.00 and bulk $12.00. Sheep were strong, good light ewes selling for $5.50 to $7.00, culls down to $3.00.

MONTREAL GRAIN AND PRODUCE.

MONTREAL, Aug. 11 (Canadian Press).—There was an improved demand from the United Kingdom and the Continent for American hard winter wheat here yesterday, and as the prices bid were in line with local exporters' views a fair amount of business was accomplished. The trade in Canadian spring wheat grades and coarse grains was quiet.

A feature of the domestic cash grain market was the demand from exporters for Manitoba No. 5 and No. 6 wheat, and sales of quite a few loads were made at c.i.f. prices here. The local demand for coarse grains was quiet. Argentine corn was stronger at an advance of 1 cents per bushel with car lots quoted at $1.05.

The flour market was without any special feature to note, prices for spring and winter wheat grades being well maintained under a good demand.

An active business was done in all lines of millfeed and the undertone was firm. The trade in standard grades of rolled oats was quiet, but prices were unchanged.

The egg market was moderately active and firm. The receipts were 1,517 cases.

Prices for all grades of butter were firmly maintained and the demand continued good. The receipts were 109 packages.

The demand for cheese was again inactive, but prices ruled steady. The receipts were 10,448 boxes.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, Aug. 11 (Canadian Press).—Renewal of frost and rust reports from spring crop territory brought about active buying of wheat toward the last yesterday and consequent higher prices. Earlier the market averaged lower because of selling based on correct anticipation that the United States government crop report on wheat would prove bearish.

Wheat closed firm, 1⅝ to 2¼c net higher; corn ⅝ to 1⅞c up; oats at ½c to ⅝c advance, and provisions varying from 10 cents decline to a rise of 20 cents.

Rust Damage Heavy

Black rust damage was represented by the advices late in the day as being greater than expected this side of the international line, whereas in Canada, especial Central Saskatchewan, increased damage was reported by frost as well as rust. An additional bullish factor concerning wheat yesterday was notice that the European potato crop is only 75,000,000 bushels in excess of the very poor crop of 1926 which was 900,000,000 bushels less than that of 1925.

Broadening general demand for corn yesterday with all deliveries touching a new high price record for the season was based largely on temperature persisting too low for the best development of the crop. Oats also reached new top level prices for the season. Threshing returns continued disappointing.

The outstanding influence regarding provisions was a big increase in lard stocks this month.

STERLING EXCHANGE.

MONTREAL, Aug. 11 (Canadian Press).—Sterling exchange rates were quoted here yesterday as: Sterling demand $4.85 5-16; sterling cables, $4.86 7-16.

VOICE OF PEOPLE

Letters to be printed in the Voice of the People column must be received at The Examiner office on the day before it is desired to have them published.

AN APPRECIATION.

Editor, Evening Examiner:

One has truly said that "All work and no play makes Jack a dull boy." And we add: Jean, too, is in danger of becoming a dull girl if forbidden the exercise of her natural, wholesome faculty for enjoyment of an occasional holiday. And not the young only, but the middle-aged and the youthful-minded octogenarian, rejoice together in such God-given privileges as those afforded on the occasion of Saturday, the 6th day of this month. On one momentous occasion the voice of the highest authority, in heaven above and in the earth beneath, gave the invitation to His appreciative followers, viz., "Come with Me aside and rest awhile."

By courtesy of the Textile Company, Ltd., a kindred invitation was extended to the public in general, and to adults and children in particular, to participate in the specific enjoyments of 6th Proxims. In accordance therewith the deponant, together with 633 others, all "true-hearted, whole-hearted" sons and daughters of the British Empire—God grant her continued peace and prosperity within her borders—were astir before the sun had tinged the hilltops of Peterborough's surrounding beautiful landscape with his mellow golden light; and attired in textile fabrics of varied colors, from solemn black to silver grey and onward through each degree of shade to purple and scarlet in many designs of "ring-streaked, speckled and spotted," according to the code given by Moses in the Book of Books; only that, in point of legal measurement, some costumes did not comply, either upwardly or downwardly, with the requirements in vogue under the virtuous rules of the Mosaic dispensation.

By the grace of the Canadian National Railways, supplemented by the Ontario Steam Navigation Company of Toronto, the excursionists were courteously, carefully and comfortably conducted from Auburn, Peterborough and Cobourg to Charlotte and Rochester, N. Y., the full time being from 6.30 a.m. to 1.45 p.m., when by the courtesy of the Buffalo, Rochester and Pittsburg Railway Company we were safely landed and welcomed by our kindred Anglo-Saxons of the United States.

Peaceful Rejoicings.

"The effect of righteousness shall be peace and safety forever." One has truly said, "Peace hath her conquests not less renowned than war. The sunrise on the 6th presented every aspect of peace in the natural elements. Arrived on board steamship Ontario No. 2 the genial countenances of officers, Captain C. E. Redefrn, Mate Brennan, Chief Engineer J. A. Nicol, Purser Charles Goodwin, with pleasant words, gave human assurance, "Peace and safety," to Charlotte and return, while the Textile Sports Committee, viz., Thomas Turcotte (chairman), J. Gridlan, J. Yamen and H. Tamlon, assured our excursionists of their best endeavors to meet the wishes of parties in the games on deck and "tripping the light fantastics" in the ship's spacious and well-appointed parlor, the music being furnished by radio to the full enjoyment of admirers of terpsichorean art in her various phases.

Lake Ontario was that day wearing her beautious dress of sea-green and silvery white, shimmering in the rich, clear sunlight, the breeze being just enough to produce a ripple on her surface in response to the decorous peals of virtuous holiday laughter of the excursionists and officers of the steamship. Calmly sailing up the Genesee River gave to the excursionists a rich, rare opportunity of noting the work in varied stratification of rock and clay in mathematical exactness, designed by the supreme architect, who designed the retaining walls of the Lake Ontario basin, in the eternities before that His word, "Let there be light," had been uttered or His agents, the earthquake and the glacier, had been at work in their formation. But the reverent, subduing influences upon the mind and heart of man, made by those works of God, must be seen in order to be felt and realised with profit for man finds in his vain effort at description of the beautious, mighty works of God that his effort dissolves into mere vapor, flung, without sweetness, on "the desert air." But God says, "I judge the heart, not results." And therein lie our hopes of salvation.

Return journey began at 6 p.m. "Bon voyage" and "Come again" were spoken by our U. S. friends, and they meant it. So, returning, Lake Ontario was as calm as the waters of Gaspe basin or Baie de Chaleurs when in their best behavior, and I hereby recommend to the peace-loving people of Peterborough and elsewhere another excursion under the auspices of the Textile Co., and transportation to Rochester by the C.N.R., the S.S. Ontario No. 2 and the B. R. & P., and return to Peterborough. I also hereby gratefully acknowledge the prize awarded me by the Textile Co. of a silver fruit spoon, Rodgers brand, because of the fact of being the oldest person of the 633 excursionists of the day. My prayer is, "that I may grow old gracefully."

With best wishes for the true prosperity of all concerned.

ROBERT HARRISON.

SUMMER COMPLAINT

A Thought For To-day

SOMEONE TO LEAD.

There isn't a boy but wants to grow
Manly and true to heart;
And every boy would like to know
The message you impart.
He doesn't desire to slack or shirk,
And haven't you heard him plead:
He'll follow the man at play or work
If only the man will lead?

Where are the men who lead to-day,
Lending an hour or two,
Teaching the boy the game to play
Just as a man should do?
Village and slum are calling "Come,"
Here are the boys, indeed!
Who can tell what they would become
If only the men will lead?

The first hospital for women in the Orient was opened at Bareilly, India, by Dr. Clara Swain, a Methodist missionary.

PIMPLES BROKE OUT ON FACE

Lasted Nearly a Year. Healed by Cuticura.

"My skin trouble began with pimples breaking out on my face. They gradually grew worse and spread to my body. They were red and itched very much, and when I scratched them it caused more pain. Scratching caused eruptions which disfigured my face. At night I could not sleep on account of the irritation. The trouble lasted nearly a year.

"I read an advertisement for Cuticura Soap and Ointment and sent for a free sample. The sample helped me so I purchased more and in five months I was healed." (Signed) Willie A. Yaremko, 8924-88th Ave., Edmonton, Alta.

SOCIETY FLOCKS TO FRILLY FROCKS

By HENRI BENDEL
For NEA Service

NEW YORK, Aug. 11.—The American country club becomes, each year, more the place to look for society's smart summer fashion shows.

The latest sport outfits always appear first at fashionable seaside resort clubs. So do summer evening gowns.

But of all feminine attire that makes its debut into society on the country club lawns, the afternoon frock is the darling of them all.

This frock had its inception with the growth of the country club habit. It is neither a formal nor yet a strictly informal gown. It is usually a dainty frock, more often with long sleeves than short, suitable for bridge, tea or other parties on lazy afternoons in droway August or stifling Indian summer.

Have Airy Grace.

Certainly the airy grace of chiffons was conceived for just such occasions And doubly suitable are the delectable flowered patterns which introduce all the beauty of outdoor gardens while allowing their wearers to enjoy the coolness and shade of the club.

I have used these flowered chiffons with a profligate hand this season. Dainty, delicately colored ones with an air of young beauty about them become youth with amazing suitability. On the other hand, the black or fushcia backgrounded chiffons, with a sophisticated touch of color, are beautifully adapted to older women's use.

I show one frock today, a Vionnet import designed for a debutante. Youth is in its morning glory pattern in natural colors on a misty rose background. And youthful are its simple lines which achieve flowing grace by tiered ruffles. The skirt has uneven fullness and uneven hemline. Most youthful of all is its scarf collar, caught to form a modistly low front neck and knotted in the back with ends blowing to the breeze insouciantly.

This dress seemed to me to call for a tan horsehair hat, with moderately large brim, trimmed with only a misty rose banding.

Some of the Modes.

For a tall, slender woman I designed the black chiffon with a liberal sprinkling of pastel colored sweet peas. The handkerchief shaped drapes, falling in graceful irregular points, and the deep U-shaped back yoke in apple green, tend to shorten the wearer's height.

A deep sash suggests the swathed hipline without confining the skirt's fullness. The sleeves, long like most afternoon frocks this season, add a svelte touch by their fitted line. The hat is white leghorn, with smartly shaped crown and rolling brim. It is banded in black velvet and has a bunch of gay flowers.

The third costume shown today is somewhat a departure from chiffons. It has all their gentle gaiety, but is especially designed for a woman who objects to fluttering tiers and ruffles, demanding a tailored touch, even in evening gowns. So I used crepe roma, in a white background with green roses.

Its tiers are shaped and fitted and the scarf of self material has restraint in its fashioning and the manner in which it is caught to the shoulder with a green rose. This rose is repeated at the waistline. The sleeves in this type frock are long and tight. A large hat of the smart rough straw so popular right now in Paris has field flowers on it, suggesting the country in mid-summer.

VATICAN TO GIVE NATIVES CHARGE

Appointments of Japanese and Chinese as Bishops Taken As Indication.

MONTREAL, August 11. British United Press. — A special despatch to the Star from Rome says:

"For the first time in the history of the Catholic Church a Japanese priest is to be consecrated a bishop. Januarius Hayasaka, belonging to the diocese of Habowali, has been appointed to fill the vacant Bishopric of Nagasaki. His consecration will be in October. The ceremony will be performed by Pope Pious in the Basilica of St. Peter's.

"The appointment is taken to indicate that the Vatican will substitute natives for Europeans who hitherto have held the high posts of the Catholic hierarchy in the Far East. Six native Chinese Bishops were created last year, and other appointments are expected."

NO KNOWN GRAVE.

Each Decoration Day we see the veterans
Parade with flowers to strew upon their dead;
They find each grave and place with ceremony,
The little flag, for which their blood was shed.

O, people, whom they died to save,
Remember those with "no known grave"

A poet has immortalized the crosses
That mark the graves, where scarlet poppies blow,
But who that rides the wave that foams and tosses,
Can say where any hero sleeps below?

O, people, whom they died to save,
Remember those with "no known grave."

Some breathed their last inside a foreign prison
Some dropped to earth from out a captured plane,
And some were buried where the fight was raging,
And all the ground was torn apart again.

O, people whom they died to save,
Remember, those with "no known grave."

SAINT and SINNER

By ANNE AUSTIN

It was really scandalous, Faith thought miserably, the way Glenn Andrews, Selma Pruitt's dinner partner and evidently, from the attitude of the Pruitt family, almost her accepted suitor, fastened himself upon Cherry. It was as if he had turned from a candle to a star, and was dazzled by the new, splendid radiance.

As for Cherry—Faith clenched her hands in her lap, her eyes straining toward her sister. Cherry, in sharp contrast to her sulkiness at the dinner table, when she had resented Faith's unaccustomed brilliance and popularity, seemed to be shimmering with light.

Her golden eyes were wide, luminous, as if incandescent lamps had been turned on behind them. Radiance shimmered over her lovely, apricot-tinted cheeks; smiles curled her small, ripe-red mouth, tugged at dimples, permitted dazzling flashes of little, milk-white teeth. And constantly, as she talked, her tiny hands, entirely free of rings, fluttered like white moths, whose wings are tipped with rose. She could not keep still, flashing about the room in humming-bird darts that sent her full, apple-green taffeta skirt swishing and rustling seductively. And wherever Cherry was, there, too, was Glenn Andrews.

His rather thin lips quivered every time he tried to speak to Cherry, and his eyes clung to her with awe and admiration.

Faith sighed. The party which had started so auspiciously was slowly taking on the character of a nightmare. Bob, seated near her in a chair drawn close to the empire sofa, was watching the first scene of Cherry's new drama with narrowed eyes, his face flushed and his mouth a stern, thin line.

Notified by telepathic communications from his wife, Mr. Pruitt's bland serenity was growing a little strained, his long stories a little incoherent. And Mrs. Pruitt was sitting stiffly upright, scorning the sofa's invitation to relax, her face frozen into a mask of displeasure.

Of course they had all been glad that Selma was likely to marry Glenn Andrews, Faith reflected. George had told her, in a confidential aside, that Andrews was a comparative newcomer to the city, a young man who had brought inherited wealth with which to build a factory to be devoted to the manufacture of commercial airplane bodies. The Pruitts had taken him up instantly, and Selma, until that night, had worn his devotion like a spinster's medal of honor.

Now Selma sat alone at the piano, sometimes playing bits of Bach and Chopin, fragments, as if she were playing for herself alone, but more often sitting with her hands twisted in her lap, her small black eyes fierce with pain and anger, her irregular, plain face dark, forbidding. Whether Selma—caustic-tongued, arrogant Selma—had really given her heart to Glenn Andrews, or whether she was only suffering the pangs of affronted vanity, Faith could not possibly tell, but she did know that her hands ached with a desire to snatch Cherry from the big, splendid drawing room and to spank her soundly.

How conscienceless Cherry was, Faith moaned to herself. Cherry had been affronted by the turning of the attention of the entire company upon Faith earlier in the evening, and by Mrs. Pruitt's poorly concealed dislike of her. And so now she was retaliating.

Small need Cherry had to prove to anyone that she could drive a man crazy in less time than it takes other girls to win the first flicker of interest.

At ten o'clock Selma Pruitt suddenly rose from the piano, cast one long, hating look at Cherry, threw a bitter, mocking smile at Glenn Andrews, then fairly ran from the door, scorning to make an excuse that no one would believe.

Faith rose, commanding Bob with her eyes. But when constrained good-byes had been said by Faith and Bob, Cherry announced gayly: "Mr. Andrews is driving me home, darlings. Oh, Mrs. Pruitt, I've had a heavenly time!"

FASHION NOTES.

ABOUT SUMMER ACCESSORIES

By HEDDA HOYT

(United Press Fashion Editor)

NEW YORK, Aug. 11.—(United Press).—Some are accessories and some are necessities but all hail under the headline summer accessories.

The costume accessory must be smart and individual this season to attract attention. Gloves, shoes, jewelry, corsages, belts, scarfs and umbrellas are as carefully selected as the costume itself.

The most attractive glove at present is the slip-on suede model in champagne or beige shade. While some of these slip-on models are just a trifle higher than wrist-length, others extend midway between the wrist and the elbow and are crushed in folds above the wrist. With strictly tailored suits cuffed gloves continue to be popular, the cuffs usually being of contrasting color.

Handbags in medium sizes are preferred to the larger shapes of last summer. Reptile leathers and calf or suede leathers are those most popular. Neutral colors rule above more colorful types since the handbag should harmonize with the shoes this year.

Belts are an important accessory since most dresses at present are worn with narrow suede or leather belts. Here, too, neutral colors are preferred to more colorful types. Belts this season often combine reptile skin with suede or leather and much emphasis is placed upon the clasps which are made of metal in modernistic designs. Eyelets outlined in metal are also shown. Plain belt buckles are not considered extremely smart this year.

As to jewelry, nothing is smarter at present than chokers of flat gold links or of semi-precious beads usually have large carved pendant shaped clasps. Colleen Moore, a moving picture fame, wears a typical choker of carved jade beads with a large green jade clasp. The clasps are worn at the front of the neck. Pearls of short lengths, in either single or double strands are popular with the majority of women. Wide bracelets made of large semi-precious stones are important and brilliant bracelets are the favorites for evening.

DRESS

By MARY MARSHALL

This Spanish mantilla hat is of black lace with pink rose over one ear. It is worn with large gold hoop earrings.

Is fashion leading us gently but firmly back to the veiled head covering —like the char-kadd of Persia, the mantilla of Spain, the head-rail of the Anglo-Saxons, and the couvrechef of the old Normans?

In the early costume history of almost every race of people you will find that the veiled headdress has preceded the hat or bonnet as a head covering for women. And the peasant women of many countries to this day retain some sort of kerchief head covering—not only because of its economy, but quite likely because of its general becomingness.

Now it seems to be part of the Americanization of most of these peasant women to lay aside their simple, becoming head coverings and to don some sort of hat instead.

Certainly the milliners would be loath to see a revival of the simple sort of kerchief head coverings that prevail among some European peasants. Inexpensive to begin with, these pieces of fabric last for many seasons. Even the mantilla of costly lace is rather an economical headdress since it lasts for years—and is sometimes passed on from one generation to the next. No, the milliners would never let us simplify the headcovering to such an extent—but they might make use of a more complicated, more expensive type of veiled headcovering all the same.

One thing that is favorable to the draped type of head covering is the fact that women wear their hair close to their heads. Any sort of drapery would be out of the question in an age of puffs or ringlets.

An English visitor in this country recently remarked that, compared to English or French gisls, American young women seem excessively fond of curls and waves. Hardly a young American had she seen who did not have some sort of hair wave—and there was a general fluffiness and femininess about the young girl's clothes here that was the more surprising because the more mature American woman seemed to incline to the other extreme—with sleek smooth hair and frocks chosen for smartness rather than prettiness.

You will surely be delighted with the pattern for appliqued roses that I have to send you this week. With this pattern, a yard of six-inch ribbon and a few cents' worth of glass beads and embroidery silk you can easily make these roses, which will give distinction and a really French appearance to a simple little home-made overblouse.

—MARY MARSHALL.

HOROSCOPE

The Stars Incline, but do not Compel.

(Copyright, McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

FRIDAY, AUGUST 12, 1927

Benefic stars dominate today according to astrology, which discover certain adverse influences that conflict with those of a favorable trend.

Under this sway aviation is subject to the most fortunate direction of the stars and important new inventions are indicated.

While airplanes will be perfected, the greatest process is to be made in radio that is recorded of any constructive work, the seers prophesy.

Again the stars appear to promise that the finite mind shall pierce the veil hiding what is infinite.

All the conditions are presaged by the stars are most promising for intellectual and spiritual advancement.

Since extremes always are manifested in world development there is the prognostication of frightful conflicts in this period of intellectual evolution.

Astrologers have warned that another war may involve the United States and they now counsel the utmost caution in avoiding international complications.

A new dictator is foreshadowed and he will be a menace for he will be subject to envy when he looks across the seas, the seers prophesy.

This should be rather a lucky day for selling real estate and it is wise to accept fair profit instead of awaiting sensational rises in values.

There is an encouraging sign for horse-trading and for buying live stock.

Love affairs are today under a sinister influence that prevents suitors from making definite marriage plans.

Women should attend to their practical affairs and avoid entrance to a romance while this rule prevails.

Persons whose birthdate it is may have a year of old experiences. Favors from elders are forecast.

Children born on this day probably will be of serious and studious mind. Scientists are born under this sign.

CHEESE SALAD

Roll small balls of cream cheese, sprinkle with paprika, place three on lettuce leaf and grate Roquefort cheese over top. Serve with French dressing.

NEW DRESSING

For fruit salads a delightful dressing results from whipping two tablespoons of fruit jam into mayonnaise with a little heavy cream added.

UNION STATION OPENED TO-DAY

NO LEVEL CROSSINGS.

While the new depot was officially opened on Saturday by H. R. H. the Prince of Wales, it was not until 12.01 o'clock this (Thursday) morning that it was thrown open to the public for practical use. And with its opening Toronto lost an old "friend" who, true, had become somewhat of a bore after 55 years of service, but the loss will not be deeply mourned by many since such a powerful new friend has superseded the old.

There were no speeches, no presence of officials, no ceremonies. A station hand merely turned a brass key—similar to the one of gold recently presented to H. R. H. the Prince of Wales—and Union Station the New Union Station was a fact.

Meanwhile, the old Union Station closed its doors. With more or less meloncholy airs and glances officials who have seen most of their service in this venerable old building, packed up their personal and office belongings and paraphernalia and moved over. The last ticket sold here was for the C. N. R. London train, which pulled out at 11.45, standard time, and it was purchased by W. H. Fox of London, Ont. R. H. Scott was the ticket seller.

No tears were shed, no ceremonies performed, no sacred rites —merely another moving day.

Last Train from Old "Depot"

The privilege of operating the last passenger train to leave the old Union Station and of inaugurating the splendid new depot by sending out th first passenger train fell to the lot of the Canadian National Railways. At 11.45 o'clock (standard time) last night the express for Detroit and Chicago pulled away—and that closed the old station.

As the ticket wickets closed auditors took charge of the stocks, and thus terminated that aprt of t the business. Then there was a movement to the new structure, which continued until everything was in readiness for the opening of business early to-day. The ticket clerks start the new station with absolutely new sets of tickets numbered from 0000 upward.

The First Train Out.

The first train to leave the new Union Station this morning was a motor service to Weston Park which serves the industrial establishments at Weston. This oil-electric car departed at 5 o'clock standard time. It was quite appropriate that this modern phase of locomotion should have inaugurated Canada's newest railway terminal. The first steam train drew out at 6.15 a.m. standard time, the Canadian National for Stratford and Goderich.

In-bound, the first train to disembark passengers at the new Union Station was the night train from Montreal, due at 6 a.m. standard time.

Old Bogey Eliminated.

Perhaps th most important feature of the opening of the new Union Station, so far as the public is concerned, is that passengers may reach or leave any train without having to cross tracks at the rail level. In years past railway patrons have endured a great handicap because they had to cross the train platforms at rail level in the old depot, it was pointed out by U. E. Gillen, General Manager of the Toronto Terminals Railways Company. "This change is a matter of gratification to us all," he added, "and we are sure the improved facilities will be appreciated by the travelling public."

The new depot has been constructed to take care of 5,000 rush hour passengers during each hour of the day. At Exhibition time, when travel is exceptionally heavy, the old station has seen 100,000 people pass in and out of its portals within 24 hours, but the new structure can, if necessary, care for 10,000 rush hour passengers, of 240,000 in 24 hours.

Ground Broken in 1914.

First ground for the new structure was broken in 1914 but the intervention of the war caused a delay until 1914, when building was resumed. The head house, or station proper, was finished in 1921. Since that time the remainder has been completed, and some effort has been necessary to rush things along for the present opening.

But the viaduct is not yet completed, and it will be possibly two years more before the new station is linked up to the elevated tracks. In th meantime, the tracks will remain at their present level—a temporary method of coupling up the station with the tracks so that the public may use it.

Entering the station, a passenger finds himself in the main ticke lobby, a roomy apartment with a high-vaulted roof. In the centre i an elaborate circular, information stand with racks for folders, and train literature. Both railway lines occupy equal space for the sale o tickets and Pullman berths and chairs. For those who have to wait a well-appointed waiting-room i provided on this level.

After securing a ticket, the passenger moves south through th lobby and a ramp chamber, and crosses the bridge ramp on a sligh downward grade to the trains. Passengers leaving trains are moving upward on another ramp, at righ angles. The train concourse, wher the passenger enters after descending the ramp, is 76 feet wide by 15 long, which will eventually be extended to 275 feet. This is above the level of the tracks as they are now situated, but will be on the same level as the new tracks when th viaduct is completed. There are t be 20 tracks in the terminal.

Many modern conveniences have been incorporated in the new depot such as individual bathrooms containing the most sanitary appliances Elaborate preparations have been made to look after the comfort o women, for a waiting room has been provided with hairdressing and beauty parlors as accessories. Full telephone and telegraphh facilities have been furnished. There is also a large public dining-room and an up-to-date counter.

HERE'S SPEEDY RELIEF FOR TENDER, ACHING, SWOLLEN FEET

Moone's Emerald Oil Must Give Complete Satisfaction Or Money Cheerfully Refunded.

Your feet may be so swollen and inflammed that you think you can't go another step. Your shoes may feel as if they are cutting right into the flesh. You feel sick all over with the pain and torture and pray for quick relief. What's to be done?

Two or three applications of Moone's Emerald Oil and in fifteen minutes the pain and soreness disappears. A few more applications at regular intervals and the swelling reduces.

And as for Soft Corns and Callouses a few applications each night at bed time and they just seem to shrivel right up and scale off.

No matter how discouraged you have been with powders, foothaths or other applications, if you have not tried Emerald Oil then you have something to learn.

It's a wonderful formula—the combination of essential oils with camphor and other antiseptics is marvelous that thousands of bottles are sold annually for reducing varicose or swollen veins.

Bond's Drug Store, McDermid & Jury, McDermid Drug Co. Ltd., and every good druggist guarantees the very first bottle of Moone's Emerald Oil to end your foot troubles or money back.

Ecclesiastical Art in Douro

No one who passes through South Douro can help but be struck by the very fine Roman Catholic church that is the lode star of the little settlement. Built of cut stone about thirty five years ago (on the plans of Mr. Belcher of Peterboro who in spite of the fact that he was a "Protestant" from Cork, was diosecan architect, and a great friend of Bishop O'Connor) it is imposing from without and beautiful within. All the windows are of stained glass—the five on the east side of the vane depicting the five joyful mysteries; those on the west four glorious mysteries, with a fifth window put in to the memory of Father Joseph Brown, who loved Douro and lived there and left $1,000 legacy to the church. One of these windows was put up by the present priest, Father McGuire, in memary of former priests of the parish.

Besides the beauty of the windows, the spaces in the open roof of the vane are filled with paintings (in oil or burlap) and these show various scenes in the lives of the saints and in the early days of Christendom.

I went to see Father McGuire at the presbytery, and we had a great talk over church decoration. He doesn't like toomuch color, no things that are tawdry. He had no love for artificial flowers either. Incidently, he told me an amusing story of a fellow-priest, who, when shown a rather gaudy scheme of decoration by a firm of foreign decorators would have none of it.

"That's not decoration," said he, looking at the red and the gilt and the blue and all the rest of it, "That's not decoration. That's fireworks."

One of the frescoes in the roof of St. Joseph's shows the patron saint of Ireland, as a fine, commanding figure.

"I told the artist I didn't want a little man, as they sometimes make him," said Father McGuire, who is himself tall and broad.

"St. Patrick, I know was a fine, big man, and I said I wanted lot of jewels in his mitre."

The story of how the church came to be built is a good one. Father Keilty, then in charge of the parish, went to each of his parishoners and said to him, "Pat," or "Joe," or "Dennis," as the case might be, "that's a fine calf you have there. Will you give it to me" "Och, sure, Father, I'll give it ye," would be the invariable response. "And," pursued the wily priest, "I'll not be taking it home with me just now. You'll keep it for a while for me, Eh" Of course—who wouldn't do more than that for Father Keilty. Then is got noised abroad that Father Keilty meant them to keep their calves for two years and then have a cattle fair and sell them for the church. So all the care possible was given the church calf. Every man vying with his neighbour in the matter of making a good job of it. And at the end of two years, Douro saw a drove of cattle the like of which has never been seen before or since.—From a letter to the Mail and Empire.

Never a Milk Shortage

It looks Creamy
It tastes Creamy
It is Creamy

WITH Carnation on the pantry shelf there is never a shortage of double-rich, absolutely pure milk for every milk use. For Carnation can be bought a month's supply at a time—it keeps indefinitely. It even keeps several days after the tin is opened, so that there is no waste.

Because Carnation is just pure, fresh milk evaporated to double richness and kept safe by sterilization, it meets every need for milk or cream. Undiluted, it takes the place of cream at one-third cream cost. Diluted it gives superior results in all cooking. It is the most completely useful milk you can buy. Order several tins or a case of 48 tins from your grocer.

PROPERTY HOLDERS ASK FOR SEWER

Campbellford Council Will Look into Matter of Building a Storm Sewer.

CAMPBELLFORD, Aug. 11.—Much of the time of the Town Council on Monday evening was taken up with the appointment of a consulting engineer whose appointment appeared in The Examiner on the following day.

Other matters coming before the Council were:

A communication from property-holders re the destruction of property caused by water coming down the hill, and asking that it be carried to some storm sewer. On motion of Davidson and O'Sullivan the Council will look into the matter.

A communication from Frank Hubble asking for ten days pay for the time he was laid up as a result of getting into poisoned ivy while cutting weeds. On motion of O'Sullivan and Abernethy the communication was laid on the table.

A communication from Linton Bros. and number of other citizens (names not read) objecting to the placing of a light in front of Birmingham's Hardware will be looked into by the Council.

A communication from an outside publishing firm re supplies. On motion of Davidson and Abernethy the clerk was authorised to order the supplies needed.

A by-law re appointment of Chief of Police fixing the salary at $1,200 per year was given its thrid reading and passed.

Bylaw No. 878 authorising Chief of Police Light to enforce the Liquor Control Act was read for the third tiem and passed. The Chief will get no part of the fine, and the enforcement of the Act comes on the town.

On motion of Bygott, seconded by Abernethy, the construction of 180 feet of sewer fronting the property of Stevens and Hall on Ramsay street was awarded to Mr. Hall for $270. The town will lay the water pipe in the same ditch.

The tax collector addressed the Council stating that he was unable to complete the 1926 roll and asked that further time be allowed. When he had last asked for an extension of time the taxes were $5,000 in arrears. At present they are $2,000 behind. The collector stated that some pay a portion of their taxes while others were fertile with promises. Stone and McDonald moved that an extension be granted.

Mayor: The collector should be instructed to collect.

Davidson: If they cant' pay it now they never will.

The collector thought it would "strengthen his hands" if he was told that he must collect.

O'Sullivan: Are these people able to pay?

Collector: A number are unable to pay because someone owes them.

O'Sullivan: I think you've done well. I'm not in favor of forcing poor people. I wouldn't want the collector to seize people's household goods for a few dollars taxes.

The motion was withdrawn.

BLACK PRECEPTORY ATTENDS CHURCH

Visitors From Norwood, Campbellford and Hastings Join in Service.

HAVELOCK, Aug. 10.—The Royal Black Preceptory held their annual church parade to St. John's Anglican church on Sunday afternoon, when over fifty members, including visitors from Norwood, Campbellford and Hastings were in attendance. The Order marched to the strains of "Onward Christian Soldiers," and "The Sweet Bye and Bye" played by the L.O.L. Fife and Drum Band, under the leadership of J. Kinnaird.

Rev. T. H. Stanley, the rector, welcomed the Order and also Rev. Milton Williams, of Horning's Mills, a member of the R. B. P., the special preacher for the occasion, who was a boy of the St. John's congregation.

Rev. Williams chose as his text the 14th verse of the 15th chapter of Romans, "And I myself also am persuaded of you my brethren that ye also are full of goodness, filled with all knowledge, able also to admonish one another."

In opening his address he asked, "Why do you wear that color? It is indeed in this particular hemisphere the colour of mourning, and I am to believe that ye mourn for that great son of Egypt, "Joseph," whose great life has been so full of meaning to the world. We have heard a great deal of the heritage of the Canadian people, a nation who is just beginning to take her place in the world, and Canadiains are sharing the great heritage that Joseph shared, the heritage of God. It has been established beyond doubt, he continued that you belong to a Christian organization based on the old and new testaments and you have voluntarily placed on yourselves a great responsibility. You demand that a man believe in God because no atheist can become a member of your organization and your work is supplementing the work of the Christian Church. There are proofs of the existence of God. The Scriptures say that in the beginning God made the world and the beauty of the world demands that there is a God because no man could be responsible for so beautiful a creation and part of the work of the order is to teach the existence of God. The next step is to know Him by each one finding their proper relationship to God for where there is knowledge there is wisdom. The most important doctrine of the church is that God is Catholic or universal because if he was not Catholic he would still be the God of the Jew alone. The command to St. Paul was "Preach my name to the Gentiles." Your order, the speaker said, is trying to establish equality among men and to admonish men to follow the principles not only of your order but also to cause each other to have an unfailing belief in the existence of God. If St. Paul could utter the words "admonish one another," it certainly applies to men to-day.

In closing, he said, "It is not sufficinet to glory in the past but as Knights of this Great Order let us take up the torch and maintain the principles of our institution. Live according to these principles. Admonish aaist, strengthen the weak. Establish equality among men and cause men to know more of their God.

MISSION CIRCLE HOLDS MEETING

Members Are Entertained at the Home of Mrs. John Spence.

MILLBROOK, August 11. — The midsummer meeting of the Golden Links Mission Circle was held on Monday evening at the home of Mr. John Spence, Mrs. Spence and her daughters, Misses Gertrude and Elsie, receiving the guests and doing all in their power to make the gathering a pleasant one.

The president, Mrs. J. McKnight, was in the chair, and Miss Marjorie Skitch presided at the piano. Miss Lila White acted as secretary in the absence of the regular officer, Miss Dorothy Crossley.

During the business period it was decided to donate the offering to the Supply Committee, which is looking after the clothing for the Indian girl for which the Circle is responsible, and which must be sent by September.

On motion, the September meeting will be in the form of a corn roast, and will be held at the home of some member living in the country.

The Watch Tower, responded to by Misses Flossie McMahon, Wilma Fallis, Marjorie Skitch, and Margaret Luxon, brought forth a number of interesting items from China, Japan, Tristan da Cunha Islands, India, and Turkey.

The honorary president, Mrs. Lambert, gave a most interesting talk on the work of Dr. Retta Kilborn, the first medical missionary of the W.M.S. of the Methodist Church in West China, and tracing the development of this work up to the present time.

The Indian version of the Shepherd Psalm was read by Miss Gertie Spence for the Scripture lesson.

Refreshments were served during the pleasant social hour with which the gathering was concluded.

Mrs. McKnight and Mrs. Weatherup are the committee from the Circle to confer with the committee from the W.M.S. in regard to the supplies for the bale which goes to British Columbia next month.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Martin, of Detroit, are visiting Miss Emma Hunter.

Dr. and Mrs. C. Alvin Richards of Curtsville, Pa., spent the week end the guests of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Richards.

Mrs. R. Lowery is improving her house on Main street, at present occupied by Mr. E. H. Barnes, by the addition of a new, wide verandah.

YOU POOR KID, WHY ARE YOU SO SKINNY

Don't your Mother know that Cod Liver Extract will put pounds of good healthly flesh on your bones in just a few weeks?

Tell her every druggist has it in sugar-coated tablet form now so that in just a few weeks she can help you get back your appetite—make your body stronger—your feet nimble and your mind keener.

Tell her if they don't help greatly in 30 days she can get her money back.

Tell her that McCoy's Cod Liver Extract tablets are chock-full of vitalizing vitamines and are the greatest flesh producers and health builders she can find.

One sickly thin kid, age 9, gained 12 pounds in 7 months.

She must ask McDermid & Jury, Bond's Drug Store, McDermid Drug Co., Jas. Lynch, or any good druggist for McCoy's Cod Liver Extract Tablets—60 tablets—60 cents.

TRENT RIVER NEWS.

TRENT RIVER, Aug. 10.—Messrs. H. Endress and F. Manton returned to Toronto on Sunday after spending over a week as guests at the Cook cottage. During their holiday they had wonderful success fishing. While trolling from Mr. James Cook's motor boat, they caught over one hundred fish. Five of these were good sized lunge and the others bass and pickerel.

Mrs. Burns arrived on Monday from Toronto, as guest at the Cook cottage for August.

Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Baird and son arrive from Toronto this week to spend two weeks at the Cook cottage.

Miss Ruth Fairbrother arrived on Monday from Deseronto to spend her vacation at their summer home.

Mr. James Carnrite has engaged Mr. James Paget as contractor for his new house. Work was begun last week. The main part is to be 18 by 26, the kitchen 16 by 18. There will be three large bedrooms upstairs with hall, and three large rooms down stairs. While the building is in progress, Mr. Carnrite and family are occupying part of the drive shed, where they have their meals, and using two tents for sleeping apartments.

Mrs. E. Wilkinson and Miss Margaret left for Toronto on Sunday after spending their two weeks holidays at their cottage.

Mr. John Mitchell motored from Toronto on Saturday and spent over Sunday with his mother and sister at "Raeden."

Recent visitors with Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Riendeau were Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Thompson, Campbellford; Mr. Charlie Loomis, Orland, and Mr. W. Nicholas, Brighton.

Mr. Earl Fairbrother, Montreal, spent the week end with Mrs. Fairbrother, Jr., at their summer home.

Mr. Harry Thompson met with an accident while driving on the Campbellford road on Friday. Near Clark's corners a car crashed into him giving him a severe shaking up and several bruises.

RASPBERRY SOCIAL

Mount Pleasant United Church Holds Very Successful Social Evening.

MOUNT PLEASANT, Aug. 11. — The United Church held its raspberry social on Tuesday evening. A good attendance was present.

Raspberries and cream, bread and butter, tea biscuits, pie and cake and tea was the menu served for the supper, which was held in the new church shed.

On the church lawn was a candy and ice cream booth, which also did a flourishing business.

In the early evening a softball game was played, Reaboro girls clashing with the local team, which resulted in a score in favor of Mount Pleasant girls.

There was a large crowd present from Garden Hill, Cavan, Omemee, Reaboro, Orange Corners and elsewhere. The proceeds amounted to $90.

Barn Dance Held.

On Friday evening a community barn dance was held at the home of Mr. Robert Ruth in the large new barn which is under construction. There was a very large crowd present, estimated at over three hundred. Music was supplied by Pogue and Brooks orchestra from Omemee.

RESPITES GRANTED.

BOSTON, Mass., Aug. 11.—The executive of the State House early last night held the secret of the fate of Nicola Sacco and Bartolomeo Vanzetti. There the eight members of the council were gathered to hear the decision of Governor Alvan T. Fuller on the plea for a stay of execution for the two men who otherwise would go to their death in the electric chair at the State prison shortly afert midnight.

If the Governor's decision was against a further respite there was nothing for the Council to do but listen to it, for his word was final. If, on the other hand, he had decided to recommend a stay, it was for the Council to say whether they should approve the recommendation On any measure of clemency the Governor must have the approval of the Council.

Before he entered the chamber, Governor Fuller gave no intimation as to his decision. The Council members had gathered shortly after noon. An hour later they were told that they might go to lunch but were cautioned to return between 3 and 3.30.

They returned, but the Governor was not ready to meet them. It was not until 6.15 that he finally joined them and the meeting was begun.

Earlier in the day, Judge Sanderson of the Supreme Court had occasioned much speculation as to a possible postponement of the execution by an announcement that he would not give until this morning his decision on the latest move of counsel for Sacco and Vanzetti. This was the filing of a bill of exceptions and an appeal to the full bench of the Supreme Court from his refusal to grant a writ of error and a writ of habeas corpus.

Such an appeal cannot go before the full bench without the approval of the Justice who has refused the motion.

At the State prison all preparations were complete for the execution of Sacco and Vanzetti and also of Calestino Madeiros, who had received several respites in order that he might be available as a witness as a result of his statement that members of a gang with whom he was associated had committed the murders of which Sacco and Vanzetti were convicted.

OBITUARY.

WILLIAM J. PAYNE.

BOBCAYGEON, Aug. 11.—The funeral service of William J. Payne, one of this town's oldest and most esteemed citizens was held this afternoon from Knox Presbyterian church the Rev. Dr. James A. Dodds officiating. His death occurred suddenly after a few hours illness on Sunday evening.

The late Mr. Payne was born in the township of Brighton, Northumberland county over seventy-five years ago and for forty-six years was married to Ellen Kelso, who survives him. They had a son, Harlem, now employed by the Marathon Oil Company at Peterborough. One brother, George, of Lakefield, and five sisters, Mrs. T. C. Yonge and Mrs. James Morrison also of Lakefield, Miss Bessie Payne and Mrs. William Cresswell of Akron, Ohio, and Mrs. George Newman, Bobcaygeon, also survive.

Interment was made in the Verulum Union cemetery, where the True Blues to which Society the deceased belong took part in the service. The pall-bearers were fellow members of that organization.

UNDER-INFLATION wastes MILLIONS of tire-miles

Buy Goodyear Tubes and Prevent Loss

NEVER before have you been able to buy tires which gave such long, long mileage.

And never before was it so important to protect that mileage by preventing under-inflation of your tires.

With record mileage built into your tires, don't let under-inflation take those miles out.

* * * *

Particularly be careful of Balloon Tires. While a 3 or 4-pound loss of pressure in a high-pressure tire may mean only 5% less pressure, a 3 or 4-pound loss in a balloon tire will mean 10% or 15% less pressure. Such loss is serious.

The best way to prevent under-inflation is to use good tubes.

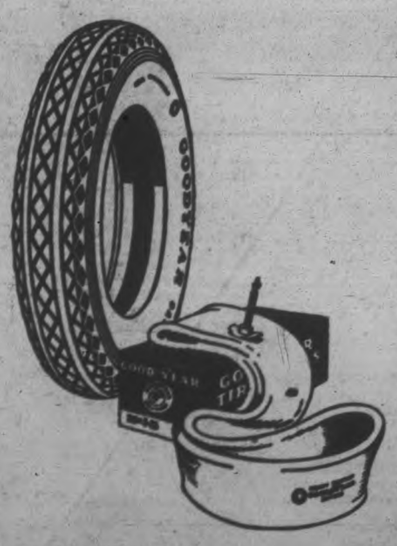
Never put an old tube in a new casing. The old tube may be porous—may have a slow leak.

And when you buy tubes, buy Goodyear Tubes.

* * * *

Built by a refining process which insures every sheet of rubber being absolutely free from flaws, Goodyear Tubes are as near perfect as it is humanly possible to make them. They last as long as the casing and they hold air more faithfully.

In Tubes, As In Tires
Goodyear Means Good Wear



The Goodyear Heavy Tourist Tube gives the greatest protection to the new Goodyear balloon—THE WORLD'S GREATEST TIRE—as well as to any other tire.

pared with 18.5 bushels last year and 19.4 bushels the ten-year average. For British Columbia the yield is 403,000 bushels from 15,200 acres, as against 435,000 bushels from 15,011 acres last year. The average yield per acre is 26.5 bushels, as compared with 29 bushels last year and 25 bushels, the ten-year average.

The total yield of fall rye for Canada is 13,877,000 bushels from 366,-300 acres, as compared with 9,882,000 bushels from 593,247 acres last year. The average yield per acre is 24.5 bushels, as against 16.7 bushels last year.

Hay and clover give a total yield of 16,648,000 tons from 10,263,000 acres, as compared with 14,916,000 tons from 10,069,519 acres last year. The average yield per acre is 1.62 ton, as against 1.48 ton last year, and 1.45 ton, the ten-year average. The total yield of alfalfa (first cutting) is 1,560,000 tons from 856,890 acres, as compared with 2,116,000 tons from 856,043 acres in 1926. The average yield per acre is 1.82 ton as against 1.65 ton for the first cutting in 1926.

For all Canada the condition of the principal field crops in percentage of the ten-year average is as follows, the condition for June 30, 1927, and for July 31, 1926, being given within brackets:

Spring wheat 105 (100.92); oats 102 (92.91); barley 99)97.93); spring rye 104 (102.91); peas 99 (96.98); beans 96 (95.97); buckwheat 98 (96.95); mixed grains 101 (99.99); flaxseed 99 (95.91); corn for husking 95 (96.89); potatoes 102 (96.97); turnips, etc. 98 (98.96); fodder corn 96 (90.89); sugar beets 95 (94.94). For the Prairie provinces the figures of condition for the principal cereals and flaxes on July 31, 1927, compared with June 30, 1927, and July 31, 1926 in brackets, were as follows: Manitoba, wheat 97 (92.97); oats 96 (96.92); barley 97 (97.97); spring rye 100 (97.92); flaxseed 93 (94.93); Saskatchewan, wheat 105 (96.90); oats 103 (97.84); barley 102 (96.90); spring rye 104 (101.89); flaxseed 102 (95.90); Alberta, wheat 108 (106.94); oats 105 (105.98); barley 104 (105.91); flaxseed 99 (106.89).

Based upon the preliminary estimates of fall wheat and fall rye, and upon the condition of other crops at the end of July, the following is a forecast of total yields in bushels, with last year's final estimates given within brackets: Wheat 357,367,000 (409,811,000); oats 419,810,000 (383,-419,000); barley 96,455,000 (99,684,-100); rye 16,609,500 (12,113,900); flaxseed 3,870,400 (5,947,700); peas 2,-303,800 (2,636,000) beans 969,500 (1,-159, 500); buckwheat 10,230,000 (9,-932,300) mixed grains 35,932,000 (34,-559,000); corn for husking 8,899,000 (7,815,000); potatoes 50,644,000 cwt. (48,682,000 cwt.); turnips, etc., 36,-094,000 cwt. (34,576,000 cwt.); fodder corn 4,001,500 tons (4,720,000) sugar beets 445,000 tons (529,000 tons). The indicated average yields in bushels per acre for three crops are as follows, the averages for 1926 and the ten year period 1917-26 being given within brackets: Wheat 16 (17.8; 15.3); oats 31.5 (30.1; 30.9); barley 25.1 (27.4; 25.4); rye, 22.4 (18.1; 15.8); flaxseed 8.1 (8.1; 7.8); peas 17.1 (18.8; 17.1); beans 15 (16.3; 16.3) buckwheat, 21.7 (21.6; 22.3); mixed grains 30.2 (35.3; 35.2) corn for husking 39.4 (37.2; 46.3); potatoes 90.5 cwt. (89.2; 82.4); turnips, etc. 181.6 cwt. (171.3; 179.5.); fodder corn 7.5 tons (8.14; 8.87) sugar beets 9.54 tons (11.26; 10.13). This forecast of yields is subject to changes due first to any revision in the estimate of areas sown and secondly to effects of the season as between July 31 and the time of harvest.

WEDDING BELLS.

VILNEFF—McFALL.

HAVELOCK, Aug. 11.—Knox Presbyterian Church was the scene of a pretty wedding at eleven o'clock on Tuesday forenoon, when Tilly Viola Louisa McFall, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Patdick McFall, of Blairton, was united in marriage to Wesley Shepherd Vilneff, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Vilneff, of Marmora. Rev. G. E. Lougheed performed the ceremony. Mrs. Langstaff, of Toronto, played Lohengrin's Wedding March, and accompanied Mrs. H. F. McNichol when she sang, "The Voice That Breathed O'er Eden," while the register was being signed.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, was becomingly attired in poudre blue georgette, with silver grey trimmings, and wore a coronet of orange blossoms. Miss Elsie McFall, sister of the bride, was the bridesmaid and was attired in beige georgette. Mr. James Vilneff, brother of the groom, was the best man.

For all Canada the condition of the principal field crops in percentage of the ten-year average is as follows, the condition for June 30, 1927, and for July 31, 1926, being given within brackets:

Spring wheat 105 (100.92); oats 102 (93.91); barley 99)97.93); spring rye 104 (102.91); peas 99 (96.98); beans 94 (95.97); buckwheat 98 (98.95); mixed grains 101 (99.99); flaxseed 99 (95.91); corn for husking 85 (86.80); potatoes 102 (98.97); turnips, etc. 98 (98.96); fodder corn 98 (90.89); sugar beets 95 (94.94). For the Prairie provinces the figures of condition for the principal cereals and flaxes on July 31, 1927, compared with June 30, 1927, and July 31, 1926 in brackets, were as follows: Manitoba, wheat 97 (92.97; oats 98 (96.92); barley 97 (97.97); spring rye 100 (97.92); flaxseed 93 (94.93); Saskatchewan, wheat 105 (98.90); oats 103 (97.84); barley 102 (96.90); spring rye 104 (101.89); flaxseed 102 (95.90); Alberta, wheat 108 (108.94); oats 105 (105.98); barley 104 (105.91); flaxseed 99 (106.89).

Based upon the preliminary estimates of fall wheat and fall rye, and upon the condition of other crops at the end of July, the following is a forecast of total yields in bushels, with last year's final estimates given within brackets: Wheat 357,367,000 (409,811,000); oats 419,810,000 (383,419,000); barley 86,455,000 (99,684,100); rye 16,809,500 (12,113,900); flaxseed 3,870,400 (5,947,700); peas 2,362,800 (2,636,000) beans 999,500 (1,159, 500); buckwheat 10,320,000 (9,932,300) mixed grains 35,932,000 (34,559,000); corn for husking 6,899,000 (7,815,000); potatoes 50,644,000 cwt. (48,682,000 cwt.); turnips, etc., 36,094,000 cwt. (34,576,000 cwt.); fodder corn 4,001,500 tons (4,720,000) sugar beets 445,000 tons (529,000 tons). The indicated average yields in bushels per acre for three crops are as follows, the averages for 1926 and the ten year period 1917-26 being given within brackets: Wheat 16 (17.8; 15.3); oats 31.5 (30.1; 30.9); barley 25.1 (27.4; 25.4); rye, 22.4 (16.1; 15.8); flaxseed 8.1 (8.1; 7.8); peas 17.1 (18.8; 17.1); beans 13 (16.3; 16.3) buckwheat, 21.7 (21.6; 22.3); mixed grains 30.2 (35.3; 35.2) corn for husking 39.4 (37.2; 46.3); potatoes 90.5 cwt. (89.2; 82.4); turnips, etc. 181.6 cwt. (171.3; 179.5.); fodder corn 7.8 tons (8.14; 8.87) sugar beets 9.54 tons (11.26; 10,13). This forecast of yields is subject to changes due first to any revision in the estimate of areas sown and secondly to effects of the season as between July 31 and the time of harvest.

WEDDING BELLS.

VILNEFF—McFALL.

HAVELOCK, Aug. 11.—Knox Presbyterian Church was the scene of a pretty wedding at eleven o'clock on Tuesday forenoon, when Tilly Viola Louisa McFall, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Patdick McFall, of Blairton, was united in marriage to Wesley Shepherd Vilneff, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Vilneff, of Marmora. Rev. G. E. Lougheed performed the ceremony. Mrs. Langstaff, of Toronto, played Lohengrin's Wedding March, and accompanied Mrs. H. F. McNichol when she sang, "The Voice That Breathed O'er Eden," while the register was being signed.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, was becomingly attired in poudre blue georgette, with silver grey trimmings, and wore a coronet of orange blossoms. Miss Elsie McFall, sister of the bride, was the bridesmaid and was attired in beige georgette. Mr. James Vilneff, brother of the groom, was the best man.

After the ceremony a wedding dinner was served at the home of the bride's parents.

CRESCENTS DEFEAT BETHANY TO WIN PLACE IN LEAGUE FINALS

Tight Contest With Local Crew Scoring Only Run of Game.

PLAY FRIDAY

Billingsley Holds Visitors — Hits Were Scarce and Errors Few.

Cognawagas and Crescents are in the finals of the East Peterborough League as a result of the Crescents' victory over Bethany last evening, the local crew scoring the only run of the game. The contest was one of the best played games of the season, and Bethany with a little strategy on the bases might easily have won the verdict.

Hits were scarce and errors few, Billingsley holding the visitors to a double and a single, while Crescents collected a single, a double and a triple.

Freddy Jones, who pulled his team out of a hole last Saturday, and beat Raybestos with a double in the seventh, whaled out another double in the third and took third base when a throw from Reynolds got away from Philips. Billingsley fanned. Jack Lebarr lined out to Ryley, Jones going in for the million dollar run. Ryley had no chance at getting the runner at the plate. Right on top of that feat, Joe Jones tripled and Kenneally was passed, but no further damage was done, as McGill gobbled a hard fly from Ranger, back of short.

Bethany had a great chance to score in the sixth. Reynolds was safe on Ranger's throw to Barry. The ball got away from the first baseman on Billingsley's throw to the bag, the runner going to second. McGill shot a grounder at Mein, who fielded smartly and Reynolds, who had steamed down to third was caught in a jam. Mein, Scully and Ranger took a hand in trying to tag the runner, and finally Lebarr came in from right field. At last a throw to Mein got Reynolds as he stumbled and fell close to the bag. Ray Staples fanned and McGill, who had made second, was tagged out by Scully, who fielded Ryley's grounder. McGill, as in the case of Reynolds, had strayed too far away from the bag and could not get back. The box score:

Reynolds, c.	2	0	0	6	1	0

By innings:—
Bethany ..... 000 000 0—0
Crescents ..... 001 000 x—1

Three-base hit—J. Jones. Two-base hit— F. Jones, Ryley. Double play—Philps to McGee to R. Staples. Struck out—By Billingsley 8, by Dawe 5. Bases on balls—Off Billingsley 1. Hit by pitcher—By Billingsley (Staples), by Dawe (Ranger, Lebarr). Left on bases—Bethany 4, Crescents 4. Umpires—Lebarr and Kay.

Bethany fans should get a thrill out of the Crescents-Bethany game at home to-morrow evening, when the last schedule game of the E. P. League is played. "Doc" Hamilton's team has one victory at home over the Crescents; also a win over the league leading Cognawagas, and after last night's great battle are confident of finishing the season with another triumph.

The Bethany players made a lot of friends in local fandom by their splendid conduct on the playing field, and the enthusiasm they put into every game.

Corbett is the only ex-champion to make two attempts to regain the title. After losing the crown to Fitzsimmons, who in turn lost to Jeffries, "Gentleman Jim" met Jeffries twice in an unsuccessful effort to regain the championship.

The million-dollar "gate" for a bout in which no title is involved affords striking evidence of the changes that have come over the fight game. Twenty-five years ago, we are told, the promoters of the Jeffries-Fitzsimmons championship contest were elated when $9,000 had been taken in on the advance sale of tickets.

Jas. Ockenden Breaks Blackpool Record

BLACKPOOL, England, Aug. 11. — Canadian Press cable. — Turning in a brilliant score of 68 James Ockenden broke the course record here yesterday and let the field at the end of the first 18 of the 72 holes of medal play for the northern professional campionship.

Charles Whitcombe and Rogers Stannes each had 69. Whitcombe was six under fours at the fourteenth but drove out of bounds and took a six on the home hole. Other scores were: Arcie Compston, Ted Ray, Ernest Witcombe, 74, George Duncan Arthur Havers, 76. The two Americans entered Bill Melorn and Larry Nabholtz, had scores of 76 and 78 respectively.

Only the 60 lowest scorers compete in the second 36 holes of play, the remainder being automatically retired.

WINS CANADIAN HONORS

Tommy Armour, of Washington, added the Canadian open championship to that of the United States open championship when he turned in a score of 288 for the 72 holes of the competition in Toronto last week. He started the last day's play in fourth place, but came back brilliantly. MacDonald Smith, who won the championship last year, was runner-up with 289.

Star Sterling's Problem

A Serial for Boys - By BERT REED

OUT OF A BAD HOLE.

In the morning Larkspur was feeling better, but still shaky.

"Don't care what old saw-bones says," he grinned, "I'm right on the job to-day. I'm going to knock the stitching off the old pill—for three times around."

Sterling looked dubious.

"We need you, old man, but I'd rather pass the pennant up than have you do anything to hurt yourself."

"Don't you worry about me. I'll be flirting with a whole fleet of liners before the ump rings down the curtain in the ninth," he rejoined.

But watching him closely, Sterling was convinced that Larkspur was trying to bluff his way through.

"Well, Lark, take things easy. I'm running across to the club to see Dunn, who is acting captain for Long Point."

As Sterling turned the corner of the Long Point Athletic Club, he stopped dead in his tracks. Ahead of him two young fellows were standing—their heads close together. They were talking earnestly. One, Sterling had recognized instantly. It was Chip Bascombe of the Beamville team. The other was Grahame, the young fellow he had assisted the night before in his battle with thugs.

Starr drew back and entered the Club by another door. What did it mean? Were Grahame and Bascombe friends? Was Chip plotting against the Riverview team again? Had Larkspur's illness anything to do—but no, it couldn't. Then with a short laugh Starr dismissed the thing from his mind.

The crowd gathered on the field quite early. For although Long Point and Cedarvale were battling away for honors in the cellar, Long Point had strengthened her line-up considerably during the past week. Hansen had been added to the pitching staff and Warner had replaced Tedman at short.

Both Hansen and Warner were college men. Hansen, whose people had hailed from Denmark, was six feet two in height. He had been nicknamed the Great Dane. It was said that Hansen had been made an offer by one of the big leagues to take effect at graduation. Warner, who had been named "the streak," had the reputation for being the snappiest shortstop in the Big Four College League, in which he had played for the past three years.

"Fellows," he said, speaking low and earnestly, "we're going to win, but we've got to fight for every run. Hansen is in the box. I saw the Great Dane pitch a fifteen inning game with one of the fastest teams in the minor leagues. He was as fresh at the end of the fifteenth as when the umpire had first tossed him the ball. He won his own game too—a long drive that brought in two runs."

"I don't know Warner, but if he runs true to the form his reputation gives him, we'll have to be on our toes the whole time."

Sellers, the Long Point third baseman, was the first man to face Sterling. Starr had pitched against him on several occasions and knew his only weakness—a high in-shoot always worried Sellars.

The first ball Sterling pitched clipped Sellers' elbow and he trotted to first rubbing it vigorously, but with a decided grip on his face.

If Starr was annoyed with himself, his face did not show it. Grogan, a thick-set fellow, who at first glance seemed muscle bound, stepped to the plate.

The Long Point rooters were elated. Grogan's position at the top of the batting list was no accident. His friends said that he could lay the ball, within a quarter of an inch, any place on the diamond.

Starr glanced anxiously at Larkspur, who was playing short. It was only Lark's nerve that was keeping him on the field. In all probability Grogan would —

Grogan did. The ball rolled down toward short. Larkspur dove forward to scoop it up—stumbled and missed it. Grogan reached first.

Stevens, Long Point's centre fielder, was the next man to face Sterling. A slashing drive that brought the crowd to its toes was his contribution. Then Larkspur redeemed himself. Without stirring from his tracks, he stopped the horsehide's flight and sent Stevens trotting back to the bench.

Two men were on bases with only one out. Now Warner, the new Long Point shortstop, stepped to the plate. Sterling knew none of Warner's weaknesses. Northway, behind the base, signalled. Starr shook his head. Then, he whistled a high, speedy in-shoot over—Warner slashed the air. Harry returned the ball. Again Starr burnt the air with speed—crack! Warner had laced out a dandy—the horsehide sailed away into left garden where Price was parked. Chester smothered it handsomely. Two men were out.

Patridge, the next man up, swept the air twice, then dumped out a pretty single—Sellers streaked hom in a trail of dust. Long Point had scored their first run.

Hansen, the Great Dane, saw only three balls cross the plate. He let one pass, the other two missed his bat by inches. Long Point took the field.

Starr singled out Larky Larkspur.

"How are you feeling, Lark?"

"Fine—fine," he retorted, but his looks belied him. His face was strangely white.

Paul Gray was the first Riverview man to face Hansen. Paul had a good batting eye and refused to be pulled on the wide ball that the Great Dane delivered.

The crowd gasped as the second ball, with the speed of a racing plane, cut the heart of the plate. Grogan laughed as the sphere buried itself in his big mit.

"Dat's de stuff—burn de kid's nerve out wid speed."

Gray gripped the bat—the next was high, but not too high for Paul—wham! There was plenty of life in that drive. Partridge in right field raced to get it—his hungry fingers missed it by the fraction of an inch.

When the ball was lined to Barton—Gray was safely anchored on the second sack.

Larkspur sacrificed. The ball beat him to first but Gray stepped over to third.

Then Hansen duplicated Starr's wild throw and sent Sterling to first with a ball, which, for the moment, numbed his whole arm.

Two men were on bases and Northway, the dependable, had the old willow in his hands ready for anytaing. Hansen had, right on the trade-mark, Harry smashed the first ball the great Dane delivered but also right into the hands of Warner, Long Point's new short.

Shaking his head dolefully, Northway walked slowly to the bench. Were Gray and Sterling to die on the bags?

With two strikes called, Frank cracked out a dandy toward centre. With upstretched arm, like some Jack-in-the-box, Stevens shot into the air and pulled it down. With a royal chance of clinching the game, Riverview had failed to score.

In the second innings, both pitchers settled down to a steady duel. Not a man crossed the pan. The third, fourth and fifth told the same story. In the sixth, Riverview shoved Fraser around to third, but couldn't get him home.

DELANEY READY FOR UZCUDUM

Puts in Finishing Touches for 15-Round Bout Tonight.

AT MADISON SQUARE.

NEW YORK, August 11 (Canadian Press). — Trained razor-fine after a month of intensive work in the New Hampshire woods and browned to the tint of an Indian, Jack Delaney "went through the motions" in Madison Square Garden yesterday as a final prep. for his 15-round battle with Paulino Uzcudun in the Yankee Stadium to-night.

The woodsman of the north, staking his pugilistic future as a heavyweight in the scrap with the wood-chopper from Spain, sped easily through an eight-round work-out, and hardly breathed heavily at the close.

In Summit, N.J., where the squat Basque, Paulino, wound up training with a light drill, handlers were happy over the fact that a boil on the Spaniard's right forearm is nearly well, and a good deal of swelling has left a slightly sprained thumb. Paulino's weight was back to normal, 192, while Delaney scaled about 177.

Betting odds favoured Delaney to win yesterday at the rate of 7 to 5. Although Jack's accurate punching, speed afoot, and whipping power in either hand apparently gave him a wide advantage over the plodding Spaniard, much support came Paulino's way from fans who believe the Basque too strong and rugged for Delaney over the 15-round route.

Paulino's quick knockout of Harry Wills, and his apparent ability to take unlimited punishment without slowing up and losing the sting in his left hook, may force the betting to even money at ring time.

STATION TEAM WINS.

Beats I.O.O.F. 10-3 in Softball Game at Millbrook.

MILLBROOK, Aug. 11.—The "Station" team defeated the I.O.O.F. in a well-contested game of softball at the agricultural grounds on Friday evening, the score being 10-3. J. A. Vance was umpire. The line-up was:

Station—B. B. Dawson p, W. Budd c, T. Budd 1b, J. Guthrie 2b, F. McIvor 3b, J. McIvor rf, S. Gilmour lf, P. Pitt, cf, S. Sloan ss, H. Hunter ss.

BEWDLEY REGATTA BEEN CANCELLED

Roads Are To Be Torn Up For Construction Work—Big Disappointment.

The Bewdley regatta, an event looked forward to every year by the cottagers of the Rice Lake district and the people of the adjoining towns was cancelled yesterday owing to word received that the roads near Bewdley were to be torn up for construction work.

Crowds who had not heard the news were turned away disappointed with the words that there was not to be a regatta held at all this season.

RUTH DRIVES IN YANK'S VICTORY

Scores Three Runs in Third by Homer Over Centre Field.

DEFEAT SENATORS 4-3

NEW YORK, August 11 (Canadian Press). — Babe Ruth and his bat, after three hitless games, drove in all the runs for the Yankees, who held the second place Senators in check yesterday in the series opener, 4 to 3.

After scoring Combs in the first, with a single, Ruth in the third hoisted one of Zachary's offerings into the centrefield stands for a homer, Combs and Koenig crossing the plate ahead of him. It was his thirty-sixth home run, putting him two behind his team-mate Gehrig, who was credited with a single yesterday in four times at bat.

In the second Washington scored one, Ruel's single bringing in Judge, and in the fifth Rice with a double put two more runs across, but that ended the scoring.

Umpire Rowland put Manager Harris out of the game in the fourth for protesting a called strike, and a shower of pop bottles came from the stand. In the ninth, during an argument with Bluege, Howland was nearly hit by a bottle.

Break Winning Streak.

At Philadelphia the Athletics stopped the Boston Red Sox winning streak by taking the first game of the series, 12-2. The Athletics hammered Tony Welzer for five runs, causing him to retire in five innings, and walloped Fred Wingfield for seven runs in the seventh and eighth innings. Lefty Grove fanned nine of the visitors and did not allow a hit until Budy Myer singled to open the seventh inning.

Detroit took advantage of St. Louis' mistakes, and the Tigers won the opening game of the series with the Browns at Detroit. The score was 2 to 1.

It was a pitcher's battle between Owen Carroll and Milton Gaston, and the Tiger right-hander triumphed because of better support in the field. Three double plays lifted Carroll out of trouble.

Chicago and Cleveland were not scheduled.

FINANCIERS WIN

Softball is Becoming Very Popular in Millbrook.

MILLBROOK, Aug. 11.—The series of softball games in the local competition continues to draw a goodly number of spectators, and both players and onlookers are taking plenty of fun out of the contest each time a game is scheduled.

Tuesday evening the Station and the High Financiers played off, the latter winning by a score of 19-9. The line-up was:

Station—B. B. Dawson, p; F. Gray, c; T. Budd, 1b; W. Budd, 2b; F. McIvor, 3b; J. McIvor, rf; A. Lytle, lf; E. Hunter, cf; P. Pitt, ss.

Financiers—L. Ingram, p; J. Larmer, c; A. Armstrong, 1b; B. L. Richards, 2b; K. Donnelly, 3b; H. Lancashire, rf; P. Bingham, lf; N. Rowland cf; W. Skitch ss.

A. McCorry was plate umpire, and E. C. Richards on bases.

Selection Shows Two Outstanding Matches

FOREST HILLS, N.Y., August 11. — Canadian Press. — The selection of the British and the United States tennis teams for the Wightman Cup matches, starting at the West Side courts here Friday, offers two outstanding matches in the singles.

Miss Helen Wills, who won the Wimbledon championship this year will meet Mrs. Kathleen McKane Godfree, Captain and No. 1 of the invading force, and Miss Helen Jacobs 18 year old Berkeley, Calif., star, will oppose the No. 3 British girl, Miss Betty Nuthall, who is 16 years old.

The schedule:

Friday: Miss Wills vs. Miss Fry; Miss Mallory vs. Mrs. Godfree.

Mrs. Chapin and Miss Moss vs. Mrs. Hill and Miss Sherry.

THIS IS THE BABE'S IDEA.

Babe Ruth thinks that hitting hasn't improved as much as pitching since the days when he was a hurler.

Although tennis was not played on an organized basis in Mexico City until a few years ago, it has had a very rapid growth.

LEAFS HOLD READING 10-2

TRIBE WINS 2-0

NEW YORK, August 11 (Canadian Press). — Toronto pounded Harrison for 19 hits yesterday, and easily defeated the Keys at Reading in the first of the series, 10 to 2. Faulkner, who has been sold to the New York Giants, held Reading to six hits and fanned 11.

At Jersey City, Herb. Thormahlen, product of Jersey City's sandlots, let his home town team down with five hits, and Rochester won 2 to 0.

Baltimore defeated Buffalo 4 to 2 at Baltimore in the first of the series. The Bisons outhit the Orioles, but the latter bunched their hits to advantage.

Timely batting by Roy Carlyle, Buck Elliott ,and Leo Casey gave the Bears an 11 to 5 victory over Syracuse at eNwark. The Bears made fifteen hits off the offerings of three opposing twirlers.

Make It Two Out of Three From Pirates by 8-3 Victory.

BRAVES DIVIDE BILL

NEW YORK, Aug. 11. Canadian Press. — The Giants made it two out of three from the Pirates at Pittsburgh by annexing the final fray yesterday by 8 to 3. Benton and Kremer starting pitchers, had an interesting battle for seven innings. Kremer was nipped for three of the four hits off him in the first innings givings the New Yorkers a two run lead. In the seventh, the Pirates reached Benton for three runs, but after two were out in the following session, the Giants launched a vigorous attack for six more runs. Dawson, who took the mound after Kremer gave way to a pinch hitter in the seventh, was succeeded by three more hurlers before the rally was checked. The game marked the close of the Giants' road trip, during which they came out in front in eight of twelve starts.

The loss dropped the second place Pirates half a game farther away from the Cubs, who were idle.

In the only other scheduled game the Braves and Philadelphia divided a double header at Boston, the Phillies taking the opener 6 to 0 behind Pruett's good pitching and the Braves gathering in the final 5 to 1, when Smith let the Quakers down with five hits. Manager David Bancroft's all around play featured the second contest in apparent atonement for two costly errors in the first encounter.

That's what I've been looking for. Nice and mild with lots of flavour.

MINER CHOOSES DEATH TO COURT

Takes Strychnine Rather Than Appear On Liquor Charge.

AT TIMMINS.

TIMMINS, Ont., Aug. 11.—Telling his wife that he would not make an appearance in police court, J. E. Gough, a Nova Scotia miner employed at the Hollinger gold mine, committed suicide some time Tuesday night by taking strychnine.

Gough was to have answered to a charge of unlawfully taking liquor underground yesterday morning before Magistrate Atkinson. The charge had been laid by Mines Inspector G. Cole. The penalty for this offence is from $50 to $500. Gough apparently had allowed the charge to prey on his nerves after being served with the summons on Tuesday afternoon.

RAFT COLLAPSES; BOY IS DROWNED

Twelve Year Old Lad Loses Life in Midland Harbor.

MIDLAND, Ont., Aug. 11.—Trufeault Deschane, the twelve year old son of Mr. Joseph Deschane of Lindsay street, was drowned near the coal dock about 6.45 last night. The boy was paddling a raft consisting of two pieces of timber, and was seated on an old box, which suddenly collapsed, throwing him into the water.

A younger brother playing on the dock gave the alarm, but as the boy could not swim he sank before help could reach him. The body was recovered about 7.30 in twenty feet of water.

FOX RINK WINS MIXED TOURNEY

Has Three Wins and Plus of 24 in the Bowling Events.

J. CULLEN SECOND.

Reg Fox skipped the winning rink in the mixed rink tournament held yesterday, and another Peterborough rink, headed by James Cullen, came second. Taylor, of Tweed, was third. These were the only rinks to win all three games.

In presenting the prizes, stainless steel knives and silver cake plates, President Jack Sedgewick, of the local club, expressed regret that the visitors had won none of the prizes offered. Remarking on the success of the event, he said that it would probably be made an annual affair. The standings were:

	Wins	Plus
Fox, of Peterborough	3	24
Cullen, of Peterborough ...	3	19
Taylor of Tweed	3	10

INVENTOR DIES AT MENOMINEE

Marshall B. Lloyd's Apparatus Revolutionized Three Industries.

CAME FROM MEAFORD.

MENONIMEE, Mich., August 11.—After hovering near death for nearly a week, Marshall B. Lloyd, 69, millionaire inventor, whose inventions revolutionized three industries, died at his home in Menonimee yesterday.

The invention by Lloyd of a wicker weaving loom changed the hand weaving methods that had been previously used. His invention wove a baby carriage in 18 minutes, thirty times faster than the hand process.

A total of two hundred inventions are credited to Lloyd. They include the Lloyd oxy-acetylene method of producing seamless steel tubing and a machine for weaving bed springs with which he founded his fortune.

His first invention was a lhear with which he captured the fish he peddled on the streets of Meaford, Ont., in his younger days. Two sisters, Mrs. C. A. Farrar and Mrs. William Jamieson, reside at Meaford.

SOME CAUSES OF RHEUMATIC FEVER

The onset of rheumatic fever is so sudden it has led many investigators to believe that the cause is a specific bacterium which invades the tissues after entering through the tonsils or some other seat of focal infection. If this could be true, no one at least has yet claimed to have discovered the particular kind of invading germ which is responsible.

As the cases of rheumatic fever are viewed at the bedside, it will be found that before the start of the attack there has been some such immediate cause as exposure to cold, being caught in a rainstorm, sudden change of weather, enervation from overwork and, in many cases, injury to the muscles and joints from violent exercise. The tonsils are swollen, patients frequently have acute colds, and always a toxic, bilious feeling. The simple fact is they are always in a state of auto-intoxication or self-poisoning, and the enervation, exposure, or over-exercise is enough to bring their toxic condition to an acute crisis. The rheumatic fever which results is an effort of the body to burn up wastes, eliminate impurities, and thus adjust the system to the normal.

The death-rate from rheumatic fever is very low, but it is, nevertheless, a very dangerous disease. The majority of patients are left with either functional or ganic heart disorders due to the prolonged fever and the vicio usnature of theor-toxemia which, once generated and brought on, results in an acute crisis that injures the delicate linings of the heart before it can be eliminated. Even the brain cells are often affected so that the memory functions are injured.

Acute rheumatic fever is seldom observedwin nursing babies, but frequently occurs with children between three and fifteen years of age. Almost half of all cases are found with those between fifteen and twenty-five years old, and twice as many with males as females. After maturity, when regular habits have been well established, the percentage of cases drops to almost as low as with babies. It can be seen that half of the cases occur at the age when young people are careless in their habits. Enervation from late hours, overeating, irregular with occasional violent exercise, taking chances with exposure to the elements—all of these bad practices are especially prevalent with young folks between fifteen and twenty-five. Even though an acute attack of rheumatic fever does not develop at these ages, such bad habits during youth may have formed the soil in which some chronic form of rheumatism may develop later in life.

If, in spite of my warning, some one of my readers does develop rheumatic fever, I am going to tell you tomorrow what to do to bring about a cure and prevent serious complications.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

QUESTION: Helen W. writes: "I am anemic, and my doctor wants to give me blood transfusions. What do you think about this kind of treatment?"

ANSWER: Blood transfusions are the most helpful after a loss of blood through hemorrhages. If you have pernicious anemia you are in a serious condition and must not depend upon the advice which I can give in such a short answer in this column. Transfusions of blood can at best be only temporary help. You must at once start getting rid of the vicious toxemia which is destroying your red blood cells. It may seem ridiculous to you when I tell you that you can best do this through fasting for ten days or two weeks. You need so much information about this that I urge you to go to some doctor who understands how to apply the fasting cure, or write me again, giving your name and address, so I can answer you personally.

QUESTION: Mrs. R. G. writes: "Sweet potatoes have not been included in your weekly menus. My children like them. Are they good for them?"

ANSWER: Sweet potatoes, when properly prepared by roasting or boiling instead of adding quantities of sugar and fat in their ordinary preparation, (candied yams, for instance), may be used as the starch part of a meal in combination with the non-starches, such as spinach, string beans, asparagus, etc.

QUESTION: Mother asks: "Is there any charge for your booklet, "How to Wean a Baby?" I would like to have one."

ANSWER: I have written several articles on the subject of weaning and feeding the baby, and they will be sent to you upon receipt of your name and address. Comply with the mailing instructions printed in this column, and I will be glad to forward these articles to you."

Lyrics Of Life

(By Douglas Malloch.)

SOMEWHERE.

I can't understand it, the Lord never planned it, this scooting a round in a car.

I never have met you, but I'm willing to bet you are pretty well off where you are.

We drive it, we dance it, we're always in transit, we measure our lives by the mile.

We've got to be somewhere, and so, when we come there, why not stay around for awhile?

With all of our chasing, our running, our racing, we always are some place, at that;

The joy we're in quest of is making the best of the place we already are at.

Why, even the nettle finds some place to settle, and even the bird has a nest.

For someone there's somewhere; let someone just come there, for there is as good as the rest.

Why leave it behind us, some new place to find us, perhaps not as good as the old?

Our dwelling—what is it? A place we just visit, that ought to be dearer than gold.

Let's go there and stay there and work there and play there, not wonder and wander, and roam.

We can't be just nowhere; there's somewhere, let's go there, and stay there, and make it a home.

Feathered Facts And Fancies

CLOTH DURABLE DOESN'T WRINKLE

Not there came overcoats and top coats of camel's hair. Now the smart men's shops offer suits and knicker s, too, of this material. Witness these examples.

By CURTIS WOOD
For NEA Service

NEW YORK, Aug. 11.—The newest and most popular material for late summer wear—camel's hair cloth.

Blustery winter winds brought out a new, light, non-wrinkling overcoat that was a satisfactory insulation against cold minus the stuffiness that usually accompanies the heavy and more familiar woollen garment. Camel's hair coats enjoyed a popularity that extended away into the spring months when they were grudgingly set aside for tweeds, then flannels and finally linen and palm beach suits.

A Discovery.

One enterprising New York manufacturer suddenly made a discovery. One of his employees, having been made a present of a bolt of camel's hair, liked the striped pattern so well that instead of having it made into a light topcoat he had himself outfitted with a sports suit.

Camel's hair presses easily and holds the crease well. He soon discovered that aside from being a protector against cold it was an insulator against heat and its lightness was a desirable asset.

On Fifth Avenue.

On Fifth avenue today the smartest and best shops have displays pushing the newly discovered sports cloth. It is light, airy and comfortable. It molds well over the figure, has plenty of drape and comes in plain tan, brown, plaid and striped patterns that include chocolate, yellow and green stripings.

Camel's hair tailoring is now found in all the new polo suits, golf and even tennis trousers.

August and early September nights bring out the 1927 top coats and already camel's hair leads in the newest models.

Fine For Knickers.

The sports suits are usually single-breasted with three buttons and have wide patch pockets. The trousers are without cuffs as the material holds the press and shape so well it does not become floppy. The material makes up into fine knickers and the three-piece ensemble sells at $75 to $100.

The top coats are in two models, the raglan sleeve balmacan types with the slash pockets and the three large buttons down the single breasted front. This type is selected for motoring and knockabout wear where the usage is rougher than for office or street appearance. The raglan type is best fitted for men with wide shoulders and wide hips and it drapes very well. It sells in the vicinity of $60.

The double-breasted top coat is for the swanky dresser who likes a trim fit about the shoulders and around the waist. The double-breasted model comes in plaids, has no breast pocket and can be worn by almost any type of physique. It is priced variously from $50 to $75.

The Colors.

Tan, chocolate, brown, yellow and even a light canary color are to be seen on display along Fifth avenue. They are excellent protection against the chill of midnight late in August and early in September. During the day when top coats are carried over the arm or stowed away in the seat corner of one's sports roadster the camel's hair coat takes all sorts of abuse without betraying the rumpled, wrinkled appearance a woollen garment would show under similar circumstances.

An added accessory to the camel's hair golf, street suit and top coat is the camel's hair sweater. New models are roomier than the old and are cut to allow greater freedom under the arms and about the shoulder. They sell at $10 and $20.

TOO SLOW FOR HIM

STOUGHTON, Mass., Aug. 10. — Leaping from his fire truck in front of a burning house, Nozzleman John Tye pointed the hose at the flames and waited for the water to come. He waited and waited. Twenty-five minutes later, when the house was in ashes and there still was no water, Tye dropped the nozzle, threw away his helmet, and quit the fire department.

Uncle Wiggily

To-day's Bedtime Story

By Howard R. Garis

(Copyright, 1927, McClure Syndicate.)

UNCLE WIGGILY AND THE FUNNY FROG

Uncle Wiggily was out in the woodshed back of his hollow stump bungalow one day, sort of "puttering around," as Nurse Jane Fuzzy Wuzzy called it, when, all of a quickness, Jollie Longtail, the mouse boy, came scampering in.

"Oh, Uncle Wiggily!" squeaked Jollie, "you ought to have seen it!"

"Seen what?" asked the rabbit gentleman, who was making something on top of a soap box.

Before Jollie had a chance to answer, in ran his sister Jillie, all excited and out of breath and she began to squeak, saying:

"Oh, Uncle Wiggily, he nipped the end of the tail off Squeakie Eeekie, our cousin mouse, and won't she look terrible with part of her tail gone and can't you do something and I'm afraid to go back to our meadow and he almost caught Jollie and me and—and—and—"

"Whoa! Wait a minute! Get your breath!" chuckled Uncle Wiggily for, indeed, Jillie was talking so fast that she had to sit down and rest. And as she did so she looked at what Uncle Wiggily had on the soap box and she cried:

"Oh, there's Bully No Tail the frog! Oh, hello, Bully!" But as there came no answer from the green creature on the box Jillie cried: "What a funny frog!"

"I'm glad you think so," said Uncle Wiggily. "Does it look like Bully or Bawly?"

"It did at first," answered Jollie, talking in place of his sister. "But when I look again it doesn't seem quite lively enough for Bully or Bawly."

"You are right," said Mr. Longears. "That funny frog is neither Bully nor Bawly, but I hope it looks enough like one of them to play a trick on Long Legs."

"Long Legs!" squeaked Jillie, "why that's just the one I was telling you about. That big Blue Heron bird walked across our meadow a little while ago, after stabbing a lot of poor frogs, fish and tadpoles, and he tried to catch me in his beak. He caught hold of poor Squeakie Eeekie's tail and nipped a piece off. That's what we came to tell you about, Jollie and I."

"I began to think you must mean Long Legs," said Uncle Wiggily. "Well, yesterday, Bully and Bawly and Mrs. Hop told me about this hungry bird and, ever since, I have been getting ready to play a trick on him. I am about ready now. I think I can tease him so he will fly away. Of course a Blue Heron must have frogs, fish and tender little mice to eat so he can live," agreed Mr. Longears. "But he has made trouble enough around here, has Long Legs."

"How are you going to drive him away?" asked Jollie.

"I have made here a make believe frog," explained Mr. Longears, pointing to the creature on the soap box. "I made the frog out of strong, tough leaves of the green rubber plant. I made eyes with Baby Bunty's paints.

"Now what I am going to do is this. Toward evening I am going to put this make believe, rubber frog on the duck pond and let it float down toward the marsh where Long Legs stands to go to sleep every night. When the Blue Heron sees what he thinks is a fine, fat frog floating past him he will dart his sharp bill at it to stab it and so he will have his supper."

"But what good will that do?" asked Jollie, sighing when she thought of the nipped tail of Squeakie Eeekie, the cousin mouse. "If the Heron eats the rubber frog it may make him all the more hungry for Bully, Bawly or even us mice," and she looked at her brother.

"The trick I hope to play with this funny rubber frog will be different from that," said Uncle Wiggily with a twinkle of his pink nose. "If you want to hide in the rushes you may see it."

"Oh, come on!" squeaked Jollie to his sister. "Let's go!"

"I will be there to look after you," promised Uncle Wiggily. "Bully and Bawly are also going to be there."

So the mice children thought they would go to see the trick of the funny frog played on Long Legs, and they started for the pond with Mr. Longears. And what happened after that, and whether or not the Blue Heron was driven away, you shall hear in the next story which will be about Uncle Wiggily and One Leg. And I do hope the brass bed doesn't try to come downstairs on one roller skate, for it might fall.

Irish Hearts

By MOLLIE MALONE

Copyright 1927, Warner Bros. Pictures, Inc.

"IRISH HEARTS," with May McAvoy, is a Warner Bros. picturization of this novel.

SYNOPSIS

Emmett Murtough of Killanmaul, Ireland, emigrates to America and is followed by Sheila Kildare, to whom he is bethrothed. Sheila makes friends with the family of Rory O'Shea, a professional boxer whom Emmett scorns. Rory escorts Sheila to Coney Island and takes her on a motor trip. Murtough is jealous, and becomes involved with a bootlegging band of which Mannie Clocker of the West End Club is the leader. Murtough drives a truck.

CHAPTER VII—Continued

A sign in the window of Nick's Restaurant, "Waitress Wanted," prompted her to inquire. Nick had seen the pretty young Irish girl in the neighborhood. He liked pretty girls and he knew that his patrons did. For her comeliness then he gave her a job, two meals a day, eight dollars a week and her tips. If she was clever the latter would amount to fifteen or eighteen dollars a week, he told her.

The timid Sheila learned with difficulty how to juggle a tray and to dodge waitresses and customers in between tables and chairs, but she accomplished it, and while the work was hard Sheila was young and strong and apparently it did her no harm. She found that Nick was a sharp business man. If a cup broke, the waitress was charged up with it. If a customer complained, Nick scolded his employee roundly in front of the patron in a voice that could be heard all over the cafe. Still it was a job, and it did pay sufficient for the limited needs of Old Tom and herself.

Nick warned her that the men who patronized the cafe like a girl who could give and take.

Emmett protested loudly at Sheila's "degrading herself" as he put it; but when she tartly told him that inasmuch as Old Tom would not work that she must and at whatever she was able to do. Her father urged that she marry Murtough, but Sheila had noticed that in recent weeks Emmett had avoided the question of marriage. Anyway, she would have nothing to do with a man who did not hold a steady job, no matter how little it paid.

The men who tried to flirt with her and date her up were the most trying experiences of the first week or so; but soon she learned that Irish wit proved a good humored snub for all such proposals. Nick warned her when she began that the men who patronized the cafe liked a girl who could give and take with them.

It was at the restaurant one evening when the supper crowd had begun to thin out that she first heard of the dance that was to be given by the West Side Club. Some of the members were planning their party over their coffee. Murtough had said nothing to her about it. She expected that he would invite her if only to show himself off to her in his new environment and among his business friends. But she received no invitation.

One night when Sadie McCoy and Sheila sat down to eat their supper before going home Sadie pertly turned to her.

"Say, ain't that Murtough guy that comes into the place with your father, you know, ain't he your sweetie?"

"Sweetie?"

"Sure. Didn't you come over here from Ireland to marry him?"

"He is a friend of my father's," Sheila answered.

"Oh, I heard him and your old man chinning about it once when I was waiting on them. I guess it must a' been before you come to work here."

"We did know each other well back home," admitted Sheila.

"Well, if you want to marry him, you'd better keep your eyes on him, 'cause he's got a little kid that he brings in here at nights. He takes her around a lot. I seen them together at the picture shows a couple of times."

Sheila remained silent. Emmett was philandering again. She had been right, she thought, not to have let herself be persuaded into a marriage with Emmett by her father. Better to keep on working than that.

"He's making lots of dough now," Sadie went on. "I've heard him say he was making sometimes as much as two hundred a week. What's he do?"

"He drives an express truck between here and Philadelphia," Sheila replied, telling Sadie what her father had told her.

"But he only works two or three nights a week. I've heard him say so. Must be precious stuff he's trucking to make that kind of money."

"I don't know what he carries I'm sure."

"Well, take it from me, liquor trucking's the highest paid there is in this town right now," Sadie said sharply.

"You don't think he's bootlegging?" Sheila had learned what everybody knows of the desperate business of those who deal illegitimately with contraband beverages.

"How do I know? But big money is paid to drivers who bring in the loads from places where it's landed from the boats."

"Oh, I don't think Emmett would do anything like that!"

"Well, anyway, keep your eye peeled for that little dame he's been playing with; that is if you are interested in your boy friend at all!"

The suspicion that Emmett was bootlegging worried Sheila. Every day she read about captures and gun plays in which rival gangs had shot each other to death. It would be like Murtough to become involved, probably innocently, Sheila thought, in such an enterprise. That he would join such a gang with full knowledge of its purpose she could not believe.

Old Tom Kildare laughed at her suspicions. Emmett was an expert truck driver and it was a dangerous job to drive a big van at high rate of speed at night, naturally the men were well paid for the work. Indeed, Emmett had introduced the older man to some of his friends at the West Side Club and there had been no suggestions that the business he was in any way illegitimate. The daytime drivers were paid much less a trip and that was why Murtough had decided to drive at night. Sheila should not be always finding fault with the boy; she should appreciate how he had come on in the world since he arrived in America.

Mannie Clocker summoned Murtough, Al Evans, the guard detailed to his truck, and Dixon, driver of the pilot car, and Williams, his guard, into a private card room at the club.

"I want you men to be particularly careful tonight," he said. "I got a tip that Steven's is out to hijack us ou of that stuff that you're to pick up at Montauk. You may have to shoot. If you do, be sure you shoot first. Don't come back and tell me any bull about letting them guys put it over you. I want that stuff; I don't want any excuses when you get back to the city in the morning."

"Any tip off as to where they may lay for us?"

"No, but keep your eyes skinned." He turned directly to Murtough. "Don't let that pilot car get more than fifty feet away from you. They'll probably try to cut you off from Dixon by waiting until he gets by and then trying a stick-up on you. If they try to get you and you get away with the stuff there's an extra century for each of you. If you let 'em get away with it, the only excuse is to be a couple of dead gunmen."

The four men left and mounted the pilot car, a twin six of powerful make, built for speed and durability, for the drive to Montauk Point, where the loaded truck would be waiting at midnight for the return trip to the city. They faced the night with certain bravado which indicated that underlying all their boasts there was cold fear of what might happen. Dixon pulled a flask out from the side pocket of the machine and held it out. Each took a hearty drink.

"Not too much of that stuff tonight," Dixon warned as he replaced the flask. "But a little Dutch courage never went amiss."

Soon after the car sped smoothly across the Fifty-ninth Street bridge and the four men settled themselves down to the long drive into the night.

The headquarters of Clocker's landing crew was an old house situated far back from the highway and screened partially from the road by thick trees. With all lights out in the habitation no passerby ever would guess that it existed. The night was cloudy and when the pilot car turned into the sandy driveway there was no sign of life about.

CAMPBELLFORD BEATS HASTINGS

Wins League Contests By Ten Runs To Two—Some Heavy Hitting.

TWO TEAMS TIED.

CAMPBELLFORD, Aug. 11. — [illegible] a record crowd, Hastings was defeated by Campbellford in a fast game of ball yesterday afternoon on the local diamond. It was a scheduled Northumberland league game, and as the season advances a decidedly greater interest is being evinced.

Hastings won the first half of the series with only one loss when defeated by Keene.

Campbellford and Warkworth are tie; each having won 2 and lost 1. Hastings has lost 2 and has 2 to play.

The next league game will be on Friday when Hastings meets Warkworth at Warkworth.

Yesterday's game was well contested although it is freely rumoured that Hastings has one awful come back in store for Campbellford.

As usual, Christie featured in the game—this time with a home run. Jack Cowell not content with a home run added two 3-baggers to his contribution to yesterday's victory.

Everyone enjoyed the great change of herat exhibited by Bill Wellman, and the absence of rag chewing, but Campbellford players are not forgetful of the fact that it is always very quiet just before a storm; and will, no doubt, keep hard at the practice stuff.

Campbellford ..... 003 511 00—10
Hastings ..... 000 000 02—2

Umpires—Plate, Wellman. Bases, Davidson.

HAVE YOU PILES

Then You Have Something to Learn

Thousands who have piles have not learned that quick and permanent relief can only be accomplished with internal medicine. Neither cutting nor any amount of treatment with ointments and suppositories will remove the cause.

Bad circulation causes piles. There is stagnation of blood circulation in the lower bowel and a weakening of the parts. Dr. J. S. Leonhardt found the remedy and called his prescription HEM-ROID. Dr. Leonhardt tried it in hundreds of cases with a marvelous record of success, such a wonderful record that HEM-ROID is now sold by druggists everywhere under a rigid money-back guarantee.

Don't waste any more time with outside applications. Get a package of HEM-ROID from McDermid & Jury McDermid Drug Store to-day. It has given quick and lasting relief to thousands and must do the same for you or money back.

BELLEVILLE WINS FROM POINT ANNE

But Loses To Deloro in Second Game of Double-Header.

BELLEVILLE, Aug. 11 (Special).— A double header baseball match was played here yesterday afternoon, the C.N.R. team of this city having to play two games. In the first game they beat the Point Anne team by 2 to 0, and in the second Deloro defeated the locals by 8 to 2. As a result of these two games Deloro and the Belleville team will play off for the Bay of Quinte League championship.

A VOTE FOR THE MOST POPULAR VACATION RESORT.

Which is Ontario's most popular vacation resort?

If that question were put to a vote, the Kawartha Lakes would rank high among the outstanding favorites.

Here are glorious lakes and beautiful wooded shores. Here are the haunts of the fighting "muskies" and the sport-giving speckled trout. Here the air is always cool and invigorating.

In Kawartha Lakes are hundreds of attractive camping sites, while on various points have been located cottage colonies and well-kept hotels. Everything is here that a vacationist could desire, yet none of the gateways to this land of summer delight are more than three or four hours distant from Toronto via the fast trains of the Canadian National Railways.

Full information, literature, etc., apply to any Canadian National Agent.

Boy Falls From Attic Unharmed

FORT WILLIAM, Aug. 11. — Little six-year-old Tommy Cameron, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Cameron, Cameron Street, had the luck of the Camerons with him on Tuesday, when he fell from the attic window, three stories high, to the ground.

"Don't tell mamma," she might lick us," he told his sister, who rushed out of the house expecting to find her little brother dead on the ground. The "licking" was not forthcoming.

LEADING OFFENDERS

Bookkeepers and Accountants Lead in Breaking Moscow Laws.

MOSCOW, Aug. 11 (Canadian Press). — The amazing fact that bookkeepers and accountants, as a class, are the principal offenders among Soviet employees, in the matter of petty offences listed under the head of "hooliganism," is stated in a report prepared by an official of the State Statistical Department. Thirty-three per cent of all such cases are charged to them.

The extermination of hooliganism, next to the "bezprizorni," or homeless waifs problem, is the most pressing police question of the day. While the number of waifs is apparently rapidly growing, and their daring increasing every day, hooliganism, according to official figures, is on a comparative decline. The number of cases recorded during the last month was 476, against double that figure for the same month in 1926.

The report shows that fifty-three per cent of hooligans are married. Their age ranges from 20 to 29. Women offenders represent only ten per cent of the total but, it is pointedd out, their offences are characterized by extraordinary cynicism and daring. While during the last year only one man appeared naked in the streets, similar cases involving women were quite frequent. Preferred places for commission of acts of "hooliganism" 'are said to be public squares and boulevards, and the time from nine in the evening to midnight.

CAMPBELLFORD NEWS.

CAMPBELLFORD, Aug. 12. — Campbellford Lodge, No. 246, Independent Order of Oddfellows, will decorate the graves of departed members of the Order at Mount Pleasant cemetery on Sunday afternoon. Members of Canton No. 8 Patriarchs Militant of Belleville and the Northumberland Regiment Band will take part in the proceedings. The parade will form up at 2.30.

Mrs. Duncan Robertson, of Toronto, has returned home after a four weeks' visit with Miss Sara Nevin.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Hazell are leaving to-morrow on a visit to Perth. During Mr. Hazell's absence from town his place at the organ in St. John's church will be taken by E. C. Dolman.

Miss Lilly Govan attended the wedding of her niece, Miss Jean Govan, of Williamstown, to T. Kenneth Waddell, of Ottawa. The ceremony took place in St. Andrew's church, of which Rev. A. Govan, father of the bride, is minister.

The committee in charge of the Royal Black Preceptory celebration to-morrow are leaving no stone unturned to make this just one of the biggest days in the history of Campbellford. See the large display advt. in this issue.

Liquor Worth $300,000 Taken On British Vessel at New York.

NEW YORK, April 11. — Canadian Press. — Loaded with five thousand cases of liquor, valued at three hundred thousand dollars at bootleg prices, the British trawler Sebastopol was seized by the coast guard as she was passing the Narrow. The trawler was towed under guard to an anchorage off the statue of Liberty, to be turned over to the customs authorities.

The ship was technically classified as a pirate on the ground that it had changed its name without authority. The name 'Westmoreland' had been painted over the original

MORE EASTERNERS SHOULD VISIT WEST

Have No Idea of Its Progress and Beauty, Says Lady.

WINNIPEG, Man., Aug. 11.—(Canadian Press.)— It's a pity more eastern Canadians do not travel through the west. They have no idea of the marvellous scenic beauty or of western progress, in the opinion of Lady Roddick, of Montreal, who has been in the city on her return from a seven week's tour of the west and Alaska — her first trip west of the Great Lakes. Marvelling at the mountains she was yet most enthusiastic over the prairies, and the size of prairie towns she found astonishing.

S.A. MOTORCADE HAS BUSY DAY

Will Hold Services at Lakefield, Warsaw, Havelock and Norwood.

NEXT SUNDAY.

The Peterborough Salvation Army Motorcade will leave the Salvation Army Temple, Simcoe Street, at 9.30 a.m. on Sunday morning next, Aug. 14th, on what gives promise of being an event of unusual interest, as well as profitable blessing.

A heavy programme of activities has been arranged for the day. The first stop will be at Lakefield, where a service will be held in the Regent Street United Church, which has been kindly loaned for the occasion, at 11 a.m. At 1.45 p.m. the Salvation Army Motorcade will hold a short service at Warsaw, and immediately at the conclusion of this service will be on the road to meet their advertised meeting at the Havelock Park, kindly loaned by the Havelock Park Board. At the Havelock Park open-air service a special programme will be given at 3.30 p.m. At 7 p.m., in Norwood United Church, also kindly loaned, the final service of the day will be held.

The Salvation Army Motorcade will be made up of the well-known Peterborough Temple Band, under Bandmaster Frank Robinson, and the Peterborough Songster Brigade, composed of thirty voices, under Songster Leader Ben Smith.

Commandant Frank Ham will direct the affairs of the day, and will give appropriate addresses for the event.

This is the first time that such a tour has been attempted in the county, and is being held at the request of a large number of people of the county. It is quite certain, weather permitting, that great crowds will be present at each service during the day.

BOY STEPS INTO PAIL OF HOT TAR

Guelph Lad's Leg Badly Burned From Toes To Knee.

GUELPH, Aug. 11. — Stepping backward into a pail of boiling tar, Fred Kinsey, 12 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Kinsey of 43 McTeague street, was badly burned on one leg from his toes to his knee at Goldie's Dam yesterday.

The lad was playing about on the shore, where an older boy was caulking a rowboat with boiling tar, which was in a pail over a fire on the bank. He inadvertenly stepped backward and placed his bare foot and leg into the container of tar. As he jumped out, the tar which hered to the flesh caught fire from the embers of the small blaze being used to heat the mixture, scorching his leg and foot severely.

COUNTY COUNCIL DECIDES TO REPAIR HALE'S BRIDGE

Delegations From United Counties Favor Keeping Bridge Intact.

COST $13,000

Government Will Pay Fifty Per Cent. of the Cost and Counties Twenty-Five.

After hearing deputations from Northumberland and Durham and from South Monaghan and Otonabee the County Council in special session yesterday decided that they would co-operate with the council of the United Counties in repairing Hale's bridge at Wallace's Point

Temporary repairs were made this spring to the bridge but the engineers reported that something would have to be done in a permanent line or the bridge would go out in the spring freshet.

Since the temporary repairs were made there has developed principally in Peterborough County opposition to making the structure anywhere permanent. Acting Clerk Elliott had prepared maps for the members of the council so as they could more fully discuss the question as to the advisability of doing away with the bridge. The Bensford bride is situated four miles from the Wallace's Point bridge and the former is 2 miles nearer Peterborough, but the road to the city is not as good.

The two bridges were built by public subscription and later taken over by the county. Hale's bridge was built in 1867 and was formerly a toll bridge; the Bensford bridge was built a few years later as it was thought it would serve a greater number of people than the Hale's bridge.

The deputation from South Monaghan and Otonabee asked that the bridge be repaired as it was a necessity to many farmers and was being used by many who do not want to travel the highway. They presented a petition signed by over 100 residents of Otonabee.

Reeve Smithson in replying to the deputation said that Otonabee was greatly concerned in the matter and he thought the question ought to be referred to the Railway and Municipal Board and find out whether it would be feasible to do away with the bridge. "I know it is a great benefit to these gentlemen and to many more, but we as the officials of the county must see where the money is coming from. The total cost of a new bridge is $37,000, and we in Otonabee are in a peculiar position regarding the bridge. Bensford bridge on one side is a county road and on our side it is a township road. These people when they signed the petition probably did not consider that they have to pay a big share of the cost of the bridge and they also have to keep up two roads that are heavily travelled.

Mr. Fellows, an engineer from the department said that the Minister of Highways wished to have the bridge repaired as the traffic was becoming crowded on the main highways and the township roads will have to handle more traffic. He also said that the government would pay 50 per cent. of the repairing cost.

Mr. Warden— While the government pays 50 per cent. I was just wondering who constitutes the government.

E. M. Elliott wanted to know why the department had the road deleted from the county road system and then wants the bridge to stay. The county engineer estimated that it would take $13,000 to build a new pier and do the other repairing that was required, so as the bridge would be good for 10 or 15 years.

The deputation from Northumberland and Durham county consisted of Warden Elliott, Reeve Nelson of Percy, Deputy-Reeve Hooton of Cavan and County Road Superintendent Greer. All these members favored repairing the bridge and promised that the United Counties, would pay their share of the cost. On motion of Reeve Clark and Smithson it was decided that Peterborough would co-operate and repair the bridge.

Most Marked in Northern England and Wales, Strike Areas.

800 DRUNKEN DRIVERS.

Not Accepted as Indicating Growing Sobriety of Nation —Brewers Still Profit.

LONDON, August 12. — Canadian Press. — There were 8,000 fewer convictions for drunkenness in Great Britain in the past year than in previous year, according to the official reports just made public, the past year's total being 67,000.

The decrease in the number of convictions was most marked in the northern parts of England and Wales and was almost entirely due to the long protracted coal miners' strike, it is believed, as the spending power of the population was reduced in consequence of the strike, and also because the police were too busy in other directions during the strike to trouble over mere drunkenness.

Saturday still continues to be the most fruitful day in arrests for drunkenness.

A number of persons convicted of being drunk while driving motor cars was 800 and these were automatically disqualified from holding drivers' licenses for a year.

While the latest official returns of convictions for drunkenness are regarded as satisfactory to certain points, many students of social conditions decline to regard them as a reliable test of the nation's growing sobriety.

At any rate the profits of the majority of the brewing and distilling firms of the country have not declined in the past year.

SCENE OF DANCE GAY WITH COLOR

Streamers, Lights and Stands Give Promise of Gaiety.

PLENTY OF ROOM.

The junction of Rubidge and Park Streets, the scene of tonight's community dance and concert under the auspices of the C.G.E. Welfare Club, presents a gay and festive air today with its streamers and bunting, colored lights, and other holiday trappings.

It has all the appearance of a big time with an orchestra stand on the north side of the square, band stand in the centre, refreshment booth off to the east, and plenty of room for the hundreds if not thousands who turn out for this occasion.

Citizens from the north and east ends of the city will likely be surprised when they see the improvements which the Council has effected north of Albert Street and in front of the C.G.E. buildings. It is really a spacious plaza fronting the office building and extending from the C.G.E. over to the Colonial Weaving Company's building. There is a decided metropolitan touch to this street expansion and pavement, and that big town appearance will be heightened tonight when the many-colored lights are turned on and the crowd gathers.

In Japan a man does not give up his seat to a woman in a crowded street-car, as that would be making improper advances.

Mother Gives Life Trying To Save Son

SHERBROOKE, Que., Aug. 12 (Canadian Press). — A double drowning tragedy involving a mother and her eight-year-old son was enacted at Savage's Mills, near Waterloo, Shefford County, Wednesday, it became known here yesterday, when Mrs. Simpson of Cote St. Paul, Montreal, and her boy lost their lives while bathing. The two had gone with friends and the youngster, while playing around slid from a rock into deep water. Although unable to swim the mother plunged in after him and immediately sank. Mrs. Simpson's body was recovered within a few minutes, but that of her son was not recovered for several hours. Dr. Meyse of Waterloo was quickly summoned, but was unable to restore life to the mother.

Make Forced Landing In The Bush Country

SASKATOON, Sask., August 12 (Canadian Press.) — The gasoline supply exhausted, Pilot Ralph MacBurney ,R.C.A.F., commanding the air base at Lake Winnipegosis, Man., made a forced landing in the bush country north of Big River, where he and his mechanic spent eight days, it was learned here yesterday when word came of their safe arrival at Big River. MacBurney was on his way to Ile a la Crosse Base to aid in fighting fires.

The plane was brought down in a densely wooded country, but the fliers found an abandoned cabin, with a tangled patch of potatoes. MacBurney had a rifle with which he shot some ducks, which were added to their rapidly diminishing rations.

PETTY THIEVES BOTHER SMITH

Farmers Also Disturbed By Shouts of Midnight Revellers.

MANY COMPLAINTS.

Several cases of petty pilfering and disturbances by midnight revellers during the past two weeks have aroused considerable complaint among farmers and residents in and around the Chemong and Bridgenorth district of Smith.

Raiding hen roosts and stealing eggs are two offences that have lately become prevalent. One farmer complains that on every occasion except one, during the past two weeks, on which he left his steading for a trip to Peterborough, he found on his return that he was minus a number of eggs.

More serious still is the complaint that the side roads after midnight are the scenes of drinking parties in automobiles. A farmer living a little distance north-west of Bridgenorth is responsible for the statement that his household some nights is awakened by the shouts of the visitors, and in some cases the screams of women.

Another farmer, disturbed in the early hours of the morning discovered on making investigation that the sounds came from two young girls on whom liquor was being forced by their male escorts.

An elderly lady living alone on Chemong Road, on two occasions was compelled to order away from her gate men who alighted from an automobile ostensibly to repair a defect, but, she alleges, in reality to consume liquor by the roadside.

A great deal of resentment has been aroused in the district as a result of these incidents.

EIGHT FLOWERS ON SWEET PEA

Fine Stock of "Joan Ryder" Grown By F. Hall, Romaine Street.

Sending in two sweet pea blooms of the Joan Ryder variety, one with seven flowers and one with eight, W. H. Young writes as follows:

"I noticed in The Examiner of the 10th inst. that Mr. R. Haddow had a Spencer Sweet Pea with seven blooms. I have sent you two spikes with seven and eight blooms, which were grown by F. Hall, 521 Romaine Street. Some people will be saying that they are the perennial sweet pea, which always come in a large cluster, but to prove they are the genuine article, I have sent you the Seedsman's description of this pea, which is named Joan Ryder. Mr. Haddow need not feel vexed that his spike of blooms has been surpassed, because Mr. Hall comes from the country noted for its gardeners, Scotland."

The catalogue describes the flower as follows:

"It has been grown in thousands of gardens, and has been shown in thousands of prize-winning groups. For example, at the National Sweet Pea Society's Show in London, it was included in the group than won the premier amateur prize. It was also included in the Royal Horticultural Society's trials of 1924, and received an award of merit. We claim that this is the very best white sweet pea in existence. It is absolutely pure white, most charmingly fringed, and of greater substance than any other white variety. The flowers often have two standards. It is of stout, vigorous constitution, and blooms with lavish profusion. A great feature is that stems are produced bearing five, six, and even sometimes more flowers. It is a sweet pea for every garden, and is most delightful when cut and bunched. It is a sweet pea of the future for growing for profit, and the greatest dealer in Covent Garden says it is the finest that ever came into the market. Add to this the fact that it is the most fragrant of all sweet peas. Valuable as this is as a show sweet pea, we consider it has merits as a garden sweet pea of untellable value. It is grandly vigorous, very free flowering, makes a conspicuous display, and is glorious in vases on the table. We have received innumerable testimonials."

The blooms shown confirm to this.

DAIL ADJOURNS WITHOUT VOTE OF CONFIDENCE

Motion By Labor Party Leader To Be Voted On Next Week.

FIANNA FAIL ATTENDS.

First Session of Present Parliament With More Than 99 Members Present.

DUBLIN, August 12 (Canadian Press). — The life of the Cosgrave Government of the Irish Free State has been prolonged at least until next Tuesday.

The postponement of the crisis which is expected as a result of the seating to-day of Eamon de Valera and forty-four members of his Fianna Fail party in the Dail Eireann, was seen in the announcement in the Dail this afternoon that the vote of confidence on the action of Tom Johnson, parliamentary Labour leader, would be taken on Tuesday. Counting the Fianna Fail seats, the combined opposition in the Dail will number seventy-seven as against a possible sixty-seven for the Government.

The announcement was made ebfore a crowded and expectant House, which included the Fianna Fail deputies. It had been expected that Mr. Cosgrave would resign immediately in view of the prospective adverse majority inthe Dail.

When the Dail assembled for its session this afternoon, 144 of the 153 deputies were present. The largest number attending any previous session was ninety-nine owing to the absention of the De Valera group from participating. The House was called to order without any demonstration and the discussion began.

Mr. Johnson inquired when the House would be given an opoprtunity of raising the question of confidence in the Government. The speaker asked Mr. Cosgrave if a vote of confidence could be taken on Tuesday, and the latter replied, "Certainly."

"I must not be taken as agreeing to it," he added laughingly.

The Dail adjourned until Tuesday.

SLIGHT FROST IN MANITOBA

General Cutting of Wheat Expected to Begin End of August.

CASES OF RUST.

WINNIPEG, Man., August 12 (Canadian Press). — Practically no damage has been done by frost in Manitoba, and general cutting of wheat in Manitoba is expected to begin about the end of August, according to a Provincial Government crop report issued yesterday.

The western portion of the province has a good crop generally, but some sections of the eastern parts have a much poorer return.

The Durum variety of wheat predominates in Southern Manitoba this year, very little Marquis wheat being sown.

In the Morden-Morris-Emerson area there is an old field of wheat cut, and despite some rust there will be a fairly good yield.

In eastern Manitoba there are cases of red rust, and some fields have a pretty liberal dose of black rust.

Almost everywhere, the report says, the fall rye crops that were above the standing water line in May are very good, and rye cutting is now in progress.

The oats crop has suffered from red rust, especially in southern Manitoba and in the Red River Valley.

The first car load of wheat for the season, of the Garnet variety, was shipped from the farm of E. Nikkel, near Rosenfeld, Man., yesterday.

TWO TRAINMEN KILLED IN CRASH

Engineer and Fireman Die When Train Hits Open Switch.

NEAR MILWAUKEE.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., August 12 (Canadian Press) — Two Milwaukee road employees, an engineer and a fireman, were killed early to-day when a fast train running between Minneapolis and Chicago struck an open switch west of Racine. Several others on the train were hurt. The engine and three baggage cars were wrecked as the speeding train struck the switch. The train was composed entirely of baggage cars, and carried no passengers.

NO PAVEMENT WILL BE LAID IN HAVELOCK

County Council Turns Down Most Tempting Offer From Village Fathers.

DELEGATION PRESENT

Seeks Grant of $20,000 to Pave Connecting Link on County Road Chain.

A delegation from Havelock Council, headed by Clerk T. P. Lancaster, asked that the County Council at their special session held at the Court House yesterday, pass a bylaw allowing that village to go ahead and pave the connecting link which consists of the main village street, and which joins the county roads on each side of the village.

The delegation made a most favorable presentation, but the county councillors could not see their way clear to grant the application.

The delegation asked that a grant of $20,000 be made to pave a 20-foot stretch on the connecting link and if the cost was under that amount the money would be refunded to the county. They also were authorized to promise to pay the interest on the $20,000 up until December, 1928, as the rates have been struck for this year and no money could be collected for this purpose until that date. They also promised to refund their county road grant for three years, which would amount to $900, and if the Department would permit, they would refund it for for five years.

Mr. Lancaster gave figures to show that in the past nine years Havelock had paid for road building $30,421, and on the connecting link $15,700 had been spent, and yet their streets were in a bad condition. He stressed the need of a permanent surface, and then offered one of the most tempting propositions that the county council have ever had put before them.

The council were of the opinion that as Havelock had been only one year in the county good roads system their ratepayers would be asking them why such a grant was made to a municipality that had paid practically nothing into the system.

On motion of Reeves Tanner and Montgomery, it was moved that Havelock's request be granted but the motion was lost, with the mover and seconder, and Reeves Scott and Breckenridge voting for the motion. Reeve Curtis of Havelock was not present as he is in Western Canada.

CANADIAN FLAG ON SEIZED SHIP

Trawler and 5,000 Cases of Liquor Is Confiscated.

VALUED AT $300,000.

NEW YORK, Aug. 11. —(UP). — Five thousand cases of liquor, valued at $300,000, were seized on a steam trawler fying th eCanadian flag by a coast guard patrol off Quarantine yesterday.

Papers listed the ship as the Sebastapol, of St. John's, Nfld. The name Westmoreland had been painted from its bow.

The trawler was first sighted last night near Gravesend Bay. When it arrived opposite Quarantine the patrol ordered it to stop.

Lloyd's register states that the Sebastopol was formerly the property of the Newfoundland government. Her present owner was not announced by the coast guard. The trawler was built in 1918 by the Canadian Car and Foundry company, at Fort William, Ont., her home port is St. John's, Nfld., and her dimensions are 135.6 feet length, 22.6 feet beam, 12-feet depth and 321 tons.

GERMAN PLANES TESTING RADIOS

Both Flying Well After Several Hours in the Air.

TO START TO-MORROW.

DESSAU, Germany, Aug. 12. — (Canadian Press). — Both junker trans-Atlantic planes were taken up this morning for the purpose of testing their radio receiving sets. The Bremen hopped off at 7.30 and the Europa at 11.35. At noon they were still in the air, and motors were working well. The fliers hope to get off on their ocean hop to-morrow evening at earliest. Their start is subject to weather, which is now rather stormy.

Relief from the distractions caused by airplanes flying over the church during Sunday services is sought by the consistory of a Grand Rapids, Mich., church in a complaint filed with the city authorities.

Princes Will Arrive Edmonton, Saturday

EDMONTON, Alta., Aug. 12.— (Canadian Press).—A big crowd of Edmontonians will be at the station at 10 o'clock Saturday morning. The Prince of Wales and his brother, Prince George will be arriving from the south at that hour and the government and civic authorities are arranging a programme for their one-day visit in the capital.

The visit to Edmonton has been included in the Prince's itinenary quite unexpectedly. It has come about through a request that Hon. R G. Reid, as acting premier, made of the Prince of Wales when he met him in Calargy. Knowing that the Prince of Wales was to spend as much time as possible on his ranch, Mr. Reid proposed a changed with diffidence, but he asked him if it wouldn't be possible for the royal pair to come to Edmonton and unveil the memorial tablets in the Parliament buildings.

BALTIC TOUR BY SEAPLANES IS DISCUSSED

British Papers Speculate on Attitude of Soviet To Cruise.

OBSERVANCE RECALLED.

Flight May Be Taken As Answer To Recent "Chamberlin" Week.

LONDON, Aug. 12 —(United Press) —There is much curiosity here regarding the Soviet Government's attitude to the Baltic Cruise of three British seaplanes which, after, visiting Esbejerg and Copenhagen, will go to Helsingfors, the nearest point to Russia. It is recalled that the Union of Soviet Republics recently celebrated "Chamberlin Week" as a retort to Great Britain's action in breaking off relations and for the expressed purpose of obtaining funds for "defence" against the latter country.

Therefore, because of the present situation, it is believed that Russia will interpret the cruise of the British seaplanes as a threat against herself and an assurance to the neighbouring countries that while the Reds may talk about their future in the air, the British already are well able to take good care of themselves.

In the fall as a demonstration of British aviation activity four machines of the metal-hulled type will undertake a 25,000 mile cruise to the Far East via India, Singapore and Australia.

BRITISH PRESS PARTY ARRIVES

Ninety-sevon Newspapermen From Three Countries Will Tour Dominion.

AT QUEBEC NOW.

QUEBEC, August 12 (Canadian Press). — Ninety-seven newspapermen, members of newspaper societies of Britain, arrived in the city on board the Montrose last night. They landed from the ship this morning, and proceeded to the Chateau Frontenac, where they will make their headquarters during their stay in Quebec.

The party, the largest of its kind ever to visit Canada, will travel all over the country collecting first-hand information on the possibilities offered for the settlement and investment of British capital in the Dominion. The newspapermen represent the press of all parts of England, Scotland and Wales.

W. Rupert Davies, Kingston, Ont., and Roy Sales, Renfrew, Ont., are conducting the party on a tour across the continent.

The president of the English Newspaper Society, John S. King, of the West Middlesex Gazette, is leader of the party. Many British papers are represented in what is the most comprehensible and representative group of newspapermen ever to visit this country. Many of the party are accompanied by wives and daughters. After visiting almost every part of the Dominion, the party will leave Canada on the Montclaire, sailing from Montreal on September 9.

Four Children Killed Car Struck By Train

RICHFORD, Vt., August 12 (Canadian Press). — Mr. and Mrs. William Stongs, of Dunkin, Quebec, saw their four children killed late yesterday when the family touring car in which all were returning home was struck by a north-bound Canadian Pacific express train at an East Richford grade crossing.

Three Persons Hurt When Cars Collide

May Pollock, Jessie Hill and Stanley Willis Are in Nicholls Hospital Suffering From Painful Injuries — Two Others Badly Shaken.

ACCIDENT OCCURS ON HIGHWAY SEVERAL MILES FROM PETERBOROUGH

Three local people, Miss May Pollock, Stanley Willis, and Jessie Hill, are in Nicholls Hospital as a result of a head-on collision occurring on the Provincial Highway about eight o'clock last night. Donald Hill and Mrs. Stanley Willis were also injured, but were able to go home. Miss Pollock is the worst injured, having her leg badly broken and bruised, while the others are cut about the head and body.

All are members of the Knox Church Choir, and had been attending the annual choir picnic at Cobourg. Stanley Willis, driver of the car, attempted to pass another automobile at a point between Fraserville and Springville, and failed to see a car coming in the opposite direction till it was too late to swing back into his former position. The impact was so hard that the two cars locked together, smashing both the machines beyond repair. The front seat of the Willis automobile was completely broken off.

Immediately after the accident, the injured were rushed by motor into the city and taken to Nicholls Hospital, where they were given medical attention by Doctors Neal, Howson, and Eastwood.

In the rest room at the hospital late last night sat the friends and relatives of the injured waiting for word of how badly they were hurt. Solemn faced, they could only think of how such a pleasant day had been so sadly ended by the catatrophe.

Hundreds of cars crowded the Highway immediately following the accident, and traffic was not restored to normalcy for about an hour. The driver of the other car was Miss Burnham of Millbrook, and a lady driving with her was badly cut by the glass in the windshield.

The condition of Miss Pollock is still very serious, while all the occupants of the car are suffering from severe shock.

The cars were removed from the Highway late last night.

STOLEN SILVER FUR COAT ARE FOUND HIDDEN IN SWAMP

"Nungesser" Message Regarded As a Fake

Canadian Press Service.

WATERTOWN, N.Y., Aug. 12. —A bottle containing a message signed "Nungesser and Coli," picked up on wednesday on the shore of Lake Ontario at Pillar Point is believed by local authorities to be the work of a practical joker.

The note, in a rubber-corked bottle, which was identified as a French wine container, was inscribed "Tout Le Monde, 72 degrees, 11 minutes longtitude; 50 degress, 11 minutes latitude."

The position given is about 350 miles north of Quebec.

Henry Thornton Surrenders Goods Concealed in Large Lard Pail.

BEETON CASE.

Left At His House Day Before Forsythe Met His Death.

HOLLAND LANDING, Aug. 12.—Hidden behind a stump under a brush pile in a swamp in the fourth concession of West Gwillimbury Township, a large lard pail containing a fur coat and several pieces of silver, loot stolen by the gang operating in the Beeton district during recent months, was uncovered by provincial officers yesterday.

Inspectors Stringer, Rae and Gurnett went to Cookstown yesterday afternoon and secured Henry Thornton, who was at work in a lumber yard, and the party proceeded immediately to the swamp, which runs through the centre of the township.

After travelling some miles along the rough swamp road, Thornton pointed out a spot where he thought he had "planted" some loot, which he said the late Dan Forsythe had left at his home a day or two before he met his death at the Hodge farm.

Lost Bearings.

When he started through the bush he was about a quarter of a mile out in his bearings. He told the officers that the stuff had been buried in a big pail at the foot of a pine stump, and after about 15 minutes search, yelled "this looks like the stump."

The party spread out, and after some minutes of careful searching around the spot a newspaperman stumbled into a hole, and on investigation found a hundred pound lard pail, with the lid nailed on, at the bottom of the hole. When pulled out the pail was found to contain a woman's seal coat, five silver knives, ten forks, eight teaspoons, one fruit spoon, one dessert spoon, and a revolver, which Thornton said had not been used for twenty years and was apparently his property.

"This stuff was brought to my house a few days before Dan Forsythe's death. I didn't buy it," said Thornton. "The day after he was killed I was afraid to have it around the place so I took it into the swamp and buried it."

In reply to questions from the officers Thornton declared that Forsythe was not at his home on the day he met his death. He stated he had known him for about two years and by the name of Thompson.

No charge has been laid by the police against Thornton.

BAND CONCERT

By permission of the chairman of the Parks Committee, the usual concert of the Peterborough Rangers will be postponed from Friday evening to Sunday evening, owing to the band being engaged to play for the Community Dance given by the Canadian General Electric Social Club.

The programme for Sunday night's concert will be given in Saturday night's Examiner.

BRITISH SHIP TONNAGE LESS

Germany and Italy Show Increases—U. S. Has Decrease.

LOSS THIS YEAR

At the end of June, 1927, Great Britain and Ireland owned motor ships and steamers of 19,179,000 gross tons and sailing vessels of 129,990 gross tons, in all 19,308,990 tons, as compared with 19,399,790 tons owned at the end of June last year. On the other hand, according to advices just received by Bankers Trust Company of New York from its British Information Service, world tonnage in existence at the end of June, 1927, was 408,340 tons greater than a year earlier. Steam and motor tonnage increased from 62,671,930 gross tons in 1926 to 63,267,300 in 1927, over 595,300 tons, while sailing tonnage decreased by about 186,800 gross tons, amounting at the end of June of this year to 1,925,600 tons.

The countries showing the largest increases in tonnage are Germany and Italy, where the increase amounted to 252,120 tons and 242,750 tons, respectively. Of the vessels under the United States flag there was a decrease of 208,480 tons, due to the large number of vessels which have been broken up. In Great Britain and Ireland the decline in registered tonnage amounted to 90,770 tons, as compared with a decrease during the year ended June 30, 1926, of 40,910 tons. At the present time Great Britain owns but 30.3 per cent. of the world's total motor and steam tonnage, as against 41.6 per cent. owned in 1914.

At the present time there is nearly as much tonnage building outside of the United Kingdom as before the war, against a shortage of about 500,000 tons in England, according to advices just received by Bankers Trust Company of New York from its British Information Service. The present situation in ship construction is best shown from the table which follows, giving the tonnage launched and commenced in Great Britain in each of the four quarters in the last twelve months, that is, from the second month of the coal stoppage up to the end of June:

British Shipping Returns in Gross Tons.

	Launched	Commenced
Third quarter, 1926	207,741	68,327
Fourth quarter, 1926	67,853	152,404
First quarter, 1927	127,747	579,839
Second quarter, 1927	268,545	537,112

These figures show what a very small amount of tonnage was launched in the last quarter of 1926, owing to the coal strike, but as a result of the conclusion of the stoppage a large volume of new orders appeared, and continued in the first three months of 1927, but in the last three months new orders have fallen off in Great Britain, though continuing to increase abroad. The results, therefore, is that work in hand abroad exceeds work in hand in Great Britain, the respective figures being 1,450,100 tons and 1,390,380 tons.

BARN RAISING HELD

Michael Harrington of King's Wharf Builds Fine New Structure.

KING'S WHARF, Aug. 12. — On Monday afternoon Mr. Michael Harrington raised his barn, a very fine one on a stone foundation.

Although the weather was unfavorable, a very large crowd was present, and the barn went up fine. A lunch was afterwards served by the ladies, and it proved a very enjoyable day for all. Mr. Joseph Gooslaw was the contractor.

MANY ATTEND WATER REGATTA AT RICE LAKE

Annual Event at Serpents Mounds Held Under Ideal Weather Conditions.

BASEBALL GAME.

Races Provide Many Thrills To Participants and Spectators.

Serpents Mound Regatta, an event looked forward to annually by cottagers of the Rice Lake District and the people of Keene was held yesterday under almost perfect weather conditions.

Immediately after dinner over two hundred automobiles were assembled in the field or Mounds in front of the lake. Hundreds of people lined the shores waiting for the races that provided many thrills and enjoyment to both the participants and the spectators.

The following are the results of the races:

1. Ladies' Single Canoe — Miss Amys, 2 Miss A. Heiderman.

The prizes for this race were a gold bag and a velvet bag.

Men's single canoe—1 Zac Smoke, cherry paddle; 2 Bill Smoke, spruce paddle.

Ladies' tandem canoe—1 Mrs. Blaker and Miss Beaver, two cushions; 2 Miss A. Amys and Miss A. Heiderman, cream and sugar sets.

Men's tandem canoe— Jack and Zac Smoke, two cushions; 2 Bill Smoke and Frank Grey, lazybacks.

Ladies' skiff race—1 Miss A. Heiderman; 2 Miss T. Wedlock, winners of a cherry paddle and flashlight.

Mixed tandem — 1 Frank Grey and Mrs. Blaker, paddles; 2 Jack Amys and Miss A. Amys, lazybacks.

Men's gunwale race— 1 Jack Simpson, spruce paddle, 2 W. Smoke, flashlight.

Men's skiff race— 1 Bert Adams; 2 Ivan Fletcher, special race.

Motorboat race— (8 h.p.)— 1 Mr. Manross, 2 A. Rockwell, Peterborough

There was a demonstration of surf riding by Mrs. M. Manross and many other girls took part in this thrilling sport, including Miss Claire Patterson of Peterborough.

Following the races a ball game was played between Keene and Curve Lake, the former winning by 17-4. Curve Lake supporters spirits were high in the first innings when their home team scored the first run of the day but these were soon doomed when Keene came to bat, and then maintained the lead right to the conclusion of the game. M. Taylor, pitching for the losers was steady but he was unsupported in the outfield.

The following is the line-up:

Curve Lake— A. Johnston, c; C. McKew, rf; M. Taylor, p.; L. McKew cf.; C. Taylor, 2nd; W. Jacobs 3rd.; G. McKew 1st; P. Knott ss.; Z. Taylor lf.

Keene— J. McCarthy ss; T. Whalen cf.; A. Fletcher 2nd; O. McCarthy c; M. Robertson p.; M. McCarthy 1st, J. Fletcher lf; M. Renwick 3rd; E. McCarthy rf.

WHERE WILL I GO?

In Canada it is not "Where may I go?" for my summer holiday, it is "Where will I go?" In the multiplicity of places available for Canadians to spend their summer vacation, it is usually desirable to select new scenes each year. Why not visit the "Highlands of Ontario" this year? Muskoka Lakes, Lake of Bays and Georgian Bay afford such a variety of interests that not an idle moment need be spent, or if quiet, restful places are desired they are easily found. There is abundance of excellent hotel accomodation available at moderate prices where all summer pastimes may be indulged in, golf, tennis, fishing, swimming, boating, etc. If a canoe or camping trip appeals, many ideal trips can be suggested. Tourist's Missing Coat Located by Post Office

WOODSTOCK, August 12. — Not all tourists are as fortunate as Mark L. Osgood, postmaster of Monroe, Mich., who left his overcoat in Woodstock, several weeks ago, and is having it returned to him by mail.

Mr. Osgood, with his wife, visited a local restaurant, the name of which they subsequently forgot, and Mr. Osgood neglected to remove his coat from a hook after the meal. There was no identification of the owner on the garment itself but the local post office received a letter from Mr. Osgood describing the coat and asking that it be located. It was found, and the post office authorities are returning the coat.

NORTHERN TROOPS CAPTURE PENGPU

Nanking Expected Soon To Fall Before Advance of Nationalists.

SHANGHAI, Aug 12 (United Press) Northern forces under General Sun Chuan-Pang have captured Pengpu and yesterday were reported battling toward Nanking, which was expected to fall shortly.

Nanking was captured several months ago by the Nationalist forces under General Chiang Kai-Shek. Since then, however, the Nationalist factions have split into left and right wings, with Chiang at the head of the right wing.

Shanghai, also held by the Nationalists, was not believed endangered for the present. The Yangtze Valley was comparatively quiet.

It was denied officially yesterday that Chiang Kai-Shek had been wounded. The government statement said he was at Nanking Wednesday, where he welcomed the Japanese minister.

Protects Missionaries

PEKIN, Aug. 12.—Marshal Chang Tso-Lin, dictator of North China yesterday promised protection for foreign missionaries in the area controlled by him so long as they did not meddle in politics.

"Foreign missionaries in the territory in my jurisdiction," said Chang, "never had occasion to worry over my attitude toward them. I have always sought to protect them. "If the missionary meddles in Chinese politics he is outside of his sphere, and if he meets difficult situations, he has only himself to blame."

PRINCE INSPECTS ALBERTA RANCH

Spends Whole Day Quietly Sauntering Over His Pekisko Ranch.

CALGARY, Alta., August 12 (Canadian Press). — Adhering rigidly to his intention His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales spent the whole of yesterday morning in quietly sauntering over his Pekisko Ranch, and after lunch continued his inspection. The weather was brilliantly fine, and His Royal Highness is thorough enjoying his rest.

Some of the members of the party went on long hikes in the foothills and otherwise spent the morning in a free and easy manner admiring the splendid scenery at the ranch.

The Prince is taking a pardonable pride in the live stock, in which he is manifesting much interest. From time to time he expressed his satisfaction with the progress that was being made and with the many improvements that have been carried out.

It was stated that H.R.H. plans to spend the remainder of the day in this quiet manner, and also on Friday morning. In the afternoon he will motor to Calgary to extend a welcome as an Alberta rancher to Prime Minister Baldwin, who addresses a mammoth gathering of citizens shortly after 7 p.m.

The wild goats of Guadalupe Island have learned to climb trees in search of foliage. Overpopulation has also caused them to turn to seaweed and tree-bark for food.

OBITUARY.

JOHN ANDERSON.

WARSAW, Aug. 12.—One of the oldest residents of this district, Mr. John Anderson, passed away at noon on Sunday. He had been in failing health for some time, and on Thursday morning he fell, but neither he nor any of the family were sure whether he had just stumbled or had fallen from weakness. His son helped him up, but shortly after dinner became very weak and was assisted to bed, but he did not gain. By Friday morning he was very quiet, and just slept away at noon on Sunday.

He was eighty-seven years of age, and was born in South Dummer, but for some years has lived on the farm in Douro, on the boundary, where he passed away.

He was a member of the Baptist Church, was one who had helped build the church edifice in Warsaw, and will be much missed by the congregation here.

His brothers, Duncan and Archibald, also his sisters, Mrs. Rose, Mrs. Daniel Kidd, Mrs. Washington Reid and Mrs. Hawthorne, all passed away many years ago.

He married Charlotte Edwards. To the couple were born three children, Wallace, with whom he lived, Frederick, who lived in Peterborough and died over a year ago, and Mrs. John Crowe, Douro.

He was a man very highly respected by all who knew him. The funeral service was held on Tuesday, Aug. 9, in Warsaw Church, which was filled, many having to remain outside. The Rev. Mr. Eikenar conducted the service. The hymns sung were, "Abide With Me" and a favorite of his, "Safe in the Arms of Jesus." Mr. Rufus Payne sang, "The Valley of Peace."

In his address the pastor said it was not for him to eulogize the dead, but he would tell it all in the words, "He was a Christian." As such he was spoken of by others, and he had found him so. His faith and trust were simple and child-like.

There were very many flowers from friends and relatives.

The bearers were four great-nephews, William and James Hawthorne and David and Alex. Rose, also two nephews of his wife, Arthur and Allan Edwards.

The interment was in Warsaw Cemetery, and Mr. Eikaner conducted the service there also.

WINNIPEG WHEAT.

WINNIPEG, August 12. — Values fluctuated erratically on the Grain Exchange yesterday. In the first hour wheat jumped nearly 3 cents on active buying by export houses. This was followed by a wave of selling orders, carrying values down to below the previous close. The situation remained steady for a time and in the final hour the market showed signs of recovering, only to sag again. Closing quotations were ¼c to ½c lower, October at $1.51½, December at $1.47¾, May at $1.52 bid.

The Government crop report had no effect on the trade as a whole, but outside interests construed it as bullish.

Trading in May option began yesterday, the opening being $1.54, compared with $1.45⅝ a year ago, on the first trading day.

Oat prices were boosted 4c when short interests rushed to get their requirements. Flax went up slightly.

Cash markets were without feature.

NEW ADMIRAL LOOKS LIKE KING

Sir Charles Madden is Frequently Mistaken for Monarch.

HEADS BRITISH FLEET

LONDON, Aug. 12 (United Press). —Admiral of the Fleet, Sir Charles Edward Madden, well known as a "double" of King George, officially assumed charge of the entire British Fleet this month. Sir Charles succeeds Admiral of the Fleet, Lord Beatty, who retired as First Sea Lord of the Admiralty.

The resemblance to the King of the new "Skipper"—as he is known to naval men—is even more convincing than can be seen from photographs. It has long been the source of many navy jokes and stories.

By far the most striking of these stories comes from naval sources and its authenticity is generally accepted. According to the best accounts, when King George spent a week with the Fleet at Scapa Flow not long after the Battle of Jutland, he attended a ceremony on board the battleship Queen Elizabeth to present numerous members of the staff and crew with medals. A band was waiting on the quarter deck for the signal to strike up with the National Anthem upon the King's arrival.

Much to the surprise of everyone present a heavily bearded person, bedecked with much gold braid and trimmings suddenly appeared on the staircase leading to the deck. The bandmaster immediately saluted and turned to the band and led it to the tune of "God Save the King." The person who entered was Sir Charles Madden and the bandmaster had the National Anthem repeated an hour later when the King actually arrived.

Sir Charles once served as First and Principal Aide-de-Camp to the King and on several occasions when he attended a function before the King arrived to see that everything was properly arranged, the crowd assembled would arise and cheer, thinking that the King had arrived early.

The new First Sea Lord was born in 1862 and joined the Navy in 1875 Throughout his career he has always been closely associated with both Lord Jellicoe and Lord Beatty and has followed well on each's heels up through the ranks of the Navy.

In 1905 he married Constance Cayzer sister of Lady Jellicoe.

Sir Charles took his first position of any consequence in the Admiralty in 1910, when he became Fourth Sea Lord with the rank of Captain. A year later he was appointed a Rear Admiral in the Home Fleet—his first flag position.

At the outbreak of the war Madden was Chief of Staff to Lord Jellicoe, who was then Commander-in-Chief of the fleet, and he later served with Beatty at Jutland, the latter highly commending him in despatches following the battle.

From 1919 to 1922 Madden served as Commander-in-Chief of the Atlantic Fleet.

It is noteworthy that Madden did more in the development of the very valuable depth bomb than anyone else in the Navy.

During an engagement between a cruiser during the war and a German submarine, Sir Charles aboard the cruiser observed the submarine firing a torpedo. He watched the course of the torpedo through the water and conceived the idea of the depth charge. He immediately set to work on the idea and the depth bomb was evolved.

Sir Charles is a keen sportsman and is very fond of golf. Several years ago he purchased an estate close to the well known Forest Row Golf Course in order that he might spend more time in developing his taste for golf.

DOCTORS MEET AT PAVILION

Hastings County Medical Association Combines Business and Pleasure.

MARMORA, Aug. 12. — Hastings County Medical Association decided on Crowe Lake this year as the venue for its picnic and August meeting and delightful weather marked the occasion. Members with their wives and families participated in the social event.

In the early portion of the day, boating, fishing and bathing proved pleasing diversions. In the afternoon bridge was played and then an excellent tea served, the regular monthly meeting of the society was held and interesting papers given by two of the leading physicians of Eastern Ontario.

Dr. Eastwood, of Peterborough, digressed on "Enlarged Thymus in Infancy." Dr. G. Stobie, of Belleville, dealt with Carcinoma of the Colon—its diagnosis and treatment." From 8.30 till midnight dancing was held in Marble Cliff Pavilion for the party.

EGG MARKETING IN CENTRAL ONTARIO

Work of Campbellford and Millbrook Circles Praised by Ottawa Man.

(By J. B. Spencer, Ottawa.)

Many good farming sections of Ontario are making fine progress in egg production. All the farms have for years had their poultry flocks but recently this branch of their work has been given increasing importance by improvements that have been made in egg marketing. Years ago through the efforts of the Live Stock Branch of the Department of Agriculture, Ottawa, egg circles were organized and these continue to operate. In the Campbellford district they have been going for fifteen years and in Millbrook, another prominent egg marketing centre, over a slightly longer time. The districts surrounding these two prosperous towns have been given special attention by the District Poultry Promoter of the Live Stock Branch, who has taken an active part in all poultry promotion movements, and in the organization of short course schools at which all phases of poultry raising were given attention.

The Campbellford marketing centre has been doing a fair amount of trading for several years, but it was not until 1923 that definite progress was made beyond the pioneer work of preparation. In the spring of that year a general reorganizing was seen to be necessary. The circle adopted a new constitution which involved a binding marketing agreement with the membership. By the end of the year the membership had increased 300 per cent. Not only were the local store egg prices forced up during the season, but the circle had accumulated almost $700 net profits for dividend among the members at the end of the season. The following year the membership again tripled and the cash value of the eggs shipped amounted to more than $18,000, returning a net profit at the end of the season of $1,279.0.

Last year additional members were added, and when the season had closed 64,520 dozens of eggs had been shipped away to the best available markets.

The manager of the circle, Mr. Thomas H. Rowe, has adopted the modern practice of operating a grading station. The eggs are delivered twice a week and frequently the traffic in front of the station is so

A.Y.P.A. PICNIC MUCH ENJOYED

Even Showers Fail to Halt Big Program of Sports.

MANY IN ATTENDANCE

Wallace's Point, one of Peterborough's neighboring summer resorts, was the scene of the annual picnic of Peterborough District Council, A. Y. P. A., on August 4. It was a fine, cool day, and between 4 and 5 p.m. members of the different branches began to arrive. An exciting softball match was staged by Millbrook and Lakefield branches, the struggle terminating in victory for the former team. At six o'clock a hungry crowd gathered around a huge table, which was loaded with an almost indescribable assortment of good things to eat. The gay chatter and care-free laughter which continued throughout the meal were evidences of typical A.Y. P.A. liveliness.

The next great event was the carrying out of the sports programme. Needless to say, all events were keenly contested. There were foot races, sack races, long jumps and novelty contests designed to test the abilities of all comers. Towards the end of the events dark clouds came up from the west, and large drops of rain began to fall, but A.Y.P.A. ardor was not so easily dampened, and enthusiasm waxed as high as ever. The final event was a tug-of-war between branches when St. Luke's, Peterborough, triumphed in the test of endurance. The prizes were distributed in the pavilion, after which many of the members danced to the music supplied by different members. Thus was added one more successful number to the list of successes in the annals of the Peterborough District Council, A.Y.P.A.

MAP MAKING NEEDS CARE

Several Operations To Be Done On Vari-Colored Sheets.

SHRINKAGE COUNTS.

One of the principal map making establishments of the Dominion Government is the Topographical Survey Department of the Interior, at Ottawa, where are prepared and published topographic maps covering widely scattered portions of this Dominion. In publishing a new map all available information of the country is, of course, secured and where some of this has been obtained by other survey organizations, credit is given in the publishing note.

The printing of a map involves several processes. It must first be drawn on good paper, preferably backed so as not to stretch or shrink with changes of weather or moisture. If more than one colour is to be used in the printing a separate sheet is drawn for the information represented by each colour.

These sheets are then photographed and the negative printed on zinc plates or in some cases on lithographic stones. The plates or stones are put in the printing press and the map is printed from them.

Where more than one colour is used, the map has to be run through the press for each colour, and it is very important that the sheets fit the plates correctly so as to get the additional colours on the map in their proper places. For instance main highways are usually printed in red; on the map these red lines must be exactly in the right places. So also for the blue colour in which water features are shown and the brown for contours or form lines. Herein lies the chief difficulty in printing maps in colours.

Where an issue of several thousand copies is being run, it is necessary to print all the copies in one colour at a time, and while these are drying the ink is washed off the press and the next colour got ready. If the weather changes, especially if the air gets damp, the sheets of paper stretch or shrink, and trouble is encountered in making the next colour fit exactly where it should.

A list of the maps, plans, and publications of this organization may be obtained upon application from the Topographical Survey, Department of the Interior, Ottawa.

LARGE FREE PORT IS BEING PLANNED

International City Will Embrace 700 Square Miles at Border.

NEW YORK, N. Y., Aug. 6. — (Canadian Press). — The Journal of Commerce prints the following story from Buffalo, N. Y.—Plans to create a unique industrial free port, the first free port in America, to be known as International City and to embrace 700 square miles of territory on both sides of the frontier, are being matured here.

Scores of committees, chambers of commerce, officials and business leaders have united in the project. Buffalo, as the metropolitan center of the area, is the nucleus, but the movement embraces even the agricultural back lands on both sides of the Niagara River.

Plans as announced contemplate the creation of a free port that would mean pushing back the customs lines to the boundaries of the International City. The new city would not be a municipality, as such, but would be autonomous in all its component parts. The purpose, as announced in all meetings is solely to effect an association of committees to the end of a huge industrial area organized to increase population, bring in new plants and enlarge the army of employed.

As tentatively mapped, International City will have an area of 400 square miles on the American side of the Niagara River and 300 on the Canadian side. Its western boundray in Canada is a line running north from Lake Erie to Lake Ontario, just west of the Welland canal and is parallel with the general course of the canal between the two lakes. In New York State the line is parallel with the Niagara River and five miles inland from Lake Ontario to Niagara Falls, then east to Pendleton, South to Tonawanda, east to Clarence, south to Sardinia and west to Lake Erie.

The territory begins with a present population of almost 1,000,000, more than one-half of which is in Buffalo. Increase of population, of course, is one of the first purposes of the enterprise. Port Erie, Ontario, just across from Buffalo, is particularly keen in this direction. International City's transportation facilities include 13 trunk line railroads, a fine system of highways and 200 miles of waterfront with facilities on both lakes, the Welland and Barge canals and the Niagara and Buffalo rivers. The Peace Bridge between Buffalo and Bridgburg, Ont., has given great impetus to the scheme.

HERE'S AN IDEA THAT WORKS.

A few years ago Prof. I. A. Roehm, of the Department of Modern Languages in Peabody Teachers' College, Nashville, Tenn., conceived a bright idea. "What is the use of having pupils drudge over dry and pointless exercises when they might get the enthusiasm of living language study by correspondence with students across the sea?"

Accordingly, he obtained permission from the French Government to try his plan and got into touch with some French school teachers, who furnished names of their pupils willing to correspond with young people in the United States. The scheme made an immediate hit. There was a fascination in receiving the letters with foreign postmarks and their contents written in the foreign language took an interest which the textbook never could impart to the study.

Now it is estimated that fully 30,000 persons in all parts of the world are corresponding in various languages.—Detroit News.

COLD TO ABIE'S ROSE.

Our confidence in the innate good taste of the English people and their sound sense of values has been buttressed by the report that "Abie's Irish Rose" has fallen flat, drooping in the foreign soil of the London theatre to which it was transported.

At the same time the American news announced a few days ago that Anne Nicholls' play had clicked off another round figure up in the two millions. We have forgotten the exact, staggering number, whether it was two or ten or twenty, but we recall it closely enough to say that it was a painfully imposing, tremendous total.

The most of those millions were piled up in the country of Abie and his Rose since its premiere on May 23, 1922. And Canada must blushingly acknowledge its contribution of proportionate thousands, indicating the extent of the influence of movies, comic strips, tabloids and other meretricious agencies that did the spade work in this country for the Nicholls opus.

Apparently, however, it leaves the London theatregoers cold. They see its insincerity and vulgarity, and decline to emulate America's approval and envy her greatest theatrical success.

For it has been a success, that is at the box-office, an overwhelming unmatchable success, measured by the reliable rule Tex Rickard applies to prize fights.

WHAT'S THEIR SECRET?

How do they manage it, those French shopkeepers who close their stores all during August and take their families for a restful holiday in the country or at some watering place?

Such a desertion of business for a whole month is an utter refutation of one of the cardinal principles in the go-getter's bright but jig-sawed lexicon of success.

What about the August quota? How does it compare with last August and all the Augusts?

Imagine a yearly statement with an entire month missing, a reckless blank with no francs accounted for it; just a line extending across to the right hand edge of the ledger replacing a nest of naughts.

Think of all the objections that could be hurled at such a custom! Wouldn't trade leave you; scatter around among your competitors? Wouldn't business as a whole suffer, and what would consumers do with stores shuttered for a solid month?

French merchants shrug their shoulders and depart, and the reporter who records this anomaly of business suggests that this is one of the relaxations which help to explain why so many elderly men are seen in France.

They love life and living, and safeguard nerves and general health by a long holiday, while Americans and Canadians drop off in the middle years, burnt out and broken by the pace they set and will not or can not slacken.

OUR AMERICAN VISITORS.

Automobiles from twelve States of the American Union were noticed on one of Peterborough's main streets a few days ago. Their license plates designated their origin.

Such a large representation is a cheerful emphasis of the extent of this year's invasion, and also reminds us that Peterborough as the hub of Central Ontario and the Kawartha Lakes district is a natural magnet for tourists when they go shopping.

As visitors and our guests, whom we should like to have come often and returning home to speak well of us, these Americans place a special duty on each and all of us from the individual citizen to the Premier of this Province. We must see to it that they are treated in that friendly receptive way that will leave a pleasant memory.

Our merchants may be depended upon to spread before our visitors the same prices they offer to our own people. Americans will not, we hope, go home from Canada as they have from Europe complaining of having been charged excessive prices, grousing of discrimination and of having been "gypped."

At the same time it might be well and certainly reassuring if Premier Ferguson quietly appointed an inspector, an unheralded plainclothesman, to visit resorts and to enquire into the accomodation, the prices and rates, and generally to investigate the conditions surrounding the special business our American friends have created here.

We are delighted to see so many visitors from across the border. Let us look after them, officially.

THE REAL BRITAIN.

Premier Stanley Baldwin has given to Canada and to the whole world, an absolutely new conception of the Great Britain of today. In a series of speeches that in many respects have no parallel in the history of the Empire, he has pictured a nation old in glorious traditions, tried in adventure and the cruicible of war, unbowed, undaunted, still climbing, though already on the heights. Nothing so inspiring has been heard from so authoritative a voice in our time. There are darker sides to the picture, but Baldwin does not minimize them. He gives the impression that the Motherland, leader as she is for the world in many great things, is pressing toward Lloyd George's ideal of a land fit "for heroes to live in." It was a happy choice that brought the British Premier to Canada with that great embassador of the Empire, the Prince of Wales, and his brother.

In a little while the Presidential election campaign will be in full swing in the United States. The unexpected decision of President Coolidge not to be a candidate again has precipitated the preliminaries. Proximity and intercourse make that campaign of interest to Canada even if tariff and trade issues should not be involved as is usual. In its progress there is certain to be more or less criticism of Britain and Britain's course in various matters including the Geneva tripartite naval discussion. A lot of that criticism will be harsh, the twister of the lion's tail being still a feature of American politics. This country can afford to ignore it all, or at least consider it in its true light of politics, knowing that, in the main, the American people are friendly alike to Britain and Canada. But if, at times, our own pessimists are inclined to stress too much the doleful pictures of the star spangled banner spell-binders, then the rest of us may turn with pleasure to a recalling or a re-reading of the speeches that Premier Stanley Baldwin is now making. There we shall be able to again visualize the real Britain, a model to us, a model to the world, and the keynote of the Empire that is just beginning to awaken to its own potentialities.—Brantford Expositor.

FALSE PROPHETS.

In recent days leaders of the Russian Soviet have appeared before their countrymen in the role of prophets. Old Testament prophets were frequently called upon to predict difficult and often disastrous times lying ahead of their country. With this exception, all resemblance ends between the ancient and the modern prophets. Everywhere the people of Russia are being told that a "capitalist war" against the Soviet is inevitable. Britain is pictured as the arch-conspirator and directing force behind the menace. Fantastic as it may seem to us, it almost appears as if these Bolshevik preachers believe their own vicious propaganda.

There are two reasons why it should be so.

In the first place, the newspapers of Continental Europe generally express, and for months have expressed, the view that Britain is building up around Russia an anti-Soviet ring. Moscow has only to quote from the papers of the capitalistic countries to convince her people that there is being created something akin to an anti-Russian alliance.

In the second place, the Russian leaders in their present belief are the victims of their own doctrines. Lenin was the great modern apostle of Karl Marx. Lenin continuously preached the inevitability of war between capitalism and communism. In this connection it has been pointed out that Lenin dead is a vastly more dangerous force than Lenin alive. Lenin alive was a realist. When he found his utterances wrong or his theories unworkable, he could and did abruptly reverse them. But Lenin dead is exalted as a prophet. His every word is considered sacred. Therein lies a peril to world peace which will recede only according to the vision, patience and good-will of the statesmen and peoples outside Russia whose duty it is to prevent these prophecies from becoming facts.

MR. LARKIN, MR. BABSON AND CANADA'S TRADE WITH BRITAIN.

The Hon. P. C. Larkin, the Canadian High Commissioner to England, who has just landed in Canada on his annual visit, brings the good news that Canadian agricultural products have increased in quality and Canadian producers can now look for better prices in the British market. One of the greatest strides made by the Canadian producer, says Mr. Larkin, is in the packing of his goods, and he is careful to remind the Canadians that quality is after all the first requisite. The High Commissioner makes specific reference to Canadian bacon, and states that it is increasing in favor in England, and that if the Canadian farmer maintains the same high quality he need have no fear for the future.

We are much interested in Mr. Larkin's remarks, but unfortunately they do not seem to coincide with the latest report of Roger Babson, who enjoys an international reputation for correct statistics on trade. Mr. Babson on his chart dated August 2nd shows that Canadian bacon is in a very unsatisfactory state so far as the British market is concerned. Whereas in 1921, according to Mr. Babson, Canada sold in the British market 10,000 tons of bacon, the sales for the first seven months of 1927 indicate that this year we will sell less than 2,000 tons. On the other hand, the sales of Danish bacon in the British market have steadily increased, and while they were around 5,000 tons in 1921, this year they will probably reach 20,000 tons, and the sales of bacon from other countries will also total 10,000 tons.

If, as Mr. Larkin states, Canadian bacon is more highly respected in England now, than in the past, what is the reason for the very serious decline in sales? There is a big field for Canadian agricultural products in Great Britain. The Department of Trade and Commerce and the Empire Marketing Board combined, should be able to thoroughly develop this field. The bacon statistics, however, are discouraging, if Mr. Babson's chart is correct. This is a matter that should be looked into at once, for such a serious falling off in sales of bacon is bound to affect the price of hogs. So far it does not seem to be affecting the prices in this district, which are reported to be $4.00 to $6.00 a cwt., higher than any other part of Ontario Saturday. Nevertheless, unless the situation is rectified in England it is bound to have a detrimental effect in the Kingston district as elsewhere. —Kingston Whig-Standard.

CATTLE, GRAIN AND PRODUCE

Peterboro—Toronto—Montreal

TORONTO LIVESTOCK.

TORONTO, Ont., August 12. — With only three car loads of stock, made up of 95 hogs and 71 sheep, received at the Union Stock Yards yesterday, the final session for the week was featureless, prices being unchanged from the previous day. All classes of stock were well cleaned up.

Receipts for the week were 6,912 cattle, 1,333 calves, 2,663 hogs, and 3,583 sheep and lambs, compared with 5,763 cattle, 1,472 calves, 2,166 hogs, and 2,503 sheep and lambs last week.

There were some 2,000 stockers from Western Canada received on Monday. During the week choice butcher steers sold slightly stronger, prices bringing from $8.50 to $8.75, with a few at $9.00.

From $8.00 to $8.50 was secured for choice heifers which were in good demand. A few fancy ones sold at higher prices. Good steers and heifers were about steady with the previous week, selling at from $7.25 to $7.75; medium kinds, $6.50 to $7.00; common killers, $5.75 to $6.00. Choice fat cows sold readily at from $6.00 to $6.50, with good $5.25 to $5.75, medium to common, $4.25 to $5.00.

Baby beeves, which were rather scarce, sold from $11.00 to $12.00 for choice; good $9.00 to $10.00; medium $8.00 to $8.50. On Wednesday three fancy baby beeves sold at $13.00.

Steady prices were obtained for bulls in all classes. Most of the offerings were of the bologna type.

For springers and milkers there was a good demand during the week, choice springers bringing $90.00 to $100.00, with fancy cows up to $110.00. Choice milkers sold at from $75.00 to $90.00; good springers and milkers, $50.00 to $75.00.

With 2,000 stockers and feeders on the market, a large percentage of which were mixed breeds and very common quality, the prices ranged from $4.75 to $5.25 for the heifers, steers $5.50 to $6.25.

Lamb and Sheep.

Receipts for the week were 3,584 head. Choice ewes and wether lambs sold at 14½c, with a few choice at 14¾c; buck lambs 2c less. Yearling sheep brought 8c to 9c; choice butchers sheep, 6c to 7c; heavy fat sheep and bucks, 4c to 5c; cull sheep, 2c to 3c. A drop of 50c took place in the price of lambs on Wednesday, choice selling for 14c.

Calves during the week were strong.

MONTREAL GRAIN AND PRODUCE.

MONTREAL, Aug. 12 (Canadian Press). — A fair amount of business was done here yesterday with the United Kingdom and the Continent in American hard wheat, but there was no business transacted in Canadian grain.

The trade in cash grain was slow, there being little demand from either exporters or domestic buyers. While the undertone to the spot market was easier, there was no change in prices.

Owing to the steady demand of late for berth grain freight in the Montreal market the undertone has been stronger and rates to several United Kingdom ports have been advanced 1½d to 3d per quarter, while the rates to Havre for September loading have been up 2 cents per hundred pounds, and to Rotterdam one cent per hundred pounds.

The local and export trade in spring wheat flour showed some improvement and a moderate amount of business was worked at steady prices. Prices for winter wheat grades were firm under a fair inquiry.

The millfeed market continued active and firm. The market for standard grades of rolled oats was quiet and prices were unchanged.

The undertone to the egg market continued firm under a good demand from all sources. The receipts were 1,134 cases.

The trade in butter was quiet yesterday but values ruled steady. The receipts were 1,424 packages.

Owing to the continued indifferent demand from English importers for cheese, the undertone to the local market was inclined to be easier yesterday, and it was reported that sales of Western No. 1 colored waxed were made at 19¼c per pound. The receipts were 8,910 boxes.

CHICAGO CATTLE

CHICAGO, Aug. 12 (Canadian Press).—Cattle 10,000; new high on yearlings at $14.15 and 1,100 pound average $14.50; most fed steers $12 to $14; grassers and short fed $10.50 down to $9.00; stockers active and higher at $7.25 to $8.50; outsiders paying upward to $16 for vealers on late round.

Hogs 14,000; top $10.90; bulk good and choice 140 to 200 points $10.50 to $10.85; 220 to 250 pounds $9.50 to $10.40; numerous sales 250 to 280 pound butchers late $8.50 to $9.10; most packing sows $7.25 to $7.65; bulk desirable slaughter pigs $9.50 to $10.

Sheep 17,000; bulk rangers $14 to $14.25; rangers $13.50 to $14; lightly sorted; culls $9 to $9.50; bulk fat native ewes $6 to $7; most feeding lambs $12.75 to $13.25.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, Aug. 12 (Canadian Press).—Sudden onslaughts of selling overwhelmed buyers in the grain markets yesterday and prices underwent a sharp setback after having reached highest levels yet this season. Reactions were ascribed largely to a rush to grab profits and to bearish effect of weakness in the New York stock market. Increasing black rust damage together with likelihood of widespread abandonment of corn acreage explained the earlier price bulges.

Wheat closed unsettled 1c to 1¾c net lower; corn 2½c to 2¾c off; oats ¾c to 1c and 1¼c down, and provisions showing 2 to 15c decline.

Corn prices rose to 13¼c a bushel over last week's lowest level. Subsequent setbacks were regarded in many quarters as natural in view of recent sharp upturns. Oats duplicated the action of corn and wheat. Threshing returns northwest continued unfavorable. Provisions were minus any aggressive support.

STERLING EXCHANGE.

A Thought For To-day

A BIT OF VERSE.

Here is a bit of verse that the man with more money than real happiness will read and re-read and then say to himself: "Gosh I would give all I've got to be back to my boyhood days and hear that rain on the roof."

"When the humid shadows hover
Over all the starry spheres,
And the melancholy darkness
Gently weeps in rainy tears,
What a bliss to press the pillow
Of a cottage-chamber bed,
And listen to the patter
Of the soft rain overhead."

When we reach resources, we want rest. When we get prosperity, we seek peace.

NEW FORD CAR TO BE OUT SOON

All Problems Overcome, Says Ford of Canada Official.

TO BE VERY FAST CAR.

FORD, Ont., August 11.—"All the problems concerning design and manufacture of the new Ford car have been solved," declared W. R. Campbell, vice-president and treasurer of the Ford Motor Company of Canada, Limited, in the course of an interview given here yesterday It was the first pronouncement that has been forthcoming since ,in May last, brief announcement of a new model was made, and is taken here to mean that the new model will soon be placed upon the market.

"The design of the new car has been carefully tested, and we are now completely satisfied with it.The design of the tools and machines for its production also has been completed. Many of these tools and machines are now ready for use. However the task of changing over the thousands of machines is an enormous one and there is the further necessity of increasing our productive capacity. A great deal of progress has been made in this work, and we are losing no time to complete it"

Questions asked Mr. Campbell about specifications of the new car elicited little information. He did, however, give the interviewer the first data that has been available from a company official. In reply to a query concerning rumours that the new car is capable of very high speed. Mr. Campbell said that it has been driven at 65 miles per hour, and that recently it maintained an average of 55 miles over a period of several consecutive hours. The latter test, he said, was on average roads, with turns and hills to contend with.

"Speed alone," he added, "is not a criterion of a car's value. There is nothing difficult about building a fast car. What had to be considered above speed was adaptability to road and climatic conditions throughout the Empire and in the foreign countries where we find our export markets.

Then, of course, there were the widely divergent conditions in Canada to take into account. We had, also to consider passenger and driver comfort, economical operation and maintainence, appearance, getaway and acceleration. All these problems have been carefully worked out, and we belive the public will approve our solution of them."

Asked to describe the appearance of the new car, Mr. Campbell merely said that "it will be all that could be desired."

MORE MEN PAID FOR MINE JOBS

Schumacher Hotel Keeper Faces Ten Charges of False Pretenses.

ONE MAN GAVE $50.

TIMMINS, Ont., August 11. — Ten further charges of receiving money by falsely representing that he could obtain employment for men at the Hollinger Mine have been laid against John Krancovitch, proprietor of the Schumacher Hotel. Due to Crown Attorney Caldbrick's failure to locate the mystery witness who was alleged to have paid fifty dollars to Krancovitch on behalf of Dan Petrovitch, the first case heard last week was dismissed. Yesterday His Worship heard further evidence when Marko Mahovliez appeared as complainant in the second of the charges.

Mahovliez testified that he had arrived at Schumacher on October 30, and that evening between ten and eleven o'clock he had paid fifty dollars to the accused in the presence of Frank and Math Mahovlicz. Marko claimed that he had asked Krancovitch if he could get a job for him, and received assurance that things could be "fixed" as had been done with previous men. The complainant also claimed that the accused had given him a slip of paper directed to John Jardine, employment manager of the Hollinger Mine, together with instructions to go to the employment office every day.

Altogether he had received two papers, both of which he had given to Jardine. He started to work at the mine on the 30th of December. He had heard from his fellow-countrymen that unless he paid fifty dollars to Krancovitch he would be unable to obtain employment.

The brother and cousin of the first witness largely corroborated the evidence, but conflicting testimony crept in when the interpreter stated that Krancovitch had promised to try to obtain a job, amending this after repeating the question to a definite assurance of work.

John Jardine, employment manager at the Hollinger Mine, when confronted with Marko Mahovliez, could not remember having received any letter from the complainant. He stated that he received a large number of letters, some of them unsigned, asking him to find work for various men. So far as he could rememebr, he had never had any notes from Krancovitch.

The Crown Prosecutor asked permission to produce a number of witnesses, but His Worship refused the application until he had first reached a decision as to whether a false pretence had been shown. He would give his decision on the one point on Wednesday next, before proceeding with the other charges.

SUCCESSFUL DANCER

God Child of Queen Mary Has Adopted Cabaret Work in London.

LONDON, Aug. 11 (Canadian Press).—"Elaine Lettor," a god-child of Queen Mary, has adopted West-end cabaret work, and is now at the New Princes' Frivolities. She is known as a dancer of some ability.

Miss Lettor spent her childhood in the atmosphere of the Court, her father, Richard Howlett, being Superintendent of the King's Wardrade. She took the stage name of Elaine Lettor and danced her way to success without revealing her real identity.

STONEY LAKE NEWS

STONEY LAKE, Aug. 11.—One of the most highly respected members of the Stoney Lake Cottagers' Association passed away last week in Toronto in the person of Henry Sutherland. Mr. Sutherland has been for more than twenty years a member of Stoney Lake's summer colony, his cottage, "Inglestane," is situated on the south-west point of Eagle Mount, and was a point of interest to many visitors to the lake, for Mr. Sutherland had a garden of which he was justly proud and which he loved to show to his friends. His simple tastes and integrity of character won him the regard of the community, and on every hand one hears expressions of regret that he will no longer be numbered with the summer residents. One and all feel that in the great beyond he has found still a fairer land than his beloved Stoney Lake.

The event of this week is the children's masquerade which has been introduced in recent years, and has grown in popularity and is now one of the most interesting events of the entire season. The little folks love it and the "dressing up," beloved by all children, and the parents live their own childhood again in the artless pleasure of the little ones. Adults with no small children foregather, they also being drawn by the irresistable lure of the pretty picture.

A troupe of Boy Scouts from Toronto, who are camping on the Kawartha Lakes, making a tour of the lakes, spending a few days at each of several points, boarded the Empress at Young's Point on Saturday, July 31, for the round trip, which they thoroughly enjoyed. A troupe of fine manly lads, their superb discipline was a pleasure to see, and the passengers on the boat thoroughly enjoyed their company. They whiled away part of the time with camp songs, which they and the passengers enjoyed alike.

The Sunday services in Juniper Island pavilion were in charge of Rev. J. S. Dowling, of Toronto, from July 10 to July 31, inclusive. From Aug. 7 to Aug. 28 Rev. Murdock McKinnon, D.D., of Toronto, will be in charge.

During the month of July Rev. P. R. Soanes, of Aurora, was in charge of the services in St. Peter's Church, and for the month of August Rev. H. P. Battersby is in charge.

WILL HOLD REGATTA NEXT WEDNESDAY

Trent River Committee Is Working Hard To Make Affair Success.

TRENT RIVER, Aug. 12.— Everyone is getting busy for the annual regatta to be held Wednesday, August 17th. The committee has met with splendid success in securing prizes donated by various merchants.

Mrs. W. W. Cummings, Toronto, and Mrs. (Dr.) J. Third, Kingston, who have been spending the week at the former's cottage, Belmont Lake, were visitors Tuesday with their aunt, Mrs. Charles French at "Beau Sejour."

The Misses Irene and Aileen McLernon, Dauphin, Man., and Josie Spencer, Frankford are visitors with Miss Winnifred Spencer.

The Misses Kathleen and Virginia McNichol have returned to Toronto from holidaying at "Sum-er-in."

There was an immense crowd from far and near assembled at "Whitehall Gardens" pavilion, Tuesday night to hear the unexcelled music by the Columbia Orchestra of Chemong Park Pavilion. "Whitehall Gardens" has been taken over by the management of Chemong Park Pavilion.

Rev. Mr. Glover, of Smithfield, called on friends Wednesday. Mr. Glover says Mrs. Glover and her mother, Mrs. Andrews, are fully recovered from the effects of their car accident some few weeks ago, while travelling near Foxboro.

Mr. George Patterson left for Galt Wednesday after spending a week with Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Nicol at "Restholme."

Mr. and Mrs. Bert Rose and little daughter Doris, Toronto, are spending this week at "Ye Olde Mill."

Mrs. Charlie Davidson and Miss Georgie, Campbellford, are at "Sunnyside."

MARMORA NEWS.

MARMORA, August 12th. — Mr. M. E. Grant motored from Orillia with a party of friends to spend Wednesday in town.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Grant of Detroit are visiting the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Grant.

HAMMER BLOW FATAL TO YOUTH

Midway Employee Sought in Connection With Death of Stratford Boy.

FIGHT AT SHOW CAUSE.

STRATFORD, August 12. — Howard Bain ,aged 21, of St. Mary's, died yesterday morning in the Stratford General Hospital ,the result, it is believed, of injuries he received when struck over the head by a hammer during the Old Boys' Re-union at St. Mary's.

The young man was admitted to the hospital on Saturday afternoon. Since then, attended by four doctors, he had fought a life and death struggle ,with death the final victor.

An inquest was imemdiately ordered ,and a jury was empanelled by Coroner Dr. Maxwell Fraser. After the body had been viewed, proceedings were adjourned until August 25.

Police Seek Antagonist.

In the meantime, police are seeking the man alleged to have thrown a hammer at young Bain after a row, in which several young men are said to have taken part during the early hours of Sunday, July 31. Details of the fight, in which the young man received the fatal injuries, are meagre. On the night previous, with several companions, Bain had been at the midway of the Dalzell Amusement Company in St. Mary's during the Old Boys' Re-union week. Several of them remonstrated with an employee of the midway for the careless manner in which he was driving his motor-cycle through the crowds, but nothing further was done.

Later, however, the motor-cycle rider is said to have gathered a gang of fellow-employees ,and attacked the group of young St. Mary's men. A fight ensued, and it was either during it, or after, a hammer was thrown at young Bain, and his forehead was cut open . Several of his companions were also cut.

Thought Injury Slight.

The young man thought nothing of his injuries at the time, although he had them dressed . During the next day he was around, but on Monday night he felt ill, and visited a doctor, who ordered him home to bed. The effects of his injuries became more serious during the week-end, and on Saturday afternoon he was brought to the hospital here, and four doctors, Dr. T. J. McInnes, St. Mary's, Dr. G. F. Deacon and Dr. E. K. Lyons, Stratford, and Dr. McGregor, of London, were called into consultation. Despite all their efforts, the young man passed away about 8 o'clock yesterday morning.

He was widely knownas a lacrosse player . This year he had played with the Stratford Lions, and was regarded as one of the best players on the team.

George Washington was another presidential stickler for economy. Once he refused to eat a shad that cost $3 because he did not want it said that his table set an example of extravagance and luxury.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

EXALTING GOD IN LIFE

The International Uniform Sunday School Lesson for Aug. 14: Exalting God in Individual and National Life.— 2 Samuel 2:3, 4: 5: 1-3; 6:12-15.

BY WM. E. GILROY, D.D., Editor of The Congregationalist.

Text: 2 Samuel 2:3, 4; 5:1-3; 6-12-15

And his men that were with him did David bring up, every man with his household: and they dwelt in the cities of Hebron.

And the men of Judah came, and there they anointed David king over the house of Judah. And they told David, saying, That the men of Jabesh-gilead were they that buried Saul.

Then came all the tribes of Irsael to David unto Hebron, and spake, saying, Behold, we are thy bone and thy flesh.

Also in time past, when Saul was king over us, thou wast he that leddest out and broughtest in Israel: and the Lord said to thee, Thou shalt feed my people Israel, and thou shalt be a captain over Israel.

So all the elders of Israel came to the king to Hebron; and king David made a league with them in Hebron before the Lord: and they anointed David king over Israel.

And it was told king David, saying, The Lord hath blessed the house of Obededom, and all that pertaineth unto him, because of the ark of God. So David went and brought up the ark of God from the house of Obededom into the city of David with gladness.

And it was so, that when they that bare the ark of the Lord had gone six paces, he sacrificed oxen and fatlings.

So David and all the house of Israel brought up the ark of the Lord with shouting, and with the sound of the trumpet.

With the defeat and death of Saul in the Battle of Gilboa, David's opportunity as king became definite. He had a chance now to devote to the service of the nation the energies that hitherto he had spent as the leader of a somewhat irregular band, and he was freed also from the dangers which Saul's jealousy and madness constantly created for him. Apparently also the nation rallied to his leadership and at Hebron, the principal city of Judah, and made that solidarity evident.

Needed Religious Unity.

There was, however, still an important work to be achieved in Israel. It was the work of creating a religious unity similar to the new national solidarity.

Let us not forget that it is a primitive age that we are dealing with and not an era of enlightened spiritual Christianity. The Bible reveals to us the stages by which true religion came to its expression in the lives of men. As we go beyond the more vital expressions of religious feeling in the consecration of individual hearts to God, we find religion consisting more in forms and symbols with emphasis upon its social aspect in the community rather than upon its individual and personal aspect.

Hitherto for a long time the Ark of the Covenant had ceased to have the place of prominence that it had occupied when it had been carried before the people in their coming to Canaan, and in their labor of conquest. In fact, the Ark was at present not even in the custody of Israel, but was in the keeping of a Philistine, Obededom. The report, however, was that Obededom and all his affairs prospered greatly because of the Ark, and this, with the purpose of giving the nation a rallying center religiously, led David to bring the Ark from the house of Obededom into the "city of David," or, as we should say, into the capital of the nation.

It is easy to be critical of the element of superstition that was undoubtedly present in all of this; but perhaps one should distinguish between mere superstition and that really devout religious feeling which expresses itself very largely in forms and symbols. It would be a great mistake to assume that because people attach much importance and reverence to forms and symbols their worship is not real. These things are to some extent matters of temperament, but it is noticeable that it is not easy either in political or religious life to solidify the interests and life of a people without certain outward signs and symbols. There are shrines, for instance, in the national life today that have a very real meaning, and though it might be said that one can live essentially in the spirit of Lincoln without ever seeing the Lincoln Monument, yet that monument has become a very real symbol of the nation's devotion to the ideals of the man whom the nation honors.

Religion's Place in Life.

The Ark of the Covenant ministered in a primitive way in Israel to this factor in the life of the people. David, as we have already seen, was a strange mixture of roughness and fineness, a peculiar blending of warrior and poet, with certain elements of the saint badly buried beneath his deep temptations and his gross sins, but none the less in evidence as he came into leadership of the people.

It might, perhaps, be remembered that here, as again and again in history, we have exemplified the place that religion does play in the life of a people and nationally. It would be folly to suggest that nations that still are so far removed from the ideals and ways of Jesus, as are the modern nations of the western world, are essentially Christian. Yet we may easily underestimate the importance of religion in the life of a nation with secular foundations.

Religion, as the word suggests, is a great binding power, and it is largely in the simplification and purification of the religious life of the people that we create the conditions for sound national progress. If we could at the present hour bring the entire American people into practical allegiance and devotion to the ideals of love and brotherhood exemplified by Jesus of Nazareth, what a changed nation this would be.

CLOSING BY-LAW MAY BE REPEALED

Cobalt Council Hears Complaints That Tourists Can't Get Meals.

COBALT, Ont., Aug. 12. The plea that tourists, arriving in the early morning hours were unable to secure meals in any of the five restaurants here because a town by-law compels these places to close between one and five a.m., was urged as a reason for repealing the measure, when council met last night, but the members could not agree and the matter was shelved for two weeks. In the meantime, Chief Dunn will report on conditions in this respect.

The by-law has been in force since April last.

CHURCHES HOLD UNION PICNIC

Outing Arranged for Warsaw Sunday Schools Great Success.

MANY RACES RUN OFF

WARSAW, Aug. 12.—A union picnic for Warsaw United, Presbyterian and Baptist Sunday Schools, also Cottesloe and Bethel, was held in Mr. George Brown's woods on Wednesday afternoon. The weather was ideal and a good number were present.

The sports, which were entered into enthusiastically, were held in the flat.

The events and winners were:

Boys' race, 7 to 12—Ivan Payne and Orval Payne.

Boys' race, 12 to 15 — Clarence Payne and Harry McCauley.

Girls' race, 12 to 15—Cora Drain and Jean Munro.

Young ladies' race—Cora Drain and Elsie Moore.

Young men's race—Andy McMillan and Maitland Forsythe.

Fat man's race—Clinton Payne and Harry McCauley.

Married ladies' race—Mrs. Jack Clifford and Mrs. Albert McQuaig.

Girls' three-legged race—Jean Munro with Mabel McCauley and Cora Drain with Dora Tedford.

Sack race—Harry McCauley, Sidney McCauley.

Coat race—Clinton Payne, Harry McCauley.

Wheelbarrow race—Clinton Payne with Harry McCauley, and Sidney McCauley and Clarence Tedford.

Long tables were set in the grove. The children were served first, and they did ample justice to the abundance of good things provided. Afterwards the "grown-ups" were seated and they did not fall much behind the children in enjoying the good things.

There were swings and other amusements for those who were not interested in the sports. The social gathering was the main feature, and it certainly was a success. The afternoon was one of the most enjoyable ever held in Warsaw.

IRISH CRISIS HEADS TO-DAY

Valera and Followers Will Give Opposition Clear Majority.

TWO COURSES OPEN.

DUBLIN, Aug. 12 (Canadian Press).—The Irish political crisis which may result in the resignation of William T. Cosgrave as chief of the Free State Government was expected to come to a head this afternoon, when Eamon de Valera leads forty-four members of his Fianna Fail party into the Dail Eirrean to take their seats.

With a total of 77 votes for the combined Opposition as against a possible 67 for the Government, it was believed Mr. Cosgrave would resign immediately without asking for a division. The alternative is to ask for dissolution of the Dail, staking all on a general election.

LONDON, Aug. 12 — Canadian Press. — The possibility of Tim Healy, a Governor-General of the Irish Free State, being forced to refuse a new election to President Cosgrave was being considered here to-day. Naturally, he has the right to do so, but after Lord Byng's experience in Canada it is wondered if Healy will dare to refuse Cosgrave should the latter made the demand.

MEMORIAL PARK OPENS MONDAY

Formal Ceremonies at Norwood To Take Place at 2 p.m.

IN HONOR OF WAR DEAD.

NORWOOD, August 12. — The work of fitting up the new Memorial Park at the head of Colborne Street, is nearing completion. Arrangements are being made for the formal opening to take place on Monday, August 15, at two o'clock.

The ground for this park was purchased and fitted up by Mrs. J. W. Davidson, of 481 Bloor Street West, Toronto. It will be handed over to the village as a memorial to the late Lieut. Walter Robus, who died in Toronto last year as a result of the wounds he sustained in the Great War.

Lieut. Robus was the first from this district to enlist at the outbreak of the war, and crossed the ocean with the first Canadian contingent.

REPRIEVED MEN IN NEW CELLS

Transferred From Death House of Prison Until After Hearing.

TENSION RELAXED.

BOSTON, Aug. 12. — (Canadian Press.) — The gloom of the death house had lifted its pall from Nicola Sacco and Bartholemo Vanzetti today and although one-twelfth of their stay from execution had already passed, the men were distinctly more cheerful as their counsel hurdled the last legal barrier to presentation of their latest contentions to the State Supreme Court.

Together with Celestino Madeiros, who, because of his identification with the case, was respited with the other two, they occupied freshly prepared cells in a part of the prison remote from the death house where they waited until fifteen minutes before scheduled execution time in ignorance that a stay had been granted them.

In the meantime, the full bench of the Supreme Court, or as much of it as was available, had been summoned to meet next Tuesday morning to hear arguments by defense counsel on the last two lines of legal recourse left open to them in the State courts.

Sacco was continuing his long hunger strike and to-day he entered his twenty-seventh day without food, but Vanzetti yesterday twice drank coffee. Tension was considerably relaxed at prison and in city, although police vigilance had not been relaxed.

Bombs Planted, Moscow Charges.

MOSCOW, Aug. 12. — (United Press.)—Charges that American secret police were placing mobs in the United States so that sympathisers of Nicola Sacco and Bartolomeo Vanzetti might receive the blame for them, appeared to-day in Pravda, the official organ of the Communist Party.

MAN SURRENDERS IN BARRIE COURT

Makes Tenth Held in Connection With Thefts in Beeton District.

BARRIE, Ont., August 12 (Canadian Press). — The tenth man to become involved in the series of burglaries and thieving that has been prevalent in the district surrounding Beeton during the last few months, was arrested here to-day, when Henry Cannon, a farmer near Cookstown, entered the Police Court and voluntarily surrendered to the police. He is charged with stealing four head of cattle. The men were arraigned in the Police Court this morning, and the cases were adjourned until August 18.

Special from The Financial Post Syndicate.

The Canadian mining market seems to have changed from a summer to a fall market with the coming of August. Trading has been quite heavy and at steadily rising prices. It used to be that the market did not get over the holiday lethargy until well on to September. In recent years wise ones have started buying earlier. Steadily, the date for fall buying has crept ahead, until the off season for the holiday period has been reduced to a few weeks instead of some months.

Led by some of the Quebec stocks, the whole market is showing considerable buoyancy. It is quite evident that the general public is getting back into the market quite strongly. Amulet, for about the fourth week, has provided leadership. Many express the opinion that the steady rise in the shares is due to manpulation and that there is nothing behind the stock. We have no doubt but what there is something to the first contention. Heavy profit-taking has appeared with every material jump in the price of the shares, but reactions have been monetary. The upward movement resumes which readily indicates clearly that there is support to the issue, other than the heavy public buying. On the question of merit, there is considerable behind the stock. There are some facts about Amulet to remember. The capitalization is $2,000,000 so that a market of $5 for the shares means a valuation of only $10,000,000 on the property. Former work revealed about $3,000,000 in ore in the shape of a shallow saucer-like deposit. Recent drilling is reported to have indicated that there are five lenses of ore, each one underlying another, and it would not take a very great deposit of this character to justify the present market price. Another factor that the speculators are gambling on is that the company will shortly increase its capitalization to provide funds for a concentrator and that the rights offered to present shareholders will be at a price considerably under the present market.

Dr. A. R. Whitman, who spent a good deal of time in Porcupine and Cobalt in the early days and is now doing academic work with Los Angeles University though spending his summers in Northern Ontario, this week advances a new geological theory in regard to the deposition of the ores of Quebec. If he is right, it extends the possibilities of the Quebec copper country tremendously The previously accepted geological theory, which primarily was accepted by Dr. Whitman also was that the ore deposits were associated with the grano-dorite deposits and were to be looked for along the contacts or edges of this rock. Here and there throughout the sectoin there were patches of this grano-dorite. Now Dr. Whitman says that the sulphides were present before the grano-dorite and when the rocks became broken they migrated or segregated in fissures. In plain language this means that concentration of those sulphides which contain the copper and gold ores of Rouyn may be found anywhere over the four townships or into Ontario. This increases the area, in which sulphide deposits may be looked for, by many times.

Kirkland Lake shares continue in the limelight. Wright Hargreaves and Teck Hughes are providing the leadership. Increased production is to be looked for from these two operations any time now. A correspondent of New York Mining Journal has made the predictin that Kirkland Lake before the end of 1928 will be producing gold on a basis of $20,000,000 annually. On the basis of June production for the camp, $736,811, the present output will have to be more than doubled. June figures included Sylvanite's first return to the Department of Mines, and as there are no new mills under way in the camp, such an increase, if it takes place, will have to come from the present producers stepping up their output. The writer is a little doubtful of the prophecy being fulfilled, but it is repeated as an evidence of the optimism prevailing in regard to this camp. Correspondents of the paper in question are generally well informed.

International Nickel shares are coming into the limelight, having registered, since the turn of the month a gain of $7 per share. There has been heavy buying in New York and it is suspected that the great bulk of this is for Montreal account. It was mostly Montreal buying that carried the shares up from 40 to a high 75 in June. Reports from London are that there has been a steady advance in the prices of the ordinary shares of Mond Nickel. There has been quite a lot of Canadian buying of this stock and it seem likely that ultimately arrangements will be made to place a block of these shares in Canada. Mond Nickel, according to an engineer, who recently spent some time in Sudbury nickel district, is putting new ore in sight just as quickly as International Nickel. It is expected that sometime this month there will be some important news in regard Nickel's work on the Frood deposit and this of course will be of importance to both companies as each have a part of this ore body.

Kirkland Lake Firm; Mine Market Weaker

TORONTO, Aug. 12 (Canadian Press). — Kirkland Lake was the strong feature of a decidedly weaker market on the Standard Mining Exchange today. With trading in more than 30,000 shares it advanced five cents to 173. Beaver, in sympathy, moved up two cents to 130. Area continued as market leader with 100,000 shares changing hands; it showed weakness throughout to finish at 66, a decline of 2½ points. Amulet was active and weak at 37, down three points. Dome Mines was the strongest feature of the dividend-paying gold stocks with a gain of 15 cents to 725. McIntyre was a weak spot at 25.50, off 15 cents. Central Manitoba Gold showed strength with a gain of four cents to 161. Silvanite in the unlisted section, gained 55 points to 425.

Unlisted Shares Active; Toronto Exchange Quiet

TORONTO, Aug. 12 (Canadian Press).—A mixed price trend prevailed in a quiet market on the Toronto Stock Exchange today, and, with the exception of International Nickel, which was traded in to the extent of more than 3,000 shares, activity was largely confined to the unlisted department. Nickel was erratic in its movements. The noon close at 63½ indicated a loss of ⅛. Brazilian Traction was off ⅜ to 168¼, while Industrial Alcohol eased ¼ to 33¼. McKay Common was active and stronger at 73¾, a gain of ⅜. The Preferred firmed ⅛ to 147.

The liquor stocks were firm. Seagram gained one point to 23, G. and W. ½ to 44½, Carlings ¼ to 36¼, and Walker was firm at 44.

British American Oil eased ¼ to 26.

The mining issues were unusually active and strong. Kirkland Lake leading the way with a seven point advance with trading in more than 7,000 shares.

New York Market Is Unsettled To-day

NEW YORK, Aug. 12. —(Canadian Press). — The collapse of several pool specialties, following the announcement of a stock exchange failure as the result of yesterday's sensational decline in Manhattan Electrical Supply, unsettled to-day's stock market, which had opened with a display of strength. The extreme declines in a dozen issues reported to be under pool sponsorship ran from 8 to 23 points although supporting orders were quickly supplied for a few by "inside" interests.

Outside news was again forgotten as the market tried to correct the weak spots revealed in the days trading. Heavy liquidation took place for both accounts, with the leading commission houses urging their customers to get out of the volatile issues and restrict committments to seasoned dividend payers until the corrective process showed signs of being completed.

All money was in plentiful supply at the renewal rate of 3% per cent.

Eureka Vaccum showed an extreme decline of 22¾ by touching 51 but later rallied well above 60. Houston was down 14½ to 115, and Pittsburgh Coal, Commercial Solvents "B", A. M. Byers and White Sewing Machine sold down 9 to 13 points before they met sufficient support to stem the tide of selling. Gains in Baldwin, General Motors, and many other Rail and Industrial leaders were cancelled and in some instances replaced with losses running as much as five points. Manhattan Electrical Supply, which broke from 121 to 58½ yesterday, opened to-day at 61, advanced to 64⅞, and then collapsed again to 50½, a new low level for the year.

Liquor Boat Caught After Exciting Chase

NEW YORK, Aug. 12.—(Canadian Press). — A single decker steam boat said by police to contain a half million dollar load of contraband liquor was anchored under guard off the Statue of Liberty to-day after it had fled from a surprise attack of almost half a hundred Staten Island Police, had cut a sand barge in two in Killvon Cut, and had run upon a sand bar, where it was captured by the coast guard.

Thirty four men were arrested by Staten Island Police, who also captured seven 7-ton trucks and three expensive automobiles. In addition, coast guards made prisoners of twenty six men aboard the freighter, which was the Ansonia.

While the police were busy taking their prisoners, the crew of the steamer, which had not yet begun to unload, cut boat loose from the dock and started at full speed through the waters of Kill Von Kull. In his haste to escape, the helmsman ran his boat into two anchored sand barges, cutting one of them cleanly in two and causing the two men on the barge to be thrown headlong into the water. The alleged rum runner careened onward through darkness until it ran its bow high and dry on to a sand bar. After rescuing the two men thrown into the water, the police notified the coast guard and a cutter was sent which pulled the steamer from the sand bar and took it and its crew to anchorage close ot the statue of Liberty where it was kept under close guard beside the Sebastapol, British trawler which was captured with a load of liquor yesterday.

Bad Weather In Europe Wheat Prices Go Up

CHICAGO, August 12 (Canadian Press). — Influenced by unsatisfactory weather in Europe and by the relative firmness of Liverpool quotations, wheat took an early swing upward to-day. Too much rain, especially in France and England, was reported. Opening at ⅝c off to ¼c up, wheat later rose all around to well above yesterday's finish. Corn, oats, and provisions developed strength also, corn starting ¼c to ⅝c lower, but subsequently scoring gains.

Opening prices were: Wheat, September, 142¼, Decemeb r146⅝. Corn, September, 110½, December 114½. tember, 142⅛, December 146⅝. Corn,

YOUNG FARMHAND TO SERVE ONE YEAR

Sentenced To Reformatory For Burning Employer's Haystack.

BROCKVILLE, Aug. 12 (Canadian Press). — For having set fire to a stack of hay containing about 32 loads belonging to his employer, a young man named Mountain, a recent arrival from the Old Country, was sentenced at Winchester to serve one year in the Guelph Reformatory.

BARN COLLAPSES KILLING WORKMAN

Four Others of the Wrecking Party Badly Hurt in Fall.

GUELPH, Aug. 12. — (Canadian Press). — One man was killed and four injured when an old barn collapsed here to-day as they were attaching guy ropes to direct the fall of the structure. Robert Bryden, died, J. J. Mortley is in critical condition, Fred Burns has serious injuries to his back, and Robert Arnold and Cornelius Callaghan were slightly injured. The men were engaged in wrecking the barn.

ALASKA THEME KIWANIS TALK

Rev. T. A. Rodgers Gives Fine Address at Luncheon To-day.

TELLS OF GOLD RUSH.

"Alaska" was the theme of an interesting talk to the Kiwanians at their regular weekly luncheon at the Empress Hotel to-day by Rev. T. A Rodgers, independent Bible teacher, at present taking the place of Rev William Allan, of St Paul's, who is absent on his holidays

Going back to the early days when the gold rush was on, in '98, the speaker told of the hardships and vices that the early miners and explorers were taxed with

"While making a trip through that territory at the present time," remarked Mr Rodgers, "one can hardly realise that only a few years ago, it was practically a barren waste where men were murdered by thieves crazy with the lust of gold. A book entiled 'Trail of '98' will make one realize these hardships more than by a short speech, but even volumes cannot describe those dark days that men followed in line up the dark passes to reach the summit, and, as they thought, fortune"

In telling of the trails previously mentioned, Mr Rodgers stated that men had to climb up the slopes of the mountainous country, with heavy packs on their backs, with a temperature ranging sometimes as low as 68 degrees below zero. If they faltered in the long line of hardy miners, they were forced to wait at the side of the trail till every man passed by and take up their journey once more at the rear of the line.

The temperature in the winter months ranges on an average from zero to forty below, and on rare occasions 69.50 degrees below the zero point. Statistics show that in 1927 the lowest point was the last figure mentioned.

Dawson City at the time of the gold rush had thirty thousand inhabitants, but at the present time it has but one thousand, and most of these are Chinese.

"Travelling on the railroad at the present time, you will see one of the most beautiful and rugged countries in the world, but you will be travelling through a land of peace and order, maintained for the most part by the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, the greatest trained police force in the world, due to their persistent courage in 'getting their man.'

"Some men have gardens in the far north now," said the speaker, and one of the most beautiful gardens that I ever saw was in the Yukon district.

"It is a land full of romance and contains some wonderful history of its pioneer days when the land was full of the cry Gold!"

Walter Kidd moved a vote of thanks to the speaker for his splendid address, and to R. J. Devey for assisting in the music for the luncheon and Herb McCannon for a mouth organ solo.

J. Marshall was the booster for the day and Carl Brown, Charles Cook, and Thomas Mark were winners of the prizes.

HAY FOODS

All of you realize that a horse can use an almost unlimited amount of hay, but must be fed very carefully on grain. We have learned to feed our horses to secure the most efficiency, as we feed our cattle and hogs to produce the best stock for the market. It seems odd that we are often not as careful of our own diet as that of these domestic animals upon whose health we depend for living and pleasure.

This homely reference to live stock is to emphasize our need for more "hay" in the diet, rather than so much of the heavy food, such as the grains, carbohydrates and proteins. At least one meal a day should contain plenty of green vegetables, both cooked and in the raw state, in order to give sufficient bulk and to insure a plentiful supply of those organic salts and vitamins so needed for repair and growth.

Such leafy vegetables as spinach, chard, lettuce, celery, kale, as well as string beans and the small non-starchy squashes, are an indispensable part of a normal diet and may be used in any combination with other foods without fear of overeating or using a bad mixture. They are easily digested, and also assist in the digestion of the more nearty foods by making a softer, less sticky mass which the digestive juices can penetrate more easily.

Many of my readers complain that the foods I prescribe in my weekly menus are too expensive, but you must remember that I am giving this advice to millions of people in all walks of life and so must be quite liberal in my recommendations. It is true that during the winter months some of the green vegetables are expensive, but I am sure you will always be able to find some to fit your pocket-book. There is no such cause for complaint in the summertime, as you can buy enough greens for a few cents to fill up and satisfy the whole family.

The most expensive foods are the proteins, as well as foods out of season. But during the summer months the consumption of proteins should be reduced to the minimum, and fruits and greens used plentifully to supply bulk and also the necessary vitamins and minerals which these foods contain so abundantly when they are fresh and in season.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

QUESTION: John M. writes: "Please tell me the proper cure for enlarged tonsils, or should they be removed?"

ANSWER: The cure of diseased tonsils, or the reduction of enlarged tonsils is simply a matter of dietetics. I have prepared a five-hundred-word article on this subject which will tell you exactly what to do.

QUESTION: M. J. A. writes: "I am writing to you for advice on how to strengthen a weak voice. My voice is very weak at times, and at other times it is quite strong. I am a young man 19 years of age, and I am desirous of having a strong voice."

ANSWER: Each voice has naturally a different quality, due to the formation of the throat and upper nasal passages. However, no matter what the natural tone of your voice, you can develop as strong vocal power as anyone else. This must be done slowly, by taking deep breathing exercises. You will then learn to "croin" the diaphragm, which is the muscle controlling breathing. You can get special instructions by going to any good vocal teacher.

QUESTION: Bertha W. J. asks: "Are dates healthful, and if so, how should they be used—in what combination with other foods?"

ANSWER: Dates may be used with buttermilk. In this way they make an excellent combination which creates a beneficial chemical condition in the intestines.

AUTO DEALER UNDER ARREST

R. H. Raynor Adjudged Bankrupt Yesterday, Held For Fraud.

ARRESTED AT PICTON.

BELLEVILLE, Aug. 12 —(Canadian Press). — R. H. Raynor, one of the largest automobile dealers in the city, who was adjudged bankrupt yesterday, was arrested in the town of Picton early to-day on a charge of fraud. There were also warrants for his arrest in the County of Hastings, but the warrant of Prince Edward County had precedent. The charge laid in Hastings County will be dealt with after the Prince Edward ones are concluded.

It is alleged that Raynor misappropriated funds to his own use that should have been turned into a finance corporation for payment on cars that were purchased from him. The amount involved runs into the thousands of dollars.

DELANEY WINS BOUT ON FOUL

Fight With Paulino Comes To Sudden End in the Seventh.

LOSER WARNED.

NEW YORK, Aug. 12.—Staging a comeback in his debut as a full-fledged heavyweight, Jack Delaney scored a hollow victory at the Yankee Stadium last night over Paulino Uscuden, the Spanish wood-chopper, on a foul in the seventh round of a 15-round match. Coming on top of the disputed Dempsey-Sharkey battle and ending, by coincidence, in the same round, but with a different result, the finish aroused almost as much uproar and controversy.

Paulino was disqualified by Referee Jimmy Crowley after three warnings for hitting low with left hooks, but the French-Canadian did not appear to be hurt by any of the blows. Neither had he made any protest when the referee waved Paulino to his corner to the complete astonishment of ringside critics as well as a crowd of about 35,000 spectators. So dissatisfied did a big share of the crowd appear that fully 5,000 swarmed about the ring, jeering and booing the verdict while Paulino, to show his annoyance, somersaulted and performed a series of acrobatic stunts, while straw hats sailed about the ring.

BLAST DESTROYS LOAD OF TRUCK

Goods Hurled Into Air When Fire On Vehicle Reaches Gas.

LOSS ABOUT $6,000.

OAKVILLE, Aug. 12. Canadian Press. — A load of assorted merchandize was hurled nearly 150 feet into the air when a large acetylene welding tank exploded following a fire which started on a truck carrying goods on the highway near here to-day. No one was injured, but it is estimated that nearly six thousand dollars worth of merchandize was destroyed.

FOUR YEAR TERM ON FRAUD CHARGE

Charles Seguire Is Out On Bail, However, Pending Appeal.

PORT HOPE, Aug. 12.— Charles Seguire of Cobourg, who has alreday answered several charges against the O.T.A. was sentenced to four years in Kingston penitentiary on a charge of conspiracy to defraud George Palmateer of Percy Township, out of $3,000.

Judge Huycke found Seguire guilty and sentenced him to a term of four years at Kingston.

However, Seguire is appealing the case and was released on bail of $5,500.

The case comes up before the Appelate Division Court.

PRESENTATIONS TO HASTINGS PEOPLE

Mr. and Mrs. Hess and Mrs. Beavis Are Leaving Village.

HASTINGS, Aug. 12.—On Tuesday evening, Aug. 9, the congregation of the Hastings United Church met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Hess to bid farewell to them and Mrs. W. Beavis. They leave this week for Lindsay, where Mr. Hess has obtained a position in one of the garages. Mrs. Beavis will be greatly missed in all circles of the church as she was always willing to do her best in all kinds of work.

The following address was read by Mrs. Metcalfe and the presentation made by Mrs. (Dr.) Hess to Mrs. Beavis:

"Dear Mrs. Beavis:

"We, the members and adherents of the United Church of Hastings, have met here this evening to express our sincere appreciation of your services in our church and our deep regret in losing so valued a member and worker. We know that your active interest in every department of our church work has endeared you to each one of us, and we trust with God's blessing that the seed you have sown will bear most beneficial results in the future development and welfare of our congregation.

"When we look back and think of the number of years you were President of the W.M.S. and later did such efficient work as President of the Ladies' Aid when you gave of your time and talent in such an unselfish manner, and of your work in the Sabbath School and among the young people, we wonder just how we will manage without you. Yet we know that our loss will be others' gain. As you are soon leaving to enter upon a new field of labor in the Master's cause, we ask you to accept this watch as a slight token of the many firm friendships you have formed in Hastings.

"Signed on behalf of the church."

Mrs. Beavis feelingly replied, being taken completely by surprise.

The following address was read to Mr. and Mrs. Hess by Mrs. G. Faux, and Mrs. H. Oliver made the presentation of a half dozen Old Colony teaspoons:

"Dear Mr. and Mrs. Hess:

"We, the members of the United Church of Hastings, have gathered here to express to you our regret in losing so faithful a family from our church. Your presence at the different services with the children has been an inspiration to many of us.

"Our prayer is that as you go to your new home and church the grace of God may accompany you.

"As a little remembrance we wish you to accept this silverware. May its use ever serve to remind you of your friends in Hastings.

"Signed on behalf of the Ladies' Aid."

Mrs. Hess thanked the congregation with a few well-chosen words.

Miss Helen Collins made the presentation of a Bible to Errol Hess from the Primary Class in the Sunday School. A few addresses were given by prominent members of the church, and the ladies served lunch. Everyone enjoyed a very pleasant and social evening.

EGG MARKETING.

heavy on delivery days as to require an officer to prevent undue congestion. The grade by candling was commenced at Campbellford in 1925 when out of 64,357 dozen marketed there were 31,114 dozen of extras, 27,799 dozen of firsts, 5,141 dozen of seconds and cracked, and 303 dozen of bad eggs. The following year, although the quantity handled had not increased more than 200 dozen, extras had increased to 35,903, firsts to 23,838, with lower grades correspondingly decreased. This year, even before the end of June, the sale of eggs was about 3,000 dozen ahead of any previous record.

At Millbrook.

The Millbrook marketing centre, after a few years of moderate success in the operation of an egg circle, slumped back and for a time returned to the old system of trading their eggs at the store of the local merchants. It soon became apparent that the interest in poultry raising was decreasing when the farmers awakened to the fact that a mistake had been made in dropping the circle marketing. Through the efforts of the district poultry promoter the producers were encouraged to reorganize, and in undertaking to do so, found they had the support of the Millbrook merchants. A successful manager, Mr McDowell, was secured who understood poultry raising and egg grading and possessed good business ability. The merchants anxious to promote the poultry industry, which they realized was capable of bringing increased capital to the vicinity, agreed to accept no eggs at their stores if a marketing centre were established on a sound basis.

The Poultry Division of the Live Stock Branch at Ottawa assisted in providing a window display which brought egg candling and grading to the close attention of the producers. The organization of the Millbrook Produce Association was quickly effected, and in but a few weeks farmers were happy in realizing that they were securing just returns for the better grades of eggs.

As a result of this organization, poultry raising in the district has been advanced in many ways. Pedigreed cockerels have been introduced on many farms and there is a general inclination to give poultry the position it deserves in their farming operations, instead of allowing it, as in the past, to be but a small side line looked after chiefly by the women.

The eggs are delivered daily at the candling station, which is kept open the same hours as the local stores, and the producers are paid cash according to the grades. The merchants are being rewarded for their co-operation, as they are doing an increased business at their stores on a cash basis. For a time the merchants were doubtful as to the results of the change, as their stores were less crowded on Saturday nights, for instance. Their business, which has increased, is now distributed over more days of the week when the clerks are able to give better service to the customers.—Family Herald and Weekly Star.

LADIES HOLD MANY SOCIALS

Millbrook Presbyterian League Conducts Garden Party.

SHOWER FOR BRIDE

MILLBROOK, Aug. 12.—The lawn social, under the auspices of Group Three of the Women's League of Grace Presbyterian church, held on the lawn of Councillor J. R. Eakins' residence on Wednesday afternoon, was a very enjoyable and successful event.

The weather was most favorable for an out of doors gathering, and quite a number availed themselves of the opportunity of being present, enjoying the social intercourse, and the excellent music furnished through the courtesy of H. R. Armstrong, who had his large orthophonic victrola on the verandah, and added considerably to the pleasure of the afternoon by this feature of the entertainment provided.

The attractive tea table was laid on the lawn at the side of the house. The floral decorations which centred it at intervals, and which were also in evidence on the verandah and terrace drew forth many favorable comments because of their beauty and fragrance.

Mrs. R. J. Doak and Mrs. W. E. Russell poured tea, and among those assisting with the service of the guests were: Mrs. Milton Fallis, who was convener of the group in charge, and was associated with the hostess, Mrs. Eakins, in welcoming the visitors of the afternoon; Mrs. F. A. Kidd, Mrs. R. J. McKnight, Mrs. Wilbert Larmer, Misses M. Eagleson, Phyllis Kidd, Aileen Franklin, Audrey Larmer, B. McCorry, and others. Mrs. J. D. Armstrong was cashier.

Several of the guests brought their work with them, sewing on articles for the annual bazaar in the fall, so that, in a sense, the gathering took the form of a 'thimble tea', and was all the more pleasant for the social aspect being thus emphasized.

Miscellaneous Shower.

A very delightful social event took place at the home of Mrs. W. E. Russell on Monday evening, when a miscellaneous shower was arranged in honor of Miss Marjorie Smith, B.A., whose marriage to Mr. H. W. Hall, of Port Colborne, takes place in Trinity College Chapel, Toronto, on Wednesday, August 17.

There were five tables of bridge, and later in the evening the surprise feature for the bride-to-be was happily carried out. The hostess, Mrs. Russel, come in first with a beautiful bouquet of hydrangea to which were tied with satin streamers several of the smaller parcels. Following her came Miss Elizabeth Jones, of New Jersey, Mrs. Russell's guest, carrying a large basket daintily trimmed with daisies, and pink and white streamers, which was piled high with gifts.

Miss Muriel Smith assisted her sister in unwrapping the many-shaped, and prettily-wrapped bundles, china, fine linens, cut glass, kitchen utensils, and other articles useful and ornamental, comprising the list with which friends of the bride-to-be 'showered' her before the approaching change of name and home marks her future pathway.

Miss Marjorie expressed her thanks for the many gifts in a few well chosen words, and shortly afterward the prizewinners, Mrs. Chappell, of Armstrong, B.C., and Miss Helen Armstrong, of Fergus, were given their dainty awards.

In the service of refreshments Mrs. Russell was assisted by her guest, Miss Jones.

W.M.A. Meeting.

The wide verandahs, and spacious lawns of Mrs. J. L. Byam's home, Bank street, were in use on Wednesday afternoon for the August meeting of the Woman's Missionary Auxilliary of the United Church, over forty members and friends being in attendance.

Mrs. (Rev.) F. H. Howard had charge of the opening business period, during which arrangements were made for filling the bale containing for an Indian boy of 13, at the Coqualeetza Institute, British Columbia, which is to be sent in October.

Group C, Mrs. M. Weatherup convener, was responsible for the meeting. Mrs. O. Williamson reading the Scripture lesson, and Mrs. Harry Dawson the devotional leaflet, "The Fellowship of Faith."

The guest of honor for the afternoon was Mrs. J. T. Field, of Cobourg, first vice-president of the Cobourg Presbyterial W.M.S., who was introduced by Mrs. Howard, and who gave a most interesting report of the recent branch meeting of the Bay of Quinte Conference held at Pembroke. There were over 200 delegates in attendance, and five Presbyterials were represented. Mrs. T. J. Daley of Port Hope is president, and there are 33 Auxiliaries in the conference.

An item of peculiar interest was related by Mrs. Field when detailing the address of welcome given at Pembroke, the speaker narrating that a boulder from the Laurentian hills, which are of pre-historic formation, was carried by a glacier along the New England coast, and was actually the historic rock upon which the Pilgrim Fathers landed; thus Canada may claim her share of the honor of this important event.

A duet, "Dear to the Heart of the Shepherd", by Mrs. W. H. Johnston and Miss May Byam, was much enjoyed, and Mrs. (Rev.) R. J. Stillwell led in the closing prayer.

Mrs. Byam, assisted by her daughter, Miss M. Byam, and by Group C, served lunch, and the usual social hour was enjoyed at the close.

CHANDOS CHURCH OBSERVES JUBILEE

St. Stephen's Anglican Was Founded Fifty Years Ago.

APSLEY, Aug. 12.—St. Stephen's Church, Chandos, has been celebrating its fiftieth year of existence, during the past week. Special services were held on Sunday morning and evening, which marked the reopening of the church after being entirely renovated and re-decorated by the voluntary work of the congregation. The Ven. Archdeacon Warren officiated, administering the Holy Communion in the morning to a record number of communicants, and preaching in the evening to a congregation that crowded the church, when he also dedicated the following gifts: A desk prayer book presented by the Toronto Junior W. A.; Altar office book, presented by Mrs. Charles Tanner, in memory of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Roberts, and a brass alms basin, presented by Rev. C. A. G. Spence, in memory of Mary Ann Eliza Tanner. At the same service the following names of men who were prominent in establishing and maintaining the church in its early days were read by the Rector, their memory being honored in this manner: Billings Kilborn, who gave the site for the church; James Tanner, Robert Hawkes, James Ellerton, George Sharp, Charles Simmons, William Beggs, John Young, Robert Clapperton, John Williams, Joseph Roberts, Charles R. D. Booth, also Mary Ann Eliza Tanner, late teacher and superintendent of the Sunday School, all of whom have been called to higher service.

The services were continued on Monday evening, when the Rev. W. A. Pippen of Hastings, a former incumbent of the Apsley Mission, preached an appropriate and forceful sermon, the service being sung by Rev. G. Bousfield of St. Luke's, Peterborough. Gounod's anthem, "Praise Ye The Father," was well sung by the choir. Mrs. J. Downing very kindly presided at the organ at the Sunday services.

Picnic Held

The Jubilee celebrations of St. Stephen's Church concluded on Tuesday with a big picnic and bazaar on the shores of Loon Lake at Phil. Tanner's cottage and, favored with beautiful weather, was a huge success, the total proceeds of the day amounting to about $275, of which about $200 will be clear profit. This sum will meet the cost of material for the renovating of the church and also the cost of new roofing, it is expected. The bazaar netted over $80, and cordial thanks are extended to those who so kindly donated articles and also to the local patrons and tourists on the lake who generously contributed to the selling department and other events of the day.

The program of sports was much enjoyed by the big crowd present, particularly the water sports, and the interest was keen. The softball game between Chandos and Apsley was ably umpired by Messrs. Hilton and Rumble of Virginia and Johnson of Rochester. The score at the end of the ninth innings was Apsley 41, Chandos 15.

SOCIETY

The members of the Ladies' Aid Society of the United Church at Bridgenorth, assisted by the men, held an outdoor supper yesterday on the grounds back of the church.

From the hours of five to seven a large number of people availed themselves of the opportunity of enjoying a picnic lunch.

Supper was served in cafeteria style. There were a number of booths, each of which contained its own special line, consisting of a variety of tastily filled sandwiches, cake, pie and supper. There was one large table set for the elderly people.

The president of the society, Mrs. H. Jopling, acted as general convenor.

Those serving coffee were Mesdames J. Jopling, H. Jopling, M. McWilliams and W. Heard.

The sandwich booth was in charge of Mesdames Petterson, W. Telford and C. Westlake. Pies were served by Mesdames F. Jopling and J. Grant; cakes by Mesdames G. Nicholls and C. Telford.

Those in charge of the money at the gate were Mesdames Kelly, P. Udy, Ball and L. Udy.

A few articles left over from the last bazaar were in charge of Mesdames Bell, Wheeler, Black, Robinson and Miss Udy. Others who assisted were Mesdames E. Nicholls, Pope, McNeely, W. Nicholls, Mann, P. Westlake, Wilson and M. Fowler.

The men had charge of the booth where the ice cream and soft drings were served.

Miss Nora Shaughnessy, R. N., who with her nephew, Bill Brennan, has been visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Shaughnessy, Sr., has returned to her duties at Winnipeg General Hospital.

Mrs. T. Erwin was a visitor with Mrs. G. Jopling, last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Ireland are visiting the later's mother, Mrs. Kelley, at Chemong.

Mrs. W. Buchanan and daughter, Marie, and Miss Annie Gilgour, of Toronto, were the guests, on Thursday, of Mrs. Ernest Kitney, of Otonabee.

Miss Alma Beavis and Mrs. Fred Dobson were recent visitors of Mrs. Fred Jopling.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Watts and child are in Mr. A. Nicholls Cottage, at Chemong.

Miss Annie Gilgrass, Mrs. W. Buchanan and daughter Marie, of Toronto, spent this week at the homes of Mr. and Mrs. J. Lee and daughters, Orpington Road, North Monaghan.

Mr. and Mrs. Gates, Aylmer Street, are among the cottagers at Chemong.

Mr. and Mrs. English and family, and Mr. English's mother, are spending the summer in Mr. A. Nicholls cottage at Chemong.

Miss Zena Hancton returned to Weston, on Wednesday after spending her holidays with Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Alcock, 577 Chamberlain St.

Mr. George Goodfellow, 583 Park Street, has gone to Windsor, Ont., on a combined business and pleasure trip.

Miss Gladys Green, 465 Bolivar St., is home after an enjoyable holiday, spent in Toronto and vicinity.

Mrs. Allan Ruttan and daughter Ruth, of Calgary, Alberta, are spending a few days with Mrs. Ruttan's niece, Mrs. Morley Powell, at Sunset Point, Buckhorn Lake.

Mrs. J. W. Walker, of Port Hope, is holidaying at Sunset Point Camp with her nieces, Mrs. Morley Powell and Miss Winnifred Elliott, R.N.

FASHION NOTES.

ABOUT PURSE STRINGS

By HEDDA HOYT
(United Press Fashion Editor)

NEW YORK, August 12.—(United Press.)—"Do women spend more on clothing than men?" asks a young man who is about to enter matrimonial bliss and who is probably worrying about purse shrinkage.

This question can be answered in three ways, any of which may be wrong when taken individually.

The poor man's wife probably spends a little more on her clothes than her husband does. This is due to her effort to keep up with her neighbors and to the fact that a hard-working man requires only working clothes while his wife who has time to gad about during the daytime is continually tempted with attractive frocks costing anywhere from $5 to $15 which she feels she can afford. Having the family funds at her command and time on her hands, she is liable to spend often more than her husband does. Also, every woman knows that pretty clothes keep one attractive and do much toward holding romance through the years of middle age.

The wife of the successful business man may or may not spend more than her husband does on clothing. Some wives who have gone through leaner years with a man simply cannot indulge in beautiful clothes when money begins to flow more freely. They've trained themselves against extravagance until they cannot overcome the idea of skimping themselves on unnecessary items. As a man progresses financially, he invariably steps out of the ready-made class into the tailor-made. His wife, poor soul, often continues to look as dowdy as she did in leaner days. On the other hand, there are many women who feel keenly the affluence of money and who believe that a man is judged socially by the clothes of his wife. It is easy for them to discontinue economizing since they are the type who have always spent as much as possible upon their own personal vanities.

Where men and women of wealth are concerned it's about a fifty-fifty proposition. It's astonishing how much a well-dressed man can spend on clothes without creating undue attention. There are many tailors in New York who think nothing of asking $200 for a business suit. The well-dressed man has as many changes a this wife and probably spends as much or more yearly than she does.

SAINT and SINNER

By ANNE AUSTIN

George Pruitt, leaving wholesale groceries flat, as he announced, called at the Hathaway home on Serenity Boulevard the next morning—Thursday—at eleven.

"And I could be inveigled into having luncheon with you," he grinned at Faith, his manner so disarmingly boyish that she did not have the heart to show him she was worried over what Bob would think of this unceremonious visit.

After giving hasty orders relating to luncheon to the somewhat scandalized Mrs. Lundy, Faith returned to the living room to find George holding Cherry's baby gingerly in the cups of his two big hands, his homely, good natured face tucked sideways, as he regarded the tiny, lovely little creature with quizzical eyes.

"Whoever said all babies look alike hadn't seen this one," George chuckled. "Look at those red-gold curls! I believe Cherry's snipped off some of her own and glued them to this mite's head. But you've given her the eyes, Faith. And she'll thank you for the gift to the last day of her life. Prettiest kid I ever saw. And what a contrast her coloring is going to be to yours! Lord, what a picture I ought to be able to paint, if my fingers haven't become thumbs. Going to be ready to sit for me immediately after lunch?"

"You're a very impetuous young man, George," Faith laughed nervously, as she stooped to take the baby from him. "I haven't had a chance to talk it over with Bob and—Cherry yet. Why don't you paint Cherry with the baby, George? After all, she is the mother, you know ——"

George rumpled his rust-red, curly hair as he shook his head vigorously.

"No," he grunted, his little black eyes shifting from her candid gaze. "I—well, the truth is, Faith, I don't dare! In the first place it would take a Titian to do justice to Cherry's hair and eyes, and in the second—well, I've made it a life principle not to expose myself to contagious diseases. And Cherry is a disease! Look at poor Andy last night! Smitten down in the prime of life—doubt if he'll ever recover, or if he does, he'll not be the same. Cherry's too much of a handful for me, Faith."

"I am terribly sorry about last night," Faith flushed. "I suppose Selma and your mother will never forgive us. Tell me, George, what do you really think of Cherry? Does she seem—bad—to you? I — love her so much ——" Her voice faltered and tears gathered in her eyes.

"What do I think of Cherry?" George echoed. "I think she needs taming! I suppose you mean—am I attracted to her? That's what keeps Mother awake nights. I might as well admit that I am—when I'm with her. That's why I don't see her often. I'm not in love with her, in the best sense of the expression, but I find myself wanting to grab her and kiss her till her lips bleed. The trouble is I know she'd let any man she liked at all kiss her, just to see if she'd get a kick out of it. So—I don't grab," he concluded, shrugging his big shoulders.

"I wish Cherry had married you," Faith cried, clasping Cherry's baby high in her arms. "She would have been safe then, George! And I want Cherry to be safe!"

"You know why I didn't," George told her with brusque frankness. "Oh, she'd have taken me. Let's not kid ourselves! But—it happened to be you that I loved, and I guess that's the reason Mother needn't waste any sleep now, worrying over Cherry and me——"

"George!" Faith did not spring to her feet and point dramatically to the door, but in the one word wa so much reproach and genuine dignity that the man dropped his head in shame.

"You're not staying for luncheon, are you, George?" Faith asked at last, gently.

"Yes, I am!" He flung up his head and squared his shoulders. "We're not characters in a problem play, Faith. I'm not going to pester you with villainous attentions, but I am going to paint you and the baby, as 'Modern Madonna and Child,' proving to the world, if the picture is worth the canvas it's painted on, that there is at least one woman in this mad age that looks like a real woman. You don't need any protection from me, my dear. I love you too much to worry you by mentioning the fact again."

HOROSCOPE

The Stars Incline, but do not Compel.

(Copyright, 1927, McClure Syndicate.)

FOR SATURDAY, AUGUST 13, 1927

Astrologers read this as an exceedingly unprofitious day and counsel caution in all matters of importance.

Under this rule the mind may assume a critical and fault-finding attitude, which is unfavorable to persons in the home or in business associations.

The seers frequently have called attention to the growth of egotism and vanity, which will be more evident while this sway prevails than it is at other times.

Increase in the number of domestic dissensions will be great as autumn advances, it is foretold, and divorces will multiply.

Again astrologers foretell agitation regarding changes in marriage laws and sensational conflicts of opinion.

Church and state are to become involved in serious social problems resulting from the freedom accorded in the association of men and women, the stars indicate.

In today's configuration it is read that the opinions of the older generation are to be accounted of small value, for the new order of things is firmly established.

Campaigns against organized vice, prophesied long before they were started in any state are to be widespread in the autumn when the west will lead in great reforms.

This is not a lucky day for starting on any ocean journey as there may be unexpected and unusual experiences.

Strikes are forecast in certain garment-making trades that will be affected by a new fashion.

Speculation should be avoided, for there will be great excitement on 'change

Persons whose birthdate it is may have disturbing and puzzling events to meet in the coming year, which should end happily.

Children born on this day probably will be studious and of philosophical trend of thought. They have the augury of prosperous lives.

GIRLS NEGLECT EYES.

LONDON, August 12. — London oculists are becoming greatly worried by the apparent refusal of English women to wear glasses. Glasses ruin their beauty, the women say, so they go without them and are unable to recognize their friends a few feet away. The lorgnette fad was started last season, but very few are to be seen now.

LARGE CROWD AT BRIDGENORTH WATCH SOFTBALL TOURNAMENT

Final Game Called to Halt Before End of Ninth.

EXCITING PLAYS

Bridgenorth Minister Expresses Satisfaction at Large Attendance.

Owing to the final softball game between Chemong Park, sponsored by Fred Jopling and "Doc" Peterson's Havoline Oil team, being called off on account of darkness before the ninth inning was completed, the Senior Bridgenorth Challenge Cup was withheld and Chemong Park leading by 10-7 when "hostilities" ceased will be called upon once more to meet their doughty opponents of last night before obtaining the coveted trophy.

The Junior series was won by Selwyn, victorious in the final over "Mac" McWilliams' Bridgenorth team by a score of 7-6 in a game that was replete with interesting plays.

The Rev. J. V. MceNeely, pastor of Bridgenorth United church, under the auspices of which the tournament was held, expressed appreciation at the response of city and rural dwellers alike in turning out to the games.

The Girls' Cup went by default to the Gilmour girls, Wesley girls failing to put in an appearance. Playing an exhibition game against Selwyn boys' team ,the girls were badly beaten by a score of 15-0.

Undoubtedly the good wine was kept to the last; by far the best game of the day was the closing titanic struggle between Chemong Park and Havoline Oil which kept the large crowd of spectators on tiptoe of excitement. At the end of the third inning Fred Jopling's beefeaters were basking in the sunshine of prosperity with a comfortable lead of 5-0, but Doc's oleaginous urchins stepped on the gas and by the end of the sixth were on a level with their opponents, each side boasting a quintette of runs. Amidst the cheering and counter-cheering of the enthusiastic fans, the meat trust forged ahead till the score stood at 10 while the oilmen lagged behind with 7 runs to their credit when a halt was called.

The replay will take place on a date to be fixed by the rival captains.

The day did not pass without some minor casualties. In the intense heat and excitement, some of the players, their hands wet with perspiration, had difficulty in retaining their grip of the bat and repeatedly, what was meant to be a three bagger or a home run fizzled out into a bat clearing the air as it slipped from the clutch of the batter. On one of these occasions, the bat came in contact with a young girl watching the game and inflicted a slight injury. Later in the evening Harry Dugan, catcher for Havoline, was knocked out by a fast ball which struck him in the eye.

Bridgenorth 6; Columbias 3.

The first game returned McWilliam's Bridgenorth team winners over Telford's Columbias. Kimmell did the twirling for the Columbias and was touched up for six runs. Scates twirled for Bridgenorth and held the Columbias to three runs, but was given good support.

The teams lined up as follows:

Columbias—Wynn, 3b; Kimmell, p; Himokus, ss; F. Jopling, rf; Leonard, 2b; Phillips, lf; Forler, 1b; Taylor, cf; B. Jopling, c.

Bridgenorth—Scates, p; White, c; Robinson, 1b; Shearer, 2b; G. Dormer, ss; Nicholls, 3b; Forsythe, cf; Woods, lf; Mann, rf.

Umpires—Nixon and Morrison.

Chemong Park 11; Park Juniors 4.

In the next game the Chemong Park team defeated the Chemong Park Juniors 11-6. Gemmell pitched for the Juniors and twirled a nice game. With better support he would have held the Seniors in check.

Dormer started for the Seniors and was pounded hard. He was relieved by Carruthers, who finished the game without being scored upon.

The teams were as follows:

Chemong Park—Dormer, p, m; Dobson, 2b; Hall, 3b; L. LeBarr, 1b; Delahaye, lf; Baker, ss; Haskell, c; T. LeBarr, rf; Board, cf; Carruthers, p.

Umpires—Dugan and Scates.

Selwyn 2; Lakefield 1.

This was one of the best games of the Junior series, Lakefield being defeated by one run, the final score standing 2-1 for Selwyn. Madill pitched for Lakefield and Elliott for Selwyn. Both pitchers were given good support and neither were hit hard.

The players:

Lakefied—McIlmoyl, R. Payne, Erskine, Northey, Webster, Stabler, Porter, Hamlin, Madill.

Selywn—Wilson, W. Elliott, M. Wilson, Oliver, Branch, Blewett, C. McIlmoyl, I. McConky, McNeely.

Umpires—Nixon and Morrison.

Bery Bay To Try For Sculling Honors

VANCOUVER, B.C., Aug. 12.—(Canadian Press).—Major Goodwell of Australia, present title holder, and Bery Bary, of England, challenger, have signed articles of agreement for their race for the world's sculling championship on the afternoon of Labor Day Sept. 5, over a three mile course at Port Moody, ten miles east of Vancouver on Burrard Inlet.

Havoline Oil 7; White's 2.

In this game the Havoline Oil defeated Ab White's team by a score of 7-2. This was a great battle and pleased the large crowd of spectators who witnessed it. Waddell pitched for the Havoline and twirled a great game, having 10 strikeouts. He was well caught by his battery mate, "Chubby" Dugan. Nicholls twirled for White's team and was hit hard. He was given good support but could not hold the Havoline hitters in check.

The teams lined up as follows:

White's—Dundas, c; Smith, 1b; F. Ash, cf; Weese, 2b; C. Ash, lf; Wilson, 3b; Heard, ss; Vinnette, rf; Robertson, rf; Nichols, p.

Havoline Oil—Dugan, c; Maudsley, 1b; Crary, 2b; Powell, 2b; Ramsden, lf; Bradshaw, 3b; Holland, cf; Kelly, rf; Sturgeon, rf; Waddell, p.

Umpires—Gibson and Morrison.

Bridgenorth 11; Norwood 6.

The Bridgenorth team kept up their winning streak by defeating Norwood 11-6. Scates was on the mound for Bridgenorth. After his team has secured a comfortable margin he was replaced by Robinson, who kept Norwood in check for the remainder of the game. Scott did the twirling for Norwood and showed a great bunch of smoke. Had his team mates given him better support he would have turned in a victory.

The teams lined up as follows:

Bridgenorth — Wood, Forsythe, Mann, G. Dormer, Bredin, Robinson, Nicholls, Shearers, Scates.

Norwood—H. Buck, Quinlan, D. Brown, Ray Scott, McGee, Roy Scott, Montgomery, R. McNeely, D. McNeely.

Umpires—Nixon and Morrison.

Selwyn 15; Gilmour Girls 0.

Selwyn boys beat the Gilmour girls 15-0 in an exhibition game. The players were:

Gilmour Girls—H. Millburn, L. McGregor, G. Blewett, C. Grant, M. Milburn, L. Sanderson, V. Stalker, I. Anderson, P. Jopling.

Selwyn—J. McConky, C. Gitzgerald Elliott, Tully, Nixon, McIlmoyll, H. McConkey, M. Rosy, Galvin.

Umpire—Nixon.

Selwyn 7; Bridgenorth 6.

Selwyn won the much coveted Junior Challenge Cup, defeating Bridgenorth 7-6, scoring two runs in the last inning to win out. Scates was on the mound again for Bridgenorth and was hit hard. He weakened badly at the last and Selwyn shoved over their seven run in the last three innings. Elliott was on the mound for Selwyn and twirled good ball. He was given fair support by his team mates. In the last inning he struck out three Bridgenorth batters to retire the side.

The teams were:

Selwyn—O Wilson, Elliott, M. Wilson, Oliver, Branch, Blewett, C. McIlmoyl, McConkey, McNeeley.

Bridgenorth—Scates, White, Robinson, Shearer, Nicholls, G. Dormer, Wood, Forsythe, Mann.

Umpires—Hall and H. Dormer.

Chemong Park 10; Havoline Oil 7.

The particulars of this game have been explained at the introduction of this article. Powell started on the mound but was a trifle wild. He was relieved by Waddell in the fourth with the bases full. Waddell pitched himself out of the hole by striking out Delahaye and Baker and getting Haskell on an easy fly. He weakened in the seventh and the Park sent in four runs. Carruthers twirled for the Park and pitched a good game. He was given air tight support by his team.

Holland, in centre field for the Havoline, made the prettiest catch of the day and one of the best seen in some time. He made a one-handed stab of a tremendous drive Lew LeBarr while travelling at top speed. The hit was labelled for a triple but Holland's great play retired the hitter.

The teams lined up as follows:

Havoline Oil—Dugan ,c; Bradshaw, 3b; Crary, 2b; Holland, cf; Ramsden, lf; Waddell, ss, p; Sturgeon, rf; Kelly, rf; Maudsley, 1b; Powell, p, ss.

Umpires — Dr. Gibson and Bill Morrison.

SENATORS WIN YANK SERIES

Mark Koenig Gives Washington 3-2 Victory by Wild Throw.

RUTH GOES HITLESS

NEW YORK, August 11. — Canadian Press. — Mark Koenig threw away yesterday's game with the Senators at Washington in the 11th inning, Judge scoring after a triple when the Yankee shortstop, relaying Ruth's return, heaved the ball into the field boxes. This gave Washington the game, 3 to 2, and evened the series.

Lisenbee, a recruit with four victories already to his credit this season over the league leaders, held New York to eight hits.

Babe Ruth, who has a big day at bat on Wednesday, went hitless.

At Detroit, the Tigers bunched hits of Walter Stewart and defeated St. Louis, 6 to 2, in the second game of the series. Marty McManus, formerly infielder of the Browns, had an important part in the victory over his former team mates. His three hits not only gave him a perfect batting average for the day, but also figured in four Detroit runs.

The Athletics and the Boston Red Sox exchanged shutouts in a double header at Philadelphia. The Mackmen won the first game by a 4 to 0 score and the Red Sox took the second, 2 to 0. Howard Enmke gained the distinction of being the first Athletic hurler to pitch a shutout game this season in winning the opening game. Four double plays helped "Slim" Harriss shut out his old team mates in the final contest.

The Indians opened the series with Chicago at Cleveland by defeating the White Sox 2 to 1 in a 10 inning game, which was a pitcher's battle, with Thomas and Miller each allowing seven hits, striking out four men and passing three.

MENIE EVENS LEAGUE FINAL

Defeats Bethel 16-1 in Second Game of Play-Offs.

NEXT GAME AT GLEN

BURNBRAE, Aug. 12.—Menie softball team turned the tables on Bethel with a vengeance on Tuesday evening when they defeated the easterners at Stirling by a score of 16 to 1. Both teams played good ball in the field. Bethel scored their only counter early in the game as a result of Menie's lone wobble. Shillinglaw evened up with a homer and then the deluge began.

For the last half of the game, Menie batters pounded K. Broadworth's offerings to every corner of the lot except where the fielders were and collected several extra base blows including two homers for Frank Little. Eagleson was in rare form and had the Bethel heavy hitters swinging wildly at his fast ones. Forces at second and double killings were fielding features with both sides having a share.

This evens up the series with a game each. The third and deciding match will take place on the Glen Ross grounds on Friday evening. It is expected that the whole Menie and Burnbrae population will move to the Glen for that evening to cheer their favorites along to victory.

Menie—Eagleson, p; S. Little, c; Shillinglaw, 1b; L. Little, 2b; Rannie, 3b; Linn, ss; Petherick, lf; Walker, cf; F. Little, rf.

Bethel—K. Broadworth, p; W. Warren, c; Gibson, 1b; Dodwell, 2b; E. Broadworth, 3b; A. Warren, ss; Carlisle, lf; G. Broadworth, cf; Walter Warren, rf.

Umpires—Whitby and Jeffs.

CHICAGO WINS OPENING GAME

Heathcote's Triple With Men on Aids in Cincinnati Defeat.

PITCHING DUEL

NEW YORK, Aug. 12. — Cliff Heathcote's triple in the third inning with English and Root on bases enabled Chicago to shut out Cincinnati 2 to 0 in the first game of the series at Chicago yesterday, and permit Charlie Root to mark up his twenty first victory of the season.

The game was a great pitching duel between Root and Cuban, Adolfo Luque. The Cubs gleaned only five hits off Luque's delivery, three of which however, came in the third inning.

Root was touched for six hits but was given sensational support by his mates, two snappy double plays breaking up Cincinnati rallies. Allen of the Reds made three of their six hits, two doubles and a single.

At St. Louis, Grover Cleveland Alexander allowed only four hits and the St. Louis Cardinals gained on the second place Pittsburgh Pirates by winning, 2 to 1. Aldridge allowed only one hit prior to the seventh inning in which Frisch doubled and Bottomley hit for the circuit.

Miljus replaced him. The Pirates only run was on L. Waner's homer in the sixth.

With only five hits to work on, the Giants broke through Dazzy Vance's speedball hurling yesterday for the first time in five starts this season and nosed out the Brooklyn Dodgers 3 to 2 at the Polo Grounds. Bill Terry's sacrifice with the bases full in the ninth scored Lindstrom from thrid with the winning counter.

Travis Jackson belted home the Giants' first run in the fifth with his seventh home run of the season.

At Boston, the Braves and Phillies staged an up and down ball game with the Tribe finally emerging victors by a score of 5 to 4. What proved to be the winning run was Willoughby, who earlier had effectively relieved Decatur, passed three men and was nicked for a single by Brown, forcing the lone tally. Heavy hitting by Spalding and Mokan accounted for three Philly runs.

Reading Rallies After Toronto Ties Score in Ninth Inning

TRIBE WIN 1-0

NEW YORK, Aug. 11. —(Canadian Press). — After Toronto tied the score in the ninth, Reading rallied for the winning counter and nosed out the Leafs, 7 to 6, at Reading, yesterday, to even the series. Quellich opened the inning with a single and Trexler sent him to second with a sacrifice. Wilkie singled to centre to score Quellich with the winning run.

At Jersey City, a squeeze play by Gilhooley and Lawry in the tenth inning gave Rochester a 1 to 0 victory over Skeeters at Jersey City.

Buffalo smashed its way to victory over the Orioles yesterday at Baltimore with four runs— Bissonette's two giving him a tally of 22 for the season to lead Porter of the locals who has 21 to his credit. The score was 7 to 4. Fisher and Anderson also hit for the circuit.

At Newark, Mamaux's fine pitching gave the Bears their fifth straight victory over the Syracuse Stars by the score of 3 to 1.

DELORO PLAYS C.N.R. IN FINALS

Belleville Team Has Lost Six Games To Smelters This Year.

MARMORA, August 12. — Belleville's defeat of Point Anne 2-0 and Deloro's win over Belleville 8-1 in Wednesday's double header at the Quinte City, decided the Bay of Quinte play-offs, as between the Smelters and the Nationals.

The league standing for the season is:

	Won.	Lost.
Deloro	9	3
Belleville	5	7
Point Anne	4	8

As Deloro have won their six games with Belleville thus far they are favored for the Bay of Quinte championship, but the unexpected can happen and two close games should be seen.

CAIRNS RUNNER UP IN WHITBY TOURNEY

Local Rink Defeated By Uxbridge Men in the Finals.

OSHAWA, Aug. 12. — Top honours in the Primary event which carries with it the Farewell Cup went to "Joe" Kennedy of Uxbridge whose rink bowled a steady game throughout the day and emerged without having met defeat. In the final game of the event the Uxbridge crew disposed of a powerful Peterborough aggregation skipped by G. Cairns.

Twenty three rinks took part in the tournament and all the bowling clubs in the district were represented.

First place in the Consolation event which started on Tuesday and finished early this morning was won by C. H. Peacock's rink with a strong Oshawa rink. As winners of this year of the D. A. J. Swanson trophy. In the consolation final the Peacock rink was stacked against another Oshawa quartette led by "Bill" Goold. The game was a nip and tuck struggle with the honours closely divided, and when the final end had been played the winners were found with a narrow two point margin.

GORDON CUP FINAL ON SATURDAY

Masseys Meet the Present Holders (Thistle) at King Edward Park.

The most important soccer game of the season takes place on Saturday afternoon at King Edward Park when the league champions—Masseys— meet the Thistle in the final cup tie for the G. N. Gordon trophy.

So far, the Masseys have gained possession of two trophies this season but are very anxious to gain the Gordon silverware because of its beautiful appearance; also so as to have their names engraved upon it, alongside the now defunct C. G. E. team that were the first winners of the cup.

It is now three seasons ago since the Thistle first won the cup and have held it for that period. Hugh Richmond was the leading goal scorer in the competition. At present, the Jags lack goal-scoring artists while Laidler is the Masseys leading marksman.

The fans are assured of a real battle, from the start to the finish, that will be controlled by the official referee—John Ward, who will get the game started at three o'clock prompt.

The Masseys team will be: Fowler, goal, Buchan and Wade, full-backs; Logan, Mann and Blowers, halves; Willis, G. Logan, Beggs or Dyer, Sharman, Laidler or Hanson forwards.

The Thistle team will be chosen just before the game starts.

WILLS TO COMPETE IN TENNIS CONTEST

U. S. Tennis Stars to Enter Wightman Cup Match Today.

NEW YORK, N.Y., Aug. 12.—(Canadian Press).—Women tennis stars of the United States led by Helen Wills, will enter the Wightman Cup contest today at Forest Hills favorites to successfully defend the team trophy against the challenge of a well-balanced British squad captained by Mrs. Kitty McKane Godfree. Each nation has won the trophy twice.

The defending team is rated somewhat stronger in singles, where Miss Wills will have the support of the national champion, Mrs. Molla Mallory, and another California, Miss Helen Jacobs, while the doubles teams are regarded as closely matched.

The series, consisting of five singles and two doubles contests, will start with three matches this afternoon, and be concluded Saturday with the remaining four matches.

The chief color and interest in the play centres about the two featured matches Saturday, on which the team result probably will depend. In the first of these the rival young stars of England and the United States, 16 year old Betty Nuthall and 18 year old Helen Jacobs—will meet. In the other, the opposing number 1 players, Miss Wills and Mrs. Godfree will renew a duel that has developed many spectacular battle between them in the past three years.

Today Miss Wills will open the series with the Number 2 British singles player, Miss Joan Fry, as her opponent, after which Mrs. Mallory will meet Mrs. Godfree. In the doubles, Mrs. Alfred H. Chapin, Jr., of Hyannis, Mass., will team with Miss Eleanor Goss of New York to oppose the British combination of Mrs. John Hill and Mrs. Gwenneth Sterry.

Saturday's matches, in addition to the Wills-Godfree and Jacobs-Nuthall contests, will bring together Mrs. Mallory and Miss Fry in the singles, also the doubles team of Miss Wills and Mrs. Hazel Wightman, United States team captain, against Mrs. Godfree and Miss F. H. Harvey.

Star Sterling's Problem

A Serial for Boys - By BERT REED

OUT OF A BAD HOLE.

In the sixth, misfortune dealt the Riverviews a crashing blow. Larkspur nosed out a nice little single and Sterling sacrificed him to second. As Larry reached the sack, he swayed for a moment, then crumpled up. Sterling was the first of the Riverviews to reach him. With a weak effort Larkspur attempted to rise, but collapsed again.

A doctor hurried on to the diamond.

"You'll have to get this man to the hotel at once," he ordered crisply. "He'll be all right," he added. "I'll look after him."

Lark was hurried away. The Riverview team was left with eight men.

"There's nothing for it, fellows," said Sterling to the team that had gathered round him, "we'll have to quit."

At that moment a young fellow pushed his way through and tapped Sterling's shoulder.

Starr turned. It was Grahame, the chap that he had assisted the night before, and also whom he had seen with Bascombe that morning.

"You're one man short, Sterling," he offered, "and I'll fill in."

Starr's first impulse was to refuse.

"It's good of you, Grahame," he returned. "Did Bascombe send you across?"

There was a touch of sarcasm in his voice.

Grahame flushed. "All right," he retorted, "I ain't buttin' in where I'm not wanted, but you bird 'll have to toss this game, if you don't get some one. If you think Bascombe's mixing in on this, you've got another think comin'."

Suddenly Starr made a decision.

"If you'll play in Larkspur's place, Grahame, we'll be glad to have you."

It was in the first half of the ninth that, for a moment, Sterling regretted his decision. Long Point still retained ts lead of one run, Riverview having failed to tally. Warner was up and drove a hot grounder toward short. Grahame scooped it handsomely—then juggled it long enough to allow the new Long Point shortstop to reach first.

It might have been accidental: Sterling could not say, but Warner was in the initial sack yards ahead of the ball that Grahame finally sent skimming over.

Partridge faced Sterling only long enough to see him deliver three balls. Then Hansen grabbed his bat and faced the young Riverview twirler. The great Dane connected with the horsehide of Sterling's first delivery—a long straight drive, that put Warner on third and himself on second.

Captain Dunn trotted out with a look of eager expectation on his face. He rapped out an easy infield fly that Starr himself gathered in.

Two men were out, but two were on bases. The honor of clinching the game was offered to Blenkarn, Long Point's right fielder.

Plenkarn was cautious. He failed to be drawn by Sterling's first ball that was a trifle wide. He connected with the next,—sent it speeding over Grahame's head, but not right over. In that play Grahame showed the stuff that made him eligible for big eague company.

Straight into the air he jumped—his long arm adding another three eet to his jump. Smack! The sphere smashed into his bare hand, then his clutching fingers closed ove the ball and held it —the third man was out. Grahame had redeemed himself.

With a score of 1 to 0 in favor of Long Point, the Riverviews came to bat for the last time in the ninth. Chester Price headed the parade.

Hansen took no chances with Chester —with all the speed and skill he could marshall, he sent Price back to his stall by whipping three blistering balls across the plate. Hollway followed by sending up a fly which Grogan smothered. Was it all over? Two were out and not a man had reached first.

Gray was careful in his selection of a bat. He was a quiet sort of fellow, who did things deliberately, and in the same deliberate manner he let the Great Dane's first ball pass. He was waiting for the ball he wanted.

On Hansen's third pitched ball he got it—so did the ball—a nice little ride that landed in right garden and Gray on first. Grahame came to bat.

Starr was nervous. He had not solved Grahame. That there was something between him and Chip Bascombe he was certain, and now—would Grahame throw the game?

Hansen grinned as he whistled a sizzler across the pan—Grahame hadn't wriggled a finger.

"Strike one!" bellowed the ump. And then like it, the same place—not a move from the volunteer short.

"Strike two!"

Was Grahame paralyzed?

The grin on Hansen's face broadened —then Grahame knocked it off. With a short, sharp swing and a rifle-like crack, the old horsehide cut a streak in the ozone. Stevens in centre, stabbed the air in a wild attempt to pull it down. He missed it by ten inches.

Gray and Grahame capered round the bags—the volunteer shortstop had won the game.

Late that evening, Sterling ran into Chip Bascombe talking excitedly to another man. The other was Grahame.

"Double-cross me, will you," he snarled, "and after doping Larkspur?" Starr stopped.

"I'll have a nice little story to tell Sterling."

Grahame laughed.

"Bascombe, you made one mistake when you picked on me to do your dirty work. I'm not in your class. I don't know what happened Larkspur, for the powder has never been out of my pocket. But it's coming now. With a quick flit of his hand he pulled the packet from his pocket and flung the contents into Bascombe's face.

Then, with a short laugh; walked away.

Lyrics Of Life

(By Douglas Malloch.)

...Y GREAT.

The ... must stand three tests,
On these ... failure rests:
When doubted most must still dream on,
Dream even when all hope is gone.
And then, when that dear dream comes true,
And hands applaud, as hands will do,
Must have the strength, amid acclaim,
To bear the sudden load of fame.

But even that is not enough,
Men must be made of better stuff:
In failure men must still be brave,
In fortune modestly behave.

And then will come the third demand,
A new temptation to withstand
To prove a man's a man or not—
How well he bears it when forgot.

For every man at morning's light
Who found him famous overnight,
A hundred others wake to find
Them faded from the public mind.
When new names shoulder yours aside,
And when the loud applause has died,
If you keep sweet through changing fate,
Three tests have shown you truly great.

OSHAWA PLAYS HERE SATURDAY

Kiwanis Juniors Meet St. Andrew's in O.B.A.A. Series.

TWO FAST TEAMS.

The first game of the district junior baseball play-offs will take place to-morrow afternoon at 3 o'clock, at James Stevenson Park, when the Kiwanis Juniors, winners of the Junior City League championship, will meet the St. Andrew's team from Oshawa.

The Oshawa team is a fast set. The local boys have been practising hard, and it is expected that a real game will be put across.

Lefty Guiry in all probability will start for Jack Deannard's team. In his last game he made no mean showing against Oshawa Motors, but he failed to get support in the field. Since then the team have been playing better ball, and is looking forward to a win over the Oshawa outfit.

A big gold yield is expected from gravel and crushed rock being taken from the river bed from the concrete pouring.

MANAGERS CHOOSE FIGHTERS CAMPS

Dempsey and Tunney Will Train About 35 Miles From Chicago.

CHICAGO, Aug. 12. — (Canadian Press). — Looking over Chicago's suburbs with as much care as President Coolidge's envoys searched the middle west from the summer White House, house hunters for Dempsey have chosen the race course, Linsoln Field, and Tunney's manager has picked the Cedart Crest County Club, as training camps for their impending championship fight.

Dempsey's camp, if the challenger approves of the arrangements—on his arrival next Thursday, will be thirty five miles south of Chicago. Tunney's training quarters will be about the same distance north west.

Irish Hearts

By MOLLIE MALONE

Copyright 1927, Warner Bros. Pictures, Inc.

"IRISH HEARTS," with May McAvoy, is a Warner Bros. picturization of this novel.

SYNOPSIS

Emmett Murtough of Killanmaul, Ireland, emigrates to America and is followed by Sheila Kildare, to whom he is bethrothed, and her father. Sheila makes friends with the family of Rory O'Shea, a professional boxer whom Emmett scorns. Sheila begins to see through Murtough's boasting, and Rory escorts her to Coney Island on an automobile trip. Kildare will not work and Sheila gets a position as a waitress. Murtough is now employed by a bootlegging gang.

CHAPTER VII—Continued

The place had been one of the fine estates which were constructed twenty odd years ago. Behind the house was a huge barn, and when the car approached it a voice from behind it suddenly queried, sharp and low:

"That you, Dixon?" Dixon halted the machine.

"Yes."

"All right. Everything's ready. We've gone over the truck, plenty of gas, oil, water, everything's shipshape. Stretch your legs a minute."

The four men piled out, stiff from the long ride from the city. Simmons, in charge of the cache, guided them into the barn. It was inc pitch darkness. As the last man entered Simmons switched on a flashlight. The truck stood facing the double barn doors. On roughly constructed bunks, covered with blankets, two other men were resting. Simmons turned on two auto lamps, went to what was formerly a harness closet and brought forth bottles of liquor and cups. The men helped themselves to the liquor, drinking it raw.

"That's real stuff, hasn't been cut," Simmons remarked.

"Mannie's got a tip off that Stevens is going to try to lift this load on the way in. Hear anything?"

Murtough pulled a flashlight from his pocket and examined Evens.

"Haven't seen anything suspicious around here all day, but, of course, they'll work nearer to the city. Better take another shot if that's true. That Stevens crowd is a rough one," warned Simmons.

"Well, he'll have to go some to get us," Murtough declared as he flung down another drink of the liquor. "Better fill up a couple of flasks, one for the truck and one for Dixon," he suggested. Simmons got two pint flasks and opening another bottle filled them, handing one to Murtough and one to the driver of the pilot car.

"I been in these rackets," Simmons went on. "Watch one thing, don't let 'em cut your truck off from your pilot. If you do, they've got you where you can't help each other."

"Okey, Murtough?" asked Dixon. "Right, let's go!"

Dixon and Williams went out through the small door to the pilot car and Murtough and Evans clambered on board the truck. He started the engine and let it run until he was satisfied it was warm. Simmons and one of his helpers opened the double doors.

"All right, let's go," called Murtough. The pilot car turned into the road and the truck followed. The pacemaker slowly climbed in speed from twenty to twenty-five, thirty, thirty-five, and soon they were bowling along at an even forty miles an hour, a pace that must be maintained until they came into the city.

An hour passed. They were taking the back roads, roads that were good driving but which avoided meeting with other motor traffic. There were a dozen such back country thoroughfares leading to the city and if they were fortunate it was probable that they might thus evade the Stevens ambuscade, if there was to be one that night. Dixon was driving with dimmers only and his red tail lights. Murtough carried no lights at all. The distance between the pilot car and the truck seemed to maintain an even fifty feet regardless of the character of the going. The whiskey had warmed Murtough and the thrill of driving headlong into the black night with only those two red eyes ahead to guide him was upon him.

A shot rang out. Murtough saw in a single flash the red lights careen to the right of the road ahead. It was now his business to drive into or over any obstacle that lay in his path until he had passed the pilot car. That had been the plan. Suddenly he was blinded by powerful automobile searchlights turned full onto the truck from cars parked on either side of the road. Involuntarily he threw on his brake. Another shot and Evans slipped from his place beside Murtough and into the roadway. Murtough felt the impact of a bullet in his right shoulder and a hairbreadth second later heard the explosion of the gun that had driven it there. Out of the darkness beside the parked cars stepped six men.

Two approached Dixon's car and ordered him out. Murtough saw him full in the bright light as he himself climbed with difficulty down from his seat at the order of the hi-jackers who covered him with their automatics. The pilot car had slithered into the sandy ditch on the right and seemed to be out of commission.

"Quick," snapped the head of the highwaymen. "Into that truck there. I'll lead. You, Jack, follow up the truck." Not five minutes had passed until the hi-jackers, with the front and rear motorsguards were escorting the speeding truck cityward.

Murtough pulled a flashlight from his hip pocket and examined Evens. He was dead. He carried the body to the pilot car. Dixon was assisting Williams, badly wounded, into the rear seat of the pilot car.

"How did you come out, Murtough?"

"Clipped in the shoulder. Hurts but don't think it's bad."

"They missed me," Dixon said. "We'll have to leave Evans—can't do anything for him anyway, poor devil. Come on, make yourself comfortable in the front seat with me. We don't dare start yet."

Dixon got out his flask and lifted it to the lips of Williams. The bullet had entered the abdomen and Williams was cursing with pain. Murtough got at his own flask and drank deeply.

"Now, we got to cover up until this blows over," Dixon said, as he climbed into the driver's seat and lighted cigarettes for himself and Murtough. Williams could not hold a cigarette to his lips. "You, too, have got to have a doctor and quick, but you'll have to stand it until we reach the city. Can't trust a stranger. And you'll both have to hide out. Williams may have to be put in a private hospital with that wound he's got. You'll only have to lay low until your shoulder heals. Nothing serious about a shoulder scratch. I'll look after Williams. Got any place you can go? You can't go to your own room, you know, not wounded like that, the police would ask questions."

"I don't know." Murtough thought of friends, but there was not one that could be called upon in such a grave emergency. "Yes. Take me to Tom Kildare's flat in Fifty-third Street. He'll look after me."

"All right, let's go. Williams, you'll have to grin and bear it," Dixon called back to the man in the tonneau. "You need a doctor badly and I've got to get you there, so I'll have to step on it."

The big car pulled out of the ditch easily. It was unharmed and Dixon swung it purringly down the straight, smooth road. Dixon drove directly to Dr. Norton's Sanitarium, a licensed hospital but one which asked no questions concerning the whys or wherefores of its patients. There he saw that Williams was cared for and the bullet in Murtough's shoulder was extracted. After the dressing Emmett was practically free of pain.

It was daybreak when Sheila was awakened by low knocking on the door of the flat. She called her father and Old Tom received Murtough.

"Ye got to take care of me for a few days," Murtough told Kildare. Sheila, a shawl over her nightgown, ran to him.

"Oh, ye're hurt! Emmett, ye're hurt!"

"What happened?" asked Old Tom.

"My truck was held up. I was plugged before I had a chance to get out of my seat."

"But ye should be in a hospital," cried Sheila.

"I had it treated and it's all right, but I must put up here for a few days now."

"But why? Ye havn't done anything?" queried Sheila anxiously. "You've not got into any trouble."

"No, but, well, ye see there's no one to do a thing for me where I got my room," stammered Murtough. He had not had time to fix in his own mind a plausible story. "Just let me lie down now and get some rest."

"Take him into my room an' put him to bed, father. Oh, Emmett, I know it must be hurting awful!"

ENGINES TO HAVE "SOUL ONCE MORE."

By NEA Service

NEW YORK, Aug. 12.—Back in Civil War times, and well into the seventies, the passenger locomotive was a thing of individuality—more than just a colorless mass of powerful machinery. Those early engines were covered with polished brasswork; they were decorated in colour and had names emblazoned in gold on the boiler-head and cab.

Then, in the interests of economy, the brass was covered with paint, individual names were forbidden and the bright decorations were left off.

But some of the old romance is coming back now. At least two railroads are dressing up their iron horses. The newest New York Central locomotive will be painted in battleship gray and trimmed in aluminum and shining black. And the Baltimore and Ohio soon will put 20 new engines painted in olive green, gold and red, each one named after a president of the United States.

POST'S BED BUG POISON.

Post's Bed Bug Poison is composed of carbolic acid, Methyl Hydrate and Corrosive sublimate. When this preparation is used according to directions, it is sure death to bed bugs, cockroaches and insects of all descriptions. Two or three applications are all that is necessary, but as it is very poisonous, this preparation should be kept out of reach of children.

OUTLINE OF SCIENCE — CCLVII—Science in the World War—Part V. — by MAX HAHN

THE INVENTION OF LEWISITE, THE MOST DEADLY POISON GAS USED IN THE WORLD WAR, IS SAID TO HAVE BEEN AN ACCIDENT. ACCORDING TO THE STORY, W. LEE LEWIS WAS WORKING IN A COLLEGE LABORATORY WHEN HE DISCOVERED THE DEADLY COMPOUND QUITE BY CHANCE. AS SOON AS HE REALIZED ITS TREMENDOUS KILLING POWER HE DESTROYED THE COMPOUND AND FORGOT ABOUT IT UNTIL THE WORLD WAR.

WHEN PROFESSOR LEWIS DISCARDED HIS COLLEGIATE ROBES FOR A CAPTAIN'S UNIFORM HE REVIEWED HIS EXPERIMENT AND DEVISED THE NEW POISON WHICH WAS GIVEN THE NAME OF LEWISITE IN HIS HONOR. THIS OIL-LIKE YELLOW COMPOUND IS MORE THAN 50 TIMES AS DEADLY AS ANY POISON GAS USED BY THE ENEMY.

© McClure Newspaper Syndicate

ARMY MEN FAMILIAR WITH LEWISITE ASSERT THAT A SINGLE DROP IS SUFFICIENT TO KILL A PERSON, ALTHOUGH THE DROP MERELY FALLS ON THE VICTIM'S BODY. WHEN EXPOSED TO THE AIR, LEWISITE CHANGES FROM A LIQUID TO FUMES. AND FLAMES SHOOT UP AS IT DROPS INTO WATER.

WE CAN BE GLAD THAT THE WAR DEPARTMENT HAS DESTROYED ALL BUT A FEW SMALL SAMPLES OF LEWISITE, WHICH IT HAS STORED IN A SAFE PLACE. TONS AND TONS OF THE DEADLY COMPOUND—ENOUGH TO KILL HUNDREDS OF THOUSANDS OF PEOPLE—WERE READY FOR USE IN THE FALL OF 1918.

CHILDREN SHOW SKILL ON WATER

WEATHER IS IDEAL.

One of the most enjoyable outings of the season was held yesterday at Chemong Lake when a large number of children and grown-ups gathered in front of J. K. Hughes' cottage to take part in the water activities which had been scheduled for the children's regatta.

The fondest expectations of the kiddies were realized when the ideal weather conditions, which prevailed yesterday, heralded a perfect day for water sports.

A large number of boys and girls, from tiny tots up to fifteen years of age, were gathered on the beach to take part or merely be lookers-on in the program which was to follow:

Enthusiasm ran high and there was no one present who would not be interested in the activities of the children and feel an excitement almost equal to their's.

An excellent program of sports had been prepared and was run of without confusion due to the excellent co-operation of the members of the committee and the judges.

The entries were numerous and each race was keenly contested. The children showed remarkable skill in the water and their efforts were well cheered by interested spectators. A pillow fight proved a very amusing sight as it required some skill to retain balance on the slippery log. No accidents occurred yesterday to mar the pleasure of the outing.

The judges were J. E. Patte, W. J. Thompson, Dr. MacPherson, and J. K. Hughes

G. H. Roper acted as starter; R. Breyfogle as announcer, and Dr. MacPherson as clerk.

Immediately after the program the presentation of prizes took place. The following is a list of the prize winners:

RED AND WHITE STORES PICNIC

Merchants of Peterborough and Surrounding Places Enjoy Outing.

HELD AT COBOURG.

The first annual picnic of the Red and White Chain Stores was held at Cobourg yesterday afternoon; all Red and White stores closing for the occasion. Merchants from Peterborough, Toronto, Belleville, and from the surrounding districts attended in a body accompanied by their families and friends.

R. C. Herald, general manager of the warehouse in this city, stated that the picnic yesterday was an event that would be looked forward to with great anticipation by the merchants in the coming year, for it might be termed "a perfect day" for all business was forgotten for the day and young and old entered into the sports with the same vigor.

Over a hundred people sat down to supper, each family providing its own basket, and following this many stayed for the band concert at Cobourg while others went to the dance at the pavilion at Port Hope.

The following are the results of the races held in the afternoon:

Boys and Girls, 10 years and under.—1, Mildred Goheen; 2, Olga Preston.

Boys, 12 and under—1, Trethewey; 2, Leslie Hoyland.

Girls, 12 and under.—1, Audrey Turner; 2, Margaret Dunlop.

Married Ladies' Race.—Mrs. Trennum.

Single Ladies' Race.—1, Mary Batten; 2, Hazel Bullied.

Three-legged Race.—Mary Batten and Blanche Ostrander.

Married Mens' Race.—1, W. Grady; 2, R. Watson.

Single Men's Race.—1, Roland Penrose

This firm is becoming very popular with the buying public and many are beginning to know what a Red and White chain store really is—a cooperation of the merchants with the John Sloan wholesale company in an effort to lower the prices on merchandise for the citizens of this city and other centres.

INSTRUCTOR SAVES GIRL FROM DEATH

Brings Her From Bottom of the Lake and Applies First Aid While Swimming.

HAMILTON, Aug. 12.—John Murphy, James Street North, swimming instructor at the Civic Bathing Beach, made a thrilling rescue of Norma Edwards, a 14 year old girl, who was heard to scream and seen to sink about 150 yards from shore. Using a powerful crawl stroke, instructor Murphy reached the spot in a few moments, and after diving several times recovered the girl's body lying on the floor of the bay in 15 feet of water. She was clutching a growth of weeds.

Mr. Murphy resorted to first-aid as soon as he brought the girl's body to the surface and thus forced much water from her lungs. She began to breathe when shore was reached, and was revived after a few minutes of effort. Mr. Murphy's presence of mind has been commended warmly, as his promptness resulted in the girl's life being restored, it was stated.

QUEBEC BREWER TO SELL AT HOME

TORONTO, Aug. 11. — Finding that they can dispose of their product to better advantage and at a greater profit in the Province of Quebec, where their breweries are located, then selling under the regulations of the Ontario Liquor Control Board, a large brewery concern has intimated that unless they are allowed to charge 25 cents a case more, they will withdraw from the Ontario field on September 1.

Speaking last night, a large Ontario brewer said that the Montreal concern, which may cease to do business in Ontario unless allowed higher prices, has the largest demand for its product through the Government stores. They have figured it out that the Government license of $5,000, the charge of $400 for use of a community warehouse, freight charges on the product and empties and delivery charges in Toronto means 40 cents a case, and they claim that at the present prices they are allowed to charge here they will be able to sell at a larger profit, direct from their plant in Montreal for local consumption or for export. The Ontario brewer, said the Montreal Brewery could sell to an agent in Montreal and perhaps a lot of the beer would find its way into Ontario and ultimately into the hands of bootleggers at border points or even in Toronto.

Ontario brewers are watching the matter with a good deal of interest

POLICE SEEKING STOLEN GOODS

Find Seal Coat and Silverware at Holland Landing.

CATTLE WANDERING.

BEETON, Aug. 12 — Holland Landing came into the Beeton crime picture yesterday afternoon when the Provincial Police dug up an empty lard tub containing a seal coat worth $500 and a quantity of silverware, which had been stolen by Daniel Forsyth and given to Henry Thornton three days before the attack on Alexander Hodge. Thornton took the Provincial Police officers to the spot where he had buried the lard tub a day or two after Daniel Forsyth was killed in the Hodge farmhouse. Following the crime revelations he decided to hide the tub and contents. He was not held yesterday.

Cattle Wandering in District.

While the officers were in the vicinity of Holland Landing yesterday, they were advised that a number of cattle were wandering in the district and nobody seemed to own them. The police will seek the owner and if none is found they will see if the cattle have been stolen and turned loose since the cattle rustling has been exposed.

There are 13 cattle in the herd found grazing near the farm of John Crawford, Holland Landing. According to Mr. Crawford they have been in the vicinity for a week.

Edward Kickland, upon whose property much stolen property was found, and at the rear of whose farm a herd of stolen cattle were pasturing, was taken from Barrie Jail yesterday evening and asked to join in another treasure hunt. The Provincial Police believe there is more stolen property hidden, and they want it restored to the homes and stores of the owners. Hickland from the day of his arrest has assisted the police in their investigations, and, while he has not been promised immunity, representations will be made to the court on his behalf.

Two Men in Court.

Last night Provincial Police Inspectors Stringer, Rae, Gurnett and Sergt. Creasy prepared to ask for another remand for a week in all the cases which will come up before Magistrate Jeffs to-day. They are not through with their investigation, they say. There will be ten men in court. One of them is a local man, who is charged, but is not in custody. He promised the Provincial Police to appear.

The funeral of 3-year-old Martha Nevils, who died as a result of the dynamite explosion at the Nevils's farm in June, took place yesterday afternoon from the home of the grand-parents to Wilson Hill Cemetery.

It was a simple service conducted by Rev. J. Templeton of St. John's Anglican Church in the absence of the regular United Church pastor. Some 17 relatives took part in the funeral service. The mother of the dead child was unable to attend the funeral, Samuel Nevils, the father, who was allowed out on bail, appeared completely crushed. After the funeral he placed himself at the disposal of the Provincial Police to be returned to Barrie Jail.

Alderman Defends Nevils.

Ald. Nathan Phillips of Toronto, will defend Nevils. In a statement issued this afternoon the lawyer said he is convinced that Nevill's story is correct, namely that, while he may have benn involved in the delivery of stolen cattle, it was neither his intent to steal nor become an accomplice to any theft. Alderman Phillips said it was his opinion that some of the arrests at least are being made on filmsy evidence.

Manning McEwan, who was arrested on Wednesday at Weston, appeared in Police Court yesterday, and was remanded until to-day. Bail was refused.

The furcoat and silverware found yesterday were identified as the property of Mrs. Robinson, whose home in Beeton was robbed. A lady's hat and suit of clothes were taken yesterday from the home of Edward Hickland by th police.

LOCAL IMPROVEMENT NOTICE
TAKE NOTICE THAT:

1.—The Council of the Corporation of the City of Peterborough intends to construct as a local improvement a pavement on Charlotte Street from the east side of Monaghan Road to the west side of Monaghan Road and intends to specially assess a part of the cost upon the land abutting directly on the work.

2.—The estimated cost of the work is $1,189.00 of which $1,189.00 is to be paid by the Corporation. The estimated cost per foot frontage is $9.00. The special assessment is to be paid in 10 annual instalments.

3.—A petition to the said Council will not avail to prevent its construction, but a petition against the work or the manner in which it has been undertaken, may be made pursuant to Section 8 of The Local Improvement Act, to the Ontario Railway and Municipal Board, by a majority of the owners representing at least one-half of the value of the lots which are to be specially assessed therefor.

4.—A by-law for undertaking the work will be considered by the Council at a meeting thereof to be held on the sixth day of September, 1927, or at a regular or special meeting thereof to be held thereafter.

Many other features are included, and the patronage of a large crowd is deserved.

NEW CAPITAL IS PROPOSED

Expert Would Move From Ottawa Into Laurentian Hills.

CITES EXAMPLES.

OTTAWA, Aug. 12 (Canadian Press).—Transfer all Ottawa up into the Laurentian Hills and create a new Capital. That is the plan advanced by Naulon Cauchon, chairman of the Town Planning Commission here. While most people seem inclined to ridicule such a suggestion, Mr. Cauchon points to Brazil building a new capital away from Rio de Janiero, and Australia, which built Canberra.

The wills of Shakespeare and Nelson, which are preserved in Somerset House, London, are often asked for by visitors, while American tourists are especially interested in the will of William Penn.

A prize of $30.00 has been offered by an American phonograph company for the best completion of the famous "Unfinished Symphony" of Schubert, whose centenary is celebrated next year. The competition is open to the world.

WANTED YEAR, MAN ARRESTED

Harvey Lake, Who Escaped From Train, Is Caught at Stirling.

FACES THEFT CHARGE.

BELLEVILLE, Aug 12. — Canadian Press. — Harvey Lake was arrested by the provincial police in Stirling last night, and was charged to-day in the police court with theft. This man a year ago was sentenced at Bancroft to one year in the reformatory, and while being brought to this city by Constable Robinson of Bancroft, to be incarcerated, escaped from the train and was not seen nor heard of until yesterday.

GREAT LAKE LEVELS WELL MAINTAINED

Superior, Huron and Erie Higher Than in July, 1926.

OTTAWA, August 12 Canadian Press. — According to reports received by the Canadian Hydrographic Office of the Department of Marine, the levels of the Great Lakes and the St. Lawrence during the month of July, have been fairly well maintained.

This is regarded as largely due to the heavy precipitation which has occurred everywhere during the summer months.

The levels on Lake Superior were 1.80 feet higher than in July last year, Lake Huron 1.15, and Lake Erie 0.96 feet. Lake Ontario figures are not yet available

PRINCE'S STRAW SHOCKS LONDON

Only School Boys, Meat Porters and Tourists Wear Such Hats.

HATTERS IN DOUBT.

LONDON, Aug. 12 (Canadian Press). — Fashionable London has been shocked by a photograph showing the Prince of Wales in Canada wearing a hard straw hat. For forty years this has not been done in polite British circles.

Only Harrow School boys, Smithfield meat porters and tourists now wear straw hats, but since the Prince of Wales has donned one, Bond Street and Piccadilly fashion experts are wondering whether soft felts will make way for straws next summer.

MAN SUICIDES BEFORE MOTHER

Screaming Woman Watches Train Crush Skull of Son.

DOMESTIC WORRY CAUSE.

SASKATOON, Aug. 12 (Canadian Press).—As he heard the whistle of a train, Kristof Leifki ran from his home, near Grandora, Sask., followed by his screaming mother, whom he had told to take care of his child. He placed his head on the tracks in front of the train, which struck him before it could stop, crashing his skull, in sight of the mother who had reached the scene just as it happened.

Mrs. Emile Leifki, wife of the man who had committed suicide because, it was believed, of worry over the disposition of their child, four years old, was to have appeared in the City Police Court today on a charge of bigamy.

"Mother, take care of the kiddie. This is my last day on earth," were reported to be the words of the man as he ran out across the field to the tracks. No inquest will be held.

4000 COMMUTERS GET THEIR PERMITS

Many Yet To Establish Border Crossing Privilege at Detroit.

DETROT, Mich., August 11. — Slightly more than 4000 alien commuters have established their border crossing privileges since June 1, it was announced yesterday by R. B. Mathews, acting district director of immigration. The 15,000 commuters who come to Detroit from Windsor for working purposes were given from June 1, to June 1, 1923, to comply with the new order issued by the Department of Labor. There were a few more immigration adjustments made in July than in the preceding month the records show.

"The commuters now are slower in making adjustments," Mr. Mathews said, "and our inspectors have been instructed to urge commuters to adjust their status at once rather than wait until the last minute.

The slowest group of commuters those who started to commute for working purposes after July 1 ,1924, and who are required to pay a head tax of $8 and obtain an immigration visa for $10.

"Many commuters in this class are having difficulty in the office of the American consul" Mr. Mathews said. "There are those who find trouble in getting birth certificates which are requested for obtaining visas. Then there are the quota aliens who must wait their turn in the quota.

"It is our aim to distribute the adjustments during the alloted period as equally as possible so as to avoid last-minute rushes which might result in failure of many aliens in making an adjustment in time to get the advantages under the new ruling."

LAVALLEE PAYS DEATH PENALTY

Aged Quebec Man Dies For Murder of His Daughter.

BODY CLAIMED.

THREE RIVERS, Que., August 12 (Canadian Press). — Alexander Lavallee, 73-year-old murderer of St. Etienne des Gres, was hanged this morning for the killing of his own daughter, Rose Anna, wife of Louis de Vaudreuil, on August 10, 1926. He was very calm and walked firmly to the gallows.

Mass was said in the local jail by Father Verschelden, of Montreal, and after Lavallee was brought out on to the scaffold he murmured prayers, repeating them after the priest, while the noose was being adjusted, and was still praying when Hangman Ellis sprung the trap.

Death was instantaneous. The body was taken down after seventeen minutes, and was claimed by the aged man's attorneys. Burial, in accordance with the last wishes of the prisoner, will take place at St. Etienne des Gres.

PARALYSIS SERUM STOPPING EPIDEMIC

FORT WORTH, Texas, August 11. —Serum treatment, which has been developed by Forth Worth physicians in the fight against the infantile paralysis epidemic prevalent for the last sixty days over the south-west, is having marked results, and the crest of the disease wave is now passed, it was announced here yesterday afternoon by Dr. L. H. Martin, Public Health Director

"We have had reports of serum treatment in five recent cases, and in each the paralysis was stopped immediately," Dr. Martin said. "It is too early yet to tell whether it will have such good results in every case, but prospects are very encouraging. Experiments are now being made in an effort to find out if the serum will not act as a preventive."

Martin said that the treatment consists of the injection of serum taken from a patient recently recoved from the disease into the blood stream of one in which paralysis had just set in. Only about three teaspoons of blood are taken from the person just recovered. Discovery of the serum has given the Health Department something definite to go on in combating the disease, Martin said, as heretofore there has been no certain or even partially effective treatment.

Dr. A. H. Crouch, city epidemologist, is conducting research work on paralysis in connection with foods eaten by victims, susceptibility to other diseases and weather conditions at date of onslaught. The serum experiments will be offered to other cities, similarly afflicted. The death-rate has been very high everywhere.

OBITUARY.

WILLIAM DAVID JOHNSTON

Died in Peterborough, on Thursday, August 11, 1927.

William David Johnston, son of the late Thomas Johnston, in his 69th year. He leaves to mourn his loss, four daughters: Mrs. Pinhey-Berring, Sask., Miss Marion, Toronto, Mrs. A. C. VOL. LX., No. 36 — PETERBOROUGH, SATURDAY, AUGUST 13, 1927 — PRICE THREE CENTS

DERRY DAY IS CELEBRATED BY DISTRICT BLACK KNIGHTS

Five Hundred Members of Preceptories Walk at Campbellford.

STIRRING ADDRESSES.

Hon. J. W. Edwards, Grand Master, Is Leading Speaker —Sports Programme.

CAMPBELLFORD, August 13 —(By a Staff Reporter). — Celebrating the 239th Anniversary of the Relief of Londonderry, 500 members of lodges drawn from Peterborough, Hastings and Northumberland Counties participated yesterday in the procession and programme arranged by their Campbellford hosts, Gologotha Preceptory No. 381 Royal Black Knights of Ireland.

The great event of the day was the visit of Hon. Dr. J. W. Edwards, M. P., Grand Master of the Orange Association of British North America, accompanied by Mrs. Edwards. A powerful and eloquent speech by Dr. Edwards, setting out the aims and ideals of the Order and defending it from accusations launched against it, roused the large audience in the Agricultural Grounds to a high pitch of enthusiasm.

A pleasing incident of the days proceedings was the presentation by the Campebellford Lodge of an address to Dr. Edwards and a silver flower basket filled with beautiful roses to Mrs. Edwards in recognition of the fact that yesterday was at one and the same time Derry Day and the 37th Anniversary of the Marriage of Dr. and Mrs. Edwards. The address was read by the Rev. N. Clarke Wallace, whose father was Dr. Edward's predecessor in the position of Grand Master of British North America.

In accepting the gift, Dr. Edward's after whimsically inquiring, "Am I expected to kiss the bride" answered his own question by kissing his wife in full view of the large crowd assembled before the platform. Later, in his address Dr. Edwards paid a moving tribute to his companion of the past 37 years.

You will admit that I chose a good day on which to get married," declared Dr. Edwards adding, "If you knew Mrs. Edwards as I do you would also acknowledge that I could not have selected a better partner through life."

The local arrangements were under th direction of Sir Knights J. A. Jeffs, Worshipful Preceptor, and J. I. Adams, Registrar of Golgotha Preceptory, and Sir Knight Rev. Charles D. Daniel headed the Sports Committee.

Cenotaph Decorated.

The parade was marshalled at John L. Hays Community Hall on Rear Street, and marched through the town, across the bridge to the Cenotaph, where on behalf of the Orange Order, Rev. C. D. Daniel placed a wreath in memory of the boys of Campbellford and Seymour who fell in the Great War. Returning by a circuitous route the procession recrossed the river and marched to the Agricultural Grounds, where the speeches were delivered.

the procession were eleven members, mounted on blackhorses, and wearing the emblems representing the eleven degrees of the Order of the Black Knights. Accompanying the lodges were the band of L.O.A. 50, escorting Preceptory No. 261 of Peterborough, who were given front place in the parade, Belleville Pipe Band, Frankford Pipe Band, Havelock Flute Band, heading the lodges of the district, and there was one example of the fife and drum combination so long associated with the Orange Order.

Peterborough Wins Prize.

The prize for the best marching and best dressed lodge in the parade was won by the Peterborough Lodge, and towards the close of the programme in the Agricultural Grounds, the cup was formally handed over to Sir Knight Preceptor E. F. Reid.

Preceding Dr. Edwards' address, short speeches of welcome were made by Rev. A. C. Hie. Rev. James Grier, who lived six years in Derry and gave an interesting description of the annual ceremony of the burning in effigy of Lundy, the treacherous governor of Londonderry, who attempted to betray the city into the hands of the forces of the deposed King James; by M. E. Maybee, M.P. for Northumberland, who, eulogizing the Orange Order, recalled Disraelis' dictum that individuals can form a community but only institution could form a nation; by H. B. Phillips, ex-Warden of Northumberland. Major J. F. Belford, ex-M.L.A. for Northumberland East, occupied the chair.

Introducing Dr. Edwards, Major Belford declared that those who regarded Dr. Edwards as a firebrand, mistook the man, and that Dr. Edwards was out to achieve the unity of Canada as a nation.

Dr. J. W. Edwards.

When, at the invitation of Mr. Maybee, he promised to come to Campbellford for the August 12 celebration, said Dr. Edwards, he explained to Mr. Maybee that he had never been in Campbellford before. To guide him on his way Mr. Maybee explained to him the facts of a number of landmarks in the neighborhood. In the same way there was a number of landmarks in history. One of these distinctive, outstanding historic landmarks was the siege of Derry in 1689. He visited the Old Country for the first time last year, and in Belfast saw the greatest and finest memories he had ever witnessed—a parade with four marching abreast, which extended four miles and a half. But of all the wonderful sights that he saw in London, Scotland or Belfast, what made the strongest impression on him was his walk round the walls of Derry.

In 1689, four gates pierced those walls. To-day there were numerous gates made for the convenience of the traffic of modern days. He patted Roaring Meg (a gun of 1642) on the shoulder, and inspected the cannon shots which landed within the city fired from the guns of the army of James. He walked around the monument of Governor Walker, and he thought of that little garrison constantly being thinned by famine and gunfire enclosed within the city, with the boom across the Foyle fastened to both sides of the river. When the boom was broken by the British shots and relief came, there was in the city a plot at least for each man, and the only other source of food was nine lean horses. As he stood on those walls, he seemed to visualize some of the things that happened during those 105 days of siege and

SACCO REFUSES TO BREAK FAST

Determined To Starve As a Martyr in the Name of Justice.

WON'T HEED PLEAS.

BOSTON, August 13 (United Press). — His drab prison garb hanging loosely, Nicola Sacco, on the 28th day of his hunger strike, to-day continued stubbornly to ignore the pleas of his wife and lawyers that he break his fast. Even the implorations of Bartolomeo Vanzetti, his comrade in their remarkable seven year fight to escape death in the electric chair, had failed to move him from his determination to starve as a martyr in the name of justice.

FRIENDS ARE WORRIED.

BOSTON, Aug. 13. — (Canadian Press). — The first lull in the Sacco Vanzetti case in many weeks found both prisoners apparently better spirited in their cells at the Charlestown State Prison to-day, although Sacco's continued refusal of food has alarmed some of his friends who are asking Warden Hendry to frighten him into eating with threat of forcible feeding.

Sacco will have fasted twenty-eight days to-day, but has yet to show any sign of weakness. His aversion to forcible feeding is well understood. Once before he attempted a hunger strike while in Dedham Jail. He refused food for a month but when the authorities resorted to stronger methods than persuasion, his strike came to a quick end.

Vanzetti was cheered by new that his sister, who has been detained a week in France through passport difficulties, was finally to sail. Shortly before his scheduled execution last Thursday, he axpressed regret that he could not see her before he died, and after the respite declared his joy at the prospect of a reunion.

New Denominations Of Stamps Issued

OTTAWA, Ont., Aug. 13. — (Canadian Press.)—Three further denomiantions of Canadian historical postage stamps have been issued. On the new five cent stamp appears the head of D'Arcy McGee. It is colored purple. The twelve cent stamp, colored light green, bears the heads of Sir John Macdonald and Sir Wilfrid Laurier. The new twenty cent stamp, which is carmine in color, has the heads of Baldwin and Lafontaine.

Navigation Tests Hold Up Dole Competition—Weather Bad Over Atlantic.

OAKLAND, California, August 13. —Canadian Press.—Navigation tests remained to-day as the main hurdle between five airplanes entered in the James Dole $35,000 prize flight, and official approval as starters in the 2400 mile aerial derby to the Island of Oahu, scheduled to start on Tuesday at noon.

Four of the nine entrants who have planes here have qualified thus far.

Death crossed another entry from the list of starters yesterday when Captain A. V. Rogers, former Royal Air Force flier, flying his tandem engined monoplane, was killed in a trial flight at his home hangar near Los Angeles.

He jumped with a parachute after his engine stopped but the parachute failed to open.

With the spectre of death facing them the remaining pilots and navigators showed no inclination to quit the race. Instead they complained about the severity of the tests imposed by the department of commerce inspectors, who were insistent that pilots display more than ordinary skill before being certified. Four have passed the test. They are:

1st: Travelair monoplane "Oklahoma," Bennett H. Griffin, pilot, and Al. Henley, navigator

2nd: Monoplane "El Oento" of San Diego, Norman Goodhard, pilot, and Lieut. J. Hawkins, navigator.

3rd: Breeze monoplane, "Pacific Flier," in which Livingstone Irving of Berkely, will hop off without a navigator.

DESSAU, Germany, August 3. — Canadian Press. — The Junkers trans-atlantic planes Europa and Bremen will make no attempt to start to-day, it is announced, owing to the adverse weather conditions over the Atlantic.

FRENCH WAIT IMPATIENTLY.

PARIS, August 13. — Canadian Press. — Flying prospects were not brilliant this morning. While there was a slight hope that the three French pilots champing at the bit at Le Bourget, might take off on Sunday on their trans-atlantic expeditions, the French weather experts insist there is little chance of proper flying weather until the beginning of next week.

SAYS 2.75 BEER IS THE SOLUTION

Claims It Would Solve the United States' Dry Problem.

WASHINGTON,, Aug. 13. — United Press. — Colonel James C. Waddell, who has resigned as federal supervisor of alcohol and breweries, yesterday declared that 2.75 per cent. beer would solve prohibition enforcement problem in the United States.

"While the prohibition bureau is making good progress in enforcing the law, with the exception of dealings in Wort, a malt product, the law cannot be enforced in its present status," he said in an interview here.

"From an enforcement standpoint the only possible solution for the impossible conditions is 2.75 per cent beer.

"Prohibition is intended to prevent drunkenness and one is a fanatic who construes it otherwise"

The former supervisor said 2.75 per cent. beer is not intoxicating. He declared the provisions of the Volstead act against beverages with more than ½ of one per cent. alcoholic content, is primarily responsible for the unpopularity of the law.

"The dry law can be enforced with the present federal corps and the government's $13,000,000 annual appropriation if 2.75 per cent. beer is legalized," he said.

Intoxicated Driver Will Pay Heavy Fine

QUEBEC, Que., Aug. 13.—(Canadian Press.) — E. The Judge also ordered the cancellation of Lemieux's license for three years.

Scientists Deny Our Age Lacks Geniuses Sir Arthur Keith Says Time Will Tell

LONDON, Aug. 13.—Two scientists, Sir Oliver Lodge and Sir Arthur Keith, contradicted today the recent statement of Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, that at present there is not a single genius in any country.

"There are some astronomers alive today," said Sir Oliver, "who are as great as any who ever existed—men like Professor Eddington and Dr. Jeans. They are as great as any famous men of the past. There are wonderful physicists in the world now.

"People do not realize the wonders that are happening quite quietly in their midst. We are in a great revolutionary period; the world is changing as it sweeps along. Great discoveries are being made, unknown to millions of people who live their daily lives in the hurly-burly modern world. I cannot speak for branches of achievement beyond science."

Of the two geniuses mentioned by Sir Oliver Lodge, one, Dr. James Hopwood Jeans, is an English mathematician, and the other, Professor Eddington, of Cambridge University, is an astronomer.

Sir Arthur Keith said:

"I do not think there is a dearth of geniuses, but how can you tell who are geniuses among your contemporaries? You must wait till the dust of contemporary life has settled before they emerge. In a hundred years people will look back on our age and pick out geniuses. We cannot possibly do it. Science today is advancing steadily, is full of men working enormously hard, and hard work sometimes is not far removed from genius."

JURY URGES INSPECTION OF HYDRO LINES

Finds That Death of William King Was Entirely Accidental.

PROPER CARE TAKEN.

Line Not of Most Modern Construction—Not Necessary To Shut Off Power.

"We the jury empannelled to inquire into the death of the late William King, temporary employee of the Hydro Electric Power Commission of Ontario find from the evidence that the said William King came to his death by accidently coming in contact with live wires on the pole directly east of the House of Refuge in the township of Smith on Wednesday August the tenth between 7 and 7.30 p.m.

"The jury recommend that the Safety organization of the Hydro Electric Power Commission of Ontario make a periodical inspection of these subsidiary branches and bring them up-to-date.

This was the verdict of the jury at the Coroner's inquest held in Lake field, yesterday afternoon. Crown Attorney G. W. Hatton, K. C., represented th Crown and Sydney Whatley appeared in the interests of Mrs. King and her family. The inquest was held by Coroner Dr. J. C. Smith of Lakefield.

A great deal of evidence was submitted that showed that the deceased came to his death through an accident. Harry Beatty, superintendent of the Utilities Commission of this city, gave the most logical way in which the accident happened. He said that when he went to lean over to do something to the east cut out box some part of his right foot or leg came in contact with the transformer and his arm with the other line making a direct circuit which killed him immediately.

An Experienced Man.

The first witness called was L. R. Leggott, superintendent of the Lakefield Electric Commission, who has been head of that service for seven years. On Thursday night he secured the services of William King to go and put in a fuse on the pole in front of the House of Refuge as that building had no light. He said the deceased had a wide experience as a lineman and was doing the work under his supervision. Mr. Leggott said that King did not think gloves were necessary to put in the fuse but he had them on.

King went up the pole and put in the fuse in the west fuse box and then told Mr. Leggott that the transformer was singing indicating that everything was all right. He then looked into the other fuse box and it is thought that a fuse blew when he was opening door It was while putting in this second fuse that the accident occurred. Both were talking at the time the accident occurred. King had both gloves on at the time. Most of his clothes were burned. A large hole was burnt in his left boot and there were many burns on his body.

Witness said that the wires were in good condition at the time of the accident but the one to the east box was not insulated. The wire has been up a long time but to-day it was not the practice of Hydro to insulate high tension line wires and in making repairs of this kind he never has the power turned off. Mr. Leggott said that his son put in a fuse on the same spot a few weeks before.

Percy Hill identified the deceased as William King and said he was known him for 15 years.

Charles Lee of the County of Smith told of how he found the body wedged in the pole and gave his explanation Mr. Beatty was able to give his opinion as to how the accident occurred.

High Tension Not Insulated.

R. O. Jones in his evidence of going to the scene of the accident that night and having one of his men put on the line that was back next day and repairing the line. He said it was not any more dangerous to handle high tension wire that was not insulated than that which was insulated and at present they seldom insulate the high tension line wire.

To-day better cut-outs than this one are being used but in Peterboro there still remains a few of the old kind and when these are being repaired more care is taken. The Peterborough Commission furnishes its men with rubber boots but outside of that he thought all the precautions to prevent the accident were taken.

James Johnston, a lineman in this city told of repairing the wire the next morning. Charles Thorpe, when asked what might have or should have been done to prevent the accident, said: "It seems all the general precautions were taken. It is the practise not to disconnect the high tension wire when making a slight repair and the job carried out with care could have been done without an accident. An experienced line man would not have asked for the power to be turned off. In new construction work the fuse box is placed lower down on the pole but at the time when the line was built its present position was considered right. A cut out on the line is not considered good engineering.

S. Whatley asked the witness if a man hard of hearing could hear the hum of the transformer but witness thought he would have to be very deaf not to hear it.

Mr. Beatty was called back and asked if he thought the deceased was a good line man. He said, he was but not an electric man. He went to point out that good line men included those who were expert in Bell Telephone building in which Mr King was very experienced.

Mr. Hatton in addressing the jury said that the crown had tried to get all the evidence possible so that something might be found in order that these things could be guarded against. He told the jury that it might bring in a recommendation which would be forwarded to the Hydro.

The jury consited of George Sperry foreman, W. G. Morrison, Allen Clare, W. E. Lemieux, William Preston, Joseph Hill, O. L. Webster, J. F. Lillicrap, E. J. Charlton and F. Crawford.

Station Warship Off Newfoundland

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld., August 13 (Canadian Press). — A French warship will be stationed on the Grand Banks off Newfoundland to render aid to any aviators who may attempt a trans-Atlantic flight in the near future. One ship left St. John's Harbour last night for the Flemish Cap region of the banks east of Newfoundland, prepared to watch for the fliers and go to the assistance of any who may have trouble.

The Flemish Cap is in the region where Lindbergh, Chamberlin, and Byrd encountered the heaviest fog on their flights to Europe, although somewhat north-east of the sections where fogs are most prevalent.

SINN FEINERS STILL DEFIANT

Call On Republican Army To Resist Deportation Orders.

STILL OUT OF DAIL.

LONDON, August 13 (By H. Bailey, British United Press). — A proclamation calling upon members of the Irish "Republican" Army to fight the deportation orders under the recent Act for the safety of the Free State, which precipitated the present crisis in Irish politics, has been issued by the extreme section of the Sinn Fein Party. This is an independent organization, not attached to the De Valera group, and has five members in the Dail, but they never sat because of their refusal to recognize the oath of allegiance to the King.

DUBLIN, Aug. 13. — (Canadian Press.)—Eamon De Valera, who with his Fianna Fail deputies entered the Dail Eireann after taking the oath of allegiance, may soon also become an active member of the Northern Irish Parliament.

There have been six abstentations from the Northern Parliament, which sits at Belfast, four Nationalists, including Mr. De Valera, and two Sinn Feiners. It is considered likely that they will follow the course taken in the case of the Dail and cease the boycott of the Ulster body. De Valera was elected to the Northern Parliament from County Down, and to the Dail Eireann from County Clare.

Straight Fight.

DUBLIN, August 13. — Canadian Press. — The Labor party has decided to give a clear field to Eamon de Valera's Fianna Fail party in the Dublin by-elections, to fill the vacancies in the Dail Eireann caused by the assassination of Kevin O'Higgins and the death of the Countess Markievics.

Thus, unless the Sinn Fein party nominates candidates, there will be straight electoral fights between the government and the Fianna Fail.

TRUCK DRIVER'S LEGS BROKEN

Russel Lucas Badly Injured When Pile of Sacks Upsets.

AT WESTERN CLOCK.

Russell Lucas, nineteen, a truck driver employed by Cooney & Jopling, is in St. Joseph's Hospital with both legs broken following an accident at eight o'clock this morning, when he was crushed by a six-foot pile of bags of plaster of paris on the floor of the building until lately used as a shipping department by the Western Clock Company on Armour Hill.

Mr. Lucas, who had brought the material, which is being used by the Brown Construction Company in the erection of the extension to the Westclox factory by truck from the C.N.R. siding, was engaged along with two other men in piling the sacks, each of which contains 100 pounds of plaster of paris, when the heap turned over, and Mr. Lucas was pinned by the legs against the wall.

As soon as he was released it was seen that he was badly injured. He was attended by Dr. A. G. Hassan, and removed to St. Joseph's Hospital.

After the broken limbs had been fixed, his relatives were acquainted of the fact. The latest reports from the hospital indicate that he is resting comfortably.

REFUSED CHANCE TO EXPLAIN LEVELS

Chicago Mayor Says Invitation To Speak Was Cancelled.

CHARGES BETRAYAL.

CHICAGO, Aug. 13 — (Canadian Press.)—Because he refused to speak on Chicago's side of the beer question during the recent discussion of Commissioner Andrew Mellon's proposal to modify the Volstead act, Mayor William Hale Thompson says he was "double crossed" by the Republican National Committee.

Thompson made this statement in a letter to Senator Deneen, Republican, Illinois, which was read in the senate by Senator Borah, Republican, Idaho.

The letter charged that Thompson was invited to speak on the beer question at the Republican National Committee meeting in Washington, but that the invitation was withdrawn after he had refused to support the Mellon proposal.

ALL PETERBOROUGH DANCES AT BIG COMMUNITY SOCIAL

Event Sponsored By C. G. E. Employees is Entirely Successful.

THOUSANDS PRESENT.

Spectators and Dancers Enjoy Music—Bingo and Refreshments Well Patronized.

It would seem, to a casual observer, that everybody in Peterborough was some place in the neighbourhood of the Park and Rubidge street intersection for the big community dance held last night by the C. G. E. Social and Athletic Club. Every window and roof in the neighbourhood was crowded, while to see the dancers from the ground level one had to stand at the back of a mass of people eight or ten deep and gradually move in as those in front left or joined the dancers.

And the dancers! No hall in Peterborough would accomodate the large number of couples that filled the wide open space around the band stand. Even the armouries would be too small. Old people and young people were out and the view presented to those watching was an ever changing mass of colors. So large was the circle that those who preferred to dance near the edge would get no more than once around before the music stopped unless they favored the somewhat rapid movements found in some of the newer fox-trot steps.

Nearly every kind of dance was included. There were fox trots and waltzes, fast and slow, with a Paul Jones in every group, just to get the crowd mixed up and better acquainted. Yet one lady found cause to complain. "There was no dancing, only waltzing," she told a friend. The poor lady wanted a square dance but those in charge had neglected to provide for her.

In between groups there were solo dances and musical numbers, which proved most interesting. Miss Anne Legge did an Irish Jig, the Misses McIntosh did the Charleston, and Thompson sank Tabernacy. A mandolin trope and piano number by the Heintzman Co. provided music between the numbers.

For those who preferred something more intimate or who were in a hurry to get back to their radios at home, there were corners in which small tables were placed, where refreshments could be obtained. Bingo was also a popular pastime, and the prizes were won by Mrs. Hall, Mrs. Hamilton, Mrs. Hall, Mrs. Hamilton, Mrs. Hall, Mrs. Hamilton,

DERRY DAY IS CELEBRATED BY DISTRICT BLACK KNIGHTS

Five Hundred Members of Preceptories Walk at Campbellford.

STIRRING ADDRESSES.

Hon. J. W. Edwards, Grand Master, Is Leading Speaker —Sports Programme.

CAMPBELLFORD, August 13 —(By a Staff Reporter). —, Celebrating the 239th Anniversary of the Relief of Londonderry, 500 members of lodges drawn from Peterborough, Hastings and Northumberland Counties participated yesterday in the procession and programme arranged by their Campbellford hosts, Gologotha Preceptory No. 381 Royal Black Knights of Ireland.

The great event of the day was the visit of Hon. Dr. J. W. Edwards, M. P., Grand Master of the Orange Association of British North America, accompanied by Mrs. Edwards. A powerful and eloquent speech by Dr. Edwards, setting out the aims and ideals of the Order and defending it from accusations launched against it, roused the large audience in the Agricultural Grounds to a high pitch of enthusiasm.

A pleasing incident of the days proceedings was the presentation by the Campebellford Lodge of an address to Dr. Edwards and a silver flower basket filled with beautiful roses to Mrs. Edwards in recognition of the fact that yesterday was at one and the same time Derry Day and the 37th Anniversary of the Marriage of Dr. and Mrs. Edwards. The address was read by the Rev. N. Clarke Wallace, whose father was Dr. Edward's predecessor in the position of Grand Master of British North America.

In accepting the gift, Dr. Edward's after whimsically inquiring, "Am I expected to kiss the bride" answered his own question by kissing his wife in full view of the large crowd assembled before the platform. Later, in his address Dr. Edwards paid a moving tribute to his companion of the past 37 years.

You will admit that I chose a good day on which to get married," declared Dr. Edwards adding, "If you knew Mrs. Edwards as I do you would also acknowledge that I could not have selected a better partner through life."

The local arrangements were under th direction of Sir Knights J. A. Jeffs, Worshipful Preceptor, and J. I. Adams, Registrar of Golgotha Preceptory, and Sir Knight Rev. Charles D. Daniel headed the Sports Committee.

Cenotaph Decorated.

The parade was marshalled at John L. Hays Community Hall on Rear Street, and marched through the town, across the bridge to the Cenotaph, where on behalf of the Orange Order, Rev. C. D. Daniel placed a wreath in memory of the boys of Campbellford and Seymour who fell in the Great War. Returning by a circuitous route the procession recrossed the river and marched to the Agricultural Grounds, where the speeches were delivered.

the procession were eleven members, mounted on blackhorses, and wearing the emblems representing the eleven degrees of the Order of the Black Knights. Accompanying the lodges were the band of L.O.A. 50, escorting Preceptory No. 261 of Peterborough, who were given front place in the parade, Belleville Pipe Band, Frankford Pipe Band, Havelock Flute Band, heading the lodges of the district, and there was one example of the fife and drum combination so long associated with the Orange Order.

Peterborough Wins Prize.

The prize for the best marching and best dressed lodge in the parade was won by the Peterborough Lodge, and towards the close of the programme in the Agricultural Grounds, the cup was formally handed over to Sir Knight Preceptor E. F. Reid.

Preceding Dr. Edwards' address, short speeches of welcome were made by Rev. A. C. Hie. Rev. James Grier, who lived six years in Derry and gave an interesting description of the annual ceremony of the burning in effigy of Lundy, the treacherous governor of Londonderry, who attempted to betray the city into the hands of the forces of the deposed King James; by M. E. Maybee, M.P. for Northumberland, who, eulogizing the Orange Order, recalled Disraelis' dictum that individuals can form a community but only institution could form a nation; by H. B. Intoxicated Driver Will Pay Heavy Fine

QUEBEC, Que., Aug. 13.—Canadian Press.) — L. Lenoux, Quebec, was condemned to pay a fine of $300 and costs or to three month in jail when found guilty of having driven an automobile while intoxicated, by Judge Lachance in court here yesterday. The Judge also ordered the cancellation of Lenoux's license for three years.

Scientists Deny Our Age Lacks Geniuses Sir Arthur Keith Says Time Will Tell

LONDON, Aug. 13.—Two scientists, Sir Oliver Lodge and Sir Arthur Keith, contradicted today the recent statement of Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, that at present there is not a single genius in any country.

"There are some astronomers alive today," said Sir Oliver, "who are as great as any who ever existed—men like Professor Eddington and Dr. Jeans. They are as great as any famous men of the past. There are wonderful physicists in the world now.

"People do not realise the wonders that are happening quite quietly in their midst. We are in a great revolutionary period; the world is changing as it sweeps along. Great discoveries are being made, unknown to millions of people who live their daily lives in the hurly-burly modern world. I cannot speak for branches of achievement beyond science."

Of the two genuises mentioned by Sir Oliver Lodge, one, Dr. James Hopwood Jeans, is an English mathematician, and the other, Professor Eddington, of Cambridge University, is an astronomer.

Sir Arthur Keith said:

"I do not think there is a dearth of geniuses, but how can you tell who are geniuses among your contemporaries? You must wait till the dust of contemporary life has settled before they emerge. In a hundred years people will look back on our age and pick out geniuses. We cannot possibly do it. Science today is advancing steadily, is full of men working enormously hard, and hard work sometimes is not far removed from genius."

JURY URGES INSPECTION OF HYDRO LINES

Finds That Death of William King Was Entirely Accidental.

PROPER CARE TAKEN.

Line Not of Most Modern Construction—Not Necessary To Shut Off Power.

"We the jury empannelled to inquire into the death of the late William King, temporary employee of the Hydro Electric Power Commission of Ontario find from the evidence that the said William King came to his death by accidently coming in contact with live wires on the pole directly east of the House of Refuge in the township of Smith on Wednesday August the tenth between 7 and 7.30 p.m.

"The jury recommend that the Safety organization of the Hydro Electric Power Commission of Ontario make a periodical inspection of these subsidary branches and bring them up-to-date.

This was the verdict of the jury at the Coroner's inquest held in Lake field, yesterday afternoon. Crown Attorney G. W. Hatton, K. C., represented th Crown and Sydney Whatley appeared in the interests of Mrs. King and her family. The inquest was held by Coroner Dr. J. C. Smith of Lakefield.

A great deal of evidence was submitted that showed that the deceased came to his death through an accident. Harry Beatty, superintendent of the Utilities Commission of this city, gave the most logical way in which the accident happened. He said that when he went to lean over to do something to the east cut out box some part of his right foot or leg came in contact with the transformer and his arm with the other line making a direct circuit which killed him immediately.

An Experienced Man.

The first witness called was L. R. Leggott, superintendent of the Lakefield Electric Commission, who has been head of that service for seven years. On Thursday night he secured the services of William King to go and put in a fuse on the pole in front of the House of Refuge as that building had no light. He said the deceased had a wide experience as a lineman and was doing the work under his supervision. Mr. Leggott said that King did not think gloves were necessary to put in the fuse but he had them on.

King went up the pole and put in the fuse in the west fuse box and then told Mr. Leggott that the transformer was singing indicating that everything was all right. He then looked into the other fuse box and it is thought that a fuse blew when he was opening door It was while putting in this second fuse that the accident occurred. Both were talking at the time the accident occurred. King had both gloves on at the time. Most of his clothes were burned. A large hole was burnt in his left boot and there were many burns on his body.

Witness said that the wires were in good condition at the time of the accident but the one to the east box was not insulated. The wire has been up a long time but to-day it was not the practice of Hydro to insulate high tension lines wires and in making repairs of this kind he never has the power turned off. Mr. Leggott said that his son put in a fuse on the same spot a few weeks before.

Percy Hill identified the deceased as William King and said he had known him for 15 years.

Charles Lee of the County of Smith told of how he found the body wedged in the poles and from his explanation Mr. Beatty was able to give his opinion as to how the accident occurred.

High Tension Not Insulated.

H. G. Beatty in his evidence told of going to the scene of the accident that night and having one of his men cut off the live wire that was [illegible] ground and then going back next day and repairing the line. He said it was not any more dangerous to handle high tension wire that was not insulated than that which was insulated and at present they seldom insulate the high tension line wire.

To-day better cut-outs than this one are being used but in Peterboro there still remains a few of the old kind and when these are being repaired more care is taken. The Peterborough Commission furnishes its men with rubber boots but outside of that he thought all the precautions to prevent the accident were taken.

James Johnston, a lineman in this city told of repairing the wire the next morning. Charles Thorpe, when asked what might have or should have been done to prevent the accident, said: "It seems all the general precautions were taken. It is the practise not to disconnect the high tension wire when making a slight repair and the job carried out with care could have been done without an accident. An experienced line man would not have asked for the power to be turned off. In new construction work the fuse box is placed lower down on the pole but at the time when the line was built its present position was considered right. A cut out on the line is not considered good engineering.

S. Whatley asked the witness if a man hard of hearing could hear the hum of the transformer but witness thought he would have to be very deaf not to hear it.

Mr. Beatty was called back and asked if he thought the deceased was a good line man. He said, he was but not an electric man. He went to point out that good line men included those who were expert in Bell Telephone building in which Mr King was very experienced.

Mr. Hatton in addressing the jury said that the crown had tried to get all the evidence possible so that some thing might be found in order that these things could be guarded against. He told the jury that it might bring in a recommendation which would be forwarded to the Hydro.

The jury consited of George Spence foreman, W. G. Morrison, Allen Clark, W. E. Lennox, William Peacock, Joseph Hill, G. L. Webster, J. F. Lillicrap, S. J. Charlton and T. Crawford.

Station Warship Off Newfoundland

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld., August 13 (Canadian Press). — A French warship will be stationed on the Grand Banks off Newfoundland to render aid to any aviators who may attempt a trans-Atlantic flight in the near future. One ship left St. John's Harbour last night for the Flemish Gap region of the banks east of Newfoundland, prepared to watch for the fliers and go to the assistance of any who may have trouble.

The Flemish Gap is in the region where Lindbergh, Chamberlin, and Byrd encountered the heaviest fog on their flights to Europe, although somewhat north-east of the sections where fogs are most prevalent.

SINN FEINERS STILL DEFIANT

Call On Republican Army To Resist Deportation Orders.

STILL OUT OF DAIL.

LONDON, August 13 (By H. Bailey, British United Press). — A proclamation calling upon members of the Irish "Republican" Army to fight the deportation orders under the recent Act for the safety of the Free State, which precipitated the present crisis in Irish politics, has been issued by the extreme section of the Sinn Fein Party. This is an independent organization, not attached to the De Valera group, and has five members in the Dail, but they never sat because of their refusal to recognize the oath of allegiance to the King.

DUBLIN, Aug. 13. — (Canadian Press.)—Eamon De Valera, who with his Fianna Fail deputies entered the Dail Eireann after taking the oath of allegiance, may soon also become an active member of the Northern Irish Parliament.

There have been six abstentations from the Northern Parliament, which sits at Belfast, four Nationalists, including Mr. De Valera, and two Sinn Feiners. It is considered likely that they will follow the course taken in the case of the Dail and cease the boycott of the Ulster body. De Valera was elected to the Northern Parliament from County Down, and to the Dail Eireann from County Clare.

Straight Fight.

DUBLIN, August 13. — Canadian Press. — The Labor party has decided to give a clear field to Eamon de Valera's Fianna Fail party in the Dublin by-elections, to fill the vacancies in the Dail Eireann caused by the assassination of Kevin O'Higgins and the death of the Countess Markievics.

Thus, unless the Sinn Fein party nominates candidates, there will be straight electoral fights between the government and the Fianna Fail.

TRUCK DRIVER'S LEGS BROKEN

Russel Lucas Badly Injured When Pile of Sacks Upsets.

AT WESTERN CLOCK.

Russell Lucas, nineteen, a truck driver employed by Cooney & Jopling, is in St. Joseph's Hospital with both legs broken following an accident at eight o'clock this morning, when he was crushed by a six-foot pile of bags of plaster of paris on the floor of the building until lately used as a shipping department by the Western Clock Company on Armour Hill.

Mr. Lucas, who had brought the material, which is being used by the Brown Construction Company in the erection of the extension to the Westclox factory by truck from the C.N.R. siding, was engaged along with two other men in piling the sacks, each of which contains 100 pounds of plaster of paris, when the heap turned over, and Mr. Lucas was pinned by the legs against the wall.

As soon as he was released it was seen that he was badly injured. He was attended by Dr. A. G. Howson, and removed to St. Joseph's Hospital.

After the broken limbs had been fixed, his relatives were permitted to see him. The latest reports from the hospital indicate that he is resting comfortably.

REFUSED CHANCE TO EXPLAIN LEVELS

Chicago Mayor Says Invitation To Speak Was Cancelled.

CHARGES BETRAYAL.

CHICAGO, Aug. 13.— (Canadian Press.)—Because he planned to speak on Chicago's side of the lake water diversion controversy, the Syracuse Chamber of Commerce has cancelled its invitation to him to be the guest of honor at the opening of the New York State Fair, Aug. 29, Mayor William Hale Thompson said to-day. The Mayor said he was not perturbed, however, as he had received an invitation to speak in Washington.

"It is about time to tell the truth about the lake levels and the reason for the attacks on Chicago," he said. "Men in high office are using this to cover up the fact that they are on Canadian water power interests' payroll. While betraying their own countrymen and their interest in prosperity, they are enriching themselves."

Finding her business as a horse-shoer growing slack because of the inroads of the automobile, Mrs. Madge Sanders of Paducah, Ky., has kept in step with the times by opening an up-to-date manicuring and hair-dressing establishment.

ALL PETERBOROUGH DANCES AT BIG COMMUNITY SOCIAL

Event Sponsored By C. G. E. Employees is Entirely Successful.

THOUSANDS PRESENT.

Spectators and Dancers Enjoy Music—Bingo and Refreshments Well Patronized.

It would seem, to a casual observer, that everybody in Peterborough was some place in the neighbourhood of the Park and Rubidge street intersection for the big community dance held last night by the C. G. E. Social and Athletic Club. Every window and roof in the neighbourhood was crowded, while to see the dancers from the ground level one had to stand at the back of a mass of people eight or ten deep and gradually move in as those in front left or joined the dancers.

And the dancers! No hall in Peterborough would accomodate the large number of couples that filled the wide open space around the band stand. Even the armouries would be too small. Old people and young people were out and the view presented to those watching was an ever changing mass of colors. So large was the circle that those who prefered to dance near the edge would get no more than once around before the music stopped unless they favored the somewhat rapid movement found in some of the newer fox-trot steps.

Nearly every kind of dance was included. There were fox trots and waltzes, fast and slow, with a Paul Jones in every group, just to get the crowd mixed up and better acquainted. Yet one lady found cause to complain. "There was no dancing, only waltzing," she told a friend. The poor lady wanted a square dance but those in charge had neglected to provide for her.

In between groups there were solo dances and musical numbers, which proved most interesting. Miss Annie Logan did an Irish Jag, the Misses McIntosh did the Charleston. Bill Thompson sank Tobermory. A panatrope and piano loaned by the Heintz man Co. provided music between the numbers.

For those who preferred something more exciting or who couldn't get near enough to hear or see the artists, there was a bingo game, while those seeking cooling refreshments were catered to from a booth beneath the trees. Ald. Bob Cotton was the chief cook or head waiter or something in the refreshment booth, while Harry Boyle was the genie of the box at the bingo game, where the Kiwanis Club was raising money for its work among under privileged children. These two booths were nearly as hard to get near as the dancing area, while it was almost necessary to resort to bribery to get a card in the bingo game.

The band of the Peterboro Rangers provided the music. With their scarlet tunics and blue trousers they formed a mass of color in the centre of the dancing floor, but it seemed at times that some of them had played hooky from under the baton of Bandmaster Peryer and were dancing. More intent scrutiny, however, revealed the fact that it was a few of the young bloods of the city with their scarlet blazers and that the bandsmen were tending strictly to their business of providing snappy music.

The old army marches mingled with the modern tunes, and the strains of "Colonel Bogie," which played many a regiment into the trenches, provided a splendid tune for the Grand Change of the Paul Jones. Even that real old time tune "Comin' Through the Rye" was there. As the bandsmen played it last night it was a most engaging waltz.

Paul Manning was Master of Ceremonies. Armed with his trusty megaphone, he announced the various numbers. During the dances he patrolled the edge of the crowd demanding of all and sundry that they get out and dance and he would accept no excuse. James O'Brien was in charge of the programme.

The committee in charge had spared no pains to make the affair a success. There were abundant decorations. Light, streamers, and greenery added to the colorful scenes. The police, too, did their share. They had parking places arranged for cars, which were lined up as for as Wolfe Street, and permitted no unnnecessary horn blowing during the program. Headed by Inspector James Reid, a number of constables kept the lines intact around the dance floor, so that there was room enough for the dancers.

Strikers Lie on Rails To Halt Train Service

ADANA, Turkey, August 13 (Canadian Press). — More than 400 striking railwaymen of the Anatolian road, tried to thwart the Government's determination to run a train to Aleppo yesterday by calmly lying on the track in front of the engine. A few revolver shots from the police, however, made them jump up and run, and the train puffed out of the station.

About 1,000 railwaymen went on strike on Wednesday for higher wages, it being the first large strike in the Turkish Republic. The Government has the situation well in hand Motor trucks are being used to carry on the postal service.

VETERAN BORNE BY COMRADES

Former Members of 4th Battery Carry "Boxer" King To Grave.

IN VETERANS' PLOT.

The funeral of the late Comrade W. King whose sad death took place on Wednesday evening while he was repairing the power lines in the vicinity of Lakefield, took place yesterday, under th auspices of the local branch of the Canadian Legion of the British Empire Service League. The deceased went overseas in 1914 with the 4th Battery, C. F. A., and served in France for a considerable period. It was fitting that he was borne to his last resting place by six of his former comrades who served with him in France and who testified to his popularity both as a soldier, and civilian. Captain J. Abraham, vice-president of the Legion, took charge of the funeral parade. Those carrying the deceased to his last resting place beneath the folds of the flag of the Empire were: Battery Quarter Master Sgt. H. Duke, Corporal B. Sloan, Corporal W. Clarke, Gunner M. McGill, Gunner F. Fry, Gunner P. Golds.

Other ex-service men present were: R.Q.M.S. R. H. Muir, H. Rush, Sgt. F. Smith, L. Fontaine, P. J. Hobbins.

After the commitment services had been read by the Rev. A. E. Thornley, the last post and reveille were sounded by Comrade J. Thirnbeck. The deceased was interred in the Veterans' Plot.

ROBERT A. WOOD HANGS HIMSELF

Otonabee Farmer Commits Suicide While in Poor Health.

FOUND BY COUSIN.

WESTWOOD, August 13. — Robt A. Wood, 62, was found hanging from a tree on his farm in the first concession of Otonabee yesterday afternoon about one o'clock. No reason for the suicide is known, although Mr. Wood had been more or less troubled with weak spells and pains in the head.

The deceased, who was a bachelor, was last seen alive about nine o'clock yesterday morning, when he had breakfast. He went out, apparently to resume his work in the fields.

When he did not return, his cousin, Miss Gillespie, went to look for him, and found him hanging to a tree in the field. He had used a rope from the slings in the barn.

Coroner Dr. T. W. H. Young, investigated the matter and decided that it was a clear case of suicide, and that an inquest will be unnecessary.

The funeral will be held to-morrow afternoon at two o'clock.

BUS LICENSE IS CANCELLED

Coonsy and Jopling Will Cease To Give Service on Monday.

ONE COMPANY NOW.

The police commission at its meeting yesterday afternoon cancelled the bus license of Cooney and Jopling, to take effect on Aug. 15th.

In cancelling the license the commissioners were doing what was requested of them by the City Council.

The Commission also passed a by-law allowing the Border Transit Company to run a transportation service in the city.

FINE ADVERTISING PETERBORO FAIR

De Laval Monthly Has Front Cover Design From 1926 Peterborough Exhibition.

The De Laval Monthly, with a circulation of upwards of 75,000 copies, is using as its front cover design this month a scene at the Peterborough Industrial Exhibition last fall.

A photograph of the prize winning herd of Ayrshires comprising five females and one male taken on the grounds with the cattle barn and overflow tents makes an exceptionally timely and attractive illustrated front cover. Of course a De Laval Milker is also shown as this fine herd was milked with a De Laval.

ATLANTIC AIR RACE IS SET FOR TO-DAY

Junkers Planes Europa and Breman Prepared For Take-Off This Evening.

MOTOR INSPECTED.

Weather Prospects Are Such That Postponement Seems Inevitable.

BERLIN, Aug. 13 (Canadian Press).—Although the Junkers planes Europa and Bremen last night are prepared to hop off this evening on their long trans-Atlantic flight to the United States, weather prospects were such that a postponement until Monday seemed inevitable.

Otto Knoennecke who arrived at Tempelhofer Field from Travemuende, was delayed yesterday in his plans to fly to Cologne because of the necessity for an inspection of his motor and installation of new magnetos. He planned to leave for Cologne today at noon to complete his fuelling there with the probability that he, too, would take off on Monday. His route will be determined by later weather reports.

It was stated here yesterday that the prospective simultaneous departures of the two German expeditions was merely a coincidence and was not by design.

(Advices received here yesterday by the North German Lloyd from its Berlin office said that the Junkers planes, Europa and Bremen, were scheduled to take off between 6 and 7 o'clock this evening).

TAX OFFICER HAS RESIGNED

W. L. Doyle Will Leave Government Service To Enter Business.

IN PETERBOROUGH.

BELLEVILLE, Aug. 13.—William L. Doyle, head of the local Income Tax Office this city, yesterday tendered his resignation to the head of that Department who was in Belleville yesterday on business. Mr. Doyle has interests in Peterborough which will necessitate his full time and he with Mrs. Doyle and family will move to Peterborough, where they will make their home.

Mr. Doyle has been in charge of the Belleville branch of the Income Tax office since it was opened here in 1919 and previous to that held the position as City of Belleville- Tax Collector. In both these positions, Mr. Doyle was a most efficient officer and his many friends will learn with regret of his departure from Belleville but will wish him every success in his new home at Peterbourg.

Pending the apopintment of a successor to Mr. Doyle, Capt. S. Gilmour is in charge of the local Income Tax office.

CANADIAN PLANE TO GET AIR TEST

Has Been Equipped With a Wright Whirlwind Motor.

LONDON-TO-LONDON.

LONDON, Ont., August 13.—Capt. Terry Tully, chief pilot of the London, Ontario, to London, England, 3,900 mile non-stop flight to be undertaken within the next three months, telephoned flight headquarters yesterday morning asking the Carling directors, as donors of the $25,000 prize and backers of the hop, to sanction a 1,200 mile test flight. Tully and his partner, Jimmy Medcalf, are at the Stinson factory at Detroit supervising the final outfitting of their specially built monoplane. They report that the Wright Whirlwind motor has been installed, and that the machine will be ready for the air in a few hours.

The first test will be made with Eddie Stinson, chief of the Stinson Company,in the pilot's seat. Later Tully and Medcalf will place their O.K. upon it, and on behalf of the Carling Company will accept delivery. Tully wires that the monoplane is a "magnificent ship," and that he and his teammate are eager for an early getaway.

The experts advise, however, that while the motor is a triple tested laboratory product, it should be given forty hours'severe testing in the air. As the first of these tests, Tully plans a 1,200 mile non-stop flight. He proposes tentatively to proceed around Lake Erie from Detroit via Toledo, Cleveland, Erie, Buffalo, Toronto, and thence to the Carling Airdrome here.

PRINCES ATTEND JOCKEY CLUB RACES

Will Be Present at the Official Banquet Given Premier Baldwin.

CALGARY, Alta., Aug. 13.—(Canadian Press.) — After a somewhat threatening morning, during which there were light showers, his Royal Highness, the Prince of Wales, his Royal Highness Prince George, and members of the Royal party, left the Perisko ranch by automobile shortly after one o'clock yesterday afternoon for the Chinook Jockey Club races where they purposed spending the afternoon.

His Royal Highness will later be present at the official reception that is being extended to the Rt. Hon. Premier Baldwin at Victoria Park.

It is believed that the Prince will spend the remainder of the night in Calgary, but his wishes in this respect are not yet known. The present arrangements is that he will leave for Edmonton early on Saturday morning. He returns to Calgary on Sunday morning, and it is stated, will probably continue his quiet rest at the ranch. On Monday night he will be the guest of the Calgary Drag Hounds, at their annual ball, which will be held at the Palliser hotel.

It has been learned that his Royal Highness has been so pleased with his present visit to his ranch that he may stay for a few days longer than was anticipated, and may not leave for Banff and the Pacific coast until about the middle of the week.

MANUFACTURERS TO AIR CHARGES

Canadian Customers Make a Practice of Rejecting Goods Months After Delivery.

LONDON, Aug. 13. —(Canadian Press). — Charges made by the cloth manufacturers of the West Riding of Yorkshire that Canadian customers make a practice of rejecting goods months after delivery on the ground that defects are found and claiming drastic damages will come before the Chamber of Commerce for the riding as a whole in the near future and it is probable that the Chamber will be urged to work for the appointment of an impartial organization in which both sides would have confidence.

The charges were first aired at a meeting of the Dewsbury Chamber on August 10. The allegations then made were quite clear although no names were mentioned. They were that certain Canadian customers regularly submitted to local spongers and shrinkers large quantities of imported West Riding cloth and alleged defects in the cloth were then discovered. The practice, it was said, was occasionally adopted ,many months after th cloth had been paid for and when it perhaps had gone out of fashion, the object of the Canadian customers being to avoid their contracts.

Received Complaints.

The government department of overseas trade yesterday admitted receipt of unofficial complaints from both Yorkshire and Canada and expressed readiness to submit the matter to the English trade commissioners in Canada if specific instances were supplied. The department also suggested that the aggrieved manufacturers might usefully seek the help of the association of British Agents in Canada. If this body in conjunction with the trade commissioners found the allegations possessed substance, the department said, official representations could quickly be submitted and the establishment of an independent tribunal on the lines suggested by the Dewsbury Chamber would doubtless follow.

In other quarters it was suggested that the Yorkshiremen would hardly enter contracts with their eyes closed but would take the obvious precautions to protect themselves. If the alleged practices are at all common, it was asked why had a black list not been compiled

CHAPLIN READY TO FIGHT SUIT

Lita Grey Chaplin Turns Down Last Peaceful Settlement Offer.

HEARING AUGUST 22.

CHICAGO August 13. — United Press. — Charles Chaplin was well on his way to California yesterday to "fight it out to a finish" with Lita Grey Chaplin, his young wife, who is suing for divorce and heavy alimony.

Chaplin who left New York Wednesday, spoke briefly of his affairs before he boarded a train here last Thursday night to continue his journey west.

Chaplin told intimate friends here that "Lita has turned down the last peaceful settlement offer. From now on it's a fight to a finish.

"My name is at stake as well as my fortune and there can be no further dickering," Chaplin was said to have told his friends.

"I have recovered my health, and am quite ready for the fight."

He is en route to California to consult his lawyers, he said. The divorce suit is set for hearing August 22nd.

LEADER OF CULT ADMITS BIGAMY

"King Ben" Purnell Testified in the House of David Suit.

WEAKENED INVALID.

ST. JOSEPH, Mich. Aug. 13 —(UP) —"King Ben" Purnell, once overlord of the 7,000,000-dollar House of David religious colony, but now a weakened invalid, yesterday confessed to bigamy.

Testifying for the defense at the state's attempt to dissolve the colony, Purnell admitted he married his present wife—"Queen Mary" — before he had obtained a divorce from a former mate.

He admitted having married Angeline Brown when he was 16 years old, and said he had not obtained a divorce from her when he married Mary Stollard.

Purnell, his once-pewerful body wracked by illness, was carried into the court room on a stretcher.

It was his first appearance in public since his arrest last November, after having been a fugitive for seven years. The court room was crowded as the cult leader, very pale, and apparently quite ill, was wheeled into the room.

WINNIPEG WHEAT.

WINNIPEG, Aug. 13.—Wheat moved erratically within a narrow range yesterday and finished from ¼c. to 1-8c. down, October at $1.51¼, December at $1.47½ and May at $1.51 7-8.

On an early rush of purchasers wheat advanced 1¼c, but the gain was quickly lost. Chicago houses were again good buyers in this market.

Continued warm weather in the Canadian West and promises of still higher temperatures favorable to growing crops were welcome features of news received on the exchange.

Coarse grains declined fractionally. Export business was dead. The cash trade was small and without feature.

BEARS IN CHICAGO?

CHICAGO, Aug. 10.—Clad only in a bathing suit as he was returning from a swim, Michael Dudlac was frightened by the appearance of an apparently hostile black bear. Running to a house, he borrowed a shotgun and wounded the animal. Later the bear was found to be one that had escaped from a refuge for pets.

With $2,000,000 collected in royalties from her play, "Abie's Irish Rose", Anne Nichols is believed to be the richest woman playwright in the world.

FAILURE OF FIRM BREAKS UP MARKET

Prices of Many Issues 5 to 25 Points—Millions Lost.

NEW YORK, Aug. 13 (Canadian Press).—Failure of the stock exchange firm of A. L. Fuller and Company yesterday sent a hurricane of selling orders through the stock market, blowing down dozens of flimsy speculative structures which had been erected laboriously by pool operations. Prices of many issues crashed 5 to 25 points, wiping out hundreds of millions of dollars in quoted values, as holders of the shaky stocks stampeded for the cyclone cellars.

The collapse of the market was largely attributable to the rush of traders to get out from under. Huge blocks of stocks were thrown on the market for sale at any cost, and as prices plunged downward, hundreds of stop-loss orders were touched off, adding to the fury of the storm. Inability or unwillingness to meet calls for more margin resulted in many speculators being sold out on the down grade.

Announcement from the rostrum of the Exchange that A. L. Fuller and Company had been suspended for inability to meet their engagements, spread consternation among investors and brokers. Immediately the rush to withdraw from the unstable market was on. So headlong was the retreat that the day's total transactions ran within a few thousand shares of the three million mark and established a new high record for the year. The ticker tape at the close was 26 minutes behind the market, creating no little confusion in brokers' offices, where it could not be ascertained whether or not customers' orders had been executed.

Yesterday's collapse followed a sharp break Thursday resulting from the sensational decline of sixty points in Manhattan Electrical Supply. Several accounts carrying this stock were handled by A. L. Fuller and Company ,and their failure to meet engagements followed refusal of banks to extend further loans on Manhattan stock. Before the decline the stock had a loan value of about 80 a share, but after the break many banks would no longer carry it as collateral.

Shortly after the announcement of the suspension of the Fuller concern was made an involuntary petition in bankruptcy was filed in United States District Court by petitioning creditors. They alleged assets were about $1,000,000 and the firm's liabilities in excess of that amount.

DOG SHOW IS WELL UNDER WAY

The Committee in charge of the Peterborough Dog Show, run in conjunction with the Peterborough Industrial Exhibition under Canadian Kennel Club rules, have all matters pertaining to the show well advanced. The official premium list is printed and ready for the public and is the best list of premiums to be had at any show in the Province.

The Peterborough Dog Show has earned an enviable reputation and it is intended that everything pertaining to this year's show will eclipse all others.

Mr. W. S. Merrell is chairman; Mr. W. E. Jackson, 509 Homewood, is secretary-treasurer, and Dr. James E. Hair of Bridgeport, Conn. Judge.

A GIFT.

ATCHISON, Kas., Aug. 13.—An Atchisn woman and her daughter emerged from a store and stood under an awning. It looked like rain so the woman stretched out her hand to see if it was rain had begun to fall. A near-sighted old gentleman, seeing the woman and her small child and the outstretched hand, placed a dime in the woman's palm. He thought she was blind.

GIRL IS KILLED IN AUTO WRECK

Evelyn O'Hagen, of Cargill, Dies When Buggy Is Smashed.

RELATIVES HURT.

CARGILL, Ont., Aug. 13. — Evelyn O'Hagen, aged twenty-three, was killed, a younger sister Marjorie, aged eighteen, is in the hospital suffering from severe head injuries which may prove fatal, while a brother, Maurice, twenty-one years of age, sustained a fractured collar bone and other injuries as the result of a motor accident which occurred in Greenock Township two miles northeast of Riverdale about ten o'clock on Thursday night, when a car driven by Joseph Lippert, a Detroit young man formerly of Riversdale, collided with a buggy in which the other three young people were driving.

The victims were brought unconscious to the nearest farmhouse immediately following the accident, and about ten minutes later were rushed to the home of their parents Mr. and Mrs. John O'Hagen, near Chepstowe. The elder sister expired immediately after reaching home. The younger girl was then rushed to the hospital, but her recovery is regarded as extremely doubtful, and up to this evening she had not regained consciousness. The young man's injuries were not quite as serious,and he is being treated at home.

The two girls had been employed at St. Catharines, Ont., for some time and only arrived home on Saturday to spend a two weeks' vacation and attend a family reunion. The young people were on their way to a garden party when the accident occurred.

Lippert was arrested and brought to Walkerton jail.

A motor accident occurred a short distance north of Cargill when a Canadian Oil truck driven by John Tilker of Harriston ran into the ditch and upset. The driver was pinned under the cab sustaining a fractured wrist and severe cuts and bruises about the head and face.

REPUBLICANS ASK COOLIDGE TO RUN

Eight Leaders To Demand His Renomination For Presidency.

RAPID CITY, S. D., August 13. — United Press. — A complex situation has arisen here with the arrival of eight Republican leaders from all sections of the country.Most of them believe that President Coolidge will be renominated, despite his announcement that he does not choose to be a candidate in 1928.

Five of the eight said that he would be drafted. They predicted the convention would be deadlocked over two or more candidates and that Mr. Coolidge would be a unanimous compromise.

Whether by design or chance the eight Republican leaders arrived here at the same time With three exceptions they gave their whole-hearted support to Mr. Coolidge in such a way that observers believed a movement had been started to draft Mr. Coolidge, despite his announced disinclination for the office.

Senator Fess, Ohio, said he told Mr. Coolidge the party intended to demand his renomination. All he received was a statement of the president to the effect that he believed the Republican party contained many able men and that he had no desire for another term.

Representative Hill, Illinois, predicted that delegates to the national convention would encounter a spontaneous movement to make Mr.Coolidge the nominee.

75 BUSHELS OF OATS TO ACRE

George Helson, Jr., of Percy Township, Has Very Large Yield.

OTHERS HAVE 50.

All through the Central Ontario district the harvest is abundant and in some localities is excellent, Mr. W. H. Merrill informed the Examiner. He is displaying in Davis' Implement Shop on Water Street a sample of Empire oats from the farm of George Helson, Jr., in Percy Township, near Workworth. Mr. Helson has just cut his four acres of oats which, it is said, will average 75 bushels to the acre. Lorne and Stuart Atkinson will average on the whole 50 bushels of oats. This is well above 50 bushels of average of 35 to 40 bushels.

The root crop is very promising but corn is backward in some places.

SWISS TOBACCO.

GENEVA, Aug. 13.—A group of tobacco growers, meeting here recently, decided that tobacco culture will be resumed on a large scale in Switzerland in 1927. Conditions of overproduction which hurt the market for the last few years have been successfully met with, it was declared. Many growers refrained from planting last season.

Introducing

The New Vogue

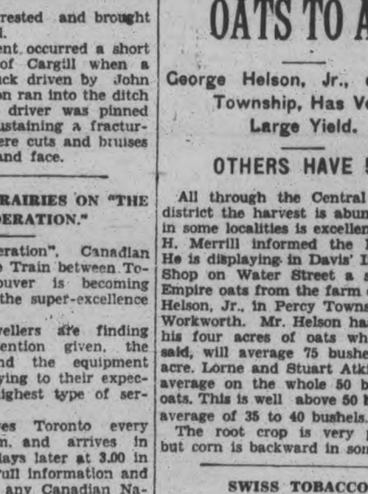
Interior Color Harmonies that match the lovely effect of the Drawing Room

McLAUGHLIN - BUICK for 1928 sets a new vogue in motor car design—

—A vogue for faithfully reproducing in closed car interiors the exquisite matching of colors . . . the tasteful harmony of appointment . . . the luxurious comfort with which skilful decorators have endowed our finest drawing rooms.

Rich fabrics, covering walls and ceilings, blend pleasantly with exterior finishes, forming a neutral background for matching or contrasting interior effects.

Form-fitting tailored seats are upholstered in attractive materials of the finest quality. Carpets of pleasing pattern add a touch of lively color. Even the interiorware is carefully selected for its decorative effect, that the complete ensemble may be in perfect taste.



Now you can have a motor car as charming as your drawing room—a McLaughlin-Buick for 1928. See these lovely closed cars at the nearest branch or dealer showroom.

FOUR ACCIDENTS RESULT FATALLY

Midland Boy Killed By Fall—Workman Dies Beneath Train.

BABY IS DROWNED.

MIDLAND, Ont., August 13. — Charles Burrison, the nineteen-year-old son of James Burrison, Dominion Avenue, was instantly killed about 5'clock yesterday afternoon by a fall from the top of the big new elevator across the bay, into one of the cement bins, a distance of some 80 feet.

The structure is nearing completion, and Burrison was removing the wood forms when he slipped.

DIES OF FRACTURED SKULL.

BELLEVILLE, Ont., August 13. — John Vicik, the foreigner who jumped from a train near Trenton, and sustained a fractured skull, passed away in the hospital here on Thursday night. B. Goodall, immigration officer of Detroit, identified the body known as John Vicik, and that he was being deported from the United States on account of illegal entry. As no relatives could be located in this country, interment was made yesterday in Trenton, the United States bearing the expense of the burial.

TRAIN KILLS MAN.

HAMILTON, Ont., August 13. — Nazare Suchansky, 24 Seventh Street, New Toronto, was instantly killed on the C.N.R. tracks, a short distance from Hamilton yesterday afternoon when he was struck by an east-bound train. Suchansky stepped from behind a west-bound freight train into the path of the train in charge of Engineer Meakings and Conductor William Sheehy. The remains were brought to this city and removed to the morgue.

Coroner Dr. Simpson was notified, and an inquest will be held. The local police notified New Toronto authorities, but late last night had received no reply. The victim was middle-aged and had a small sum of cash in his possession, and judging from the personal effects now in possession of the police, he was in search of employment and had walked all the way from his home.

BABY DROWNED.

TORONTO, Ont., August 13. — Allan Edward Butwell, the eleven-months-old baby of Mr. and Mrs. B. Butwell, 15 Humbercrest Avenue, Humber Bay, was drowned in six inches of water on Edgecliffe Beach last evening while playing with several other children. The child wandered about two yards out into the water and fell face downward. He was taken out by his grandmother, Mrs. M. Butwell, 114 Lakeshore Rd.

Life savers were called and worked over the child for some time, but their efforts were futile. Dr. Serson was called and pronounced life extinct.

C. B. Hemstead, aged 13, of 284½ Euclid Avenue, got beyond her depth while swimming at Centre Island. She was rescued by life guards.

INTERESTING DATA ON TOMBSTONES

Marmora Cemetery Contains Some Unique Specimens Of This Art.

MARMORA, Aug. 13.—Marmora Cemetery, like most burial grounds, has its share of tombstones whose inscriptions are quaint and interesting. The casual visitor is not apt to note the following inscriptions on monuments in that cemetery.

1. Royal Keys, died July 28, 1871, aged 107 years, 1 month and 28 days.

This was the greatest age for any to attain who have lived in Marmora though two others are said to have become centenarians.

2. In memory of Rev. Philip Rose who died Dec. 29, 1862, aged 41 years 11 months and 29 days.

This monument was discovered by the caretaker some time ago, lying on the ground and broken in half. He repaired it and set it back in its old position.

The Rev. Philip Rose was a Methodist minister who resided near the river in a frame dwelling which later was moved near to the Soap Factory (then the village school). Rev. Rose was suddenly taken ill and James Bowen, one of Marmora's oldest residents today, rode the minister's exceptionally fine steed to Stirling to summon the aid of Dr. F. T. English, the nearest physician to Marmora. The reverend gentleman died before Mr. Bowen reached Stirling.

3. In memory of Henry Jones. Died March 8th ,1879, aged 70 years 10 months and 19 days. A native of Whales.

"The winter of sorrow is past
The storm of affliction is o'er
Though with us his memory will last
Till sorrow and death are no more."

This is considered the most humorous inscription on account of its allusion to "Whales."

4. John Jones, died March 10th, 1862, aged 90 years. Native of South Wales.

This inscription is in memory of the father of the aforementioned Henry Jones.

5. Mary Crawford, died Jan. 30th, 1848. May she rest in peace. Amen.

6. Mary Nihill, died Sept. 24th, 1853.

7. Gone home. L. Anderson.

Holy	Bible

Poor spelling and style make this a little confusing at first. What was meant to be conveyed to the reader was:

"Holy Bible loved well.
Died, much regretted."

7. Richard Johns, died Jan. 22nd, 1884.

"Farewell my wife and children all
From you a Father, Christ doth call
Mourn not for me; it is in vain
But hope in Heaven to meet again."

WEAK AND NERVOUS.

The Condition of a P.E.I. Lady Who Again Rejoices in Good Health.

"I can most heartily recommend Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to all weak people," says Mrs. Augustin Arsenault, Wellington Station, P.E.I. "Before I began their use I was very weak and nervous. I had always worked hard, with no thought of my health, until suddenly my strength left me. I began to feel tired and depressed, and did not sleep well at night, feeling just as tired in the morning as when I went to bed at night. I began to feel discouraged when I would think of the work necessary for me to do. I got some medicine from the doctor whom I consulted, but it did not appear to meet my case as I showed no improvement while taking it. Then a neighbor advised me to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and I got a supply of this medicine. I very soon found they were helping me, and I continued their use until I was well again, and I have been strong and well ever since."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills do one thing—and do it well. They build up, purify and enrich the blood, and as the blood supplies the whole body, new life is given to the entire system. Better sleep, steady nerves, improved appetite, increased vigor—all these can be yours by taking Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Begin today. Sold by all medicine dealers or by mail, post paid, at 50 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

DERRY DAY

privation; women dying of starvation, little children perishing for want of sustenance, and fathers looking on helplessly at the passing away of their families. Some talked of surrender. Could it ever be forgotten that in those terrible hours the cry, "No! keep the gates closed!" came from the starving women of Londonderry?

"And of these heroic times,
If the tale be told in rhymes,
When the statesmen of the future
Learn no lesson from the past;
When rude hands are upsetting,
And cold hearts are forgetting,
And faction sways the Senate and faith is overcast,

"Then these Derry men shall tell,
Who would serve his country well
Must be strong in his conviction
And valiant in his deed,
Must be patient in enduring,
And determined in securing
The liberty to serve his God,
The freedom of his creed."

Some Facts About Order.

He wished to point out some facts concerning the Orange Order.

It is the oldest distinctively Protestant organization in the British Empire.

It is the largest and most widespread of Protestant societies.

It is a private rather than a secret society. It has no secrets except its signs and passwords. The constitution of the Orange Order can be found on the shelves of every up-to-date library in Canada. They do not want to be a secret order. They want everybody to know what they stand for. It is a non-denominational organization. It is political but not partisan. The Order would oppose any party which imperilled the fundamental principles of Canadian and British institutions or the British connection. The Order never asked or received any favors from any government during its hundred years of existence in Canada. To its principle "Equal rights for all, Special privileges to none," it had been consistent. It received no tribute and would pay none. It maintained orphanages in seven provinces. It had an insurance branch and offered contracts cheaper than, and as safe as, any corporation did in Canada.

It had spent thousands of dollars in the Tremblay case, in defence of a poor Roman Catholic woman of Quebec, legally married by a Roman Catholic priest, but who would have been branded as an adultress, living with a man not her husband if the Orange Order had not carried the case right to the Privy Council.

The Orange Order came forward spontaneously to the help of the R. C. Belgian refugees.

It was fighting for the right of the Prairie provinces to receive untrammelled control over their natural resources.

Did the audience know that Bishop Prudhomme of Saskatoon had said: "We occupy both sides of the Red River, Alta., the Pembina Mts., and are commencing to invade the domain of the strangers. We will fulfill the providential role which is to spread our faith over all the north of this continent."

Bishop Halle of Hearst, New Ontario, had declared: "I do not hesitate to say that New Ontario will become a new province of Quebec."

Concluding, Dr. Edwards pleaded for a quota system in immigration to Canada. Unrestricted immigration from U. S. and Great Britain and North Ireland, with a quota system applied elsewhere, including shutting down to the limit immigration from South-east Europe, would, he thought, avoid many pressing problems in the near future.

To him it appeared passing strange that twenty-eight Roman Catholic priests, some of them salaried, were accredited by the government as immigration agents, while not a single Protestant clergyman was so accredited officially.

He wished to point out what outside critics often ignored, that Orangemen were obligated to defend the constitutional rights of their Roman Catholic neighbors.

QUALITY in design. Quality in construction. Quality in appearance. Quality in performance. Never before has any low-priced car possessed them to such an amazing degree—because no other low-priced car combines the progressiveness of Chevrolet and the diversified experience, the vast resources and the matchless facilities of General Motors.

Study today's Chevrolet. Mark well the aristocratic beauty of its lines—the superbly executed details of its Fisher-built bodies.

Then go for a ride. Revel in the thrilling spurt when you "step on the gas". Delight in the smooth operation—the swift sweep of the passing miles. Marvel at the way the car hugs the road, the ease with which it obeys the steering wheel, the promptness with which it responds to the brakes.

Here is quality expressed in terms that millions now can understand and enjoy. Here is quality obtainable at New, Lower Prices, which reflect the savings of tremendous production and which demonstrate the willingness to share these savings with the public. . . .

Here is a car of amazing quality . . . for everybody, everywhere. C-3288

LINDY WEARY ALREADY.

After only two months of it, Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh is sated with public life and utterly weary. He is committed to a tour of the United States, and already he catches himself falling asleep at banquets and longing for Sunday.

Just to rest and escape the crowd!

Hasn't another young man taken himself to his ranch in the Alberta foothills to luxuriate in the silence and calm of the great open spaces.

The Prince of Wales has been actively in the receiving line for ten years or more, shaking hands with eager thousands all around the world.

Lindy has been in the limelight two months, and if this stalwart unemotional young American is wilting in the glare and nodding from lack of sleep, what must be the feelings of the Prince of Wales whose life is a busy, eventful round of public engagements!

There is an element of refined cruelty in the people's exactions from royalty, especially in the demands that have been made upon the Prince in the war years. If the pristine glamour and interest have worn off his duties, who can be surprised at the reflected change in his personalty and in his reactions to spectacles and the swank of stuffed-shirted citizenry.

Col. Lindbergh is ready to retire to his accustomed private life, but has a long series of official visits to pay in the larger centres of the United States; but the Prince of Wales must smile on with whatever tranquil intervals fortune brings him in respite.

A HOLLY WOOD SPIRIT.

It is unfortunate for a serious-minded people who have important work to do that the affairs of Constance Talmadge should even faintly concern them. However, they do, and, recognizing that uncommendable interest, metropolitan dailies allot front page position to report the latest Talmadgean whim.

And so it appears Constance is preparing to rid herself of an unoffending but incompatible husband. Her marriage to Captain Alastair MacIntosh could scarcely have been more than a trial association.

"They are the best of friends," affirms Constance's mother, "but it is inevitable that there will be a divorce. They just can't live together. He is the most charming man in the world, and we all admire him sincerely. Constance never thinks of divorce proceedings, but she said the other day, 'I suppose I must start them sometime.'"

You might imagine, if you were unaware of the subject of her remark that Constance was thinking of a new sable wrap or a new limousine, something inconsequential to be picked off a peg.

They are more or less together yet, but after the Captain has been given his conge, who will be the next and equally admirable gentleman, and after him, who?

Such are the marriage notions of a woman of Hollywood, who has been raised to affluence and prominence by the patronage of Christian men and women, whose ideals of matrimony are surely far above the laxity and nonchalance of Miss Talmadge's indifference.

WAITING FOR HON. MR. HENRY.

Something was said a year ago about the prospect of Hon. George S. Henry, Minister of Highways, making an inspection tour this summer of the two roads between Peterborough and Belleville with a view to designating the route of a Provincial highway between these two cities.

Local hopes had developed a controversy as to whether this highway should be built by way of Marmora on the one hand, or on the other by way of Hastings and Campbellford. It was stated that Hon. Mr. Henry had given his promise to inspect both roads this year in order that he would know the conditions of each when his final decision or choice was made.

This has been a season already marked by avoidance of choice in high places. The most notable announcement in that respect came from the summer camp of the President of the United States in Dakota.

So far nothing has been heard from Hon. Mr. Henry, although it is assumed that he will fulfill his promise before the summer passes. Every attention is being given the districts nearer Toronto, and coming further east, Peterborough is grateful for the department's action in undertaking the building of a permanent highway between this city and Lindsay. The needs of better facilities for travel between Peterborough and Tweed and between Peterborough and Stirling have been previously emphasized, and Hon. Mr. Henry's decision will not only be awaited with keen interest by the people of this city, but also by the residents of a large section of Peterborough, Hastings and Northumberland Counties.

AN EXAMPLE OF LIMITED BONUS.

By 1,865 votes to 31, the ratepayers of Brantford have approved a fixed assessment for a carpet company which will set one of that city's empty factories humming again. For the next ten years it will pay general taxes on only $50,000, but will pay local improvement taxes in full and school taxes on the regular basis.

It was a wise enactment of the Ontario Legislature in 1924 which restricted municipal bonuses to the type which Brantford has just approved. The power to offer cash bonuses, to furnish free sites, to guarantee bonds or to grant unlimited freedom from taxation has been taken away. A business located in one town cannot be voted even a fixed assessment by another, nor can such favors be extended to a type of business already carried on in the municipality without the rival proprietors' consent. If the way is clear for granting a fixed assessment it applies to general taxes only and must be approved by three-fourths of the whole Council and two-thirds of the voting ratepayers.

These provisions have put an end to the bidding for industries which was prevalent some years ago—one municipality attempting to outdo another in the offer of bonuses, free sites and guarantees. Promoters are no longer able to play off one town against its neighbor. It was an evil system and led to many abuses.

Brantford is one of the finest cities in Canada and its return to prosperity has been an occasion of general satisfaction. Toronto cannot have all the factories, and it would be a great misfortune if she did. In choosing Brantford the carpet company has located in a live and progressive centre which deserves to prosper.—Toronto Star.

NEW TOWNS FOR OLD.

Such is the title of a new book published by a well-known landscape architect and town-planner who insists that many of the smaller towns and villages upon this continent are hideously ugly, and that by the taking of a little pains and the expenditure of a little money the larger part of the unattractive drabness might be removed and they be made to be at least passably attractive and beautiful. We can vouch for the accuracy of this writer's characterization as applied to some of the Canadian villages we know. We fear he may be somewhat optimistic as to the changes that a little pains and money might make, but we quite share his enthusiasm for having the thing done, even if a small expenditure might not quite do it.

Contrary, we think, to the general conception, notwithstanding the movement toward the cities that still goes on unchecked throughout nearly the whole of the continent, the number of people living in the villages is not decreasing, but steadily increasing throughout both the United States and Canada. And we haven't the slightest doubt in the world that there is a growing sense of civic pride among these increasing villages, and that much is being done here and there to make our smaller towns and villages more attractive, but any one who travels through the country knows that the movement needs stimulating rather badly in some sections, and needs better direction in others. And if we might have "new towns for old" in many cases and many more of these small centres might become real beauty spots in which the people might have a very active pride, the effect on the life and happiness and satisfaction of the people would be very far-reaching indeed.—The New Outlook.

WORLD EDUCATION.

At the present time the World Federation of Education Associations with delegates from more than 30 races, is in session in Toronto, far-famed as the seat of Toronto University, and as one of the foremost educational centres of the Dominion. As this is only the third convention of this great international association, it is a marked distinction to have it meet in Canada. Its first convention was in San Francisco in 1923, and the second was held in Edinburgh in 1925. Thus it has covered the three great branches of the English-speaking nations. The Federation distinctly places the emphasis upon the international ideal in education, and it believes that, in the teaching of certain subjects, such as literature, history and geography, there are splendid opportunities for promoting international understanding and good-will.

It strongly holds that in the teaching of all events that concern international affairs, the truth should be clearly and impartially told. Moreover, it believes that the more the people of the different nations understand one another, the greater will be the hope of world peace, and the stronger the foundation upon which it is reared. Undoubtedly the World Federation is working in harmony with sound methods. If the teachers can be brought to see the wisdom of the policy that is outlined by the World Federation of Education Associations, they can become one of the greatest forces in the world for the removal of misunderstanding among the nations, and the promotion of peace and good-will. On account of its high ideals the convention is exceedingly welcome in Canada. It is to be hoped that the delegates will be afforded ample facilities for seeing this great Dominion. —Brantford Expositor.

HELPING ITSELF.

Dr. G. C. Creelman, for a number of years the energetic head of the Ontario Agricultural College, Guelph, has lately completed a survey of agricultural conditions in New Brunswick and will soon issue a detailed report thereon. His long connection with Canada's basic industry, still closely maintained as President of the Canadian Society of Technical Agriculturists, well fits him for the task. The Government of the Province inferentially had immigration and agricultural development in view in securing such a survey, and well defined policy relative thereto may be expected to follow. This will be more easily planned and carried out because of Dr. Creelman's visit.

As most Canadians know, New Brunswick has long been famous as a lumbering region. Large numbers of its farmers have been woodsmen, too, and another big proportion has been fishermen-farmers. The latter will probably continue in their present ratio. But lumbering is not so widespread as it was, as large tracts of land have been cleared, and much of these are available for the farmer. In the words of Dr. Creelman, "the farmers in the interior of the Province have pretty well lived through the woods stage, and must now go to farming seriously for a living." He believes that the Province can develop as a wonderful stock-raising country, too, one that in time will be shipping pure-bred stock to the other Provinces as well as to the United States. As a result of what could be done in these respects the experience of one county in regard to poultry is cited. It was importing eggs three or four years ago to meet the domestic demand. Now it is supplying the home market from its own hen-yards, and exporting to many points. Attention to breeding, cleanliness, feeding and other details wrought the change.

It is obvious that New Brunswick is not going to rest content with special grants and various forms of Federal aid under the Duncan report legislation of last session. It is intent upon a development that ought to attract many farmer settlers and help to keep its own farmers' boys on the land. Every Canadian will wish that success will crown its efforts.—Brantford Expositor.

Now it is to have only three altogether, the morning Post-Gazette, and two in the afternoon the Sun-Telegraph (Hearst) and the Press (Scripps-Howard). It is not long since Toronto had three morning and three afternoon papers; now only two of each. In Buffalo three newspapers recently melted into one.—Toronto Star.

MONTREAL GRAIN AND PRODUCE.

MONTREAL, August 13 (Canadian Press). — There was a good demand from the United Kingdom and the Continent for American hard wheat in the Montreal market yesterday, and as the prices bid in most instances were in line with exporters' views, a good business was worked. The trade in Canadian grades of grain was very slow.

Outside of a little trading in oats with local buyers, the spot market was very quiet, but the undertone was steady.

The trade in spring and winter wheat grades of flour was less active yesterday, but values were unchanged.

The demand for all lines of millfeed continued good and an active trade was done at unchanged prices. The trade in standard grades of rolled oats was inactive and prices ruled steady.

Owing to the continued small production of eggs throughout the country, the light deliveries at interior points and the high price demanded by dealers in the country, a much firmer feeling prevailed in the local egg market yesterday, and the prospects are that values will be marked up in the near future. The volume of business was fair. The receipts were 1,955 cases.

Prices for all grades of butter were well maintained under a fair demand from all sources. The receipts were 3,765 packages.

The trade in cheese was again of a very limited character, and the undertone continued easy. The receipts were 6,107 boxes.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

CHICAGO, Ills., August 13 (Canadian Press). — Nervousness pervaded the wheat market yesterday, and prices averaged lower though strong rallies at times. Weakness of stocks in New York had a bearish influence. Closing quotations on wheat were unsettled at ⅛c to ⅜c net decline, with corn showing ⅝c to 1c advance, oats ⅛c to ⅝c up, and provisions unchanged to 20c down.

Illinois and Iowa crop reports were bullish on corn, and there were more reports in regard to the corn borer. Oats advices in most cases told of smaller yields than expected.

Provisions were easier on account of scattered selling.

CHICAGO CATTLE.

CHICAGO, Ills., August 13 (Canadian Press). — Cattle, 2,000; best steers, $13.50; best loads light and medium weight offerings, $12.00 to $12.75; winter Kansas grass and cake fed steers, $12.75 to $9.50; scaling 1,000 to 1,250 pounds; stock steers fairly active at $7.00 to $8.25; vealers, $15.00 to $15.50.

Hogs, 15,000; top, $10.90 for several loads scaling 160 to 200 pounds; bulk, 160 to 200 pound average, $10.60 to $10.85, 220 to 250 pound weights, $9.50 to $10.40 ;mostly $9.50 to $10.25; 260 to 300 pound butchers, $8.60 to $9.15; few big weights down to $8.50; most packing sows, $7.25 to $7.65.

Sheep, 13,000; bulk good to choice rangers, $14.25; bulk lightly sorted natives, $13.75 to $14.00; fat ewes, $6.00 to $7.25; feeding lambs, $12.75 to $13.25.

A Thought For To-day

THIS IS POSSIBLE.

If we are sincere in our self-analysis, we will be charitable in our judgement of others.

If we love unselfishly, we may help another to be more kind, more just, and at least we shall save ourselves many heartaches.

If we can learn the value of silence, we can save ourselves from stabs and jabs that may eventually scar beyond recognition the love we now hold dear.

If we can hold to ideals, and not let the material elements in love kill the spiritual qualities, we may hope finally to raise a human love to so high a plane that mortal action will no longer count.

7 Rules for Safety

You must obey them if you wish to be safe on the Highways

Traffic has increased so much on the highways that motor car drivers must become "traffic conscious". They must realize that safety for all motor traffic is largely in the hands of the operators of cars. Some do not yet understand this, while a small minority are perpetual offenders against common sense, decency and the law. Both these classes of drivers are a menace.

The co-operation of all intelligent and right-minded motorists is desired in giving caution and advice to the careless. In cases of flagrant breach of the law or rules of the road, other motorists should take license numbers and send them to the local authorities or to this Department with particulars.

These are the simple Rules of Driving It is necessary to observe each one scrupulously all the time.

1. Get your Motor Vehicle Operator's License.

Have it whenever you drive a car. If you get into an accident, or are stopped by a traffic officer or policeman, the absence of your Operator's License in itself will be considered a breach of the law and subject to fine.

2. Have your car in perfect mechanical shape.

Glaring Headlights—See that your lights are of one of the types authorized by the Department, and that your bulbs are in focus. Write the Department for a free folder telling how to focus your lights.

Brakes—Get your brakes tested frequently so that your car will obey when you want to stop.

Steering Gear—No part of the car is so vital. Take care against breakage by frequent inspection.

Four Wheel Brake Signs—Put one on the rear of your car if you have four-wheel brakes.

3. Don't "loaf" on main highways when traffic is heavy.

If you are just "out for an airing" go where the traffic is light. County and township roads are in good shape. Slow moving traffic is the cause of many accidents, because the motors behind must pass. Don't be selfish with the road by holding up traffic which has a right to proceed at a reasonable speed.

4. In passing traffic—Be careful.

When you overtake and pass another car, see that the road ahead is clear. Be sure there is a place in the traffic line which you can reach before you meet a vehicle coming the other way. Keep to your right on curves. Don't try to pass near the top of a hill. There may be a vehicle approaching which you cannot see. Always indicate what you intend to do either by the horn or signal with the hand.

5. When other cars try to pass you—Let them pass.

The law is very definite in providing that when a vehicle overtakes another and attempts to pass, the second vehicle shall pull over to the right and let the first vehicle go by. Some drivers still think it clever to speed up when overtaken. That is against the law.

6. In entering Main Highways—Stop and Look.

Don't try to cut into traffic. Wait a minute and it will pass.

7. Don't stop on the Highway—Don't park.

It is dangerous to yourself and to others to park on the highway. If you wish to stop, move on to the first turn-out, and get your car entirely off the pavement.

USE COMMON SENSE—BE COURTEOUS

Think of the danger you create for yourself and others by careless, thoughtless driving.

It is better for you to let the other driver have the road, if it helps you to avoid an accident or a lawsuit.

16 YEARS

The high price of shoes is one thing that isn't worrying Grandma Sarah Jane Funderburk of Birmingham, Ala., these days. She brought a pair sixteen years ago and she is still wearing them! What's more, she has worn them nearly every day and has had them half-soled only once. The shoes are shown below—slightly worn but still serviceable. They cost three dollars when new.

SAINT and SINNER

By ANNE AUSTIN

That evening when Cherry and Bob came hom from the office, Faith saw at once that they had been quarreling. They were not employer and secretary now; neither were they brother and sister-in-law. They were merely a man and a girl who both liked and hated each other. Faith knew that they had been wrangling all day over Cherry's behaviour of the night before. But now she was glad that she had something to tell her husband which would jar him out of his moody abstraction over Cherry's new affair.

She waited until they were seated at the dinner table—her father, her husband, her sister and herself, waited upon deftly by Mrs. Lundy, whose broad, homely face still wore that look of grim disapproval with which she had received Faith's orders for luncheon for herself and George.

"George Pruitt was here today, dear," she said, in her throaty, pleasant contralto. "He came before luncheon"—she hurried a bit as a storm gathered on her husband's already grim face—"he made a pencil sketch of the picture. He's going to call it 'A Modern Madonna.' He hopes to exhibit it, along with some of the things he did in New York, when the new public library is finished."

"I don't like it," Bob cut in almost rudely. "The man is in love with you—still is, judging from the sheep's eyes he cast at you all evening."

"No good won't come of it, mark my words!" Jim Lane spoke suddenly and harshly. "Better tell that brash young man to stick to his wholesale groceries."

"Fancy good old Faith posing for an artist!" Cherry laughed mockingly. "It's like a movie! Did he ask you to pose in the altogether, darling?"

Color swept over Faith's neck and face, but she did not answer her sister in words. When she did speak, after swallowing painfully at the lump of tears in her throat, it was to Bob: "Please, dear! We're not going to hurt each other about this, are we? I love the midget so much that it thrills me to think of having my portrait painted with her, and if George proves to himself that he can really paint, it will mean that he can take up his career again. We owe a great deal to George. He was wonderful during the—during——"

"Why not spill it, darling?" Cherry demanded, in a brittle, angry voice. "During the trial, you're trying to say. He offered to help pay my counsel fees, didn't he? But it was because he was in love with you, not with me! Well, fight it out, old things! I've got to dress for a date. Life seems to be looking up for the two beautiful Lane sisters! You with your artist sweetie and me with my sandy-haired sheik that I vamped from the proud and haughty Selma——"

"Oh, Cherry!" Faith wailed.

But Bob sprang from his seat, knocking his chair over. He caught Cherry just as she was darting out of the dining room, and for a dreadful moment Faith thought that he was going to strike the mockingly smiling little face. But his hands gripped her shoulders instead, and his voice was like the crack of a whip as he commanded her: "Apologize to Faith, you little devil!"

Cherry's laugh rang out, then, twisting suddenly about so that she lay against his tense arm, she twined the fingers of one hand in his hair and jerked his head down so that she could kiss his lips. And even as Bob's hand was pushing her away, it seemed to Faith that it was his lips that clung, as much as Cherry's.

FASHION NOTES.

OF CLOTHES FOR THE STOUT

By HEDDA HOYT

(United Press Fashion Editor)

NEW YORK, Aug. 13. — (United Press).—The few stout women left in this dieting world find it difficult to buy smart clothes in large sizes. True, some houses specialize on "stout" dresses, but even there are, smarter garments are in medium sizes.

There's one thing which the stout woman should remember when buying a gown—surplus fresh demands surplice bodice lines! When the large woman fails to cut down on her weight she must rely upon the cut of the gown for "slenderizing." Surplice front effects in bodices do much towards making one appear less rotund. The surplice is not necessarily a matronly style. For instance, the dress made with a surplice front which ties at one side without necessitating the wearing of a vestee is most youthful. As a rule the bodice joins a pleated front tunic. More matronly, are surplices with reserves and vestees which form a V shape as they join the tunic. The dress that isn't made on surplice lines may use a long strand of beads to aid in apparently dividing the breadth of the figure.

One-sided and V-shaped necklines are preferred to other types by women with matronly figures. One-piece frocks are also preferred above two-piece types in most instances. Diagonal skirt manipulation is used on many models which vary from the general vertical skirt effect. Tiers, flounces and any skirt trimming which tends to increase one's breadth are poor substitutes for vertical or diagonal lines.

Large women are getting away from wearing black to a great extent. Black and white effects, navy blues, beige, flesh and even white are said to be leading stout shades for summer. Printed materials are well liked by most large women, the print usually being used with solid color for contrast. The combination of two materials is also well liked. Lace and chiffon combinations add a softness which is flattering to plump figures.

Venetian ladies of lang again whitened their hands with a pomade compounded from lilies of the valley and clarified lard.

HINTS ON ETIQUETTE.

1. What is the polite thing to do if you find yourself seated at a party near someone you have not met?
2. Should a hostess make a conscious effort to keep conversation going at a party?
3. Is there any way to divert a guest who seems bent on doin gall the talking?

The Answers.

1. Introduce yourself.
2. Yes, if necessary.
3. Ask someone else, pleasantly, if he won't tell some incident you know is amusing.

HOROSCOPE

The Stars Incline, but do not Compel.

FOR SUNDAY, AUGUST 14, 1927

(Copyright, 1927, McClure Syndicate.)

This is a day of unimportant planetary direction, according to astrology which finds a benefic aspect dominant.

The rule should be fortunate for the church and those who direct religious work, for there will be much interest in the spiritual side of existence.

Denominational differences and even dissensions within church organizations may be expected, for they will reflect the thought conflicts of the times.

Great educational campaigns are to be pushed by the churches and effective missionary work is to be done in universities, the seers prophesy.

Under this sway of the stars self-deception may be more prevalent than usual and it is well to take stock of one's faults as well as virtues.

One of the tendencies supposed to be encouraged today is boastfulness and even misrepresentation regarding personal attainments.

The wise will cultivate the humble spirit that is ready to receive enlightenment on all subjects, astrologers assert.

Women should strive toward simplicity in dress and manner, for through artificial beauty aids they are supposed to become victims to general habits of deception.

A new national theatre is foretold for an eastern city where dreams regarding the production of really good drama are to come true.

Again astrologers foretell for September a hurricane in the north Atlantic.

Persons whose birthdate it is may have a period in which changes are made in their surroundings. A great desire for comfort causes extravagance.

Children born on this day probably will be dignified and rather difficult to understand. They succeed through daring initiative.

FOR MONDAY, AUGUST 15, 1927

(Copyright, 1927, McClure Syndicate.)

All the signs today appear to warn against daring enterprise of any sort, according to astrology. Delays will be more profitable than action in most business matters.

Under this sway creditors are inclined to push for payments, but the wise will put them off until a more auspicious rule of the stars prevails.

There is an aspect that is read as fairly good for selling, but buying should be avoided until a more favorable day.

Contracts should not be signed under this planetary direction, which makes for dissatisfaction and even losses.

Care should be exercised regarding letters and especially those that carry love messages.

This is not a lucky day for weddings since it is supposed to incline women to be deceitful and selfish.

It is not an auspicious date for theatres and new plays that bid for favor tonight may be disappointing.

The coming season is to bring changes for many places of amusement. Heavy losses and many sales of fine buildings are indicated.

Under this government of the stars there is likely to be great amalgamations of business concerns and far-reaching reorganization.

Women are subject to influences making for restlessness and selfishness. They may be exacting and difficult, especially in money transactions.

A London astrologer foretells that the conjunction of the Sun and Mars is to be especially sinister in influence for China, Japan and America.

It must be remembered that women have been going through a period of preparation for exacting public work and they will show their new efficiency in the year 1928.

Persons whose birthdate it is have the augury of a year of diversion and pleasure.

Children born on this day probably will be fortunate in their domestic relations. They should succeed by steady work and persistent endeavor.

To Find out if you need Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.—A study of these symptoms will enable you to decide.

This blood and nerve restorative was devised for use in two great classes of diseases, one of which usually develops from the other—Anaemia or bloodlessness, and Nervous Exhaustion. If the blood is thin and watery, as is indicated by pallor of the lips, eyelids and gums, or if you are afflicted by some form of nervous trouble, you will find in Dr. Chase's Nerve Food the most certain means of relief and restoration. Some of the symptoms and ailments which come under this heading are:

Thin blood, sallow complexion, pallor of eyelids, lips and gums, tired feelings, loss of energy and ambition, tendency to fear and anxiety, loss of breath and easily fatigued, weak heart action, loss of flesh and weight, neurasthenia, nervous prostration, nervous headache, indigestion, sleeplessness, irritability, nervousness, twitching of nerves and muscles, sensitiveness to sound and light, gloomy forebodings, loss of memory, inability to concentrate the mind.

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food is easily the greatest of restoratives. By forming new red corpuscles in the blood this food treatment nourishes the starved and depleted nerves back to health and vigor. Try it when you are run down and out of sorts. It will restore vigor and energy and make you feel that life is worth living.

DRESS

By MARY MARSHALL

New blouses show trimming boldly spread across the front. This crepe de chine jumper has a hand-painted design in shades of green, brown, pink and blue.

The rule of the perfectly unadorned bodice front seems to be passing—though you still see effective dance frocks with a perfectly smooth line of material from neckline to girdle which are charming in their simplicity. But sweaters and sports frocks generally are showing all sorts of ornament, and instead of having it consist of a small applique or set of initials placed over toward one shoulder or down near the hips it is plastered bravely and fearlessly all across the front.

Sometimes these new sweater designs are made by appliqueed pieces of thin flannel in different colors and sometimes by cross stitching of colored wool. If you want to make a perfectly plain sweater that you have on hand look quite new, try one of these cross stitched or applied designs.

A friend of mine in Paris assures me that the automobile has changed fashions and manners quite as much in France as in the United States within the past decade or two. What they speak of as "the English week" has also done a good deal to change the existence of French women of the better classes who must still spend a good share of their summers in Paris.

The English week, of course, indicates Saturday holiday or half holiday. This makes it possible for large numbers of Parisians to spend their weekends out of the city, and if they possess motor cars they can do this without the inconvenience of railroad journeys.

Country clothes and sports clothes are therefore a necessity to all better-to-do Parisians—whether they can long sojourn at a summer resort or not. For five days a week they wear the more subdued conventional type of clothes that the Parisian considers appropriate to the city—but for two days they may wear gayer, less conventional resort and motor clothes.

Appliquee roses cut from ribbon six inches wide decorate a charming little French frock suitable for afternoon or informal evening wear. It is easy enough to make them if you have the pattern, and this I will gladly send you with directions for applying them. Don't forget the self-addressed, stamped envelope.

MARY MARSHALL.

Healthful Cleanliness

HEALTHFUL Cleanliness should be found in every room in the home. Old Dutch is a natural detergent that removes all impurities, visible and invisible without injuring hands or surfaces. It contains no lye, acids or hard grit. It's safe and economical to use Old Dutch for cleaning bathrooms, sinks, woodwork, floors, kitchen utensils, etc. Doesn't clog the drains. There's nothing else as satisfactory as Old Dutch Cleanser.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

QUESTION: R. S. A. writes: "Will you kindly tell me what causes internal trembling of the nerves?"

ANSWER: The trembling you write of is usually produced by the pressure from excessive gas on the solar plexus or other sympathetic nerves in the abdomen.

QUESTION: Northern asks: "Where did the name "corn pone" originate?"

ANSWER: It is from the Indian "pone," "apone" and "appone," all signifying "bread" made by cooking thin cakes of cornmeal in hot ashes. Corn pone is an alternative southern title for corn bread—used for both the plainest and the richest.

QUESTION: D. W. J. writes: "Please advise me through your column how I may cure a severe case of acne which I have had for three years. Have tried many doctors, but got only temporary relief."

ANSWER: Acne is primarily caused by an unhealthy state of the colon which is due to using the wrong kind of foods. A contributing cause may be a naturally oily skin, or carelessness in keeping the face clean. Wash the face several times daily with soap and water, following with cold towels. Eliminate all fats and oils from your diet, except a small amount of butter. Overcome constipation as soon as possible by following the diets I recommend in this column. Meanwhile, use a daily enema until normal bowel action is established.

MARYSVILLE, O., Aug. 10.—A robin and a maltese kitten are taking turns in incubating the eggs in the birds' nest. When the mother bird leaves the nest, the kitten climbs in and lays on the eggs. Persons who have seen the phenomenon say the kitten is trying to insure a dinner of young robins in the near future.

An English Style Semi-Detached House

(By Charles A. Mitchell, Architect.)

This pair of semi-detached houses amply illustrates the adaptability of the English Cottage style to this type of house. In designing double houses the architect's greatest aim must be the retention of a homelike atmosphere and no other style so indisputably marks itself as belonging to a home as that used here.

Entering through the tiled vestibule into the hall we find a large coat closet, lighted by a small circular window conveniently at hand.

Imagine the delightful appearance of the living room even when devoid of furnishings. The floor is of redwood, and the two sets of French doors which give access to the hall and dining room respectively, are painted mahogany. Directly opposite those to the dining room is the well proportioned bay window, while last but not least, the centre of the remaining wall is occupied by a beautiful buff brick fireplace having a high set window on each side. The home makers would indeed have an exceptional opportunity of displaying their furnishing ability in such a room.

The dining room is square and well lighted and it, too, places the decorator under no handicap.

Efficiency has been the watchword of the kitchen layout. Doors give direct access to each of the places to which convenient access from the kitchen is most commonly desired. These are the dining room, main hall, basement stairs, and rear entrance. The kitchen equipment is compactly arranged to minimize, and take the drudgery from labour. An outside icing door to the refrigerator will obviate the objectionable features attendant on the entrance, usually at the most inconvenient moment imaginable, of the ice man with muddy boots, and melting ice.

The second floor plan, is a simple and direct arrangement. A point well worthy of particular mention, however, is the provision of a closet in the hall, bathroom, and each bedroom.

It may be observed from the perspective that the sills of the side ground floor windows are kept over seven feet above the ground. This is a commendable example of thoughtful designing ensuring, as it does, privacy for the occupants of the house.

Constructionally, the building is sound and fire-resisting, comprising concrete footings and foundation walls, red brick walls, and a grey asbestos shingle roof.

Readers desiring further information regarding the plans and specifications of this house should communicate with the architect, Address, Mr. Charles A. Mitchell, 304 University Street W., Montreal, Quebec. Copyright 1927 MacLean Building Reports.

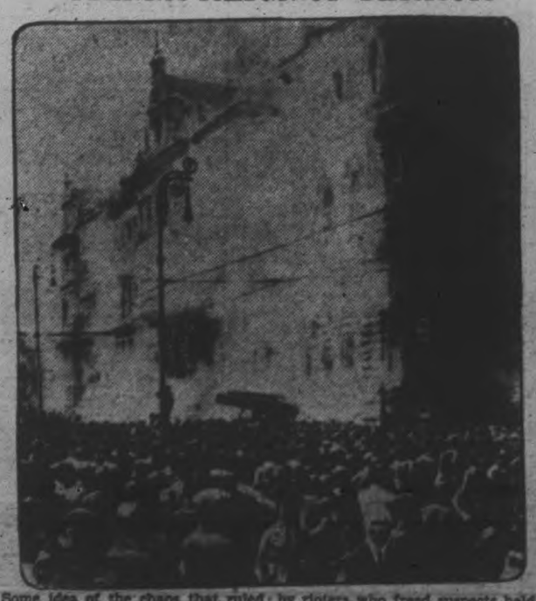
VIENNA REIGN OF TERROR



Some idea of the chaos that ruled the streets of Vienna for several days can be gathered from this photograph showing the burning of the Palace of Justice after it had been raided by rioters who freed suspects held in connection with a Socialist murder. Before the rioting ceased 100 persons had been killed and hundreds more injured.

ECONOMIC EMPIRE IS IMPOSSIBILITY

Idea of Empire as Self Sufficing Unit Impossible, Says Speaker.

WILLAIMSTOWN, Mass., Aug. 13. Canadian Press. — The idea of an empire as a potentiol self sufficing economic unit, is impossible, Prof. Robert eaton of Queen's University, Kingston, Ont., declared at the Institute of Politics to-day.

The British Dominions seek to keep out British manufacturers while seeking a larger shore of the British market, he declared, and no imperial sentiment can induce a change.

LONDON UNSAFE IN TIME OF WAR

Sir Alan Cobham Says Enemy Planes Could Bomb City Without Danger.

MOST EXPOSED CAPITAL.

LONDON, Aug. 13th. — (British United Press). — By Herbert Bailey— In the event of another European war it would be practically impossible for London to be effectively defended against air attacks."

This is the opinion of Sir Alan Cobham, famous British airman, expressed in an interview to-day.

"The enemy," he continued, "could fly over the city on a day of mist and could blow us to smithereens and get away without even having been seen. London is more exposed to an attack by air than any other capital."

Lyrics Of Life

(By Douglas Malloch.)

CRACKERS AND CHEESE.

You're complaining again what it's costing to live;
Money runs through your hands like the sand through a sieve.
But I'm an old fellow inclined to maintain
That it's plain to be seen you're not living as plain.
For instance, out driving, you stop by the way
And look for a two dollar dinner to-day.
We looked for a store, such occasions as these,
And did very well on our crackers and cheese.

For roadhouses then were a pleasure unknown,
But the grocery store had a charm of its own.
We stopped at the door and we watered the horse,
A pump and a pail always handy, of course,
Then we climbed up the steps of the grocery store,
While the loveliest smells floated out from the door.
And we handed the grocer a dime, if you please,
And did very well on our crackers and cheese.

A seat on the stoop if the weather was hot,
A seat by the stove if the weather was not,
For the grocery store was a wonderful place,
And the grocery man had a smile on his face.
Yes, it's costing to live, maybe more than it's worth,
But crackers and cheese still exist on the earth;
With your two dollar dinners, your tips and your fees,
You might do just as well on just crackers and cheese.

IN POLICE COURT.

John Hynes pleaded guilty this morning to being intoxicated while driving a car and was sentenced to seven days in the common jail. Last night while the police car was patrolling East City, Hynes nearly ran into it and an arrest followed immediately.

Three other men appeared charged with being intoxicated and were fined by His Worship Magistrate O. A. Langley $20.00 and costs each.

A local citizen pleaded guilty this morning to failing to support his wife and was remanded until Monday for sentence.

CAMPBELLCROFT HOTEL IS BURNED

Old Building Completely Destroyed—Furniture Saved.

PORT HOPE, Aug. 13.—Flames of an unknown origin completely gutted the two storey frame building of Webber's Hotel at Campbellcroft between 8 and 9 o'clock Wednesday morning, despite the valiant efforts of the villagers to quench the flames.

Starting in the rear of the hotel, the fire was unnoticed until Percy Hanna, who lives opposite, noticed the flames emanating from the roof of the building. The alarm was given at once and within a very short space of time the entire village were out working like Trojans in an effort to stop the blaze from spreading. However, the fire had gained too much headway and despite all that could be done the building was burnt to the ground. Over one hundred men worked desperately and, thanks to their pains, all furniture was removed from the hotel.

The old frame building with its dry timbers burned like matchwood, as the hungry flames licked their way greedily over the entire building. The flames leaped into the air a distance of 30 or 40 feet and the heat was so intense that the two large plate glass windows of P. Hanna's store were both cracked. Considerable damage was done to surrounding property by heat and water.

The fire fighters, however, were badly handicapped as no water pressure is available at Garden Hill or Campbellcroft, but men and women alike worked hard on the bucket brigade. Several garden hoses were also used to combat the blaze, but against such a fire as this they were practically useless.

Wednesday was Mr. James Webber's 87th birthday and it is indeed a most unfortunate occurrence that a fire like this should happen at such a time.

The loss is estimated at well over $3,000 which is partially covered by insurance.

NO BETTER MEDICINE FOR LITTLE ONES

Is What Thousands of Mothers Say of Baby's Own Tablets.

A medicine for the baby or growing child—one that the mother can feel assured is absolutely safe as well as [illegible]—is found in Baby's Own Tablets. The Tablets are praised by thousands of mothers throughout the country. These mothers have found by actual experience that there is no other medicine for little ones to equal them. Once a mother has used them for her children she will use nothing else. Concerning them Mrs. Charles Hutt, Tancock Island, N.S., write: "I have ten children, the baby being just six months old. I have used Baby's Own Tablets for them for the past 20 years and can truthfully say that I know of no better medicine for little ones. I always keep a box of the Tablets in the house and would advise all other mothers to do so."

Baby's Own Tablets are sold by all medicine dealers or will be mailed upon receipt of price, 25 cents per box, by The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

ELK HUNTING IS ALLOWED

Big Deer Are Becoming Very Numerous in North Saskatchewan.

OPEN TWO WEEKS

MONTREAL, Aug. 13.—Elk have become so numerous in northern Saskatchewan that an open season, permitting licensed hunters to take not more than one adult male animal each, has been declared this year, according to advices received by E. G. Poole, Fish and Game Representative of the Canadian National Railways from the Game Commissioner at Regina. The open season for 1927 is from November 15 to November 30 inclusive. The last hunting of elk was permitted in 1918.

The Game Commissioner's report states: "The elk situation continues to improve. In their favored localities they are becoming quite numerous, a regrettable feature being that their choice of locality brings them into conflict with agricultural development, and repeated and serious complaint is made by settlers throughout much of their range, of great damage being wrought to standing crops and to crops in stook, as well as to hay in the stack.

"So frequent and so urgent had these complaints become that it was felt some measure of relief should be attempted, and the Game Act has been amended, making provision for a short open season of elk next autumn (1927) when licensed big game hunters may take not more than one adult male elk each. It is hoped that this may result in a scattering of the elk into new and more remote territory where they will not come into conflict with civilization. The bag limit of not more than two big game animals in all per license remains unchanged.

"James R. Clare, a fur trader in the Red Deer Lake district says of the elk: 'These animals seem to be spreading all over our country, and one sees them almost daily wherever one travels, in places where they have not been seen in the last twenty years.'"

Mr. Clare also states that moose in his district are very plentiful. Red Deer Lake district is at the boundary of Saskatchewan and Manitoba, near Hudson Bay Junction, where the Hudson Bay line cuts off from the Canadian National Railways line into Prince Albert, Sask.

Crescents and Cogs Play First of Championship Series Monday Evening.

SECOND GAME WEDNESDAY.

Cognawagas and Crescents will play the first game of the East Peterborough League finals at Exhibition Park, next Monday evening, commencing at 5.45 o'clock. The second game will be played on Wednesday evening. If a third contest is necessary, the date will be announced after Wednesday's game.

The league race produced many well-played games which were witnessed by large crowds, but it is anticipated that all the high marks will be smashed in the final series. Both teams get good pitching, and have dangerous batting punches.

In the league games just closed, Cogs and Crescents tied in their first meeting, and in four other game, the Cogs won three, and Crescents one. Only two runs separated the two teams, Cogs scoring twenty-eight, and Crescents twenty-six, the scores being as follows:

Cogs 6 Crescents 6.
Cogs 8 Crescents 6.
Cogs 6 Crescents 1.
Cogs 3 Crescents 10.
Cogs 5 Crescents 3.

First O.B.A.A. Round.

The East Peterborough League winner meets the winner of the Northumberland League which probably will be Hastings. This is the first round in the O.B.A.A. semi-finals. Present arrangements provide for the first game being played on Saturday, August 20, at Hastings.

TENNIS NEWS.

TENNIS SCORE REFORMS.

LONDON, Aug. 13.—(United Press).—Two reforms which may have far-reaching effects on lawn tennis in England have been made by F. Gordon Lowe, veteran international player. They deal with scoring and score-boards.

Lowe's idea is to count two points instead of one for an outright winner, a drive or volley which the opposing player cannot get his racket near. The point which is won by the ball being hit out or into the net counts only one as before.

This way of scoring, he declares, must have the effect of speeding up and shortening each set. It is of little use, for instance, playing for safety when your opponent has reached 40—0. It is then a question of getting your two points or nothing. Sometimes it may be essential to hit the ball out on purpose in order to prevent your adversary making an outright winner when he is 30—0.

The All-England Club courts at Wimbledon have score-boards which only indicate to the spectator the number of sets won.

Lowe has put before the committees of the club a suggestion that the score in games of each set should also be shown, so that late-comers may more easily get an idea of what has gone before.

GOLF CARDS OF PUGS.

Golf scores of fighters are always interesting to fans. In a recent foursome at New York Jack Dempsey shot 118, Jack Delaney shot 104, Dave Shade shot 81 and Leo P. Flynn shot 86. Par for the course was 72.

McCARTHY STEP IN.

When the season opened all the National League pennant talk involved the Pirates, Cardinals and Giants. Then McCarthy stepped in with his Cubs. Hustling and pitching are their success secrets, he says.

FAILED TO GO OVER.

Efforts of Milwaukee promoters to have Jack Dempsey referee a bout in that city were banned by the boxing authorities.

WHITCOMBE WINS PRO GOLF HONORS

Has Record Low Score of 280 For 72 Holes in Tournament.

BLACKPOOL, Eng., Aug. 13. Canadian Press Cable. — Charles Whitcombe, winner of the northern professional golf tournament yesterday with a record low score of 280 for 72 holes, can now be described as the most successful British golfer of the year. His record score yesterday gained him the biggest cash award in professional golf, $1750. This is the second big plum he has picked from the orchard of money prizes this summer, the first being the Gleneagles tournament.

Although he won the Daily Mail tournament in 1923, Whitcombe has never done anything so brilliant as his play in this championship. He was five strokes better than Bobby Jones in winning the Open at St. Andrew's. Such a margin may be said to represent the difference in the difficulties of the two courses, making Whitcombe's achievement equal to that of the great American.

The feature of Whitcombe's play was that he was cool in the final round despite the fact that he was hard pressed by several eminent players. He knew he had to do well and it is a great tribute to his temperament that he won by six strokes.

Another feature of the tournament was the amazingly low scoring. Probably never before has 300 been broken by so many players in one competition. The young Channel Islander, H. Gaudin of Wanstead, had a wonderful last round of 66, smashing the two day old course record by two strokes. His card included two twos.

W. Davies of Prenton, was second with seven and seventy yesterday, total of 286; Barber of Cavendish, with 72 and 71 was bracketed with Bill Mehlhorn, U. S. pro., both having 287.

Other scores: 288; Dennis, 73 and 72 yesterday; Archie Compston, 74 and 70 yesterday, 289; Ernest Whitcombe, 70 and 73 yesterday; C. Sayner, 73 and 74; Ockenden, 75 and 71.

UNITED STATES WIN SINGLES FROM BRITAIN

Opening Competition For the Wightman Cup, International Tennis Trophy.

LOSE IN DOUBLES.

Miss Helen Wills and Mrs. Molla Mallory Score For Defenders.

FOREST HILLS, N. Y., Aug. 13.—(Canadian Press). — The United States won two out of three matches from Great Britain yesterday in the opening day's competition for the Wightman Cup, international women's Tennis trophy.

After Miss Helen Wills and Mrs. Molla Mallory had scored for the cup defender s in the singles, the British doubles team of Miss Gwynneth Starry and Mrs. John Hill, rallied to pull out at 3-set victory over the United States combination, Miss Eleanor Goss and Mrs. Charlotte Hoamer Chapin, by scores of 5-7, 7-5, 7-5.

Miss Wills overwhelmed Miss Joan Fry of England in the first singles match 6-2, 6-0, while Mrs. Mollory sprang a surprise by defeating the British captain, Mrs. Kitty McKane Godfree, 6-4, 6-2.

The third set of the doubles developed another strenuous tussle for points. The eighth game went to Deuce eleven times on Mrs. Hill's service before the British pair pulled it out to even the count at four all. They lost the next game but then swept through three straight to take the set and match.

LOTT SCORES FROM LACOSTE

Chicago Youth Defeats Conqueror of "Big Bill," 6-4, 6-3, 6-1.

FINALS TO-DAY.

SOUTHAMPTON, N.Y., Aug. 13 (Canadian Press).—A wiry boy of 20, George Lott, Jr. of Chicago, yesterday scored an astonishing victory over Rene Lacoste of France, the conqueror of "Big Bill" Tilden twice in a year. Scores were 6—4, 6—3, 6—1.

Lott's remarkable achievment in the semi-finals of the Meadow Club's invitation tennis tournament here, was a worthy climax to a day which saw Tilden himself sweep through on to an easy victory over Jacques Brugnon, another member of the French Davis Cup team, 6—2, 6—1, 6—0.

Tilden thus will meet Lott in the final today and the Davis Cup preliminary which both Tilden and Lacoste sought to avoid, even to the extent of defaulting, has been spared.

In overcoming the redoubtable Lacoste, Lott rose to the topmost heights of a game that on occasions bore the mark of genius. His service twisting and jerky, his driving vicious, his trap shots marvels of deceit. Even Lott's choppy ground, oftentimes unreliable, seeped over the net like pistol bullets.

Lacoste, on the other hand, was minus his usual steadiness and missed the chalk lines time after time, sometimes by two or three feet.

GIANTS NOSE OUT BROOKLYN

Score 7 Runs in Last Three Frames For 7-6 Victory.

HOMER FOR HORNSBY.

NEW YORK, Aug. 13 (Canadian Press) — The Giants scored seven runs in the last three innings of their ten inning game with Brooklyn and nosed out their interborough rivals, 7 to 6.

Big Jim Elliott weakened in the eighth and allowed the Giants to push over five runs, four of which came when Hornsby hit a homer with the bases loaded. In the ninth the McGraw tied the count and won out in the tenth when Hornsby scored from third on an error at first by Babe Herman.

Meanwhile the Cards scored a 2 to 1 eleven-inning victory over the skidding Pirates at St. Louis and went into a tie for second place with the Pittsburgh team.

Bottomley's homer in the eleventh broke up a pitching duel between Hill and Haines.

At Boston, the Braves won a slugging match from the Philadelphia team. The score was 12 to 6 and the victory gave the Braves the series, three games to one.

Chicago and Cincinnati were not scheduled.

IKE DORGAN'S RECORD

Unmentioned in the press dispatches and statistics on the Dempsey-Sharkey bout was the fact that it set a new record for press attendance. Approximately 850 working press men covered the fight, more than the number at the Sesqui mill, Ike Dorgan says.

Stoney Lake, Aug. 10.

Mister Sporting Editor:

I suppose you're watching every delivery expecting that fish I talked about last week. Don't get excited—I ain't had no time to get him yet, and believe me, it takes time. But I got hopes, Mac, I got hopes. I met a bird from down near Burleigh yesterday and he told me that the Capt. of the Empress said that a passenger on the boat the other day told him that he had been talking to a guy from McCracken's Landing, who said that a farmer in Dummer whose cousin is a guide had heard from him that a tourist from Pittsburg caught a 8-lb. fish near Mt. Julian last week. So you see the prospects is bright, and you know me, Mac. When better fish is caught, I'll catch 'em.

Anyway the tourists is happy. They seems to be a different spirit up here this season. Today I was talking to Mister A. Little Easymoney from Cleveland, O. "Believe me," sez he, "this is a great fishing season. I don't remember a better year since I been coming up here. Never had such a time."

"Been catching lots of fish?" sez I.

"No, I ain't had many fish, but the fishing is great," he answers. "I'll sure hate to pull outa here and leave so much good society behind. Me and the Haig boys, Johnny Walker, Sandy MacDonald, Old Parr and the rest has been getting together every chance we've had, and I'm going to miss them when I get home. Great bunch to meet."

By the way, Mac, if you see Mister Frank Stinson of the Chamber of Commerce just pass on to him a tip I got from a bird from Pittsburg. He sez to me, "You people down in Peterboro pass out a map to visitors that's supposed to show the principal places in your burg, and how to get there, but somebody's pulled a bloomer. Why, the liquor store and the beer warehouse ain't marked at all!"

Mister Stinson better get busy, although to tell the truth, none of them tourists seem to have no difficulty finding either place.

I see where the Petes is billed to get into action about the end of the month, which means that if the local talent don't do nothing else they'll have made a new record of the longest training season in the history of amateur ball. The Petes started practice early in May to get ready for Labour Day, and if that ain't 1 for the book I ain't never heard 1. And a 2nd record is that they'll still be in the running at the end of Aug. anyway, and that's longer than any time since 1920.

Well, I can't get me excited with baseball up here anyway, Mac, with me likely to get a fish any day now, and so I leave anything I got to tell the customers re the Petes stand for a week or 2. Neither me nor the Petes is in any hurry.

Ain't nature grand, Mac? You oughta see some of the fair, fat and forties up here in them plus 4's or whatever they call 'em. Bless their hearts, the women will wear what they think is fashionable no matter how it looks, and believe me, it looks like a nightmare on some of these dames.

Well, I mustn't get personal, so I guess I'll reservoir now, because I gotta get this dope over to the post-office.

Take care of yourself, Mac.

Sportfully yours,
A. WISE CRACKER.

WINCHESTER TAKES SPORTSMEN STAKE

Special $2,000 Event For Three Year Olds on Grand Circuit.

NORTH RANDALL, Ohio, Aug. 13 (Canadian Press).—The Sportsmen Stake, a special $2,000 event for the three-year-old pacers and feature on the day's grand circuit program here was won by Winchester, owned by Frank P. Fox of Indianapolis and driven by Carl Dill. The son of Colonel Brown won in straight heats and set a new record for the stake of 2.04 3-5.

Terre Haute, driven by Marvin Childs, was runner up.

The first event of the card, a 2.15 trot, resulted in a split heat race, in which High Noon, from the stable of Charles Valentine was triumphant. Kentucky Todd Jr., won the first preliminary, and O'Dare the second. High Noon, one of the qualifying horses in the first preliminary, then won the third heat. In the run off the latter proved decidedly best. O'Dare making a break midway of the home stretch when he looked like a sure winner.

Murphy won the final event of the day, a 2.11 pace with Widow Hall, after dropping the first heat to Ray Grattan, the Faust, Ont., pacer, which went a trip in 2.03 1-5.

RALLY TO WIN FROM TORONTO

Homers Feature To Win Nightcap 4-5, After Losing First 16-4.

STARS LOSE 6-5.

NEW YORK, Aug. 13 (Canadian Press).—After taking a 1 to 4 beating in the first half of a doubleheader at Reading yesterday, the Keys rallied to nose out Toronto, 4 to 3, in the nightcap. Home runs by Quellich and Davis decided the second encounter. In the first game the Leafs pounded three opposing moundsmen for a total of 19 hits, Alexander, the visiting first basemen, leading with a triple, double and two singles.

In the other games, the Bears rallied in the ninth to defeat Syracuse, 6 to 5, while Rochester downed Jersey City at the latter city 4 to 3. Baltimore and Buffalo were not scheduled.

TIGERS TAKE THIRD STRAIGHT

Stage 4-Run Rally in Eighth To Defeat Browns 7 to 3.

ATHLETICS WIN 7-1.

NEW YORK, Aug. 13 (Canadian Press). — Detroit and Philadelphia won the only games scheduled in the American League yesterday. The Tigers scored their third successive victory over the Browns, the score being 7 to 3, while the Athletics entertained 10,000 Boys' Day guests with a 7 to 1 victory over the Boston Red Sox.

At Philadelphia, two veterans on the Athletics' roster, Ty Cobb and Zach Wheat, contributed much to their team's victory by slamming out eight hits between them.

With the score tied at three-all Detroit staged a four run rally in the eighth to beat the Browns.

Yankees Lose Out In Exhibition Game

BALTIMORE, Md., Aug. 13 (Canadian Press). — The Baltimore Orioles feathered the nest off the pitching of Babe Ruth and came out on top by 8 to 7 in an exhibition game with the Yankees here yesterday. Ruth had slammed a home run to entertain some 7,000 fans and in the ninth he shifted from first base to the pitcher's box, handing the Orioles four runs to win the contest. Miller and Giard had preceded the Babe on the slab. Guy Cantrell went the distance for Baltimore, and struck out ten batters.

'BABE' RUTH EASY SAYS OLDTIMER

Bobby Mitchell Claims Mighty Hitter Couldn't Get Homer Off Him.

CINCINNATI, O., Aug. 13.—(United Press).—American League baseball pitchers may fear the mighty bat of George Herman Ruth, but in the opinion of a 71-year-old veteran of the diamond, the Sultan of Swat would be "easy pickings" for "Bobby" Mitchell.

"If I were pitching today, Babe Ruth would never make a home run off me," is the boast of Mitchell, a member of the Cincinnati Reds in 1877, who is said to be the first left-handed pitcher in the history of baseball.

"The pitchers of today don't pitch," said Mitchell; "they throw."

"They throw fast, low balls to Ruth. If I were pitching I'd give him slow balls. I don't say I'd strike him out, but he'd never hit a homer off me."

Fifty years ago "Bobby" Mitchell was a big league hero. With George Miller, he formed what was nationally idolized as the "pony battery." The "pony battery"—two slim lads of 20 summers—broke into baseball fame with the Reds in 1878. Shutout victories over the Boston Red Sox and Chicago White Sox endeared them to the hearts of the fans and brought offers of the then fabulous salary of $1,200. Whenever one member of the "pony battery" was given an offer he promptly turned it down unless the same amount was offered his partner. Mitchell and Miller played with the Reds, Springfield, O., Cleveland and Hamilton, O., teams.

Mitchell left baseball in the late '70's because of a contract litigation. He became an engineer.

"Bobby" Mitchell, old and forgotten, laughs today at the new baseball and the new heroes.

"Their gloves are so big they can't miss catching the ball," he scoffed. "We used our bare hands and we really caught the balls. Today the glove catches them.

"In the old days a pitcher was required to toss the ball where the batter requested it. Today they pitch as they want. And even then one fellow can make 60 homes runs in a season."

The only difference between baseball of today and the game played fifty years ago is summed up by "Bobby" in terse tones.

"We played baseball," he says.

A CHALLENGE.

De Laval Runners Wish To Have Relay Race Next Month.

Desiring to promote interest in running, four members of the De Laval Athletic Club challenge any four bona fide members of any works or club in Peterborough or district to a one mile relay race, run by 220 yd., 440 yd., 220 yd., and 880 yd. relays. This to take place Saturday, Sept. 17th, 1927. Address all acceptances or questions to J. Ward, P.O. Box 857, Peterborough, Ont.

GIVES UP BADGE.

NEW YORK, Aug. 13.—Otto Urban took detective lessons by mail. He bought a revolver. Then he shot himself accidentally, and when he recovered was arrested for possessing weapons. So he has given up his correspondence school badge.

200 SWIMMERS HAVE ENTERED BIG MARATHON

WORLD'S BEST TAKE PART

George Young Faces Great Opposition in Attempt to Repeat Catalina Win.

TORONTO, Ont., Aug. 12.—(By Canadian Press).—About 200 swimmers, among them the world's greatest, will slowly move forward at nine o'clock on the morning of Wednesday, August 31, to plunge into the waters of Lake Ontario in the greatest competitive swim the world has ever known.

About midnight, or perhaps sooner, weather conditions being favorable, the winner should emerge from the water after covering 21 miles, to be crowned monarch of all, with the golden bait of $30,000 safely in his grasp; if the winner be a woman, of $35,000.

The remainder of the total prize money of $50,000 —the greatest sum which like a magnet has drawn swimmers from the ends of the earth—will be divided up between half a dozen men and half a dozen women ,providing that many finish.

In the field of scintillating swimming stars one stocky figure will be magnetic as the multitude, waiting tensely for the starting gun, eagerly watches the straggling line of starters. It will be that of George Young, the native son, winner of the $25,000 Catalina Channel swim because he was the only one to finish that gruelling test; on whose account the present huge event has been staged.

Eight months will have elapsed since George's first great win; in that time he has become a world figure in swimming; he has travelled much and he has learned much. An obvious question is—"Is George Young as good as when he won the Catalina channel swim—can he beat the fierce opposition that face him now?

The answer remains to be proven, but it is a fact that Young should be in perfect condition when he takes his place among the other starters on Aug. 31. Weeks ago he returned to Toronto and then, with Henry O'Byrne, his trainer, and a few others, went to Picton, further east along the shore of Lake Ontario, and there he has been training diligently.

High-Class Entrants.

The race, however, is no "cinch" for the redoubtable George. Ernest Vierkotter, of Berlin, Germany, is considered probably Young's chief opponent. Vierkotter is a veteran professional with an imposing record; he has more experience than Young and with him swimming is an art. He carries his own chef as well as trainer and manager; when he swims, it will be to the music of a respectable sized orchestra.

Vierkotter is the dominant figure in the "stable" of Armand Vincent, Montreal, who has entered him in company with Georges Michel, Frenchman and channel swimmer; Jane Sion, Belgian's woman swimmer; Omer Perreault, French-Canadian long-distance swimmer of Montreal and Olav Farstaut, who in his native Norway is a big swimmer in more senses of the word than one. Michel of course holds the record for the English channel.

The Women.

And if it is at all possible for a woman champion to beat a male champion in swimming, it should be accomplished in the Lake Ontario marathon. When the start is made, probably only one great woman swimmer will be missing—Gertrude Ederle.

Practically every other female who has achieved prominence in long-distance swimming will be competing. Clarabelle Barrett and Mrs. Bettie Moore Schoemmel—she of grease-suit fame, are New York's entrants; Jane Sion, mentioned above; Mrs. Della Sullivan Herbert of Holyoke, Mass.; Mrs. Dorothy Hepworth, registered from Montreal and Lee Fourrier of Long Beach, Cal., are others in the galaxy of world stars that will compete.

Incidentally, Mrs. Schoemmel will wear a bathing suit this time, at least, at the start. No swimmer will be allowed to starts sans suit; although he or she may have as much grease as their taste or experience dictate. The more experienced swimmers will use grease, for its aid in preventing "water-logging" and keeping the cold out. Probably also bathing suits will be discarded by quite a number when the race is really under way.

The Course.

What do they have to do? They will have to cover 21 miles in water which will probably be of chilling coldness. There are alleviating factors, though. The treacherous currents and cross-shop of the English channel will be missing; there will be no kelp-beds such as threatened George Young in the Catalina channel. The course will be a broad passage between rows of buyos topped with flags.

All the winner has to do is get around faster than anybody else. To do that he—or she—will need to have developed high resistance to cold; to have cultivated a steady stroke which can be kept up hour after hour and above all to have built up bodily endurance.

The water being fresh, there will be less buoyancy than a swimmer experiences in the ocean. But the stinging salt of the ocean will be missing and taking it all round, considering that the course is an obvious one with no roundabout ways, a record for the distance should be set up.

Great Public Spectacle.

It will be a great public spectacle—the greatest of its kind the world has ever seen. Always, although at times binoculars may be needed, the swimmers will be in sight of the thousands on shore. The one-mile side of the triangle is between shore and the breakwaters; the other two sides stretch three miles out to the official yacht, where the turn is made.

An official observer will be in each swimmer's boat; that will be about the only similarity in the craft. The professionals' boats will carry all kinds of paraphernalia, not excluding six-piece orchestras and cook-stoves. None of these whether tug or rowboat, will be allowed within 50 yards of its own swimmer, save at periods to feed the contestant. Each boat will be numbered and by this the identity of its accompanying swimmer will be known.

57 Varieties.

The race, offering not merely monetary reward, but also fame and rewards from moving pictures, advertising agencies and the like, has naturally attracted many swimmers who have very little chance of victory. One "long-shot" in particular, however, will have the good wishes of the crowd, and that is Michael Hambourg, of Toronto, who is blind. In order to guide him in the race, his boat will be equipped with an electric bell, which will ring continuously. He has a tremendous inducement. It is Hambourg's intention, should be win the large prize, to at once leave for Vienna, where his sight may be restored. George Cummings, of Sudbury, Ont., who lost both his legs in an accident years ago, has also entered the marathon. In his training he has found that his physical handicap is not so great as at first thought, since he has less weight to drag, although he has to pull the whole distance with his arms.

The youngest swimmer entered is Arthur Compton, of Long Beach, Calif., who has just passed his 14th birthday. Rosaire Delorme of Montreal, who has turned in some phenomenal performances recently, comes next. He was 15 in June.

Honolul has Duke Mello and Nawahin, both native Hawaiians, as its representatives. Joseph Akivenzie, Cape Crocker, Ont., is an Indian; F. Kalm, registered from Detroit, Mich., is a native of Greenland, and is the only Eskimo in the race. A. May, an Englishman is coming from Hong-Kong, China, to participate, while Howard Masters will make the trip from Hamilton, Bermuda. England, Germany, Denmark, France, Belgium, China, Greenland, Canada, Holland, the United States, and Hawaii are the home countries of some of the competitors.

Huge Radio Tie-Up.

The "show" aspect of this race is being stressed as never before in a great swim. Beside laying out a popular course the authorities of the Canadian National Exhibition, under whose auspices it is taking place, has made elaborate arrangements to ensure that the exact progress being made shall be immediately reported. This will be by radio, through perhaps the greatest hook-up of stations ever attempted, when some 53 broadcasting stations participate. At the course, huge loudspeakers will be installed at strategic points, and the reports will be heard by everyone through an official observer.

For the newspapers, arragements are for a craft capable of carrying hundreds of newspapermen and women, which under official direction will continuously follow the swim. From it correspondents will send their "stuff" by either the official or their own man in speedy boats to shore, where special telegraph wires will carry the news to the ends of the earth.

A WORD OF EXPLANATION.

In tendering our appreciation of the attendance at the annual softball tournament at Bridegnorth, Thursday, August 11, we wish to express our very deep gratitude to all the team captains, umpires, and all others, who so graciously assisted in making the day a decided success. A word of explanation is necessary in regard to final game between Chemong Pavilion and the Havoline Oil. On the play the cup went to Chemong Pavilion, but certain technicalities withheld the cup. Since then the committee has gone into each item of dispute and has ruled that the cup this year is the property of Mr. Fred Jopling, of Bridgenorth, the captain of the Chemong Pavilion team. There will be no other game to decide its habitat.

GEHRIG'S FAMILY AND PICKLED EELS

Lou's "Ma" Is Deep-Dyed Fan as Well as Angler.

NEW YORK, Aug. 13.—No use talking—this is a great year for the Gehrig family. If "Ma" Gehrig lives over it, she will be a wonder.

Of all the folks who are getting a big "kick" out of Lou Gehrig's race with the immortal Babe Ruth for home-run-hitting honors, "Ma" Gehrig is getting the biggest.

That's not all. Lou's mother is reaping a large crop of fame on her own account as well as her son's. Thanks to pickled eels.

Though she can perform wonders with roast beef and mashed potatoes and all the other better known and more routine items of a husky man's diet, its at pickling eels that she reaches the peak of her culinary artistry.

Yanks Cry for Them.

She has the whole New York Yankee team crying for them now. Were "Ma" Gehrig to run out on the playing field with a bowl of pickled eels in the middle of a game, that game would stop right there!

"Lou has always been crazy about pickled eels," she explained to me. "He'd rather have them than caviar. And he's always had all of them that he wanted.

"You see, I believe in leaving dieting and starving to those who enjoy it. I believe in foods—lots of it. Lou started in as a baby to eat all he could hold. He didn't become an athlete on spinach.

An Eeel Banquet.

"One day Lou and I went fishing together, and caught 86 eels. He cleaned them, and I cooked them. We took the whole lot up to the Yankee stadium, and not one survived—not one eel, I mean. Babe Ruth, Tony Lazzeri, Mark Koenig—all the boys seemed to enjoy them. Before then, I guess Lou was the only Yankee who ever had tasted one."

Since then, the occasions when pickled eels from "Ma" Gehrig's kitchen were passed out to Lou's team mates have been many. Who knows that this fact doesn't explain the way those Yankees have been winning games this season?

She's a Delight.

She's a delight, is "Ma" Gehrig—a splendid, motherly soul, not altogether "modern" in all her views and adores her big, square-shouldered son and doesn't try to look or act like his sister.

Her gray hair is pulled carelessly from her wrinkled brow and rolled in a knot at the back of her head. "Ma" isn't much on style. She hasn't counted calories in an effort to attain a flapper figure. But she is her son's best pal. These two share a companionship that many another woman must envy.

Fellow Anglers.

When the Yankee team is in New York, you can bank on it that Lou and his mother are out in the country with their fishing rods and lines at least two or three times each week. That's how they get the eels. They know every good fishing place in the whole New York vicinity.

Mother and son are as close in their baseball comradeship as in their eel fishing.

An Inheritance.

"I don't see what Lou could have done but be a baseball player," she told me. "I was crazy about the game when I was younger—and I used to play very well.

"When Lou was a little boy I gave him mitts and bats for presents, and he never seemed to want anything else. When he didn't have anyone else to play with him, I was right out on the vacant lot.

"I never missed a baseball game that I could possibly get to, and always took Lou. When he went to Columbia I knew very well it wasn't the book knowledge but the athletics he went in for. I didn't try to keep him in college. I'd raised him to be a be" player, so I was glad when he seriously went into professional playing. And when there isn't any more baseball for him, there won't be any more Lou Gehrig."

Knows the Fine Points.

"Ma" Gehrig knows every fine point of baseball. She could step out on the field and do a good job of umpiring if she wanted to.

"I enjoy the good playing of others just as much as I do Lou's," she said. "I'm just as excited when the others hit homers as when he does. If he were playing badly, I wouldn't overlook it just because he happened to be my son. Anyhow, I know all the boys and I'm watching the rest with almost as much interest as Lou. I'm all for the glory of the team."

Though at the present "Ma" Gehrig has no competition, except from baseball, for her son's affection, she is resigned to the fact that she probably will play second fiddle some day.

"Of course he'll marry," she concluded. "Then his wife can fix his eels—and I'll take a vacation."

AT THE CAPITOL.

"SENORITA" FAST MOVING CINEMA OF ROMANCE AND ADVENTURE

Coming to the Capitol Theatre next Monday is Bebe Daniels' newest Paramount picture, "Senorita" in which Miss Daniels is presented in an entirely new type of role. In this colorful story of romance and adventure in South America, the fascinating Bebe Daniels of "The Campus Flirt" and "A Kiss in A Taxi" appears in the character of a dashing caballero, a swashbuckling, high-spirited, hot-tempered son of the pampas. The masculine characterization is but a masquerade, however, a masquerade that leads her into all sorts of adventures and many amusing situations out of all of which she triumphantly emerges in true Daniels' style.

Here is a role that presents a new Bebe Daniels, a suggestion of whom was found in "The Campus Flirt" and to a certain extent in "A Kiss In A Taxi." In fact it was the athletic role of "The Campus Flirt" was suggested to Miss Daniels the possibilities that might lie in a story in which she would don masculine guise and give full play to her love for all kinds of sports.

In "Senorita" she found the fruition of her ambitions and as the North American girl who becomes for the time a South American boy she has the time of her life. She rides, shoots, fences and does everything that a son of the pampas would do.

Playing opposite Miss Daniels is James Hall, her leading man of "The Campus Flirt" and "Stranded in Paris." It is one of the interesting twists of the story that James Hall in his role as Roger Oliverog meets her only in her rare moments of complete femininity in the picture. William Powell, the smooth suave villain of society dramas, appears in a swaggering role that is said to present him in an unusually interesting light. Others in the cast are Josef Swickard, Joan Standing, George Ovey and Gayne Whitman.

Clarence Badger wielded the megaphone.

WIFE WINS BET ON FACE VALUE.

CHICAGO, Aug. 13.—In the midst of a domestic tiff over the attractive power of clothing, Mrs. Hilda Maarten said to Mr. Justus Maarten: "When I walk down the street 90 per cent. of the men turn around to look at me."

"Idle boasting," scoffed Justus, "I've got $100 that says you can't walk five blocks and have ten men give you a second look."

Mrs. Maarten started walking. Mr. Maarten trailed behind. The first man she met turned to gaze at her. The next turned and followed her. Twenty men were following when she had walked the required distance. Arrested, but released when she told her story, she said: "It was easy; whenever I passed a man I made a face at him." Then she took the $100 and went to buy more attractive clothes.

Star Sterling's Problem

A Serial for Boys - By BERT REED

HARRY NORTHWAY'S VICTORY

Never had such a crowd gathered on the Cedarvale Athletic Field. The reputation of Demon Peters had drawn hundreds from the surrounding country.

Through the prompt action of the local fire brigade, the greater part of the Mansion House had been saved. Those visitors whose rooms had been destroyed had secured temporary accommodation elsewhere. Fortunately the uniforms of the visiting team had been in the store room.

It was a long, hard struggle. Eight innings had passed without either team getting a man around. Both Peters and Sterling were pitching no-hit games.

"Demon" Peters was giving the crowd all they had hoped for. Terrific speed combined with faultless placing control kept the crowd gasping.

On the other hand Sterling's twirling had been of the veteran variety. True, there were two stages—once in third and again in the fifth when it seemed that the Cedarvales had solved his delivery, but the remarkable work of Larkspur at short and Halliday in the right garden had saved the Riverviews.

Sterling had been studying Peters. As a general he had endeavoured to analyse the Cedarvale twirler and find if possible his weak spot. For he was sure that Demon had his weak spot otherwise he would have still been working in the big leagues.

Early in the eighth he discovered one of them. Peters had an ungovernable temper—a lack of self-control. Such a pitcher is unreliable. A captain can never tell when he'll throw the entire game.

Sterling had changed his batting order somewhat and Gray was heading the list. For the eighth Paul was hit a glancing blow from a swift in-shoot. He took first and Anderson trotted down to the coaching line.

"We're away—we're away," he chirruped. "Peters of the big league is going—going—gone."

Peters shot a malevolent glance in Jim's direction, then burnt the air with a dizzy drop.

Larkspur followed Gray by dumping a slow ball toward short. Hopkins at short made a drive for the ball. Simultaneously Peters left the box and attempted to scoop it up. At Peters' first move Hopkins stopped dead. Peters had misjudged the ball and succeeded only in diverting its course. Hopkins cuffed it down. When he recovered, Lak. had crossed first and Gray was clinging to the second sack.

Then Demon Peters blazed out. His insulting, cutting words brought the blood to Hopkins' face. The short stop opened his mouth to speak then closed it again without retorting, but the red spot burned in either cheek, as he returned to his position. In that moment Sterling discovered Peters' weakness.

Anderson at first was jubilant. "My, oh, my, the merry-go-round has started. Get aboard! Get aboard!"

Peters kicked a pebble out of the box. He was in savage humor and fast losing that calm assurance that had characterized his playing all through the game.

Sterling selected a bat and stepped to the plate. With two men on base and none out, the grand stand and bleechers grew feverish with excitement. Sterling realized that a golden opportunity lay just within his grasp. A single would fill the sacks, a two-bagger bring in a run that might win the game.

Then Peters sent one sizzling over. It was wide. So wide that Jones, the Cedarvale backstop had to extend himself to gather it in. Two more of the same variety followed. Would Peters walk Sterling?

With all the speed he could command, the Cedarvale pitcher delivered his fourth ball. Sterling jumped to avoid it. Too late! Starr dropped across the plate as if he had been shot.

But Sterling's jump had saved him. The ball had struck him, but glancingly and only with sufficient force to cause him to stand and fall.

Jones helped him to his feet, and waving off a substitute runner he walked slowly down to first. The bases were full.

Then Halliday who followed Sterling struck out. With one out Anderson walked to the plate. Three pitched balls sent him back to the bench. The bases were still full but two men were out.

Peters apparently had settled back into his old time form and Harry Northway the next man up faced a man who had absolute control of his pitching.

For a moment as Harry faced Peters he felt nervous. The old fear threatened to return. Something seemed to whisper in his ear—You can't do it. Peters will knock you cold if you don't step back. He was trembling slightly now. The fate of the game lay in his hands.

Then Peters delivered the ball—delivered it straight at Northway it seemed, and with the speed of a bullet. And Harry drew back,—but drew back to lamb the old pill for a ride that sent it sizzling away into centre field.

Brown, the star gardener of the Silver River League, saw it coming, then turned his back on the ball, and ran. Suddenly he flung up his arm and jumped. Harry's ball burned into his glove and stuck there,—but only for a moment. As his feet touched the ground he stumbled and the ball bounded from him.

With the first crack of the bat—Gray and Larkspur and Sterling were off like a bunch of frightened whippets. It was hit and run, with a deep-throated roar that shook the grandstand, every man was on his feet. Brown had lost the ball.

When the ball was returned to the diamond three tallies were chalked up for Riverview—and Harry was hugging third.

Price, who followed, struck out, but Price didn't count. Northway's three bagger had won the game.

"Harry, old man," said Sterling affectionately as he flung one arm over Northway's shoulder, "You've won two games today. One with Cedarvale and the other a greater victory still—the one over yourself."

(To be continued)

Irish Hearts

By MOLLIE MALONE

Copyright 1927, Warner Bros. Pictures, Inc.

"IRISH" HEARTS," with May McAvoy, is a Warner Bros. picturization of this novel.

SYNOPSIS

Emmett Murtough, of Killanmaul, Ireland, emigrates to America and is followed by Sheila Kildare, to whom he is betrothed, and her father. Both men boast of what they are going to do but neither will hold a steady job. Sheila makes friends with the family of Rory O'Shea, a professional boxer, who falls in love with her. Murtough drives a truck for a band of bootleggers, is shot by hi-jackers and takes refuge with the Kildares.

CHAPTER VII—Continued

Old Tom put Emmett to bed in Sheila's room while she fixed a place on the parlor cough for herself. Her father always slept on a cot which was put up for him every night in the kitchen.

Murtough's wound was not as trivial as was first believed. He developed a high fever by that afternoon and required constant care and attention on the part of Old Tom by day and Sheila until far into the night. The helplessness of Murtough softened the heart of Sheila toward him. He was truly grateful and the gratitude that poured from his lips was like a return of the Emmett Kildare that Sheila had known when they were in their 'teens back in Killianmaul. Irish gallantries accompanied his thanks to her, spoken gently, and he seemed to lean upon her for strength to get well. The viciousness that had marked him after he began his association with the West End Club passed from him. He was not permitted to drink and Sheila believed that his former surliness must have been due to bad companions and liquor.

She had had no word from Rory O'Shea in six weeks and what with working until nine o'clock and the care of Emmett she saw little of his mother, Kathie O'Shea. The much wished for visit to Jimmy Tree's training camp had not been realized. After all, she thought, it was Emmett Murtough that her father and she had followed from Killanmaul. Maybe old friends were better than new ones, even if older friends did sometimes worry one. Soon Emmett would be up and on his feet, then she would see.

Murtough had let no word slip as to what his cargo had been on the fateful night. He only knew that it was packing boxes, he said, and when Old Tom Kildare suggested that perhaps bootleggers had hired the truck unbeknown to Murtough's employer, Murtough laughed. His "boss" was too smart for that, taking a chance on the machine being confiscated by government men, much less putting his own men into danger. No, it was no bootlegging scheme, he declared, and he convinced the Kildare's.

When he could be out and his wound had practically healed he went to the Club and Clocker praised him. Dixon had given a good report of the way the men attempted to defend themselves against the more clever Stevens gang and he counted out $100 for Murtough. Emmett declined to drink until his hurt was entirely cured and that night he gave Sheila $75 to help pay for the trouble he had put them to.

"Be sure and buy yerself a new dress with part of it, Sheila," he urged.

This kindness stirred Sheila. The money he had previously advanced to the Kildare's had been in five dollar bills and an occasional ten. That Murtough would be generous and thoughtful appealed to the girl, ever ready to recognize the good in others and seldom seeing the faults. Murtough had returned to his own lodgings, but he called at Nick's Restaurant frequently and walked home with Sheila. And Sadie McCoy admitted to Sheila that never did she see Murtough with that "other dame."

"Put these away for me, Sheila, darling," Emmett said one night as he handed her two invitation envelopes. "'Tis our tickets for the grand dance that the club is going to hold."

"An' ye're taking me to it, Emmett?"

"Indeed an' indeed, an' ye'll be the prettiest girl there."

"Then I'll buy me a new dress with part of the money ye gave to father an' me, though truth to tell, as I've said before, ye're not owing us anything, an' I shouldn't have taken it."

"Buy a new dress an' shoes an' whatever, I don't know; just so ye look yer prettiest fer the admiration of all my fellow club members."

Here was a new Emmett entirely, thought Sheila. Had she been always wrong, was he the good man her father had declared him to be?

On Monday Rory O'Shea was to fight Campeau. Saturday came and Sheila went out to do her marketing before reporting for duty at the restaurant. Old Kathie O'Shea was on the stoop reading a letter. She looked up as Sheila came out of the door.

"Sheila! An' it's a stranger ye've been," greeted Mrs. O'Shea.

"Well, I'm working, ye know, an' work comes first."

"I've just a letter from Rory. His fight is on Monday night at the Garden."

"When will he be home?"

"Oh, he always goes straight to the hall from his training quarters. We'll not see him until after it's over. But there's a postscript I want to be reading to you." The old lady turned to the last page and adjusting her spectacles she read:

"Tell Miss Kildare I am hoping that she's holding a good wish for me. If I know I have her good luck with me I'll win."

"Oh, I do hope he'll win, I do, indeed, Mrs. O'Shea."

"Then I'll tell him so in the telegram I'm going to send to him tonight."

"Good luck!" There had not been much good luck for the Kildares, Sheila thought, since she had lost her shamrock charm. And, yet, it was true she had a job, and had not Emmett changed for the better? After all, a sturdy heart may be sad now and then and not always "a-singing."

CHAPTER VIII

Clarice's Big Boy Friend

The Brown and Malloy bout at the Garden sold a capacity house. These heavyweights were comers and the entire boxing fraternity and followers were anxious to see which of the two would pass on the next step forward to a match with the champion. According to all boxing precedent then Rory O'Shea had found a good spot for his battle with Campeau, the French lightweight. The match was the semi-final—a position on the card that every fighter prizes until he himself is partner of the main attraction.

Rory was in high spirits. He had trained hard and Jimmy Tree personally had supervised his work at the camp, giving good advice to Jack Reagan, Rory's manager. Not only that, Tree had offered, and Reagan had accepted, to sit in Rory's corner that night. Jimmy Tree had little love for the so-called "foreigners" who were being imported for the fight game. Tree had declared O'Shea to be trained to a hair, and, with Rory's ring generalship which he had learned through ten hard years of fighting, it was conceded by all of the experts that Rory had a great chance. O'Shea followers said that if Rory could stay seven rounds that he would whip the Frenchman.

After her meeting with Mrs. O'Shea, Sheila found herself listening to the comments of the patrons at Nick's Restaurant and when the Sunday paper was brought in by Old Tom Kildare she got the sporting section and her interest in the bout grew as she read what the fight experts wrote about Rory. His picture was there in his ring trunks and she admired the fine physique of this little fighting machine. "He has my wish for him to win," she whispered to herself as she laid the newspaper aside. Murtough and Old Tom discussed the coming fight between Brown and Molloy in detail and they remarked the bout between O'Shea and Campeau, but there were no sneers for Rory.

"Do you think Mr. O'Shea will win, Emmett?" Sheila asked timidly, fearing her interest would arouse the former surly antagonism. Emmett surprised her.

"He's got a good chance the men at the club say; it is only that Campeau is a lot younger, about six years, I hear, an' they think that O'Shea can't wear him down."

Sheila was grateful for Emmett's generosity and she smiled at him.

"I hope he does for his mother's sake," she said.

LONE ENGINE IN FIELD.

SCOTT CITY, Kan., Aug. 13.—Out in the Kansas prairie, miles from a town or a railroad track, stands an old locomotive. Many years ago a creditor of a short line railroad secured an attachment on the engine, but the company that bought the right-of-way tore up the track and left the locomotive where it could not be moved.

SCOTLAND YARD SEEKING MOTHER

Child Abandoned at Windsor By Woman Giving Name of Neville.

LONDON Aug. 11. — Scotland yard has taken up the search for the woman called Mrs. Neville, said to be from Toronto, who abandoned her baby to the care of a hotel manager at Windsor. As to her husband, whose whereabouts and movements are equally mysterious, information was forthcoming yesterday from house agents and hotelmen of a young man called Neville who rented luxurious town apartments as well as a country mansion.

It is stated that a family at Windsor is anxious to adopt the nine weeks old baby if the mother is not found.

COURT SAYS MEN MAY BEAT WIVES

PARIS, Aug. 13.—If you ever live in Paris with a wife who refuses to cook your breakfast—or darn your socks—or won't be satisfied with staying at home—

You'll find yourself safe from conviction of cruelty if you administer an old-fashioned spanking, or even sterner punishment.

A ruling handed down by a Paris divorce court says that it is a husband's privilege to punish a wife for any dereliction from her matrimonial duties, or even if she nags him beyond endurance. It was based on an old French law, still in force.

The decision has aroused great excitement among women. Several prominent women lawyers have announced their intention of fighting the precedent.

SPORTS HELD ON DERRY DAY

Many Spectators Watch Aquatic Events on Trent at Campbellford.

PRIZE WINNERS.

CAMPBELLFORD, August 13. — After a busy day filled with marching and speeches, the members of the Golgotha Preceptory, No. 381, of Campbellford, with visiting friends, enjoyed a fine programme of sports yesterday evening as the grand finale of the 239th celebration of the Relief of Derry.

The sporting events attracted a great deal of interest. A softball game between Clerks and Millionaires arranged as part of the celebration programme resulted in a 16-10 victory for the Clerks. The score stands as an official result in the Campbellford League.

Aquatic Sports.

Large crowds lined the river during the aquatic events, and the efforts of the contenders were heartily applauded. As usual, the goose chase proved a real wild goose chase for a long time, and the spectators derived a great deal of entertainment from the varying turns of fortune until the prize was seized by Douglas Sperry.

Formal presentation of the prizes was made at the Regent Theatre later in the evening.

CURWOOD DYING SAY PHYSICIANS

Famous Author May Not Live Another 24 Hours.

ILL SEVERAL DAYS.

OSO, Mich., August 13.—Canadian Press. — Fighting a seemingly losing battle to save the life of James Oliver Curwood, the author and Conservationist, the physicians to-day admitted that there was little hope for Curwood's recovery.

They expressed the belief that the author may not live for another twenty-four hours.

Curwood is suffering from infection and has been seriously ill for several days.

Wheat Prices Go Down As Weather Improves

CHICAGO, August 13. — Canadian Press. — Wheat prices turned downward to-day after firmness at the start. Predictions of cooler weather for the Dakotas and Minnesota were construed as bearish and there were advices teling of the shipment of the first car of Manitoba wheat. Opening unchanged at ½ higher, wheat hardened a little more and then sagged all around. Corn was relatively firm, starting unchanged to 7-8 up, and later holding near to the initial figures. Oats were easy. Provisions showed a decline.

Opening prices were: Wheat, Sept. 142¼; December 146½, corn Sept 112 December 116¼; oats, September 48¾, December 52 5-8.

Exchange Members Under Suspension

NEW YORK ,August 12 (Canadian Press). — A. L. Fuller & Co., members of the New York Stock Exchange, were suspended to-day for inability to meet their obligations. The firm is reported to have been identified with the pool in Manhattan Electrical Supply, which collapsed in a sensational fashion yesterday when the stock broke more than 60 points.

Toronto Market Firm With Nickel Featuring

TORONTO, Aug. 13.— (Canadian Press.) — International Nickel was the feature of the market on the Toronto stock exchange to-day. In addition to being the active leader with more than 2,000 shares changing hands, Nickel supplied the feature price movement of the list by advancing 2¼ points to 65¼. The market gave a firm display throughout. Asbestos gained ½ to 25½, Brazilion 1-8 to 167, and Cosmos ½ to 27½. Industrial Alcohol was a strong feature, gaining 1¼ points to 34. Davies "A" firmed ½ to 39¾, while Massey Harris was up ½ to 37.

The liquor stocks held firm. Seagram moved up ½ to 22½, and Carlings ¼ to 26¼, and Walker was strong at 45. G. and W. eased 1-8 to 46 7-8.

B. A. Oil and Imperial Oil were active and firm, the former at 26½ and the latter at 47½.

Stock Prices Recover On Wall Street To-day

NEW YORK, Aug. 13 (Canadian Press). — Stock prices rebounded briskly today after the drastic reaction of the two preceding sessions. Extreme gains ran from 2 to 10 points in many active issues, but these were not fully maintained. A few new weak spots cropped out, but there were no wide open breaks such as took place earlier in the week.

Encouraging week-end trade reviews and indications of a continuance of easy money conditions acted as a sustaining influence. "Bear" traders, who sold stock freely on the big break, covered part of their commitments, orders from that source being swelled by the investment and speculative demand, attracted by low prices of some of the seasoned dividend-paying issues.

Commercial Solvents 'B' and Houston Oil, with extreme gains of ten and six points respectively were prominent in the recovery. At least a score of others sold three or more points above yesterday's final quotations. General Asphalt will be one of the few outstanding weak spots, selling down nearly four points.

The closing was steady. Total sales approximately 1,000,000 shares.

Piper Plays Lament In Front Of Cenotaph

CAMPBELLFORD, Aug. 13. — Shortly before the departure of the Belleville Pipe Band from Campbellford yesterday at the close of the Derry celebration, Pipe Major Johnstone proceeded to the Cenotaph and played the old Scottish lament, "The Flowers of the Forest." The wailing notes of the dirge contrasted strangely with the carefree shouts of the large crowd watching the aquatic sports on the Trent. Needless to say, the sounds speedily attracted a big crowd of listeners, who stood by the Cenotaph in silence until the music ceased.

The incident was quite unrehearsed and was the outcome of an impulse on the part of Pipe Major Johnstone. Mr. Johnstone on one occasion was honored by being asked to play in the presence of King George.

FIRE DESTROYS TANNERY LOFT

C. S. Hyman Co. of London Suffers Loss of $400,000 During Night.

DIFFICULT TO FIGHT.

LONDON, Aug. 13 (Canadian Press).—Damage estimated at approximately four hundred thousand dollars was caused by a fire which swept the dry lofts of the C. S. Hyman Company's Tannery last night at midnight, and for a considerable time threatened other tannery buildings containing stocks. The fire raged for more than two hours before the firemen had the flaze under control.

Both night and day firemen were called to aid in the fight and every apparatus available was used in subduing the flames. The loss will be partly covered by insurance. The blaze was the most costly to occur in London in a decade, and one of the most difficult for the firemen to fight because of the inflammable nature of the contents of the buildings.

Mine Market Dull And Slightly Weaker

TORONTO, Aug. 13 (Canadian Press).—Prices tended slightly lower in comparatively light trading on the Standard Mining Exchange today. There was no outstanding feature, and the depression was relieved by incidental firm points. One of these was Argonaut, gaining 1½ at 33, and another Barry Hollinger, up 1½ at 32½. Duprat Old lost 1 at 8, and the New stock 2 at 152. Amulet eased 3 cents at 420; Vipond 1 at 58, and Laval Quebec 1 at 51.

NORTHERN ARMY NEARS NANKING

Considerable Uneasiness in Moderate Nationalists' Capital.

IMPORTANT CITY TAKEN.

SHANGHAI, Aug. 13. — (United Press.)— Wounded Nationalist soldiers were pouring into Nanking today after what was reported to have been the most disastrous battle of the Chinese war. The Northern armies continued to advance toward Nanking, which is the moderate Nationalist captial, and there was considerable uneasiness there. Wealthy Chinese were evacuating the city and it was feared that there would be a coup d'etat against Chiang Kai-shek, moderate Nationalist leader, if the reverses continued.

Chinkiang Taken.

LONDON, Aug. 13.—(United Press.) An exchange telegram dispatch from Shanghai reported that the Northern forces have captured Chinkiang. Chinkiang is an important treaty port forty-five miles north-east of Nanking.

TWO GOLFERS PLAY SEVENTEEN ROUNDS

Go Around Nine Hole Course Many Times in Sixteen Hours.

ST. JOHNS, Que., Aug. 13 (Canadian Press).—What is considered a record for this part of the country, if not for the whole Dominion, was made at the St. Johns Golf Club when Hugh Reid, the club professional, and Miss E. Duval, a member, played 153 holes over a nine-hole course in sixteen hours, including an hour off for lunch. The pair started playing at 5.30 a.m. and finished at 9.30 at night. They pressed into service no less than fourteen caddies. Their average score was around 40. Par is 35.

GERMAN PLANES RE-FUEL

BERLIN, August 13 (Canadian Press). — Lieut Otto Koennecke and Count Solms Laudach hopped off at 4.30 o'clock this afternoon for Cologne, where they will re-fuel their Casparbi plane for their attempted trans-Atlantic flight to the United States.

The will of a London woman who died the other day contained most explicit directions for passing on to a younger sister a precious family heirloom—a bracelet of white hair from the tail of a mule said to have belonged to Pope Pius XI.

Parade Is Broken To Release Horse

CAMPBELLFORD, Aug. 13.—The line of the parade of the Black Knights in the celebration of Derry Day yesterday was broken on the return journey from the Agricultural Grounds, but the breach was the result of a humane effort to free a horse which was entangled in a fence about twelve feet from the roadway. The task of liberating the animal was rendered more difficult by its frantic efforts to kick away the wires coiled around its hind legs. On being released the animal trotted for some distance alonside the marchers until a particularly green patch of grass lured it up one of the side streets.

U. S. BUDGET PASSES LIMIT

Special Items Swell Expenditure 125 Million Dollars.

PRESIDENT CONSULTED.

RAPID CITY, South Dakota, Aug. 13. — Canadian Press. — An increase in the government expenditures next year above the first estimates, was put up to President Coolidge to-day by Director Lord of the Budget, who came into the Black Hills last night night with a tentative budget.

The various special items have contributed to swell the tentative estimates a hundred and twenty-five million dollars above the limit of the three billion two hundred million set by the president last June for the government expenditures in the coming year.

WEDDING BELLS.

GOULD—SMITH

The home of Mrs. Lowry, 209 London Street, was the scene of a quiet but pretty wedding on Wednesday, August the tenth, when her granddaughter, Edith Louise Smith, R. N., became the bride of Lawrence Harvey Gould, younger son of Mr. A. J. and the late Mrs. Gould, of Uxbridge, Ontario.

Rev. J. R. Webb of Kitchener, the bride's girldhood pastor, conducted the ceremony.

After a dainty luncheon, Mr. and Mrs. Gould left by motor for the Kawartha Lakes, where they have taken a cottage for the duration of their honeymoon.

On their return, they will reside in Uxbridge.

WILSON—JOHNSON.

A very pretty wedding took place at St. James' United Church on Thursday when the Rev. J. H. Dudgeon united in marriage two popular young people, Miss Norma Johnson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. Johnson and Mr. Clinton Wilson, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. Wilson.

The ushers for the occasion were Mr. Frank Johnson, brother of the bride, and Mr. Clifford Wilson, brother of the groom.

The bride, who entered the church on the arm of her father to the strains of the Mendelssohn Wedding March played by Mr. Frank Stevens, was charmingly attired in a gown of white crepe romaine with veil and orange blossoms.

Miss Ethel Johnson, sister of the bride, and Miss Eva Scott, niece of the groom, in smart frocks of peach georgette with picture hats to match and carrying Columbia roses, were the bridesmaids. Little Miss Ingrid Norberg, cousin of the bride in a qiquant frock of pink georgette and carrying a basket of sweet peas and baby breath, made a very dainty flower girl.

The bridegroom was supported by Mr. Walter Johnson, brother of the bride.

During the signing of the register, Miss Mabel Scott sang very sweetly "O Promise Me."

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the bride's home where dinner was served to about one hundred and forty guests.

The bride's mother wore a gown of maize georgette, with hat to match, and the grooms mother was attired in a gown of black satin and rare old point lace.

The out of town guests were: Mr. and Mrs. R. V. Wilson, Victor and Flora Wilson of Waupun, Wis., Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Wilson and Bobby and Margaret Wilson of Rochester, N. Y., Mr. and Mrs. J. Dougherty of Rochester, N.Y., Mr. and Mrs. S. Norberg and daughter Ingrid, of Boston, Mass.; Mrs. A. Bouskill and Miss Millicent Meharry of Toronto; Mrs. J. Lightle of Port Hope and Miss Agnes Melvin, of Montreal.

Many rare and costly gifts were received by the young couple. The groom's gift to the bride was a handsome hand-bag, gold rings to the bridesmaid, and to the groomsman a fountain pen and pencil set.

After the reception, the young couple left on a trip to Buffalo and other points west, the bride travelling with coat of blue charmeuse trimmed with mole skin.

Upon their return, Mr. and Mrs. Wilson will be at home to their in a handsome gown of blue tafetta George Street.

OBITUARY.

ROBERT NICHOLLS.

The death occurred in Nicholls Hospital last night after a lingering illness of Robert Nicholls, aged 79 years.

Mr. Nicholls has lived here practically all his life and was a member of All Saints church. He was widely known as a prominent business man but has been in retirement for the past ten years.

He leaves to mourn his loss two daughters, Mrs. Fred Stennett, of Toronto, and Mrs. A. Craig, of Winnipeg, Manitoba.

The funeral will take place on Monday afternoon from the funeral home of D. Belleghem and Sons, at 2 o'clock, with Rev. W. D. Armitage officiating.

LEGION NOTES.

Pedal Propellor Boat Is Failure; Inventors Offer To Sell Strange Craft

DOVER, England, Aug. 13 (Canadian Press).—Confessing that the idea of "pedal propelling" across the Atlantic is a failure, Edward Tierney and Dick Hayman, of Lancashire, are understood to have abandoned the plan to make such a crossing and to be ready to sell their strange craft.

Tierney tested the boat, called "Carrie," in the harbor here yesterday, and was dismayed to find she refused to function. The "Carrie" is a twelve-foot steel boat built like a submarine. She was designed to obtain power mainly through the force of the wind against a small windmill, which drives a screw propeller.

In calm weather the navigators were to use muscle power to drive the propeller by means of foot or hand pedals.

PHONOGRAPH HAS MADE LIFE BETTER

Has Expedited Business, Too, Its Inventor Claims.

WEST ORANGE, N.J., August 13 (Canadian Press). — On the fiftieth anniversary of the invention of the phonograph, Thomas A. Edison, its inventor, was asked what he believed the phonograph had contributed to civilization.

"It has made life a little more attractive, and expedited business transactions," he replied.

He said he did not think radio would supplant the phonograph.

Of his numerous inventions he said incandescent lights and power systems had contributed most of the comfort of humanity, with motion pictures a good second. He said he considered electric power and its appliances the most useful invention in the world to-day.

Mr. Edison said he had never flown and would not follow the example of his old friend, Henry Ford, by going up in an aeroplane.

IT PAYS TO ADVERTISE

Public Preference Turns to the Knight-Engined Car
THE KNIGHT SLEEVE-VALVE Engine is a NATURAL DEVELOPMENT in the EVOLUTION OF THE AUTOMOBILE. Its SPLENDID record of more than fifteen years' service in many of the FINEST CARS IN EUROPE and AMERICA is BACKED by the endorsement of BOTH EUROPEAN and AMERICAN ENGINEERS, and by EVERY OWNER of a Knight-engined car. It needs no supporting argument to establish it as the SUPERIOR TYPE of motive power.
This FAMOUS power plant, concealed from the public eye beneath the hood of the car is seldom seen even by owners, many of whom report UNBELIEVEABLE THOUSANDS OF MILES OF QUIET, EFFICIENT SERVICE without experiencing motor trouble of any kind. With widespread interest now centering on the KNIGHT SLEEVELESS VALVE ENGINE, an explanation of this simple and efficient principle of motor design is of interest to every motorist.

Junkers Planes Give Up Trans-Atlantic Flight

BALDWIN SCOFFS AT THE IDEA OF REVOLUTION IN GREAT BRITAIN

Last Words in West Were of Optimism For His Homeland.

PRAISES WORKING MAN.

Premier and His Wife Given Huge Welcome at Winnipeg.

WINNIPEG, Man., Aug. 15 (Canadian Press).—Premier Baldwin's last words in the West were words of optimism for his homeland and words of praise for the British working man. He scoffed at the idea of a revolution in Great Britain. He declared that the self-restraint and courage of the working man of Great Britain were an example to the world.

A huge crowd welcomed Mr. and Mrs. Baldwin here Saturday. In the afternoon Mr. Baldwin spoke from an open window in the Parliament buildings. Lawns below were packed. Stairways and halls behind him were jammed with people intently following the speech as it came over the amplifiers. A laugh went up as Mr. Baldwin appeared pipe in hand on the platform before the open window. He calmly knocked it on his heel and began his speech.

He spoke of the romance of the West; then turned to Great Britain. No country within the last ten years, he said, had faced such difficulties as had Great Britain. No country in the world had suffered as Great Britain had, nor had faced those difficulties with the same courage and with the same resolution. He would like two or three things to be realized about Great Britain. In the war, six millions of her population had served in the armies and three millions in munitions. Credit was destroyed in half the countries of the world. The devastated areas of Great Britain lay in broken markets in every country in the world. Such were the causes of her unemployment.

Explains Insurance Scheme

Mr. Baldwin explained the unemployment insurance scheme in its joint payments by state, employer and employed. That insurance scheme, he said, had been misrepresented abroad. Payments by employed and employer to the scheme amounted to between thirty and thirty-five million pounds sterling per annum. Ten or twelve millions came from the state. Those contributions together formed the insurance fund from which an unemployed worker was entitled to draw a modest sum per week.

The system had been strained to the utmost by the many troubles Great Britain had to face. The borrowing power of the insurance fund had to be increased. "But," Mr. Baldwin proceeded, and there was a shout of applause from the crowd outside, "we shall come through and we are coming through steadily and surely."

"People," he went on, "who tell you that in England we are going to have a revolution or that our people are bad tempered, are telling you a lie. There is not a word of truth in it. The workmen of Great Britain have faced their difficulties with enormous courage and enormous restraint. If things have boiled over once or twice in one or two places, it is not to be wondered at; and I say here, without fear of contradiction, that their self restraint and their courage, taking them altogether, is an example to the world.

No Signs of Decadence

"I wanted to tell you that because you hear out here and sometimes read in newspapers not friendly to the British race, that there are signs of decadence. Don't believe a word of it. The people at home are the same people who fought shoulder to shoulder with you all over the world. They are the same stock which created the Eastern and Maritime States and Ontario. The stock is the same as it ever was. It is as fine as it ever was.

"What we feel at home and what I think must be more difficult for you to realize than it is for us, is that on us mainly, on people speaking the English tongue and people of British stocks, rests the greatest hope that the world has of peace and of continued peace. Peace is a vital necessity for the world and for no part of the world more vital than for the British Empire. All we want to do is to develop ourselves and our countries in peace. That will be our great contribution to the world.

"And let us all go forward—you in Canada and we at home—let us go forward in the spirit of those who preceded us and who built up this great country. Let us have confidence in ourselves. Let us have faith in our Creator and may it be that, after we have gone, our children and our children's children will back on us with the same spirit of admiration and reverence as we look back on those who preceded us; and that we may so live and conduct ourselves in this world that they will look on us in their time as having set them an example of which they will be proud to follow."

As Mr. Baldwin began his speech he was greeted with cries of "Good old Worcester." He spoke of the romance of the Great West. No part

Hold Test Flights For Canadian Plane

DETROIT, Mich., Aug. 15.—(Canadian Press).—Test flights with the Stinson-Detroiter by the Phil Wood and C. A. (Duke) Schiller, in the proposed Windsor, Ont., to Windsor, England flight will commence Monday, Wood has announced.

Wood, brother of Gar Wood, motorboat racing enthusiast, said the two expect to take off the latter part of the week.

Plans are being considered for a round trip flight, Wood said, with a possible flight to Paris and Rome. The aviators hope to make the 4,000 mile hop in slightly more than 40 hours, landing as close to Windsor Castle as possible. The plane will carry 500 gallons of gasoline.

CAR HITS HORSE; BUGGY IS UPSET

Glare Of Automobile Lights Causes Collision North of City.

NO PERSON INJURED.

Blinded by the glare of an approaching automobile, Edgar McGregor, Chemong Road, driving home with his wife and family on Saturday night about 10.30, struck a buggy containing Harry Milburn and his daughter Odell, also on their way home, causing the startled horse to overturn the rig into the ditch at the side of the road.

Travelling up the lower incline of the hill just outside the city boundary, Mr. McGregor steered into the middle of the road to avoid a cloud of dust raised by another car. At the same time the lights of the approaching car came into sight, and even at a distance of a quarter of a mile, the glare gave Mr. McGregor considerable trouble. With the combined handicap of dust and glare, he failed to notice the buggy of Mr. Milburn, and as he swung over to his own side of the road, the front of the car struck the hind quarters of the horse. As the frightened animal leaped forward, Miss Milburn, with great presence of mind, slipped down to the ground, but Mr. Milburn who had retained his seat, was thrown into the ditch, underneath the upturned vehicle, but not crushed or pinned by any part of it.

Within a few minutes, nearly a dozen cars were gathered round the scene of the accident, and many willing hands speedily extricated Mr. Milburn from his dangerous and unpleasant predicament.

The horse, which Mr. Milburn had endeavoured to pull up as it swayed on the edge of the ditch, lay on the bottom with its head under its body in such a way as to cause apprehension for its safety; experienced drivers who were assisting in raising it, declared there was danger of the animal breaking its neck. Two men sat on the head and shoulders of the horse while it was being stripped of its harness, and allowed to adjust itself, on which the sagacious beast jumped clear of the ditch on to the road.

Mr. Milburn sustained only some minor bruises. The horse appeared uninjured, and was placed again in the shafts to convey its owners to their destination.

None of the family of Mr. McGregor was injured. The absence of serious bodily harm to any of those involved is largely explained by the slow pace at which Mr. McGregor was proceeding when the car came in contact with the horse and buggy.

Suspects Released In O'Higgins Case

LONDON, August 15 (Canadian Press). — Owen Donnelly and Thomas Merrigan were discharged on the recommendation of the police when they reappeared in the Police Court to-day in connection with a charge of conspiring to assassinate Kevin O'Higgins, Vice-President of the Irish Free State to Council, the Dublin correspondent of the Press Association reports.

GAS OVERCOMES AGED LADY BUT MAN SAVES HER

John Hoyland Calls Assistance and Breaks Lock of Door.

WOMAN UNCONSCIOUS.

Mrs. E. Trotter Evidently Taken Ill While Lighting Gas—Is Recovering.

Quick action by a ready-witted insurance agent saved Mrs. Elizabeth Trotter, a widow, living with her two daughters at 684½ George Street, from death by asphyxiation this forenoon, shortly after 10 o'clock.

When the collector, John Hoyland, got no response to his knocking and at the same time became aware of a strong smell of gas issuing from the house, he instantly realized that something was wrong. Assisted by Harry Bennewith, employed in a store nearby, he broke the lock of the door, and found Mrs. Trotter lying unconscious in the bathroom and the house filled with gas proceeding from the unlighted stove. The two men carried Mrs. Trotter out of the house into the store of Nathan Stabler, which is situated immediately below Mrs. Trotter's residence. The first impression of the men was that the old lady was dead and a rumor to that effect speedily gained currency.

With the prompt arrival of the Fire Department, artificial respiration was resorted to, and the firemen were soon rewarded by signs of returning consciousness.

Dr. J. H. Eastwood was summoned from the Clinic and, after assuring himself that the house was cleared sufficiently of the gas, had Mrs. Trotter removed to her home where she was given treatment.

Late this afternoon Miss Trotter, in answer to an inquiry, reported that her mother had made excellent progress, but was not sufficiently recovered to account for the mishap.

Those who visited the room soon after the discovery express the belief that Mrs. Trotter turned on the gas and forgot to light the stove. Another theory is that Mrs. Trotter was overcome by a weak spell while in the act of lighting the stove.

The windows of the kitchen and bathroom were all closed when the discovery was made.

Miss Trotter this afternoon however, declared that the windows of the other rooms were left open.

Following the doctor's instructions, Mrs. Trotter is being left undisturbed until recovery is complete.

MODIFICATION OF RULE LIKELY

Davis To Recommend Permission For All Canadians To Hold Jobs.

WORKING BEFORE APRIL 5.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 15 (Canadian Press).—Breaking an official silence of many weeks on the subject, James J. Davis, Secretary of Labor, has let it be known, that he intends to recommend to Congress at next session amendments to the immigration act regularizing the status of non-native Canadian residents working across the border who are classed as quota aliens under the present law.

While his own department and the State Department profess ignorance of his intentions, Mr. Davis is at the summer White House in South Dakota with the chief executive, and news despatches from Rapid City indicate that Mr. Davis has asked the President to recommend to Congress that Canadian citizens, irrespective of birthplace, who were permitted to establish employment on the United States side of the border prior to April 5, when the much discussed border ruling was promulgated, must be recognized as Canadian citizens in the United States interpretation of Canadian citizenship.

BARNARDO HOME BOY DROWNS WHILE BATHING NEAR OMEMEE

Fred Lillie, 18, Gets Beyond His Depth in Pigeon River.

BODY RECOVERED.

Companion Gives Alarm To People On Nearby Landing—Coroner Views Remains.

OMEMEE, August 15. — Fred Lillie, 18, a Barnardo Home boy, was drowned in Pigeon River about three-quarters of a mile below this village yesterday afternoon, when he got beyond his depth while bathing. The body was recovered.

The deceased, who was in the employ of Thomas Pogue, had gone bathing at about 4 o'clock with another English boy, neither of them ebing able to swim. Lillie got beyond his depth and went down. His companion gave the alarm to J. L. Brooks and S. McGee, who were on Davidson's Landing, about 300 yards upstream. They, with Stanley Fisher, who came along just then in a canoe, went to the scene and recovered the body after about half an hour's work.

The body was brought to Omemee, where Dr. W. H. Clarke, of Lindsay, the coroner, viewed it.

No announcement about either inquest or the funeral has been made.

ARMY'S VISIT GREAT SUCCESS

Services in Surrounding Villages Attended By Hundreds.

CHURCHES CROWDED.

Darkened skies did not prevent the Salvation Motorcade starting away for its busy programme sharp on time. The long line of motors wended its way over the country roads to the scene of the first activities in the village of Lakefield. Here a short open-air service was held prior to the meeting in Regent Street United Church. They were warmly welcomed by the pastor, Rev. S. A. Kemp, whose cordial words of appreciation of the Salvation Army's work was deeply appreciated by the visiting Salvationists. Nearly five hundred people gathered together to worship the Lord in company with the visiting Salvation Motorcade, joined heartily in the singing, and in every exercise of the service. Mrs. Mendell Braund sang, and Bandsman Henry Parnell gave a short address, in addition to the musical items by the band and the Songster Brigade.

The Postmaster, Mr. Casement, with the help of several business men, very kindly arranged the transportation of the old people from the County House of Refuge. This kindness was greatly appreciated by the old people themselves. The offering here amounted to $40.00, and was given to the work of the Salvationists.

On again sped the Salvation Motorcade, for the moments were precious if the heavy programme was to be carried out to schedule time. Warsaw was the next scene of action, and on the village green over one hundred cars with their occupants awaited the arrival of the Salvation Motorcade. A short but well-selected programme was then given, and an offering was received, amounting to $13.00.

The dust was soon flying along the road that led to Havelock, and at the Havelock Park, kindly loaned by the Park Board for the occasion, over one thousand people had gathered to listen to the message and music of the visiting Salvationists. Alderman Bob Cotton, who was amongst those who kindly loaned cars for the day, presided over the interesting programme of music and song. Commandant and Mrs. Arthur Smith and Ensign Herb Payton took part. From the surrounding townships of Belmont and Dummer, as well as from the village of Havelock, the people assembled for the afternoon of praise and worship were most warm in their remarks of appreciation of the Peterborough Temple Band and Songster Brigade efforts. Fifty dollars was given in the offering at Havelock.

The last engagement of the day took place in the Norwood United Church, also kindly loaned. Mr. Squire greeted the Salvation Motorcade with sincere words of welcome. Every available seat in the church was taken and chairs were placed in the aisles to accommodate the large congregation. Again the message was listened to with great interest. Mrs. (Commandant) Smith gave a thrilling account of her work amongst the unfortunate of the underworld. Ensign Herbert Payton gave a stirring message to the young men present. The offering amounted to $41.60. The gifts of the people were accepted as an indication of the appreciation of the day's campaign, and as an aid to the ever increasing needs of the work of the Army in Peterborough County.

Great credit is due Commandant Frank Ham, the energetic commanding officer of the local Salvation Army for the arrangements for the campaign. The Commandant brought a message from the Word of God to each of the congregations during the day. The work of the Band and the Songster Brigade not only reflected credit on themselves, but also on the capable leadership of Bandmaster Frank Robinson and Songster Leader Ben Smith. The efforts of the Salvation Motorcade met a need, and if the enconiums and hearty invitations to return again are an indication of the appreciation of the people, the Salvationists feel amply repaid.

An interesting feature, one of the many enterprises of Commandant Frank Ham, was the free distribution of 1,000 sample copies of the Salvation Army's official organ, The War Cry.

Commandant Ham desires, through the medium of The Examiner, to thank all who in any way contributed to the success of the day.

Begin Harnessing Jordan For Power

JERUSALEM, Aug. 15 (United Press).—Work has commenced today on a new section of the project for harnessing the River Jordan to supply power for railways and factories throughout Palestine.

JUDGE GARY DIES TO-DAY

Head of U. S. Steel Has Been Ill For About a Month.

WAS REPORTED BETTER.

NEW YORK, August 15. — Canadian Press. — Elbert H. Gary, chairman of the Board of the United States Steel Corporation, died at his home at four o'clock this morning. It was stated the cause of Mr. Gary's death was chronic miocerditis.

Copyright, Harris & Ewing
E. H. Gary

He had been in ill health for about a month.

On the 25th of July, Mr. Gary, who at that time had been ill for about a week, was reported "on the mend," and it was expected at that time that he would return to his office within a few days.

TOLL OF BLAST RAISED TO SIX

Explosion in Supposedly Empty House Causes Fatalities Next Door.

CAUSE A MYSTERY.

MONTREAL, Aug. 15.—(Canadian Press.)—The finding of another body, that of an unknown Italian, brought the known dead to six in a fire which destroyed three tenements early today, while a canvass of the hospitals reduced the known injured to four. The dead are, Gordon MacDonnell, 13; Clayton MacDonnell, 15; Emma MacDonnell, 30; James MacDonnell, 70; Colletto, an Italian, and another Italian so far unidentified. The injured are Mary MacDonnell, Mr. and Mrs. Matcello, and Janet MacDonnell.

They were killed by flames and debris from a terrific explosion which blasted its way through the walls and ignited the building they were in early this morning. The windows were shattered in the stores directly opposite the wrecked building, and in the dwelling houses immediately behind. The roar of the explosion aroused the entire district and was heard a mile away. Smoke belching into the second storey flat asphyxiated four of the eight members of the McDonnell family who were sleeping there. Vincenzo Collette, 36, lost his life while searching for his four little children, who had escaped earlier.

Mrs. James McDonnell escaped by way of the roof and is now in hospital. Neighbors rushing to the scene of the disaster were responsible for saving the lives of at least three of the McDonnell family as firemen were swinging their fire fighting apparatus in position. Two other persons were seen scrambling from windows, neighbors say, but collapsed and perished before they could be reached. The firemen were at work this morning attempting to solve the mystery of the explosion, which took place in a supposedly unoccupied house.

Newton Claims 60-Mile Record

BULUWAYO, South Africa, August 15 (Canadian Press). — Arthur Newton, South African distance runner, by covering 60 miles in 7 hours 33 minutes 53 seconds, claims a new amateur record for the distance by a margin of more than 49 minutes.

Newton's claims for records now include all distances between 30 and 100 miles.

BAD WEATHER FORCES PLANE TO TURN BACK

Bremen Reaches Dessau Safely After 22 Hours in Air.

EUROPA DAMAGED.

Will Take Weeks To Repair Plane—Engine Trouble Caused Return.

Germany's first bid for trans-Atlantic aerial honors has failed. The metal monoplane Bremen, which left Dessau last night, returned to the airdrome at 4.20 this afternoon, forced back by stormy conditions over the Atlantic. Her sister ship, the Europa, second in the aerial argosy of Junker's planes, had already landed, being forced to turn about by engine trouble and the dense fog over the North Sea.

The Europa, in landing at Bremen last night, was badly damaged, but Herman Koehl and Friedrich Loose brought their ship Bremen down unharmed at Dessau this afternoon. After examination of the Europa, experts said it was so badly damaged as to preclude all hope of continuing the trans-oceanic flight. They expressed the opinion that it would take weeks to repair the machine.

Mid-Atlantic storms and heavy fogs formed the barrier that presumably turned the two German Junker planes, Bremen and Europa, back in their attempt to fly a westward trans-Atlantic course from Europe to America.

The Bremen, with its pilots, Herman Koehl and Friedrich Loose, and the passenger, Baron Gunther von Huenfeld, apparently passed off the Irish coast before running into the advancing edge of the Atlantic storm which had been moving eastward for several days. The Europa found itself battling with a thick fog in the North Sea on Sunday and, developing motor trouble, put back to Bremen.

Storm Stopped Nungesser

Aviators generally believe it was an Atlantic storm that sealed the fate of Nungesser and Coli in the first attempt to fly westward over the Atlantic.

The Bremen hopped off from Dessau at 1.21 p.m. Eastern Daylight time on Sunday, and four minutes later the second Junker monoplane, with the pilots, Cornelius Edzard and Johann Bistiez and passenger Hubert R. Knickerbocker, took off. The fliers took to the air, hoping to get a good start on the other European airmen awaiting in France and England to fly to New York.

The two German craft had enough fuel to last for sixty hours of flying and the planes left the ground with little difficulty with their heavy loads. The two monoplanes carried several thousand letters, which will now probably be forwarded by steamship.

Bad Weather Cause

LONDON, Aug. 15 (Canadian Press).—Reuter's Berlin correspondent, forwarding the report of the Lufthansa wireless station at Hanover that the Bremen was seen flying over England at 11.15, adds that it is believed in the German capital that this indicates that the Bremen is returning to Germany on account of bad weather.

Regret in New York.

NEW YORK, Aug. 15 (Canadian Press).—General regret was felt by civil and military officials and members of German societies to-day because the Junkers plane Bremen had been forced to return to Dessau. Officials at Mitchel Field, Long Island, where it had been expected the plane would land to-morrow, suspended preparations for the arrival, but said the field would be ready in the event of another attempt.

IN POLICE COURT

A local man, charged with being intoxicated was fined twenty dollars and costs, or thirty days in the common jail.

A young man from Lakefield appeared before Magistrate Langley this morning on a charge of disorderly conduct in the Paris cafe, George street, last night.

The proprietor of the cafe claimed that the youth had used profane language, and on being ordered from the cafe, had kicked in the panel of the screen door. He was fined five dollars and costs.

ONE PASSES OVER ENGLAND; BUT TURNS BACK SOON AFTER

Further Postponement In Atlantic Flight

SOUTHAMPTON, England, Aug. 15 (Canadian Press).—A further postponement of Captain F. T. Courtney's projected trans-Atlantic flight until Tuesday, and possibly Wednesday, was announced last night as the result of the discovery of a leak in the hull of the flying boat "Whale."

The "Whale" instead of being put into her shed Saturday night was left to ride at anchor in Southampton waters. This proved to be fatal. During the night there was a violent storm, and, although the "Whale" weathered it, Captain Courtney yesterday morning found that a leakage had admitted a foot of water. It was found necessary to summon engineers and put the machine in drydock.

Another bit of bad luck visited the British aviator's camp yesterday, when his engineer, Robert Little, was seized with a slight illness.

CHIANG RESIGNS FROM SERVICE

Formally Severs All Connection With the Nationalist Revolution.

SEEKS REST.

SHANGHAI, August 15 (Canadian Press). — General Chiang-Kai-Shek formally has severed all connection with the Nationalist revolution, and is returning to private life.

The general arrived yesterday morning about four o'clock at his birthplace, Fengnua in Kiangsu Province, near Ningpo, about 100 miles south of Shanghai.

Press despatches from Fengnua state: "General Chiang-Kai-Shek is with his family here and is going into retirement indefinitely, seeking rest following a year of superhuman efforts to further the Nationalist cause."

General Chiang-Kai-Shek last night issued a formal statement addressed "to the people of China," resigning his position as Commander-in-Chief of the Nationalist armies and also all other positions connected with China's Nationalist revolution. The youthful general declares he is returning to private life, but states: "I am retaining membership in the Kuomintang, and will assist the revolution merely as an individual."

Members Resign.

Simultaneously with Chiang-Kai-Shek's action in resigning, five members of the Kuomintang executive committee, with headquarters in Nanking, announced their resignations, as did also Huang Fu May, whose resignation was indicated on Saturday night.

The statement issued by Chiang-Kai-Shek is a lengthy one, the equal of about 7,500 words in English. It reviewed the part he played in the revolution this far, which he climaxed by saying to the Associated Press that no longer was there confidence in him, and this, coupled with ill-health, necessitated his resignation.

The general, in his statement, after giving a long list of reasons why he must resign, brings out three points which he declared vital if the revolution is to succeed. First, he appealed to the leaders of the Hankow Government, including military and civilian officials to go to Nanking and take charge of the latter Government, consolidating the two Governments, and thereby strengthening the front against the northerners. In the second place, he asked the Hankow troops, now scattered throughout the Province of Hunan, Hupen and Kiangsi "to lay aside prejudices and continue the campaign against the northerners, which is bound to succeed if all concerned will struggle to the utmost." Finally, he appealed to the leaders and troops of the same three provinces to expel all Red members of the Kuomintang.

Due to Harsh Criticism.

General Chiang-Kai-Shek stated that the reasons necessitating his resignation follow "As a result of Feng-Yu-Hsiang's suggestion last week that the Nanking Government relinquish all powers in favour of the Hankow ment's announced intention to attack Nanking coupled with reverses of the south on the Abanting front and serious splits in the Kuomintang ranks, and harsh criticism of my actions in directing the Nationalist campaign, along with physical and mental suffering, it is necessary that I resign all active connection with the Nationalist revolution."

Chiang-Kai-Shek's action leaves the Nationalist affairs in the utmost uncertainty with observers refusing to forecast the probable results. His resignation closes a 16-year military career, culminating in his leading the Nationalist drive northward from Canton, which began in May, 1926,

ONE FORCED TO LAND.

Second Plane Turns Back, Crossing England This Morning—Bad Weather.

DESSAU, Germany, Aug. 15 (Associated Press Cable).—Germany's hat went into the ring for trans-Atlantic flight honors yesterday when the Bremen and the Europa, two low-wing, one-motor Junker aeroplanes hopped off from the long concrete running track at the Junkers' aerodrome outside Dessau, and turned their noses north-westward shortly after 6 o'clock yesterday evening.

The pilots of both planes planned to fly along the northerly course, taking them over Scotland and Northern Ireland, after which they would head for Cape Race, Newfoundland.

Course Is Altered.

Later, the Hamburg aerodrome reported that the plane D-1073, which is piloting the Bremen and the Europa at the outset of the flight, signalled that they had altered their course in order to fly over Northern Holland and Northern Scotland.

After half an hour's flight over the North Sea, motor trouble forced the Europa to turn back and make an emergency landing at Bremen. She came down with a crash, smashing her landing gear and snapping her propeller.

Each plane was stocked with gasoline, which was said to be sufficient for 80 hours of flying. Barring adverse winds and fogs, the German aviators hoped to reach Cape Race at daylight on Tuesday and New York ten hours later.

The official time of the take-off, as announced by the German Aviation Board, was 6.20.47 for the Bremen and 6.25.13 for the Europa.

The Europa and the Bremen were less than 30 seconds on the runway. They shot across the aerodrome at maximum speed and were out of sight in less than three minutes. There was a tremendous ovation as they passed over the field.

The Europa is headed for Mitchel Field, Long Island, whereas the Bremen's pilots intend to continue their flight as far as Chicago if their fuel holds out.

Best Fog Expert.

The decision to have the Bremen hop off first was due to the fact that Koehl is considered the ablest navigator in the quartet of German pilots. He is also rated as the best fog expert among the German flying talent.

"We won't lose each other unless we run into a very bad fog," Koehl stated during an expression of optimism for a successful consummation of the flight.

Koehl said he had implicit confidence is the efficiency of the navigating instruments with which both planes were equipped. He was the most enthusiastic of the pilots and he did not anticipate any mishaps on the voyage.

"Should one of our planes fall into the water it won't sink and it won't be necessary for us to jettison the motor, we could alight far out on Manhattan Beach and pull our plane ashore if an emergency necessitate it. If one of us should be forced to descend in mid-ocean we should immediately signal during the day time with the aid of a powerful concave mirror, and at night with flashlights.

Communicating Distance.

"As we hope to fly within easy communicating distance of each other we should postpone getting into immediate touch with our more unfortunate comrades and at once fly southward to get in contact with trans-Atlantic liners which we should inform by signal balloons of the location of the distressed plane. If we were near a coast, we should make an immediate landing and mobilize aid, but the plane which was not disabled, could, of course, continue the flight."

Koehl does not believe in mascots. "Gasoline, and plenty of it, is your best talisman," he declared.

Koehl's faith in the efficiency of the Junkers aeroplanes is said to have been born of the fact that both the motors and the planes were produced in the same factory, and therefore are perfectly attuned to each other.

The "Europa" is numbered D-1197, and the "Bremen" D-1167. They are types of the Junkers W-33 models. They are equipped with L-5 motors and have 310 horse-power each. They are low-wing aeroplanes, each weighing 3,800 kilograms, of which 3,000 kilograms consists of gasoline. The weight of each passenger is calculated on the basis of 75 kilograms.

Seen Over England.

LONDON, Aug. 15 (Associated Press).—The British Air Ministry early this morning confirmed the report that an airplane supposed to be the "Bremen" passed over Wakefield, Yorkshire, at 10.40 a.m.

It is stated that the plane was going satisfactorily under favorable weather conditions.

The Press Association had previously stated that the German trans-Atlantic airplane has been sight

DECORATION DAY IS OBSERVED AT CAMPBELLFORD

Tribute Paid To I.O.O.F. Members Who Have Departed This Life.

ANNUAL CEREMONY.

Assisted By Lodges From Campbellford, Peterborough, Lindsay, Belleville and Gananoque.

CAMPBELLFORD, August 15. — The fraternal spirit of the I.O.O.F., that reaches beyond the veil of death to preserve and cherish he memories of all those whom it has once enfolded, was exemplified publicly yesterday in the annual ceremony of the decoration of the graves of the members who have departed this life.

Assisting the Oddfellows of Campbellford, were representatives of lodges in Peterborough, Lindsay, Belleville, Gananoque, Frankford, Trenton and Stirling. The procession to the cemetery was lead by Belleville Canton, No. 8, with R. L. Johnston as captain in unform, and with swords at their belts. They presented an exceedingly smart appearance.

Following the Cantons' smart detachment came the Northumberland regimental band at virtually full strength. All their numbers on parade, and at the cemetery were not only tonally strong and smooth, but also pleasingly free from the slightest discord. A large number of the I.O.O.F., bearing bouquets, composed the main body of the procession.

Mr. Robert Dunk was marshall, Thomas Craighead fulfilled the chaplain's duties, and after the distribution of the flowers, Rev. N. Clarke Wallace gave an address on the significance of the afternoon's ceremony.

The deceased members whose fellowship in the I.O.O.F., was recalled by the symbolic floral tokens were William N. Bartlett, William Thomas, Robert Peeling, C. Doxsee, Jos. Dolman, Harry Hodge, E. C. West, James Donald, Matthew Marsh, Wm Phillips, James Dunwoodie, William Meiklejohn, John Smith, Edward West, William McComb, James Dickson, Bernard Carnahan, J. B. Ferris.

Rev. Mr. Wallace in his brief, thoughtful message to the assembled Odd Fellows spoke of the communion of saints, and touched on the belief that all those who had died in the faith were now members of the church triumphant in heaven. Reflection assures us that they are not dead, that they are not utterly separated from us. We feel that their lives continue to influence in the same way that we influence those around us.

We do well to remember those who are gone on before us, who have never really died but have passed on to a greater and wider life. Of that life beyond the grave little was known to mankind, Rev. Mr. Wallace said.

Decoration day was generally observed yesterday, and nearly every grave was marked by flowers of enduring and unforgetting love. The richest beauties of many gardens had yielded their fairest bloom for this day of remembrance and many citizens joined with the I.O.O.F., in paying respect to their dead.

Among the visiting Oddfellows were W. McInroy, D.D.G.M., of Springbrook, Lt. Col. G. G. Way, of Belleville, and W. Ralls, outside Sentinel of the Ontario Grand Encampment, also of Belleville.

Mr. Joseph Poulton is the noble Grand of the local lodge, No. 248.

FIRE DAMAGES SHOP INTERIOR

About $400 Loss Sustained By J. Powell at Millbrook.

FIREMEN SAVE BUILDING.

MILLBROOK, August 15. — Fire broke out in the back shop of J. Powell's harness store on Saturday about 1.30 p.m., a lamp used in heating rubber when doing repair work flaming too high while Mr. Powell was out in the yard responding to a call to change tires on a truck driven by W. Budd.

The firemen were quickly on the scene and succeeded in putting out the blaze within a comparatively short time, but the stock and interior of the building were considerably damaged, not alone by the flames but by smoke and water as well.

The owner considers that his loss amounts to about $400 00, and there is a small insurance. As the building is in the heart of the business section on the north side of King Street, and closely adjoins W. Thorne's residence, it was fortunate that the fire was checked promptly.

United States Envoy Away For Vacation

OTTAWA, Aug. 15 (Canadian Press).—Hon. William Phillips, Minister of the United States to Canada, has left for his camp in Northern Maine on a vacation and during his absence from Ottawa, H. Dorsey Newson will act as Charge d'Affairies of the Legation.

Mr. Newson has been previously stationed in England, Hungary, Germany, Mexico and Poland. He served during the Great War with the British as well as with the United States army, and was awarded the D.S.O. by the British Government.

NOTED NOVELIST DIES AT HIS HOME

James Oliver Curwood Succumbs After Illness Resulting From Streptococcus Infection.

OUTDOOR AUTHOR.

OWOSSO, Mich., Aug. 15.—(Canadian Press.) — James Oliver Curwood, author of stories of the Canadian North, and noted conservationist, died at his home here Saturday night after an illness resulting from Streptococeus infection which had confined him to his bed for one week.

Mr. Curwood, who was born here 49 years ago, was credited with being one of the foremost authorities on matters pertaining to the Canadian northwest, and every year since he began his career as an author in 1908 he passed several months in that territory, frequently travelling as far north as the Arctic Coast. He is said to have been the only American ever employed by the Canadian government as an exploratory and descriptive writer.

Besides his keen interest in conservatism, Curwood was deeply interested in civic enterprises in his home city, contributing liberally to these undertakings. He is survived by two daughters of his first marriage, a son, James Oliver Curwood, Jr., and his second wife, who was Miss Ethel Greenwood, whom he married in 1919.

Loved Great Outdoors.

Curwood's love for the outdoors and particularly for the great forests of Upper Michigan, activated his life and his work as a novelist. He published 24 novels, a majority of which had their principal scenes in the Canadian northwest. He wrote of outdoor men and women and moved them across a stage that usually was set in the big woods, limbing their lives with a sereneness born of his own experiences.

"The courage of Captain Plum," his first novel, was written in 1908, after he had spent seven years in newspaper work.

From then on the novels flowed from his pen. There followed "The Wolf Hunters," 1908; "The Great Lakes" and "The Gold Hunters," both written in 1909; "The Danger Trail," 1910; "The Honor of the Big Snows" and "Phillippe Steele of the Royal Mounted," written in 1911.

Others of his novels included "Kazan" 1914; "Nomads of the North," 1919; "The Valley of Silent Men," 1920, and "The Flaming Forest," 1921.

Writing was in Curwood's blood. On his father's side he was descended from Captain Marrayat, the novelist. He was born June 12, 1878, the son of James Moran, and Adigail (Griffin) Curwood, and spent his boyhood near Vermillion, Ohio, his family later returning to Owosso. He attended the University of Michigan.

A zealous crusader for conservation of natural resources, Curwood was appointed a member of the Michigan conservation commission and he fought vigorously for conservation of Michigan forests.

The body will be laid beside that of his father and mother in the small graveyard here.

Funeral services will be held on Tuesday afternoon from the "First Congregational Church here.

CANTON ARMY DRIVEN FROM STRONGHOLD

Northern Forces Concentrate Around Nanking—Attack Seems Imminent.

EVACUATE CITY.

Forty-six Labor Leaders Executed at Kiukiang as Communists.

SHANGHAI, August 15. — Following a violent battle in which the Nationalists (Cantonese) suffered 30,000 casualties and the Northerners 6,000 casualties, the former were driven from Kuchensuyi, said a Japanese news agency despatch from Nanking yesterday.

TWO TOWNS CAPTURED.

LONDON, August 15. — Driving southward along the border of Kiangsu and Anhwei Provinces in a new offensive, Northern troops under General Sun Shuan Fang have captured Pukow and Yangchow, said a Central News despatch from Shanghai on Saturday.

The despatch added that an attack against Nanking seems imminent.

General Changes Sides.

A Nanking message reports heavy troop concentrations around that city and along the Northern battlefront.

General Chen Tiacwan is reported to have gone over to the Northern Army under General Sun Chuan Fang.

Another telegram from Shanghai said the Northerners were reported to have taken Chinkiang. It stated that dissatisfaction is apparent among the Kwangsi and Chekiang followers of General Chiang-Kai-Shek.

LABOUR MEN BEHEADED.

SHANGHAI, August 15. — Execution of forty-six Chinese Labour leaders affiliated with the Communist faction of the Kuomintang (Cantonese Party) at Kiukiang, and the suppression of labour unions at that place on the charge that they were Red organizations, was reported in messages from Kiukiang yesterday.

According to these advices the executions were ordered by Chang-Fak-Wei, who had arrested fifty-two labour leaders at Kiukiang on August 5. The executions began on Tuesday, and were continued on Wednesday and Thursday.

The advance of the Northern Army is again under way. Refugees arriving here from Nanking by boat and train are bringing all their portable possessions in the fear that the Northerners would attack that city.

Tearing Up Tracks.

Failing to halt the Northern troops advance upon Pukow, the Cantonese are tearing up the Tsinpu railroad tracks. Capture of Pukow and Yangchow by the Northern trooos under Gen. Sun Chuan Fang appears inevitable.

Gen. Chiang-Kai-Shek, commander-in-chief of the Southerners, who arrived in Shanghai, declared that the evacuation of Pengpu was "a strategic retreat to draw the Northern troops southward, thus weakening the Northern Army for an attack by Gen. Feng-Yuy-Siang."

VISITS EUROPE

This photograph, taken at the aerodrome in Cologne, Germany, shows Mrs. Caleb Keene (Minna Keene, F.R.P.S.) of Oakville, Ont., the famous photographic artist, and Capt. E. C. Hearne, the aerial skywriter, who has performed in Canada. The plane is the one in which Mrs. Keene was about to fly from Cologne to Paris. Capt. Hearne was in Cologne at the time, skywriting for a German firm. He is a Royal Air Force man with a brilliant war record. Mrs. Keene is on one of her frequent trips to Europe searching or types for her photographic portraits.

POLICE BREAK UP RADICAL MEETING

Arrest Leaders of Demonstration Held By Sacco-Vanzetti Sympathizers.

BOSTON, Mass., Aug. 15 (Canadian Press).—An attempt by Sacco-Vanzetti sympathizers to conduct a meeting on Boston Common was broken up by police yesterday afternoon and two men who took part in the demonstration were arrested. One was Powers Hapgood of Pittsburgh and Indianapolis, widely known for his radical activities.

The second man arrested gave his name Cosmo Clarvotti of East Boston. He and Hapgood were taken to the Lagrange Street police station, where they were released after friends furnished bail.

They were charged with violating municipal park rules.

WINNIPEG WHEAT.

WINNIPEG, Aug. 15.—A fair business was transacted in the wheat market Saturday. Continued good weather in the Canadian West and absence of foreigen interest discouraged holders, and closing quotations were 1c. to 7-8c. down. October at $1.50¼, December, $1.46 5-8, and May, $1.50 7-8.

High temperatures were general in the three Prairie Provinces in the past 24 hours, with moderately cool nights, and the forecast is favorable.

There was further selling pressure in coarse grains, which eased into lower ground. The cash market was featureless.

GET $4.50 TERMS.

LYNN, Mass., Aug. 13.—Twelve Lynn boys, from 12 to 15 years old, were arrested for window smashing recently. Judge Ralph B. Reeve, of the Juvenile cout sentenced them to earn $4.50 each and pay for the panes they had destroyed.

SOUTH AFRICA SELLS MORE TO DOMINION

United Kingdom Is Still Best Customer of Union, However.

GOLD PRODUCTION DOWN.

Too Many Diamonds Are Being Produced—Canadian Trade Data.

The United Kingdom is South Africa's best customer, writes Trade Commissioner G. R. Stevens, Cape Town, in the forth coming issue of the Commercial Intelligence Journal, taking in 1926, 59 per cent. of her exports, exclusive of gold, other parts of the British Empire 6 per cent., and foreign countries the balance of 35 per cent. Great Britain takes nine-tenths of South Africa's diamonds, half her maize, wool, hides, skins and mohair, and very considerable quantities of the other exports.

The British dominions and possessions are poor customers, Australia alone taking an appreciable quantity of South African produce, 2.1 per cent. Unfortunately, Australian imports have been largely maize, and the abolition of preference between Australia and South Africa will probably destroy this trade in the future.

Among foreign countries, France absorbed 10 per cent. of South Africa's exports, Germany 7 per cent., Holland 4.2 per cent. (including 10 per cent. of the Union's diamonds), and the United States 5 per cent. of the whole.

Canada purchased South African merchandise to the value of £130,129 during 1926, in comparison with £18,522 during 1925.

The Gold Industry.

The production of gold in South Africa decreased by some 450,000 fine ounces during 1926, writes Trade Commissioner G. R. Stevens, Cape Town, in the forthcoming issue of the Commercial Intelligence Journal.

The industry of South Africa is faced with two great difficulties. The costs of production are mounting and the economic ore bodies of many mines are being exhausted. The Witwatersrand reef, from which comes 97 per cent. of South Africa's gold, consists of a vast body of low value ore. The average recovery of gold is about 1-3 of a fine ounce per ton. To make such extraction profitable, production costs must be kept extremely low, but from one cause or another, the cost of gold mining has increased, and each increase service to make a larger body of ore non-economic.

The second danger (leaving out of sight new development) is the actual exhaustion of many mines where ore is available, but at such depths and distances that it is not feasible to raise and treat it. A considerable emigration of mining capital is ensuing at present (some of it going to Canada).

The Diamond Industry.

The South African diamond industry is in grave danger of over-production, writes Trade Commissioner G. R. Stevens, Cape Town, in the forthcoming issue of the Commerical Intelligence Journal. In the past, all diamonds have been sold through a single agency, which has parcelled out the gems in whatever quotas the market could absorb. The price has been sustained largely through this monopoly. During the past two or three years there has been a tremendous increase in the development of what is known as the "alluvial" workings, and the diamond monopoly appears for the moment, at least, to have lost its former control of the situation.

The alluvial fields are worked by Europeans in a rough and ready fashion reminiscent of the placer mining of the earlier days in Canada. Production last year was valued at £10,752,810, against £8,605,525 in the previous year. It seems improbable that diamonds will ever again be the close monopoly they have been in the past, and this circumstance, theoretically, at least, makes the industry precarious. But the industry appears to be in its customary healthy condition.

Market for Lard in Mexico.

Lard forms one of the principal items of import into Mexico, writes Trade Commissioner C. Noel Wilde, Mexico City, in the forthcoming issue of the Commercial Intelligence Journal. Imports, with the exception of the year 1924, have shown a steady increase since 1919. In 1925, total imports had reached 23,528 metric tons, against 18,024 for 1924. The year 1927 has so far shown a decline over the similar period of 1926, owing principally to the increase of customs duties which took effect in March last. The United States is almost the only source of supply, with a smooth, white quality for the temperate regions and a more grainy product for the Gulf Coast and other parts of the hot country in demand. The prevailing price was recently fourteen cents, with thirty-day terms after arrival of cars at border.

Cold weather during May and June has retarded the growth of the English hay crop, writes Trade Commissioner Harry A. Scott, Liverpool, in the forthcoming issue of the Commercial Intelligence Journal. In the North of England, as a whole, the present crop is not considered far below average in quantity, but the quality has been definitely affected, with the result that dealers anticipate a good demand for Canadian hay this season. A good deal, however, will depend on the quality of the Canadian crop. Recent purchases have been on the basis of 80 to 82/6 per long ton c.i.f. Liverpool. The preference in Liverpool is for No. 2 clover mixture, half timothy and half clover.

In many states bordering on the Baltic Sea, there have been marked increases in foreign sales of lumber during the past year, writes Assistant Trade Commissioner J. C. MacGillivray, Hamburg, in the forthcoming issue of the Commercial Intelligence Journal.

In Soviet Russia there have been heavy lumber exports, which, however, are now showing a decline.

In Finland last year, lumber exports reached the record figure of 1,120,308 standards, as against 1,031,722 standards in 1925; but the forest resources are said to be increasing rather than decreasing.

In Poland last year, exports increased 52 per cent., but the value fell by 9 per cent., and prices were unremunerative. A shortage of Polish pine is already resulting in an increasing demand for Douglas fir in Germany.

THREE RESCUED FROM DROWNING

Members of Crew of Freighter Ruthland Rescued on Lake Erie.

TUG HAD BEEN BURNED.

PORT DOVER, Ont., Aug. 15 (Canadian Press).—Three members of the crew of the freight tug Ruthland, owned by Isaac Simple of Simcoe were rescued on Lake Erie Saturday night after the boat had been burned 12 miles off this place.

The crew, John Davis of Simcoe, and Frank and Ernest Murphy of Port Dover, were returning here from the lake where they had taken a cargo of merchandise, when the tug took fire and burned rapidly. The three men made a desperate attempt to extinguish the flames and when they found it impossible they donned life preservers and jumped into the water.

The fire was seen from here and tugs put out to the rescue, but the steamer Erie which runs between here and Erie, ePnna., was returnfrom a moonlight excursion and Captain Scott McDonald, seeing the fire, put about and rescued the three men, who by this time had been in the water for about an hour.

They were brought here and medical attention given. Yesterday they were none the worse for their experience.

BALDWIN TOURS NORTHERN ONTARIO

Chats Informally With Crowds at Stations at Twin Cities.

SCHRIEBER, Ont., Aug. 15 (Canadian Press).—It was a leisurely yet a hurried trip which Premier Baldwin and his party made through Northern Ontario on Sunday. Liesurely because of the freedom from official receptions, and hurried because of the few stops made by the special train. At Fort William and Port Arthur, Mr. and Mrs. Baldwin mingled with the crowds on the station platforms and chatted informally with those who gathered around. They were friendly, curious crowds with frank words of welcome and some good-humored banter and occasionally Mr. Baldwin would make some retort which would set the crowd laughing. Brilliant, cool, late summer weather made the trip through the north country a pleasant interlude on the Prime Minister's return journey. With only an hour's stop in Ottawa this afternoon the special train will push directly through to St. John, N.B. Hon. Charles Stewart, Minister of the Interior, accompanied the party from the West, and in the Capital Premier King and Col. J. L. Ralston, Minister of National Defence, will join the train and give Mr. Baldwin the final send-off from North Sydney on Thursday. Admiral Sir Lionel Halsey, Treasurer and Comptroller of the Prince of Wales' ousehold, is returning with Premier Baldwin's train. He is to sail for England very soon. The last days of the Premier's Canadian visit are in the nature of a family party, as Hon. Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Howard, son-in-law and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Baldwin have joined the train, and Mrs. Howard will sail on the Empress of Scotland with her parents. Captain and Mrs. Munroe, also son-in-law and daughter, have been with the party since leaving England. Mr. E. W. Beatty rejoined the train at Banff and is making the trip to the Maritimes.

Free State Compete American Horse Show

NEW YORK, Aug. 15.—(Canadian Press).—It was announced Saturday that the Irish Free State will send a team of army officers to compete at the Madison Square Gardens Horse Show November 7-12 with those of Canada, England, Italy, Holland and the United States for the International trophy, given by the Jockey Club in a jumping competition. A ribbon of green has been added to those of other colors to be awarded at this year's show.

PREDICT HEAVY CROP IN ALBERTA

Present Season Has Been Almost Ideal, Agricultural Report Shows.

EDMONTON, Alta., Aug. 15.—(Canadian Press.)— There is every indication that one of the greatest crops in the history of Alberta is well on its way to maturity, according to reports reaching the Department of Agriculture Saturday. The present season has been almost ideal for promoting growth, and the past two weeks were specially suited to the filling and ripening period.

Early varieties of wheat on lighter land are ripening rapidly and a start has been made with harvesting of this grain in a number of districts of the province, while in some cases early barley has also been cut, and with a continuance of the present favorable weather, harvest promises to be fairly general in from ten days to two weeks. Some frost damage has been reported, but this is negligible.

The Dominion Bureau of Statistics in a report issued during the past week, shows a marked increase in the estimated acreage under the five principal grain crops in Alberta this season as compared with 1926 and with the decidedly higher yield which is promised, the total production of grain in the province for 1927 undoubtedly will show an increase of several million bushels over last year's market.

Cutting Fall Wheat.

In the south and south-eastern parts of the province, a start has been made with the cutting of fall wheat and some excellent yields are reported, the acreage in this crop being considerably larger than has been the case for the past several years. Harvesting of rye has been practically completed and threshing of this grain has started in a number of districts. The weather in this part of the province has been dry, but very little damage from hot winds is reported and the reserve of moisture in the soil and the straw is enough to enable the grain to fill satisfactorily.

In the central and northern sections of the province, all grains are ripening rapidly and uniformly and binders have started in early sown wheat fields in a number of districts.

A heavy crop of hay is being put up and pastures generally show little effect of the recent dry weather. Live stock throughout the province is in splendid condition and grass-finished beef is promised for market at an earlier date than usual.

Harvesting has started in a number of localities in the Peace River and Grande Prairie districts. A highly satisfactory yield and the considerable acreage of newly cropped land promise a marked increase in the output of grain from this part of the province for the present season.

Rocky Territory Really Rich Asset

A RICH ASSET.

It would be a patriotic movement if well-meaning but seriously uninformed public speakers and writers would stop talking about the rock-bound waste that divides Eastern and Western Canada.

This "rock-bound waste," this "geographical misfortune" that is so often bewailed, can be more accurately described as the great pre-Cambrian shield of Canada. All well informed geologists, mining men, and financial men realize that the pre-Cambrian shield is one of the greatest assets that Canada possesses and one of our strongest guarantees of prosperity to come.

The kind of misdescription of the area between older Ontario and Man area between older Ontario and Manitoba that is all too prevalent and that is decidedly to be condemned is exemplified by the following quotation from an article in the Canadian Historical Review:

"While to the north and north-west of Lake Superior there lies only a continuation of that endless, dreary waste which forms the dead heart of the eastern half of Canada, to the south of Lake Michigan there is a land of far greater possibilities."

The Canadian Historical Review issues from the presses of the University of Toronto. Where it is read it will carry the weight of university authority, even of government authority, for the university is a provincial government institution. We are certain that there are members of Toronto University's governing board and of the provincial cabinet who recognize in the pre-Cambrian shield something more than "an endless, dreary wasate."

Practically every inch of that "dead heart of Canada" is laden with precious minerals—with gold, silver, copper, even with iron, nickel, lead and zinc. Practically every acre of that territory will some day be pouring forth its rich flow of wealth for Canada. Gradually the developed area is spreading westward from Cobalt and Timmins and eastward from Central Manitoba. Every month a new operation is commenced somewhere in this "dreary waste." Every few months a new gold rush starts to some Eldorado as a preliminary to more serious prospecting work.

Let us give to rock-bound northwestern Ontario its due mead of praise and realize, as the geologist and the mining man realize, that Nature has given us in that shield untold riches to gather.—Financial Post.

THE GROWTH OF INSURANCE.

Evidences of the extraordinary growth and rapid development of life insurance in Canada are constantly forcing themselves upon our attention and inviting a consideration of the role which life insurance plays in organized society. The announcement by the Dominion Life Assurance Company of Waterloo that June saw it with more than one hundred million of insurance in force, and that this figure represents an increase of 425 per cent. over that in force in the corresponding month ten years ago, provides food for thought.

Nor is this the only case. Life insurance has grown throughout at a phenomenal rate in the last decade, and Canadian life insurance companies generally report enormous increases in business in force.

We are accustomed to thinking of life insurance in terms of protection for our dependents in the event of our predecease. Such a conception is but a glimpse at half the truth. The profound principle underlying the entire structure is the capitalization of human life as a source of wealth production. It is the realization in cash by the community which is made up of policyholders, of the wealth latent in each new life insured, and the setting of that money to work. Such is the financial significance of life insurance.

The social significance is even more imposing; it shows thousands upon thousands of people, in all classes of society, building up a sinking fund out of their surplus earnings and contributing it, on call, to a giant fund which provides the sinews of industry and the life blood of the great public services.

Truly an inspiring picture, and one for which there is no parallel—a giant co-operative movement—of which the insurance companies themselves merely constitute the operating machinery—to appraise the social value of human life, transpose that value into cash, and set it to work for the community.

Every thinking person realizes the function of the banks in providing working capital from small savings, but few realize how great a part the insurance companies play, not only in the development of the domestic peace of mind and happiness of the country, but in its industrial life.

Canadian life insurance companies had at the end of 1926 three hundred and forty-six millions invested in Canada, exclusive of mortgages, not in short term loans, speculative investments or non-productive enterprizes, but in productive industries, Government bonds, municipal securities, public utilities. This figure, imposing as it is, represents but 41 per cent. of the total assets.

This is the beginning. Where will it end?

Perhaps it will not end until society has become a vast corporate loan company, in which every producing member is a shareholder and the community as a whole, the borrower, with the productive value of human life as security.

A RICH ASSET.

It would be a patriotic movement if well-meaning but seriously uninformed public speakers and writers would stop talking about the rock-bound waste that divides Eastern and Western Canada.

This "rock-bound waste," this "geographical misfortune" that is so often bewailed, can be more accurately described as the great pre-Cambrian shield of Canada. All well informed geologists, mining men and financial men realize that the pre-Cambrian shield is one of the greatest assets that Canada possesses and one of our strongest guarantees of prosperity to come.

The kind of misdescription of the area between older Ontario and Manitoba that is all too prevalent and that decidedly to be condemned is exemplified by the following quotation from an article in the Canadian Historical Review:

"While to the north and north-west of Lake Superior there lies only a continuation of that endless dreary waste which forms the dead heart of the eastern half of Canada, to the south of Lake Michigan there is a land of far greater possibilities."

The Canadian Historical Review issues from the presses of the University of Toronto. Where it is read will carry the weight of university authority, even of Government authority, for the university is a Provincial Government institution. We are certain that there are members of Toronto University's governing board and of the Provincial Cabinet who recognize in the pre-Cambrian shield something more than "an endless, dreary waste."

Practically every inch of that "dead heart of Canada" is laden with precious minerals—with gold, silver, copper, even with iron, nickel, lead and zinc. Practically every acre of that territory will some day be pouring forth its rich flow of wealth for Canada. Gradually developed area is spreading westward from Cobalt Timmins and eastward from Central Manitoba. Every month a new operation is commenced somewhere in the "dreary waste." Every few months a new gold rush starts to some Eldorado as a preliminary to more serious prospecting work.

Let us give to rock-bound north-western Ontario its meed of praise and realize, as the geologist and mining man realize, that Nature has given us in the shield untold riches to gather.—Financial Post.

SELF-INTEREST.

The most fascinating subject of conversation to the average man is—himself. He likes to meditate upon himself, talk about himself, and be talked about favorably. Which is quite natural, considering the fact that, so far as he is concerned, he is the most important creature on earth.

A man's job, his family, his health, his achievement or failure, his life, are the most interesting and vital things in the universe to him. Anyone who can offer sound and leading on these paramount issues is a public benefactor. He gets a hearing, or a reading.

No wonder the average Canadian is a confirmed newspaper reader. The honest and clean journal of news is an open book revealing the heart and mind of the race. It deals in human interest. It sketches the average man in his universal characteristics. It satisfies his hunger to know about himself.—Exchange.

WHAT IS NEWS?

(Lynwood, Cal., Tribune)

Occasionally somebody gets the idea that the reason the local paper does not report every scandal that comes to public knowledge is because the publisher is afraid. That is not the reason. The reputable newspaper, especially where every one is a neighbor to every one else, takes no delight in giving publicity to those things that have brought disgrace to some family or heartache to some wife or mother. It is much more pleasant, and does not leave a bad taste in the mouth, to record the good things to happen, to tell of the incidents that tend to make life more endurable and that uplift rather than tear down, that bring joy instead of heartaches. We appreciate any item of local interest unless that item digs into and lays bare those things over which a mother, a wife, husband or father may have been racked with sorrow and humiliation.

THE RIGHT OF FREE HECKLING.

In England the Home Secretary has been asked to protect public meetings from being broken up by organized rowdyism. A case of that kind occurred recently at Canning Town, and the victim of it, who was so interrupted that he could not make his speech, proposes that the law be changed so as to permit of police interference on such occasions. All that Captain O'Connor, who was howled down, asks is that the Chairman of such a gathering should have the right to call in the police to aid him in maintaining order, even though there be no actual breach of the peace. Such a plan would be in accord with American practice. Our theory is that if a party or an organization has "hired a hall," the meeting belongs to it, and the police will, on demand, eject persons who attempt to prevent speakers from getting a hearing, or who seek to break up the procedure by disorderly noises. But in England such a course is regarded as so revolutionary that it is considered highly improbable that anything will be done to interfere with the right of anybody at any meeting to ask questions or shout disapproval.

It is the ancient British theory that all kinds of talk in public should be allowed, so long as there is no overt act of violence. This is the idea of the "safety valve." Let interrupters blow off their own heads, provided they do not endeavor to break the head of anybody else. Moreover, some old political campaigners hold the view that it is an advantage to have opponents rise at the back of the hall to ask questions or make a disturbance. That gives the candidate a chance to show his good nature, as also his tact in handling a difficult situation and his skill in replying to the queries intended to entrap him. Furthermore, if groups of political enemies break up meetings unfairly, and make themselves in the eyes of the public a general nuisance, they are apt only to win votes for the man against whom they are making a dead set.

It is feared in England that the police could not safely be charged with the duty of deciding whether uproarious conduct at a public meeting is disorderly. The feeling is that it is better to let the main body of the audience pass on such things. Penalties for misconduct of the kind are better imposed at the polls than in a magistrate's court. The strong probability is that, unless manifestations of the sort seen at Canning Town become more clearly planned in advance and more outrageous in their nature, nothing will be done to prevent the political heckler in England from having a free course to run and glorify himself as has been the immemorial custom.—New York Times.

LABOR ENDORSES RESEARCH.

When trade unions in their early days opposed technical progress, they feared that machinery would put workmen out of jobs for which they would never be needed again. They did not realize the futility of opposition to such progress, and wasted time and energy struggling against improvements which later they were glad to accept. The about-face recently executed by the more alert and far-sighted of union officials is having its effect throughout all organized labor. This is indicated by several articles in the August number of The American Federationist. President Green of the A. F. of L. makes a declaration of policy with regard to wages in which is implied the part that labor takes and plans to take in the technical, social and economic advance of industry. There is also editorial comment on the next step forward, which should be indicated and charted by a research department.

An article by Morris Llewellyn Cooke, consulting engineer, points out the consistent support given by the Federation to scientific research. Up to the present time it has been chiefly concerned with materials, tools, products, synthetic chemistry and but little with personnel. General research is expensive, and Mr. Cooke is convinced that it should be charged against the industry, and not paid for, even in small part, by assessment of the workers. Labor's contribution will be in the form of active, whole-hearted, understanding co-operation, without which the new research cannot be carried on.

Included in this rich field are such subjects as pensions, time-study, spoiled work, vacations, promotions, the piece-rate system and every phase in which "the labor group is not only specially interested but has a special competence." As the easiest way of getting started it is suggested that a joint research committee, with an equal number of members representing the management and the unions, make their first investigation in a matter that concerns all about equally. It is the elimination of waste, which certainly is of common interest. Investigation with the purpose of improving conditions in that respect requires an ample budget, and should be done on a large scale.—New York Times.

SPEEDING THE MAIL FROM LINER TO LAND

CATTLE, GRAIN AND PRODUCE

Peterboro—Toronto—Montreal

MONTREAL GRAIN AND PRODUCE.

MONTREAL, Aug. 15 (Canadian Press).—The export trade in Canadian grain on the Montreal market Saturday was extremely dull, there being practically no demand from any source. The domestic trade also remained quiet.

There was no new developments in the local flour situation, prices for Spring and Winter wheat grades being well maintained under a quiet demand.

The volume of business done in all lines of millfeed was good and values were unchanged. The trade in standard grades of rolled oats was fair and the undertone was steady. The feature of the butter trade was the further strength that developed and prices were advanced another ½c per pound. The receipts were 1,945 packages.

A small amount of business was worked in cheese with United Kingdom buyers Saturday. The local trade was inactive and values were slightly easier. The receipts were 7,243 boxes.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, Aug. 15 (Canadian Press).—It is expected that arrivals of wheat in Chicago today will prove large, 500 to 700 cars. This fact, together with predictions of cooler weather for the Dakotas and Minnesota, led to lower prices for wheat on Saturday. Closing quotations on wheat were heavy, 3c to 1¼c net decline, with corn unchanged to ⅜c up, oats ¾ and ½c to ⅝c off, and provisions unchanged to 10c down.

Furthermore, exporters on Saturday were again after cash wheat, and altogether 800,000 bushels from North America were said to have been bought for shipment to Europe. On the other hand, prospective lower temperatures in the Dakotas and Minnesota were construed as bearish, such conditions being likely to hinder black rust.

Rust Situation

An official summary of the black rust situation said considerable of the domestic Spring wheat crop is now past the danger stage but that there are sections were damage may still occur. In late fields and along the Canadian border losses will depend upon the weather.

South Dakota spring wheat, the official report shows, is mostly harvested or safe from rust damage, except in the northeast corner, where probable damage ranges from 5 to 25 per cent.

Corn prices were strengthened by indications of cooler weather and rains. Oats were draggy owing more or less to bearish crop news from Canada regarding oats.

Scattered selling weakened the provision market, despite firmness of hog values.

A Thought For To-day

THE FORTUNATE MAN.

The fortunate man is he who can make circumstances conform to his temperament, but the twice-favored individual is the one who can suit his temper to circumstances that confront him.

HUNGARIAN BIRDS EXTENDING RANGE

Open Season Allowed, Same as for Prairie Chickens.

MONTREAL, Aug. 15.—The "conflict" between the imported Hungarian Partridge and the native Prairie Chicken in Saskatchewan is being closely watched by provincial government authorities and there is much diversity of opinion as to whether the newcomer is likely to dispossess the native of its nesting places, according to a report from the Game Commissioner of that province, received by E. G. Poole, Fish and Game Representative of the Canadian National Railways here. At the same time, it will be of interest to sportsmen everywhere to learn that an open season on these birds has been declared, corresponding with that for the Prairie Chicken. This allows shooting during the entire month of October, this year, with a bag limit of 10 birds per day, 30 in the season.

The report states that there is undoubted evidence of continued increase in the number of Hungarians and also of their extended area of occupation. Public opinion regarding the desirability of the newcomers is still divided. Many people believe they are guilty of repeated violence toward the native wild bird, particularly during the nesting season. Cases are reported of actual attacks on the nests and young of prairie chicken, though other observers report the two classes of bird feeding together in peace.

"Summing up all the evidence" the Game Commissioner states, "one is led to the conclusion that for the greater part of the year there is little or no conflict between the two varieties, or any undue aggressiveness on the part of the Hungarian. It does appear, however, that during the nesting season, which is, of course, the crucial period, the zeal of the Hungarian in defence of his home amounts to intolerance, and that no other bird may with impunity nest in close proximity.

"It will be cause for great regret if it be proven as time goes on, that the advent of the Hungarian is resulting in the disappearance of our own native grouse."

PEOPLE WILL TALK.

You may get through the world, but 'twill be very slow;
If you listen to all that is said as you go,
You'll be worried and fretted and kept in a stew,
For meddlesome tongues will have something to do,
For people will talk.

If quiet and modest, you'll have it presumed
That your humble position is only assumed;
You're a wolf in sheep's clothing or else your a fool,
But don't get excited; keep perfectly cool,
For people will talk.

If generous and noble, they'll vent out their spleen,
You'll hear some loud hints that you're selfish and mean;
If upright and honest and fair as the day,
They'll call you a rogue in a sly selfish way,
For people will talk.

And then, if you show the least boldness of heart
Or a slight inclination to take your own part,
They will call you an upstart, conceited and vain,
But keep straight ahead, don't stop to explain,
For people will talk.

If thread-bare your dress or old fashioned your hat,
Someone will surely take notice of that
And hint rather strong that you can't pay your way,
But don't get excited whatever they say,
For people will talk.

If you dress in the fashion, don't think to escape,
For they criticize then in a different shape;
Your ahead of your means or your tailor's unpaid,
But mind your own business, there's naught to be made,
For people will talk.

Now the best way to do is to do as you please,
For your mind (if you have one) will then be at ease;
Of course, you will meet with all sorts of abuse,
But don't try to stop them, it's not any use,
For people will talk.

HEDDA HOYT TELLS OF COVERED SHINBONES

By Hedda Hoyt,
(United Press Fashion Editor.)

NEW YORK, August 12. United Press.—The covered shinbone, like the 'Covered Wagon' travels slowly, but it gets somewhere.

Short skirts haven't acomplished a thing for women. Legs have become chestnuts. Why a woman will wear a knee length skirt and and then keep tugging to pull it down over her joints is a question that can't be answered. A skirt tug is not a jesture of modesty these days. It is merely a means of feigning that shy modesty that is a thing of the past. No fashionable woman of to-day has any hesitancy or feeling of modesty when it comes to exposing her legs. In fart she rather likes to show them. Exposing an extra foot or two of legs, she believes, knocks 20 years off her age. Until now only children dare spraddle about with akimbo but it's a grown up game now and like Mah Jong it's a game that is as uninteresting as a dried herring.

For some reason or other the modern woman likes to appear naughty whether she is or not. But the naughtier she gets the less naughtiness we manage to see in her. While she suffers during the winter months in ten ounce underwear the only goose flesh she creates is on her own body. She does not cause a ripple of emotion among the men.

So, whether skirts get shorter or longer there's nothing to worry about. Morals are not involved. The scantier the attire the scantier the 'apple sauce' doled out from the male sex. The wife who fears to trust her husband around half nude office females must realize that flannels are as important in this world as wisps of chiffon.

SAINT and SINNER

By ANNE AUSTIN

George Pruitt had obtained permission from his father, president of the largest wholesale grocery company in the city, to leave his work at four o'clock two afternoons a week, so that he might have two hours of bright light before dinner for working on the picture of Faith and Cherry's baby. But so keen was his enthusiasm for this first work he had attempted since giving up his art career in New York that he appeared on Friday, with paints, palette, easel and canvas. Mrs. Lundy admitted him and he found Faith in the sun parlor. She was lying on a cretonne-covered chaise longue, one listless hand hanging to the floor, the other dabbing at tears with a damp handkerchief.

"Am I disturbing a nap, Faith? Sorry!"

"Oh!" She sat up, making swift little gestures toward hair and skirt. "I wasn't expecting you, George, but —I'm glad you've come."

She was telling the truth, she realized after the words were out. She was glad to see him. The patient, wistful, but undemanding adornation in his small black eyes was balm to her grief-heavy heart. She had not slept all night after that amazing passage between her sister and her husband. She had lived through that kiss of theirs a hundred times, and each time it seemed that she must scream aloud in her agony. And yet she had not said a word to Bob—not a word of question of reproach. She could not lower the flag of her pride to ask her husband why his lips had clung to those of his sister-in-law. Did not every man consider it his right to kiss his wife's sister, and no questions asked?

She knew that no matter if she were convinced beyond the shadow of a doubt that Bob felt an unholy passion for Cherry she would continue to love him, could not conceivably give him his freedom so that he could marry Cherry. And at that thought too she had been on the point, a score of times, of screaming out with pain. Bob marry Cherry? No, no! She would fight for her man ruthlessly, even if it meant hurting her own sister.

George was busy setting up his easel and tacking his canvas to the frame. She was grateful for his cheerful, friendly conversation, grateful even for the waking up of the baby, for that meant that she would have to busy herself with preparing the bottle.

When at last they were ready, Faith seated in a high-backed chair, a fine lace shawl of Cherry's crossed over her breast, and the bright head of the baby nestling in the crook of her arm, George's grin faded, and he spoke to her in a low, tender voice, that instantly sent the color flooding into her waxen pale cheeks. But she need not have feared. George was not going to make love to her, at least in the conventional sense of the word.

"You're not happy, Faith. I suppose it's marriage. So few people seem to know what to do with marriage. You started off your married life by making a mistake, of course—having Cherry with you, I mean. No, my dear, don't fly out at me. I'm abusing the privilege of friendship because I care so very much about your happiness. I've done a great deal of thinking about you, as you may imagine, and I've come to the conclusion that all your life you have lived in a shadow—the shadow of Cherry. The psychoanalysts call it an inferiority complex, but the term doesn't matter. Now, Faith, I'd like to give you the greatest gift that a woman can receive, if you will take it. Shall I?" His small black eyes were very quizzical and very kindly.

Faith, in her supreme need for "the greatest gift," held Cherry's baby more closely as she answered in a low voice, "Tell me!"

HOROSCOPE

The Stars Incline, but do not Compel.

(Copyright, 1927, McClure Syndicate.)

TUESDAY, AUGUST 16, 1927

Many conflicting planetary influences have power today, according to astrology, which reads in the stars disturbing tendencies.

While labor and capital should prosper at this time, there are signs indicating criticism and misunderstandings.

For high officials who desire to retain their positions misrepresentation of their motives and policies is forecast.

Suspicion of bankers and capitalist may be sown broadcast and the seeds will find lodgment in fertile soil west of the Mississippi the seers prophesy.

All the stars appear to presage for the United States the most marvelous prestige and prosperity.

This is an auspicious time for merchants and manufacturers to expand their interests.

Women are subject to stimulating and helpful leadings while this configuration prevails and they should be able to accomplish more than usual.

There is a benefic sign for romance and courtship, which will flourish especially under the harvest Moon.

Good news for importers and designers of women's clothing again is foreshadowed.

Changes in fashions will be to the advantage of those who sell millinery as well as gowns and wraps.

Theatres continue under a rule making for increase of interest in the drama. This should be a favorable date for trying-out plays.

All the signs continue to presage for aviation tremendous activity and development. Uranus smiles on aerial navigation in all forms.

Persons whose birthdate it is have the augury of many important and profitable changes in the coming year.

Children born on this day may be broad-minded and most ambitious. Many subjects of this sign seek public careers, but they may not attain success until after long struggle.

In Queen Elizabeth's day the favorite face cream was prepared from the pulp of apples mixed with lard and rose water.

RETURNS TO ENGLAND

After a two-year tour of the dark continent Hon. Diana Strickland recently returned to England to discover that in many ways the belles of the British metropolis and the American jungle were sisters under the skin. The latest popular dance steps were performed ages and ages ago by the savages, she said, while the bobbed coiffure affected by the smart set of Mayfair is almost identical with the prevailing jungle mode. In addition to studying native customs, this intrepid woman explorer also did much big game hunting.

DRESS

By MARY MARSHALL

A cleverly devised wide band on this petticoat laces securely at either side and answers the purpose of a girdle. The petticoat and matching brassiere are of mauve crepe de chine and cream lace.

A waistline just equal to the circumference of an orange was the fashionable ideal in France four hundred years ago, and women of elegance wore corsets made of perforated steel—instruments of torture much more terrible than anything that women wore in the era of small waists in the days of our grandmothers. In the costume collections in the museums in Paris you may still see those steel corsets that pressed the waist into the circumference of an orange.

But in the shops of Paris—of this country, for that matter—you would have trouble to find a corset that compressed the waistline at all. No one seems tobe a bit interested in pressing in the waistline—because every woman knows that whe n the waist is constricted the body above and below the waist bulges out. A waist like an orange means hips like a pumpkin—and no one wants pumpkin hips nowadays.

Brassieres are much lighter than they were a few years ago—in fact, the old type of brassiere that really constructed is chosen now only by the woman who is honestly too stout.

Whatever lacing is done is done about the hips—for fashion does not let up her insistence that hips must be as lithe as is comfortably possible. If you have been accustomed to corsets in your youth the chances are that you really ought to go on wearing some sort of midified corset or girdle all your life, but if you are young and slender enough you may find one of the new yoke-topped petticoats with adjustable sides all that you need to produce the necessary smooth contour about the hips.

Do you want a new evening frock for the price of a yard and a half of georgette or chiffon? It's a simple trick to cut the material into wing drapery and a girdle which may be added to the slip of a discarded evening frock. I will send you the pattern if you will send a stamped, addressed envelope.

HINTS ON ETIQUETTE.

1. If invited to have supper after the theater, what should one order?
2. At what hour is a Sunday night supper served?
3. Can you serve a buffet supper on Sunday night, inviting more guests than you could possibly seat?

The Answers.

1. Your host will probably suggest something. Otherwise, a patty, a salad, a hot club sandwich, with coffee and light pastry or fruit.
2. Seven o'clock.
3. Certainly.

PRESENTATIONS TO BRIDE OF MONTH

Miss Marie McBain is Guest of Honor at Miscellaneous Shower.

On Wednesday afternoon, August 3rd, Miss Helen Staples entertained at a tea and miscellaneous shower in honor of Miss Marie McBain, whose marriage took place on Aug. 11. Mrs. G. C. McBain poured tea, assisted by Misses C. Wagar, B. McNeill and J. Schaeffer. The bride-to-be received many beautiful and useful gifts.

On the following Monday several members of the Fairmount Sunday school met at the home of the bride's father, Mr. George C. McBain and presented Miss McBain with a pair of Dutch silver candlesticks with comport to match. The class of which Miss McBain was a member also presented her with a China salad set.

Unique Summer Hygiene

For Safer Wearing of Lightest Chiffons, Etc.

By ELLEN J. BUCKLAND
Registered Nurse

KOTEX is the new hygiene that has largely ended the use of old-time "pads" among women. A scientific creation, it offers an end to three great embarrassments of old methods.

Filled with Cellucotton wadding—the world's super-absorbent—it is 5 times more absorbent than ordinary cotton pads.

Scientifically treated, it deodorizes. Made of a special material, it discards easily as tissue. No laundry, no embarrassment. 8 in 10 better-class women now employ it. Doctors and nurses urge it.

Get Kotex for protection you know is real. See that box you buy is marked "Kotex." If it isn't, it is not genuine Kotex.

THREE CHILDREN OF ONE FAMILY ARE DROWNED

Two Give Lives in Attempt To Save Sister.

TWO GIRLS AND BOY.

Little Girl Falls Into Kam River While Picking Berries—Bodies Recovered.

FORT WILLIAM, Ont., August 15.—Three children, all of the same family, were drowned here early on Saturday evening in the Kam River near the Jack-knife Bridge.

They met their deaths one after the other, the first, who was also the youngest, as she slipped in trying to reach an overhanging berry bush, the other two as they sought to save her.

The three young victims were the children of Mr. and Mrs. William Howard, of 209 Bethune Street — Henry Gordon, aged 16 years, Constance Evelyn, who would have been 12 years old on Sunday, and Emily Isobel, aged 7.

The children were enjoying the bright sunshine of Saturday afternoon on the banks of the Kam. Little Emily started down the steep bank near the Jack-knife Bridge to see if there were any berries on a bush which overhangs the river at that point. Her foot slipped, and she fell into the river, which is 25 feet deep, and sank. Her sister Constance, seeing what had happened, jumped in after her, but she, too, sank in the deep water. Close by was the brother Henry, and he plunged in, in a heroic but vain effort to save them both, but he, too, went to his death.

The police at once commenced to drag the river, and at 6.30 o'clock the body of Constance was recovered. Four hours later the body of little Emily was brought to the surface, but it was not until 10.30 o'clock on Sunday morning that the body of the brother was found. The searchers worked all through the night grappling for the body of Henry.

Coroner Boyd is conducting an investigation, though it is unlikely that an inquest will be held.

The bodies are at Blake's Funeral Parlours, and the funeral of the three young victims of the tragedy will be held on Wednesday.

ONE PASSES OVER

ed over Wakefield, York, Northern England.

The Press Association adds that the "Bremen" was sighted at 1.45 o'clock this morning.

The Westminster Gazette says it learns from a source which is not named, that the German airplane "Bremen" was over the North Sea at an early hour this (Monday) morning.

A despatch to Reuter's from Berlin said Lufthansa reports that the airplane D-1073, which was piloting the trans-Atlantic machines "Bremen" and "Europa" during the first stages of their flight landed at Bremen at 8.20 o'clock last night.

The Daily Express reports that the Bremen passed over Formby, near Liverpool, this morning. The time is not stated.

Last Seen Over Ireland

NEW YORK, Aug. 15 (Canadian Press).—The Radio Corporation of American and Independent Wireless Company had received no word from the German Junkers monoplane up to eight o'clock this morning. No ship had reported by wireless as having seen the plane, which is now believed heading westward over the Atlantic.

The last news of the sighting of the Bremen came from Croydon, England. Air authorities there received word of the sighting of the Bremen over Kingstown, Dublin, Ireland, at 12.15 a.m. Eastern Daylight time this morning.

May Have Turned Back

LONDON, Aug. 13 (Canadian Press).—A report indicating that the German trans-Atlantic plane Bremen might have turned back from her ocean flight was received at the Air Ministry shortly after noon, but was not given credence there. The report, according to a press association, was that a monoplane was seen flying over Pulham in a southeasterly direction, which observers thought might be the Bremen.

Plane Returning.

HANOVER, Germany, Aug. 15. — (Canadian Press). — The wireless station of the Lufthansa reports that the trans-Atlantic monoplane "Bremen" was sighted at 11.15 this morning at 53.26 north latitude, 1.14 east longitude (over England), flying east-southeast.

OBITUARY.

MRS. WILLIAM D. BARRY.

Death has visited another home and removed a loving wife and mother in the person of Mrs. Wm. D. Barry Water Street, Hastings, formerly Catherine Condon of Douro. Beloved by all who knew her, her departure has been deeply felt. She was of a retiring disposition, her home being heaven to her, and there she would always be found ministering to the needs of her family. Since word of her youngest son's death came from overseas in 1916, her health has gradually failed till on Friday, August 5th, she passed peacefully away, fortified by all the rites of the Catholic Church of which she was a devout member.

She was born in Douro in 1860, and lived there until her marriage 43 years ago, coming there to her husband's home near Hastings, where she resided till nine years ago, moving then into Hastings.

She is survived by her sorrowing husband and two sons, William of Percy and John in Spencerport, N.Y. Another son, James, was killed in the war in 1916. One brother, Maurice Condon, of Douro, also survives.

The funeral last Monday was largely attended. High requiem mass was sung by Rev. Father Bretherton. Interment was in the Roman Catholic Cemetery. The bereaved ones have the sympathy of the community.

DIMPLES DISAPPEARING.

LONDON, Aug. 13. — Women's faces are becoming harder and harder. Beauty specialists agree that the craze for slimness is putting a strain on the body that is reflected in the face. Dimples, they say, are disappearing so rapidly that really pretty ones now are extremely rare.

of the Dominion had gained more than Manitoba in the unions of east and west. Nowhere could one have a more illuminating revelation of the building of a nation.

With facile phrase he sketched early days in the West. There was no more romantic episode in the history of the Empire than the story of the company of adventurers trading into Hudson Bay.

Mr. Baldwin said: "To look for the northwest passage, while making profits out of furs; to obtain a charter of sovereignty over the land which contained all the waters flowing into Hudson Bay, while leaving these lands unexplored for many years; this is typically British. To seek for the western equivalents of peacocks, apes and ivory, and found an empire as a by-product, to create a good tradition of discipline and endurance round a commercial ideal, to treat the Indians as sources of profit, and yet to treat them justly and kindly, to keep one eye on dividends and the other on exloration, what other race could be so casual and so far-sighted, so inconsistent and so successful."

Spirit of the West

The Hudson Bay Company had been all these things. No one with a spark of imagination would fail to be thrilled by their story. They were the pathfinders, the trail breakers. The names of their officers and officers of their rivals and ultimate partners, the Northwest Company, were recorded forever on the maps of Canada by such rivers as the "Mackenzie," the "Fraser," and "Thompson" and the "Stewart." The spirit of the company was recorded too in the growth of law and order, in the planting of the germs of Government, in the development of a transport system, and of an intelligence department in a country half the size of Europe.

He paid high tribute to the railway builders of Canada. Construction, he said, was the finest flower of our British genius and its chief contribution for the betterment of the world. The pax Britannica meant constructive energy working freely within the realm of law and order. "If," he added, "there be any who doubt the future I would say, remember the engineering difficulties, the unsettled country, the absence of population, the poor prospects of freights, and remember the spirit of the men who drove the railway through and built up the greatest single transport system in the world. With the railway came the settler, with the settler came the wheat, and with the wheat and all it implies came Winnipeg.

In the war, we found wheat the most important of war munitions, the first essential. In peace, it still remains the first essential for the northern races. Winnipeg, therefore, though built on the alluvium of the Red River is founded upon the rock of a world demand."

ESKIMOS LIKE "POP."

NOME, Alaska, Aug. 13.—Soda pop, ice cream cones and hot dogs have won the heart of the Eskimos in the Etah region. Frank Connibeare, hotel keeper who lives north of the Arctic Circle, says Indians and Eskimos come for many miles to gorge themselves on the white man's delicacies.

CORNS

Ends pain at once

No waiting—one minute after you apply Dr. Scholl's Zino-pads the pain is gone. After the corn is healed it never comes back. If new shoes irritate the spot again, a Zino-pad fixes it overnight. Old methods of paring corns, or using caustic acids, are dangerous.

Dr. Scholl's Zino-pads are safe, antiseptic, protective, healing. They stop the cause of corns—rubbing and pressing of shoes. At all druggist's and shoe dealer's. Cost but a trifle.

Kiwanis Juniors Lose First Game of Play-Offs

OSHAWA TEAM WINS EASILY IN FIRST GAME OF PLAYOFFS

Kiwanis Juniors Go Down to Defeat in First Home Game.

SCORE 15 TO 1

Locals Are Unable to Hit Offerings of Oshawa's Pitcher.

St. Andrew's of Oshawa, winners of their group in the Junior O.B.A., had an easy victory over the Kiwanis, winners of the Junior City League, on Saturday afternoon at the James Stevenson Park, the score being 15 runs to one.

The local team, outside of the first innings, were never in the running. The winners scored seven runs in the second, while Guiry walked three men, three errors were pulled, and the Oshawa team got two singles and a double. Peterborough scored their only tally in the second on two hits and a sacrifice by Hollingsworth.

Ogden, the Oshawa pitcher, had the locals hitting at everything. He had all kinds of stuff on the ball, and was only touched for four safeties, one being a two-bagger by Baker. He issued one pass.

Guiry started for Peterborough, but he lacked control, and Sturgeon took his place in the fifth. Peterborough pitchers were rather wild, walking seven men, and they were touched for 13 hits.

The locals in the field gave their pitchers the best of support, as two of the four errors went to Guiry, when he was on the mount. Ogden also received air-tight support.

The Oshawa team are a smooth working, hard hitting bunch of juniors, and they ought to go some distance in the O.B.A. play-offs.

The umpires, Cannon of Oshawa and Walter Jackson of this city, gave splendid service.

The Peterborough boys were unable to hit, and 15 of them went out by the strike-out route. Guiry struck out six and Sturgeon three.

The Game.

Carver, the first man up for Oshawa, popped one to Hall, and Baird and Rouden struck out. No hits, no runs, no errors.

LeBarr, Baker and Westbrooke, the first three men up for the Kiwanis, all struck out.

Second Innings.

Young, Oshawa's third baseman, made first when Sturgeon fumbled the ball. Gummon, Hubbell, and Little walked, forcing in Young. Luke and Ogden made first when Guiry fumbled the ball each time, and Gummon and Hubbell scored. Carver doubled into left field, scoring Little and Luke. Baird singled and scored Ogden. Rouden lifted one to Guiry for the first out. Baird was caught at first. Young doubled, scoring Carver and Gummon struck out. Three hits, 7 runs, 3 errors.

Sturgeon struck out. Graham singled, Hall singled, Graham stole third, and Hollingsworth sacrificed, scoring Graham. Gillespie struck out. Two hits, 1 run, no errors.

Third Inning.

Hubbell and Little both went out by the Sturgeon to LeBarr route, and Luke struck out.

Guiry hit one to Young. LeBarr singled down to short. Baker doubled and Westbrooke struck out.

Fourth Innings.

Ogden struck out, Carver lifted one to LeBarr, Baird singled and stole second and third, Rouden walked, Young doubled, scoring Baird, and Rouden. Young stole third and scored when Gummon singled. Hubbell struck out. Three runs, 3 hits, no errors.

Sturgeon lifted one to Young. Graham flied to Baird, who made a splendid catch of it, and Hall hit to Ogden. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Fifth Inning.

Little flied to Westbrooke, Luke hit to Sturgeon, Ogden singled, Carver singled, Baird grounded to Hall. No runs, two hits, no errors.

Hollingsworth and Guiry struck out and Gillespie grounded to Ogden.

Sixth Inning.

Sturgeon replaced Guiry, Westbrooke took third, and Hutchison went to left field. Rouden grounded to Hall. Young walked and stole second and third. Gummon singled and Young scored. Hubbell lifted one to Gillespie. Little walked, Luke singled, scoring Gummon, Ogden struck out. Two runs, two hits, no errors.

LeBarr and Westbrooke struck out and Baker flied to Little.

Seventh Inning.

Carver singled, Baird sacrificed to right, Rouden grounded to Graham, Young walked, Carver scored, and Gummon flied to Gillespie. One run, one hit, no errors.

Sturgeon lifted to Young. Graham struck out, Hall singled but was caught off first. One hit, no runs, no errors.

Eighth Inning.

Hubbell struck out, Little grounded to Sturgeon, and Luke hit to Hutchison.

Hollingsworth flied to Little, Gillespie made first when Ogden dropped the ball, Hutchison walked, Gillespie stole third, LeBarr struck out. No runs, no hits, one error.

Ninth Inning.

Ogden singled, Carver grounded to Hall, Baird hit to Westbrooke, Westbrooke fumbled Rouden's hit, Young doubled, scoring Rouden and Ogden. Gummon struck out. Two runs, two hits, one error.

Baker, Westbrooke and Sturgeon struck out.

MALLORY REPULSES YOUTHFUL PLAYER

Clinches Supremacy for U. S. International Women's Competition.

FOREST HILLS, N.Y., Aug. 15.—(Canadian Press)—The fighting spirit of Mrs. Molla Mallory, experienced in a dozen season of championship tennis, repulsed the challenge of a youthful English girl, Miss Joan Fry, Saturday and clinched supremacy for the United States in international women's competition for 1927.

Turning back Miss Fry's sensational uphill bid by scores of 6-2, 11-9 in the most spectacularly fought match of the two day series. Mrs. Mallory registered the fourth and deciding victory for the United States in the Wightman Cup contest.

It was the high spot of a closing day in which Miss Helen Wills clearly established herself as the outstanding women's singles star by crushing the British captain, Kitty McKanne Godfree, 6-2, 6-1. After Miss Betty Nuthall, pretty 16-year old English school girl, had scored a spirited and colorful victory over her youthful United States rival, 18-year-old Helen Jacobs, at 6-3, 2-6, 6-1.

Taking three of the day's four matches, the United States team completed its triumph when Miss Wills, figuring in her third victory, helped Mrs. Hazel Hotchkiss Wightman to down the British doubles team, Mrs. Godfree and Miss E. H. Harvey, 6-4, 4-6, 6-3 in the final contest.

It made the final score 5 to 2 in favor of the United States for the series and broke the tie for the team competition which began in 1923. In successfully defending the trophy, the United States won possession of it for the third time while the British have held it twice.

The best ash the world produces is used for the frames of high-grade tennis racquets, and this is specially seasoned for at least two years before it is cut into strips and softened by steam, ready to be bent into perfect ovals.

PILE SUFFERERS

Can You Answer These Questions.

Do you know why ointments do not give you quick and lasting relief?

Why cutting often fails?

Do you know the cause of piles is internal?

That there is a stagnation of blood circulation in the lower bowel?

Do you know that there is a harmless internal remedy discovered by Dr. Leonhardt and known as HEM-ROID, now sold by McDermid and Jury and McDermid Drug Store, and druggists everywhere, that is guaranteed.

HEM-ROID banishes piles by removing the cause, by freeing blood circulation in the lower bowel. This simple home treatment has an almost unbelievable record for sure quick and lasting relief to thousands of pile sick sufferers, and saves the needless pain and expense of an operation. There is no reason why it should not do the same for you.

ROYALS LOSE TO MOTOR CITY BY SCORE 13-12

First Game of Eastern Ontario Juvenile Play-Downs.

ERRORS COSTLY

OSHAWA, August 15. (Special.)—In the first game of the Eastern Ontario Juvenile playdowns of the Ontario Baseball Amateur Association, played in this city on Saturday afternoon between the Peterboro Royals and South Oshawa, Bints' Motor City Kids won by 13-12. Both teams flirted with victory during the regular nine frames of organized baseball, individual players of each team tossed the same aside, Jones being the bad boy of McFadden-Peterborough crew and Russell for the Bints-Shaw lads, while in the 11th the bad heave of Jones to first base, with two out and a man on third, gave Oshawa a one run victory.

Oshawa scored the first run of the game in the second innings on a wild peg to first by Jones which sent Sivokowski to second and he crossed the plate on a Texas leaguer by Russell

Peterborough were presented with their first two runs in the third by two walks by Smith and an error by Trotter. Oshawa added three to the score board in the fourth, on a walk and an error by Jones, and two singles. The Petes were hitless up to the end of the fourth by Lefty Smith who was serving them up for Oshawa, and Manager McFadden sent his hitters up in the fifth to bunt when with three well placed ones which all went for safe hits, an error by Russell at first base and a walk, three runners crossed the pan, and Peterborough went into the lead by 5-4, and held the same until the 7th, when Oshawa on six safe singles, included in which was a three-bagger by Sivokowski, chased five runs across, and looked to have the game sewed up, but the McFadden Kids were not beaten, and in the eighth, after Smith had walked Jones, Gordon got his first hit of the game.

Holmes, who relieves Cripps on the mound in the seventh came up to bat, and struck out, and Cripps who was sent to right field, was an easy out. Hope singled and the bases were full when Smith was pulled from the mound, sent to right field, and Reeves a right hander went in to pitch when on a single by Hollingsworth, and another error by Russell, four runs crossed over the home plate, and the score was a tie, 9-9.

Peterborough scored three runs in the tenth on a walk to Cripps, who stole second, a single each by Hope and Hollingsworth, and a wild pitch by Reeves, and Oshawa came back with three to gain a tie on the score, by three singles, one each by Brady, Russell and Tagden, and a bad peg to first by Jones.

In the eleventh, Jones ,the first up on Peterborough, was walked, but caught off at first base on a snap throw by Reeves. Gordon hit for a homer, but was called out for not touching first, and Holmes struck out. McConkey, the first up for Oshawa struck out. Craggs, batting for Trotter, and Sivokowski both singled, Craggs going to third, and Sivokowski being forced out at second by Drinkle, Brady rolled one down third base line, and with two men down Jones made a wild peg to first base, Craggs crossing the plate for the Oshawa winning run.

Young Girl Wins Swimming Marathon

DETROIT, Aug. 15.—(Canadian Press)—Edith Fehr, 19 years old, won a gruelling 24 miles swimming marathon in the St. Clair channel last night completing the swim in 11 hours and 22 minutes. Using crawl stroke a large part of the distance. She finished 660 yards ahead of her twin sister, Mrs. Evelyn Armstrong.

Edwardina Kranich and Billie Paananen finished third and fourth respectively, far back of Miss Fehr and her sister.

Miss Kranich and Mrs. Praanen were approximately a mile apart. Of the 17 other entries in the race sponsored by the Women's Aquatic club, only eight finished.

Miss Fehr led from the start. At the finish she was too weak to walk and was carried to her dressing room on an improvised stretcher.

TAKE SERIES FROM THE REDS

Cubs Defeat Cincinnati 7-2 to Make Clean Sweep of Series.

CARDS LOSE 5-1

NEW YORK, Aug. 15.—(Canadian Press)—The Cubs made a clean sweep of the three game series at Chicago with the Reds Sunday when they drove Red Lucas off the hill in the seventh inning and defeated Cincinnati, 7 to 2, behind the sterling pitching of Percy Lee James.

The visitors landed hard on Jones in the first inning for a two run lead, but thereafter the star southpaw of the Cubs allowed only five scattered hits and was given brilliant support, especially by Heathcote and English.

The Pittsburgh Pirates won the final game of the series from the Cardinals, 5 to 1, at St. Louis yesterday in a contest which was enlivened only by the airtight pitching of Kremer, Pirate hurler. The defeat placed the Cardinals two games behind the Pirates in the struggle for second place.

Rain which cut a double bill in half at Brooklyn, held off long enough for the Brooklyn Robins to absorb their tenth shutout defeat of the season, Kent Greenfield hurling the Braves to a 4 to 0 victory. The star Boston righthander held the Dodgers to four singles. Home runs by Fournier, Walsh and Hogan brought about the defeat of Jess Petty, veteran Brooklyn southpaw.

YANKS INCREASE LEAGUE LEAD

Defeat Senators 6-2 to Make It Three Out of Four.

TAKE EARLY LEAD

NEW YORK, N.Y., Aug. 15.—(Canadian Press).—New York further increased the already wide margin between it and the runner-up Senators by winning yesterday at Washington, 6 to 2. This gave the league leaders three out of the four game series with their nearest rivals.

Pounding out three runs in the initial frame, the Yanks established a lead that the home club failed to overcome. Waite Hoyt yielded safeties reluctantly and only in the first and fourth inning could the Harrismen make effective headway, scoring their two tallies of the contest in these periods.

Zachary, who opened on the mound for the Senators, proved ineffective from the outset and was retired in the fourth in favor of Braxton when the Yankees again found their way to his offerings.

At Detroit the Tigers scored their fifth successive victory over St. Louis by winning the closing game of the series. The score was 6 to 5. Milton Gaston, although he outpitched Stoner, suffered his second defeat of the series.

Mellilo contributed three errors to the downfall of the Browns and each of them figured in the scoring.

Chicago broke its losing streak today when it won from the Indians at Cleveland, 7 to 3. Shaute held the White Sox to one hit for five innings and then weakened. Nels, former Indian ,cleaned the bases with a double in the sixth. Cleveland errors were costly.

Philadelphia and Boston were not scheduled.

SKEETERS WIN FROM TORONTO

Williams Scores Winning Run in Ninth for 2-1 Victory.

BISONS WIN 8-5

NEW YORK, Aug. 15.—(Canadian Press)—The Skeeters won a close game from the Toronto Leafs at Toronto yesterday afternoon by a score of 2 to 1, Williams scoring the winning run in the last half of the ninth inning. The game was the first of a scheduled double header, the second being postponed because of the heavy rain.

At Newark the Buffalo Bisons broke the Bears' winning streak of seven games when they conquered the grizzlies by the score of by 8 to 5. The game was played in a drizzling rain, a heavy thundershower stopping the tilt in the Bison's seventh with the first batter up. Newark used three pitchers, while the league-leading Bisons had Wiltse and Russel in the box.

MASSEYS AND THISTLE DRAW; TWO GOALS EACH

Geo. Logan and Beggs Scored From Individual Plays.

SPLENDID GAME.

Dawson's Two Goals Were Well Timed, Foot and Header.

Ideal weather prevailed on Saturday for the G. N. Gordon soccer final that was played at King Edward Park before a good crowd of spectators, when the Masseys and the Thistle battled to a two-goal each draw.

In the opening exchanges, the Masseys combination brought them two goals ahead at the interval, and were worthy of such lead. When the second half started it was very noticeable that the rearrangement produced a new "Jag" team that drew the game into another game by energetic tactics. In all probability this match will be finished next Saturday.

Bombard Goal Early.

Masseys won the toss and compelled the Thistle to face the sun. Each goal went under a bombardment in the early minutes of the tussle with the full backs coming out of the raids promoted by the attacking forwards. A foul against the Masseys looked dangerous when Burgess rapped a hot grounder into goal that was punted up field.

Nice Goals by Logan and Beggs.

Individual play by George Logan terminated in a goal that was put out of the reach of Griffin into the net. A few minutes later the Thistle custodian saved from the foot of Blowers. This was followed up by clever combination on the extreme right of the Masseys who made the opposing goalkeeper save outside the upright. Twice in succession the Thistle were inside the shooting distance with McPhate missing the crossbar and Dawson having hard luck in not scoring. Three corner kicks went in favour of the Thistle that found the whole Massey eleven down in goal holding the fort. A break-away by Willis ended in the full-backs getting mixed up as Beggs got hit on the face with the ball that eventually found the net to make the Masseys up two to nothing.

Hard Body Checking.

At this point, both teams indulged in too much body checking instead of playing the ball which made the game uninteresting from the point of view as a spectator. Half-time arrived with the Masseys holding their well-deserved lead of two goals to nothing.

Half-time.

A rearranged team of the Thistle was enlivened by a bombardment around the leaders' goal in which Fowler played the most important part in goal saving shots from every angle. On a run along the wing, the Masseys left-winger was injured and retired from the field. Play was running from end to end with the Thistle doing the most pressing against a very stubborn defence of the Masseys who gave their custodian ample opportunity to clear his citadel. Repeated clearances by Fowler were brilliant in every attack.

Dawson Scored in Scrimmage

On a tackle by Burgess in the flag-corner he centred across to Dawson, who rolled the ball into the corner of the net. A visit by the Masseys for the first time in this period was unproductive of any result when Hanson finished poorly.

Ten Men Against Eleven.

For ungentlemanly conduct on the field of play, a Massey player was instructed to take his "walking orders" which left his team with only ten men against the hard-working Thistle who were ranging shots from near and far. This made the winners indulge in defensive tactics that were not according to the rules of the encounter although some believe in that attitude when leading by the odd goal, no doubt this is a team's own funeral.

Dawson's Beautiful Header.

Disaster immediately came to the Masseys during the remaining eight minutes from the finish. It was onslaught after onslaught by the Thistle until they gained the much desired goal with the Massey whole eleven down in the goal territory keeping their one goal lead ahead, but Griffin who played as forward during the second moiety made a complete difference to the Thistle attack, and it was from one of his movements that brought forth the equalizer through Dawson when he headed the sphere into the far corner of the net amidst great excitement amongst the spectators. Thereafter, full time came with the two teams standing two goals each.

Goal scorers: Masseys, Beggs and George Logan; for the Thistle, Dawson, two.

BLACKCAPS LOSE FIRST GAME OF BAY OF QUINTE PLAYOFFS

Ralph Replaces Wood on Deloro Mound in Third Frame.

WIN 9-2 MARGIN

Glorious weather prevailed at Deloro on Saturday when Manager Elliott's Black Caps, in the first play-off for the Bay of Quinte championship lost to Belleville Nationals by a 9-2 margin. The game was watched by a goodly sized crowd.

Wood, who started on the mound for Deloro, gave way to Ralph during the third. "Hoot" Gibson was allotted the hurling for Belleville and pitched fine ball for the whole of the game.

First Inning.

For Belleville, Ross lofted a high fly to Woods, Boudreau made a good catch of Weir's high fly, and Brown snared H. Mills hard hit ball.

For Deloro, Bond bunted and was out at first, Jack singled to right, but Boudreau hit into a fast double play.

Second Inning.

Belleville—H. Mills hit by pitched ball. Harper bunted and took second on Woods' bad throw, H. Mills going to third. Hagerman was safe when Woods dropped his high fly, filling the bases. Post walked, forcing in H. Mills. Scott hit to Regan, forcing Harper at the plate. Hagerman was caught off third base on a snap peg by Quinn. Gibson hit to left, Brown fumbling, and Post and Scott scored. Ross flied out to Boudreau.

Deloro—A. Quinn and Regan grounded to Gibson. Brown fanned.

Third Inning.

Weir fanned to start Belleville's half of the third. W. Mills singled to right. H. Mills singled to centre. Harper safe on Regan's error. Hagerman singled, scoring W. Mills and H. Mills, Harper going to third. This was enough for Woods and he was derricked in favor of Ralph, being sent to second, Quinn being benched. Harper out trying to steal home. Post hit to Jack and was safe at first. Scott hit a hot liner which Jack just missed by inches, Harper scoring. Gibson grounded out to Woods.

Hughes started Deloro's half of the third by going out on a high foul. J. Quinn walked. Woods forced Quinn at second. Bond grounded out to Harper.

Four Inning.

For Belleville, Ross fanned, Weir grounded out to Jack, and Bond made a good catch of W. Mills' long hit.

Jack went out bunting third strike to start Deloro's half of the fourth. Boudreau grounded out to H. Mills. Ralph goes to first when W. Mills interfered with a pitched ball. He stole second. Regan flied out to Post.

Fifth Inning.

Belleville—H. Mills out on strikes. Harper hit a long triple to right. When Hagerman hit to Regan Harper was run down between third and home, Hagerman going to second on the play. Post grounded out to Woods.

Deloro—Brown grounded out to Harper. Hughes doubleid to left. J. Quinn singled to left, Hughes being called out when hit by ball. Woods grounded out in front of plate.

Sixth Inning.

Deloro—Bond flied out to Hagerman. Jack singled to left. Boudreau grounded out to Post, Jack taking second on the play. Ralph grounded to Harper, who threw wild to first and Jack scored. Regan hit a long double to right but Hagerman's good throw nailed Ralph at the plate.

Seventh Inning.

Weir lofted out to Bond. Bond made another good catch of W. Mills' long fly. H. Mills singled to left. Harper flied out to Brown.

Deloro—Brown safe on H. Mills' error. Hughes hit into a double play, Harper to Post to Mills. J. Quinn flied out to Ross.

Eighth Inning.

Belleville—Hagerman was safe when Jack dropped his fly. Post fanned. Scott beat out a bunt in front of the plate, Hagerman going to second, Gibson bunted and on J. Quinn's low throw everybody was safe. Ross hit into a double play, retiring the side.

Deloro—Woods safe on H. Mills' error. He took second on an overthrow to first. Bond fanned. Jack flied out to Scott. Woods stole third, Boudreau safe on Harper's error, Woods scoring, Boudreau took second on a wild pitch, but was out a minute later when he tried to steal third, Mills to Weir.

Ninth Inning.

Weir bunted to Ralph and was safe at first. W. Mills was safe when Boudreau dropped his fly. H. Mills bunted to Ralph and when the pitcher threw wild to first Weir scored and the hitter was safe. Harper was safe when Woods lost his high fly, W. Mills scoring. Hagerman sacrificed H. Mills home on a long fly to Bond. Post ended the scoring when he hit into a fast double play, Woods to Jack to Hughes.

Deloro—Ralph fouled out to W. Mills. W. Regan fanned. Brown single to centre. Hughes cracked a double to left, Hughes pulling up at third. J. Hughes walked. Woods grounded out to Gibson to end the game.

The teams were:

Belleville—Ross, cf; Weir, 3b; W. Mills, c; H. Mills, 1b; Harper, ss; Hagerman, rf; Post, 2b; Scott, lf; Gibson, p.

Deloro—Bond, cf; Jack, ss; Boudreau, rf; A. Quinn, 2b; Regan, 3b; Brown, lf; Hughes, 1b; J. Quinn, c; Woods, p, 2b; Ralph, p.

FREDDIE WELCH DIED IN POVERTY

Gave Away Money When He Had It—War Ruined Business.

(By Henry L. Farrell, United Press Sports Editor)

NEW YORK, Aug. 15. — (United Press).—Alone, deserted by his friends broken hearted and financially flat, Freddy Welch, one time lightweight champion of the world died recently in a side-street New York hotel.

The body was found on the floor by a maid, who was in fact the last and only speaking asquaintance he had.

The doctor said death was caused my heart trouble.

"Heart trouble?" said the wife from whom he had been separated, "yes, heart trouble, a broken heart."

The case of Freddy Welch was just another one of those with which the history of sporting New York is crowded. You're a good fellow when you have it.

You have heard arguments from column writers and fiction writers that New York and its Broadway is not hard boiled and cold hearted, that there is always a helping hand and a lift for members of its fraternity who are in distress. In some isolated cases, where there is a chance for a return on the investment. Broadway has a spark of sentiment in the heart but in the majority of cases it is—what have you? —not, what do you want?

Freddy Welch was a good fellow when he had it. He was not a carouser. He was of a serious turn of mind and saved much of his money but he always had a ten or a twenty for a needy hand. But when the time of need came upon him, there was no one to help him and he lost everything.

He had saved $200,000 up to the time that he lost the championship to Benny Leonard. With a part of the money he bought 162 acres of valuable land in Summitt, N.J., and opened a health farm. He had taken up physical culture before he turned to professional boxing and his health farm became a success. He was making money on his investment and the value of the land was jumping year by year.

Then came the war. Although he was a British subject, Welch enlisted in the United States Army and because of his technical training he was assigned to the medical corps and rose to the rank of captain. The work he did among the returned wounded in the hospitals was said by chiefs of the service to have been almost miraculous.

But while he was giving his time to the service of his adopted country his business had slipped and when he was discharged from the army he found that he had to start all over again.

It was difficult to get his business back because competition had become much stronger and he finally was forced to place heavy mortgages on his property. His business failed to pick up and he had to call on wealthy friends for assistance. They promised help but when the time came they failed and his farm had to be sold.

He was flat broke and had to look for work. He couldn't find it in his own lines and he knew no other line.

"Everybody left him flat, his wife said. "Why they wouldn't even give him a complimentary ticket to a fight."

Welch was a sensitive sort of a fellow and proud, too. He didn't want to make of himself an object of charity and when he was given the cold shoulder as such it broke his heart.

The last time we saw Welch he was in an uptown club drinking—near beer.

"How's things, Freddy?" we asked.

"Might be worse," he replied with a wistful sort of a smile.

"Say," he then went on, "there are some big fights coming on this summer. Don't you suppose you could get me a job doing some experting. I see a lot of fellows are doing it. I need money but I want to work for it."

When we found an experting assignment for him, we couldn't locate him and the next thing we heard, he was dead.

He had a game heart in the ring and a game heart in business, but it could not stand up under the punishment of ingratitude and the painful lesson that when you haven't got it you're not a good fellow.

THIS HAPPENS SELDOM.

OLD COUNTRY SOCCER SEASON OPENS SHORTLY

Scottish Soccer League Games Begin on August 20th.

PORTSMOUTH UP.

Reaches First Division For First Time—Bradford's Two Teams in Third Series.

LONDON, Eng., Aug. 15 (By Canadian Press).—The Scottish soccer league swings into action on Saturday, August 20, and the English season opens a week later. For the past few weeks the professional clubs have been busy recalling their players, while the soccer fan is having plenty of excitement in the pre-season practice matches. The money derived from these games annually goes to charity, and each year an amount of half a million dollars is realized for worthy institutions.

In the English League.

Leeds United and West Bromwich Albion have been relegated to the Second Division, and the vacancies thus created in the First Division will be filled by Middlesbrough and Portsmouth. With regard to Middlesbrough it is a case of renewing acquaintance with a division of which in former years they achieved some distinction, but Portsmouth will be in the upper circle of the league for the first time.

The clubs that have lost their place in the Second Division are Bradford City and Darlington, and the relegation of Bradford City means that the great Yorkshire industrial centre, which has had both of its clubs in the First Division, will have to be content next season with Third Division fare.

The promoted clubs from the Third Division are Stoke City and Bristol City, both of whom have had experience of the First Division.

The League has placed Bradford City and Darlington in the Northern Section of the Third Division, and to enable this to be done Walsall has been transferred to the Southern Section, a change they will probably appreciate, because they are likely to receive larger gate money percentages from the Southern clubs than they did from the majority of the Northern organizations.

The two retiring clubs in the Northern Section were re-elected. Accrington Stanley and Barrow both finding favor at the annual meeting of the League, but in the South there is one important change, Aberdare Athletic having been dropped.

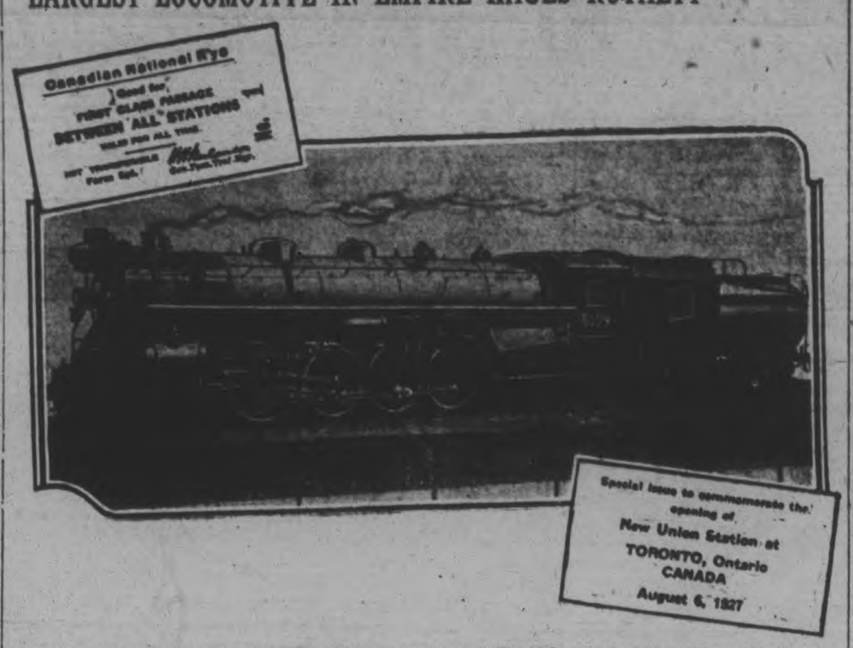
Torquay United were elected in their stead, in spite of the fact that the whole of the Southern Section clubs recommended the re-election of the Welsh club.

Torquay have been earnestly at work getting together a team, and the management are confident that the side they will place in the field will abundantly justify the choice the League has made in admitting them.

The annual report of the Welsh Football Association says the Association are gratified in the upward trend of the game but many clubs are financially embarrassed through the after-effects of the industrial trouble in their areas, while other clubs through making rash contracts and not carefully considering their position, found themselves in difficulties.

In the Scottish league Bo'ness comes up into the first string by virtue of winning the second division championship last season. They will be accompanied into senior company by Raith Rovers, who spent last year with the Juniors, but who have been in the first division before. Dundee United and Greenock Morton are demoted from the first division because they were at the bottom of the standing last season.

LARGEST LOCOMOTIVE IN EMPIRE HAULS ROYALTY



The first locomotive to haul a train into the new Union Station at Toronto, on the occasion of the opening of this station by H.R.H. the Prince of Wales on Saturday, was one of the 6100 northern type locomotives, recently placed in service by the Canadian National Railways, for handling their fast passenger and manifest freight trains. These locomotives, which are the largest in the British Empire, and of which 40 have been ordered for use on Canadian lines, are distinctly a product of Canada. With tender, their overall weight is 336 tons; lengths, 94 feet, and they are capable of developing more than 3200 horse-power. It was this "Titan of the Steel Rail" which hauled the royal train from Kingston to Toronto.

On this occasion also the first railway ticket issued from the ticket booths of the new station was one entitling His Royal Highness to passage "Between All Stations" on the Canadian National system. Immediately after declaring the new station open, the Prince of Wales proceeded to the Canadian National Railways ticket windows where he was issued "Ticket No. 1" of the issue of the new station. Tickets numbers two, three and four were issued to Prince George, Premier Baldwin and Mrs. Baldwin, respectively.

Of the 6100 northern type locomotives, such as used to haul the Royal train for this occasion, twenty are being built at Kingston and a like number at Montreal. These are distinctly the last word in locomotive construction in the British Empire. They are to be used on "The International Limited" and other famous passenger trains of the National system, and on the former train they will inaugurate the longest locomotive run in the Dominion—from Montreal to Sarnia, 511 miles without change. These locomotives are also convertible and may be used either in fast passenger or fast freight service.

FIRST PLAY-OFF GAME TO-NIGHT

Crescents and Cognawagas Meet To-night in E.P.B.L. Finals.

STARTS AT 5.45.

It looks like a big league affair at Exhibition Park this evening when Crescents and Cognawagas meet in the first contest of the East Peterborough League finals. Umpires Kay and LeBarr will handle the series and start the teams away at 5.45 o'clock. A huge crowd will see to-night's game.

Crescents finished the season with an 8 to 1 victory over Bethany with Keith Mein on the mound. Kennedy sustained an ankle injury but is expected to work with Billingsley this evening.

DEMPSEY HOPES TO WIN IN SIXTH

Thinks He Can "Put Tunney To Sleep" in That Many Rounds.

LOS ANGELES, Calif., August 15 (United Press). — Jack Dempsey today was en route to Chicago to begin training for his fight with Gene Tunney for the world heavyweight championship on September 22nd.

"It is a little too early to make predictions, but I expect to put Tunney to sleep in about six rounds," Dempsey said before he boarded the train.

Eddie Collins of the Philadelphia Athletics enjoys the unique distinction of being the only active major league infielder to have performed in more than 2500 ball games. He has just passed the 2700 mark.

It has been his ambition to make the 3000 mark before he retired and hoped to do it within the next two or three years, but ailing legs are certain to temporarily if not definitely delay his reaching that goal.

Since a second baseman is always in danger of injury, due to covering the bag on so many plays, the record of Collins in being on the job is decidedly out of the ordinary. Some idea of his faithful service can be gleaned from the fact that in 19 years of play from 1908 to 1926, inclusive, Collins has taken part in 2663 games, an average of 140 per season out of the regular schedule of 154.

An injured leg during the 1925-26 seasons, which limited his play to 118 and 106 games during those years, cut deeply into his season average. This bad leg, which is again troubling Collins this year, is certain to ultimately cause his retirement from the game and possibly keep him from reaching his coveted goal of 3000 contests in the role of major league infielder.

In addition to regular service, Collins is one of the few players fortunate enough to have taken part in six world series, playing through all of them with great credit.

A new electrical device for indicating the results of whippet races is being tried out in England. As the winning dog touches a thread at the winning post its number appears on an illuminated board.

MAKE IT A "SAVE A DAY" JOURNEY AND SEE IT ALL BESIDES.

Number Nine, the Trans-Canada, leaves Union Station, Toronto, every night at eleven. It is the longest distance, all-sleeping car train in the world and it saves a day each way between Toronto and Vancouver.

On shorter trips, such as Toronto-Winnipeg, Winnipeg-Calgary, and Calgary-Vancouver, its schedule means only one business day on the road. While it is Canada's most distinctive and luxurious train, there is no extra fare. It goes through the world famous resorts, Banff and Lake Louise, by day—is Canadian Pacific super-standard all the way. Any Canadian Pacific Agent can make reservations for you. 1d

CROP REPORTS.

Below will be found a brief synopsis of telegraphic reports received at the head office of the Bank of Montreal from its branches. The branch managers have complete and intimate knowledge of each local situation and are in close touch with crop conditions in all sections of the districts mentioned.

General.

In the Prairie Provinces excellent growing weather has prevailed during the week. Expectations are that harvesting will be general by August 22. In Quebec favorable weather has prevailed during the past week, and crops made further progress. In Ontario harvesting of good average crops has commenced. In the Maritime Provinces excellent growing conditions prevail, and all crops are doing well. In British Columbia hot dry weather continues and rain would be beneficial for growing crops. Details follow.

Prairie Provinces.

In Alberta conditions continue favorable and crops are maturing rapidly. Scattered hail damage has been reported from many points and was severe in some cases. Alberta Western Area.—Crops are progressing satisfactorily but harvest will be at least a week later than usual. Alberta Northeastern Area.—Crops are progressing rapidly and harvesting should commence on August 20. Prospects are good for a large crop. Alberta Southeastern Area.—Rye harvesting has started. A satisfactory yield is anticipated. Rains would benefit wheat but the crop is not suffering. Saskatchewan Northern Area.—Conditions continue favorable, and all grains are filling well and making good progress. Cutting will be about ten days later than last year. Saskatchewan Southern Area.—All crops are progressing satisfactorily. Bright cool weather has lessened the risk of damage from rust. Manitoba.—Grains continue to make satisfactory progress and cool weather is arresting rust development.

Province of Quebec.

Wheat is mostly headed out and is filling well. Coarse grains are also in good condition. Late-sown corn will be practically a failure in many localities, but early seedings on high, dry land show good promise of an average yield. Small fruits are plentiful, and tree fruits are developing satisfactorily. Harvesting of a heavy stand of hay is now general, but a large part of the season's cut has been severely damaged by recent heavy intermittent rains delaying operations. Pastures are in first class condition. The condition of the tobacco crop is favorable.

Province of Ontario.

A heavy yield of hay has been gathered. Numerous showers have retarded growth of corn and beans. Fall-wheat cutting is practically over and will be a better than average yield. Harvesting of barley has commenced and should be general next week, oats are turning. These spring grains are well filled with very little lodging but in some localities rust is reported. Root crops are progressing well. Apples, peaches and cherries are only an average crop while small fruits are plentiful. Tobacco is earlier than last year.

Maritime Provinces.

In New Brunswick, potatoes are growing well. Pasturage continues to be excellent. The cut of a large hay crop has been delayed by rains. In Nova Scotia, a heavy crop of hay is now being cut. Pasturage is good. Potatoes show good growth. The apple crop is estimated to be 85 per cent of average. In Prince Edward Island favorable weather conditions have promoted rapid growth.

British Columbia.

Hay is a heavy crop and has practically all been harvested. Grains are heading out well with good average yield expected. Roots are making good progress but moisture is needed. Apples are 70 per cent to 75 per cent of average. Yellow Transparents are now being marketed. Pears are 50 per cent of average crop, peaches 65 per cent, plums and prunes 75 per cent, hops 110 per cent, celery 100 per cent, tomatoes 110 per cent, raspberries and loganberries are an average crop. Pasturage is now requiring rain.

Lyrics Of Life

(By Douglas Malloch.)

WHERE I BELONG

I went down south,
I went up north,
And east and west
I wandered forth,
But now I'm through,
And here I come
Right back to where
I started from.

It seems a sort
Of funny thing,
But spring don't seem
The same as spring
In other lands—
The trees had out,
But not the trees
You dream about.

And so I'm back,
And here I'll stay,
And not a thousand
Miles away.
With all their flags
And all their songs,
A man belongs
Where he belongs.

REST OR FOOD?

Many of you are now trying to rest up during vacation time—trying to recuperate from the effects of overwork and overeating during the winter months. The mental worker is the one who more often feels the need for such rest. Nothing is more enervating than mental concentration for long periods of time, day after day, in office or professional work. Those so exhausting themselves add to their troubles by eating a hurried breakfast, gulping down a noonday lunch, and hurrying home to sit down to a large dinner at night.

If you make the mistake of working too long hours, do not make a more serious one by eating a heavy meal after being thus enervated. If you are really exhausted you need rest, not food. The process of digestion requires a vast amount of energy for its proper performance. This energy is not available if you are debilitated by work or worry, and food taken while in this state will only remain in the alimentary canal to poison you, and weaken you all the more.

If you arrive home tired out, go to bed for at least thirty minutes, then get up—take a cold shower bath—get into fresh clothes, and your meal will be more appetizing. You will find that a sensibly planned meal will then be easily digested and assimilated. It does not matter if you cannot sleep during this rest period. You will find that complete relaxation of the body and mind will give your vital forces a chance to rejuvenate you to a remarkable degree. Such rest periods taken during the day are also of great advantage to the one who is accustomed to working at great speed without interruption. The time taken from your working hours will repay you physically, mentally, and even financially. Many large firms have found this to be true, and have set aside regular rest periods for employees.

He who is his own boss is the one most likely to forget to rest occasionally, and often prides himself that he has an inexhaustible supply of energy. A complete breakdown is the inevitable consequence of such folly, with frequently great loss of time before recovery.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

QUESTION: F. C. C. writes: "I am much overweight, and would like you to publish a list of rations that is not fattening. Are lima beans fattening?"

ANSWER: You can slowly reduce your weight through following the weekly menus which are published in this column. To reduce more rapidly, eliminate the meals containing starchy foods and substitute a fruit meal. You will notice that I usually recommend the starch to be used at noon, so a simple rule for you to follow is to use the breakfasts and dinners as I suggest, but take one kind of fruit only at noon, using as much of the one kind as you desire.

QUESTION: May asks: "Are plums all right in combination with other foods?"

ANSWER: Plums are a good acid fruit but should be used by themselves. In season they make a good noonday luncheon.

QUESTION: J. T. B. writes: "My feet perspire and have a bad odor. What is the cause? It is injurious to good health to use remedies to stop this sweating Kindly advise."

ANSWER: I have written a special article on "strong feet" which I will be glad to send you upon receipt of your name and address. It is, of course, injurious to do anything to stop perspiration on any part of the body. The thing to do is to encourage it, but see that the pores all over your body work equally as well a those in the skin of your feet

Uncle Wiggily

To-day's Bedtime Story

By Howard R. Garis

UNCLE WIGGILY'S HAMMOCK

(Copyright, 1927, McClure Syndicate,)

Between two trees on the edge of the woods, not far from his hollow stump bungalow, Uncle Wiggily slung sis hammock one day. He said he "slung" it, instead of "fastening" it, because, as he remarked:

"That is what a sailor would say, and some day I may be a sailor. Nobody but a land lubber would speak of hanging or fastening a hammock."

Well, anyhow, there, between two trees, was the hammock. It was slung by two ropes of grapevine and the hammock itself was made from intertwined honeysuckle vines.

"And, now that my hammock is in place," said Mr. Longears, "I will lie down, sleep a little and then be ready to go adventuring." So Uncle Wiggily slept and twinkled his pink nose.

As the bunny rabbit gentleman slept in his hammock the Woozle Wolf crept through the forest and, seeing the sleeping rabbit, whispered:

"How I would like to eat him! But I dare not rush out now and snatch him from his hammock. If I did he would awaken and play some trick on me. I must play a trick on him, I know! I will gnaw his hammock ropes so he will fall to the ground suddenly. That will jar him and jiggle him and awaken him so suddenly that he will be all in a daze, or kerflummoxed like, and I can easily catch him."

But when the Wolf slunk along to one of the trees to gnaw the grapevine rope that held one end of Uncle Wiggily's hammock the bad chap found the rope beyond the reach of his teeth. It was too high up on the tree.

"I know what I can do!" muttered the Wolf. "I will go get the Bushy Bear. He can rear up on his hind legs, claw the grapevine rope into shreds and then the hammock will fall. When it does the Bear and I will eat Uncle Wiggily."

The Wolf lost no time in jurrying to the den of the Bear, and soon the two bad chaps were at the place where Uncle Wiggily was sleeping in his hammock slung between two trees.

"Now you claw one of the ropes into shreds so the hammock will fall!" whispered the Wolf. "Then, when Uncle Wiggily is all kerflummoxed from the bump he gets, we'll catch him."

"Very good!" growled the Bear, though of course it was very bad for the rabbit gentleman. He continued to twinkle his pink nose in his sleep and dream of an adventure with a June Bug.

Up rose the Bear on his hind legs, making himself so tall he could easily reach the place where the grapevine rope was wound about the tree, hold-ing up the honeysuckle vine hammock with the rabbit gentleman fast asleep in it. Then the Bear, with his strong claws, began to paw and scrabble and scratch at the strands of rope to tear them apart.

Now about this time Uncle Butter, the goat gentleman, was roaming across the fields near the edge of the woods gathering cotton stuff for his wife to make a feather bed for him to sleep snugly and warm on when winter came. Uncle Butter got his cotton from the pods of the milkweed plants, many of which were going to seed now in the fields. As he broke open the pods and took out the soft, fluffy, cotton stuff the goat gentleman packed it into a bag which he carried over his back.

When the bag was full Uncle Butter started toward the woods and as soon as he reached there he saw Uncle Wiggily asleep in the hammock. The goat also saw the Wolf hiding in the bushes, waiting for the Bear to claw down the hammock, and the goat also saw the Bear tearing away at the strands of grapevine rope.

At last the rope was nearly cut through by the Bear's claws. The hammock began to sag down slowly, getting ready to fall with a rush.

"How are you coming on?" whispered the Wolf.

"Fine!" growled the Bear. "Uncle Wiggily will get a hard bump in a minute. It will shake his liver pin out! Ha! Ha!"

"Good!" growled the Wolf.

Uncle Butter could hardly believe his eyes. But, as the Goat watched the hammock, with the sleeping rabbit in, began to drop. And then, all of a sudden, Uncle Butter threw his bag of soft cotton stuff for his next winter's bed under the hammock, so the fluffy stuff came between Uncle Wiggily and the ground. And when the rabbit fell with the falling hammock he landed gently on the bag of cotton.

"Dear me! Is it morning already?" asked Uncle Wiggily, slowly waking up. "I had such a queer dream. I dreamed a Bear and a Wolf——"

"That was no dream!" bleated Uncle Butter. "The Bear and Wolf are real. But I'll fix them! I'll horn them!" and a moment later with his sharp horns the goat ran at the Wolf and Bear, who were very much surprised at what happened.

"Fooled again!" growled the Bear as he and the goat saw the soft bag of milkweed cotton on which the rabbit had fallen. "Fooled again!"

Then they ran to get away from the goat's horns and the rabbit was saved and he thanked Uncle Butter very much.

And if the coffee pot will give the milk pitcher a cup of tea when the front door comes to the back door's party, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily's swing.

ADVERTISE IN THE EXAMINER

Irish Hearts

By MOLLIE MALONE

Copyright 1927, Warner Bros. Pictures, Inc.

"IRISH HEARTS," with May McAvoy, is a Warner Bros. picturization of this novel.

SYNOPSIS

Emmett Murtough, of Killanmaul, Ireland, emigrates to America and is followed by Sheila Kildare, to whom he is betrothed, and her father. Both men are selfish and scorn steady jobs, which forces Sheila to get a position as a waitress. She makes friends with the family of Rory O'Shea, a professional boxer, who is training for a fight. Murtough is shot in a fight between rival bands of bootleggers. Rory has an excellent chance to win.

CHAPTER VIII—Continued

No more was said about the fight and Murtough left early for he had business at the Club with Mannie Clocker. The wound in his arm had healed sufficient for him to ride out as guard in a pilot car but he could not yet undertake to handle a heavy truck. Assigned by Clocker to drive the car was Jack Devlin, a man whom Murtough had never met. The pilgrimage to the Long Island station was arranged for the following night for the reason that the Garden card would draw not only the rival bootlegging clans there, but the sharp eyed government men as well. All sportland would attend the Brown-Malloy go.

After the conference with Clocker had ended Devlin and Murtough chummed up together in order to become better acquainted before the work of the next night.

"I've got the car I'll use here with me now. Let's take a spin some place and you can size up

"Cissie, meet my friend, Mr. Murtough."

how she rides. I like to feel at home in a bus myself when I'm going out on a job."

Murtough agreeing, they sauntered out of the Club and turning into Ninth Avenue walked idly north, bound for the garage. Suddenly a scream of recognition reached Emmett.

"Emmett! Emmett Murtough!" A girl about eighteen flung herself before him and grasped his wrists. "Where have you been, big boy?" she asked. "Cissie, Cissie," she called, and another bob-haired flapper joined them. "Meet my friend, Mr. Murtough, Miss Jordan, Mr. Murtough, and—Murtough supplied the introduction. "Miss Jordan, Mr. Devlin, and Miss Clarice Clancey, Mr. Devlin."

"Well, big boy! Maybe I'm not thrilled. It gives me a kick to see you again," Clarice addressed Emmett.

"Oh, I been busy," explained Murtough.

"I'll bet you have and how!"

"Lot a work on hand."

"Still trucking?"

"Sure, I like it!"

Cissie had turned with Devlin and they were a few paces ahead when Devlin stopped and wafted for Murtough and his companion.

"How about a sandwich and a little ride for the girls?"

"Oh, let's," accepted Clarice immediately. "Where will we go, Nick's?"

"No, I'm tired of that," objected Murtough.

"Every try Moore's?" that's the place for the Irish anyway," suggested Devlin, "and I guess we're all that."

"I'll say we are," admitted Cissie quickly.

"Okay by me," Clarice said smartly. "And I hope the B. R. is right there 'cause I got a real chorus girl's appetite tonight."

The party reached the garage shortly and Devlin got out the car. He boldly lifted little Miss Jordan over the side door into the front seat while Murtough helped Clarice into the tonneau. Half hour's drive and they were at Moore's in West 103rd Street. Here Devlin was completely at home and soon they were seated about a table in a private alcove with cocktails in front of them and generous orders of food on their way.

"I haven't had a party in a month," Devlin remarked. "This looks like my night."

"Not tonight," spoke up Clarice. "We're working girls. When the midnight bell strikes we're on our way."

"That's not late," objected Devlin.

"I should say not, it's just the beginning of the day for us."

"What do you mean?" asked Murtough.

"We signed up last week as hostesses at The Castle."

"And it's Ritzy, too, let me add," put in Cissie.

"What is it, soup and fish."

"Not so much soup but a lotta fish, if you get me. Real do re mi is the only song they sing in that joint. Say, they certainly know how to take 'em, the boobs I mean."

"Why can't we all go there?" Devlin asked. "I've got plenty of spending money, if they'll let us in without the Tucks."

"Think they'd care?" asked Cissie.

"Naw, anyway they can't do nothing but stop us at the door," replied Clarice. "They can get a table while we're changing. Some class to the clothes they furnish. No piker stuff, absolutely Fifth Avenue and fitted to order. That's us girls."

"How about you, Murtough?" Devlin asked.

"Suits me if it suits Clarice," Emmett agreed.

"All right, then that's that. Here comes the food," cried Clarice greedily.

It was a few minutes past midnight when Devlin drew up in front of a dark four story stone residence in the West Seventies. No flashing electric lights indicated this resort to the casual passerby. Entrance was by card and card only. Friend vouched for friend and signatures were filed to identify the holder of a guest card later on. Old rose and gold hangings decorated the reception hall. What had been the music room on the first floor when this was a family home was now a lounging room where soft-footed waiters in rubber soled shoes slipped across thick velvet rugs with drinks which were served at small end tables. Here was atmosphere and comfort—the sort that would appeal to the most luxury loving money spender. Two rooms on the second floor had been thrown together into one large dance floor and divans placed against the walls with narrow tables in front of them. Lights were subdued and the orchestra, although comprised of jazz players, played at low pitch. The low wailing saxophone and the muffled snare drum seemed to lend a sensuousness to the music which the more blaring bands in Broadway strived so hard to obtain and just missed.

Devlin and Murtough were identified by the girls to the floor manager. They registered their names and were provided with guest cards. There were few customers as the doors were not opened until midnight and the two men were guided over the establishment.

"And we can get as noisy as we want here. Everything has been made sound proof, I mean all the outside windows, etc. And yet this soft-pedal stuff we put on seems to get more out of the suckers than the wild parties used to." He recognized Devlin and Murtough as two who were "in the know."

A "Boy friend" of a "hostess" may spend an evening at these "lock houses," but he is not supposed to monopolize her time. Devlin knew this and Murtough followed his lead. Clarice and Cissie danced with other men, some of whom had accompanied women to the place, others were members of stag parties of three and four. They eat with their partners for drinks and what seemed to be proper intervals according to the code returned to the table occupied by their escorts.

"Big boy, what about the dance at the West End Club. You going to take little Clarice?"

"I'm 'fraid I can't, kid," answered Murtough.

"Why? You said you were."

"I said I would if I didn't have to work or something."

"I'll bet it's the something that happened."

"Well, I'll see; it's a couple of weeks away anyway."

"Let me know early, 'cause if you can't there's a lotta them that can, but I'd like to go with you, Big Boy. You sure are one handsome boy friend."

The attraction of this shrewd girl, who seemed to be no more than a child to Murtough, lay largely in her flattery of him. He had liked her smart, flippant talk from the beginning of their acquaintance, and as the drinks were served more frequently the spell of the girl laid hold on Murtough.

"Say, what's she doing so much over at that table where the three men are alone; I mean the ones in the Tucks," asked Devlin.

"Oh, I guess she has to treat 'em all alike," said Murtough without interest.

FARMER'S WIFE GIVES ADVICE

Never Stay Later Than Five O'clock When Calling On Her.

HEAVY BAKING.

TORONTO, Aug. 15 (By Canadian Press).—The following hint to visitors approaching a farmer's wife on a busy day is given by a correspondent of a women's page in a local paper. When calling on a farmer's wife, try and leave before five, so she can get her cows milked, eggs hunted and supper ready at six o'clock. So often I have callers; they can't stay for supper, but won't leave till 5:30; then the rush. I have kept a list of what I have baked for a family of three and a hired man (coming April 1), from January 1 till July 1: 56 double loaves of bread (not all home-made), and the following, all home-made: 833 buns, 716 tea biscuits, 25 muffins, 96 scones, 1,070 cookies, 124 pies, 44 cakes, 96 tarts, 15 puddings, 194 doughnuts, 18 cream puffs.

Mrs. Helen G. Tyson of Portland, who has just been named deputy United States marshal, is the first woman to hold such a post in Oregon.

WOMAN JUSTICE IS NOT FEMINIST

But Is Great Believer in Capacity of Sex For Public Life.

MONTREAL, Aug. 15 (By Canadian Press).—Miss E. R. Conway, C.B.E., J.P., of Liverpool, England, styled herself "not an extreme feminist, but a great believer in the capacity of women to take their proper share in public life," when she was interviewed here while on her way to Toronto to attend the congress of the World Federation of Education Association. She announced her intention of running for parliament. "I'm a Conservative," she declared, "but I believe in being democratic too. I think women should go into the House of Commons, as into other centres of activity, because the best work can be done only by men and women together. No man has ever progressed far without the help of a woman. Look at the great men in public life," she remarked with emphasis. "Take Mr. Baldwin, for example; he always has Mrs. Baldwin with him."

From her experience on the bench, Miss Conway has concluded that in the realm of justice men and women in united efforts are much more successful than is a member of either sex working alone. "The combined judgment of men and women in any case," she remarked, "is always better than the view of just an individual." In cases which Miss Conway tries in Liverpool, she has the co-operation of a man on the bench.

MISSING HEIR DISCOVERED

George Kains Calls On Executor of Mother's Estate.

FATHER STILL ABSENT.

ST. THOMAS, Aug. 15.—Heir to a $50,000 estate with his father, and missing for the past seven years, George Kains, a native of St. Thomas has been located in Toronto. The father, Charles K. G. Kains, has not been located, and the son states that he has not seen him since he left his boarding house in Toronto seven years ago.

The two are heirs to a large portion of the estate of Dr. Robert Kains who died in this city about two months ago, and also of the late Mrs. Christina C. Kains of this city. George Kains is heir to about $25,000 and his father to about $20,000.

A news despatch recently sent out by the executors of the estates was read by George Kains in Toronto, and he went to the office of J. W. McCullough, one of the executors of his mother's estate, where he was identified by Alex. Crane of Byron, the other executor.

He said that he had been living in Toronto for some time, but was unaware that $100 a month had been accumulating for him and his father for some years under the terms of his mother's will. Neither had he heard that his uncle, Dr. Kains, had died.

The executors of the two estates are redoubling their efforts to locate the father, who is believed to be still alive.

Local Improvement Notice.

TAKE NOTICE THAT:—

1.—That the Council of the Corporation of the City of Peterborough intends to construct as a local improvement a sewer on Reid Street, from the end of the present sewer south of McDonnel Street southerly to a point 30 feet north of Kirk Street, and intends to specially assess a part of the cost upon the land abutting directly on the work.

2.—The estimated cost of the work is $969.50, of which $169.68 is to be paid by the Corporation. The estimated cost per foot frontage is $1.28. The special assessment is to be paid in thirty annual instalments.

3.—A petition to the said Council will not avail to prevent its construction, but a petition against the work or the manner in which it has been undertaken, may be made pursuant to Section 8 of The Local Improvement Act, to the Ontario Railway and Municipal Board, by a majority of the owners representing at least one-half of the value of the lots which are to be specially assessed therefor.

4.—A by-law for undertaking the work will be considered by the Council at a meeting theref to be held on the sixth day of September, 1927, or at a regular or special meeting thereof to be held thereafter.

DOMINION PROBLEMS TO BE DISCUSSED BY BUSINESS MEN

Canada's Trade, Resources and Immigration Chief Items on Programme.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE.

Meetings Will Be Held at Vancouver During September —Many Attend.

VANCOUVER, Aug. 15 (Canadian Press).—One of the most important gatherings of business men ever held in Canada will be the second annual convention of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce in Vancouver from September 12 to 14. From all over Canada business men will come to discuss the fundamental problems of Canada's development, and the work of the newly-formed Canadian Chamber of Commerce.

Development of imperial and foreign trade; development of provincial trade; development of national resources and immigration—these are the paramount topics of the convention.

The Chamber's objective of furthering Canadian unity is well considered in the activities of the convention. Delegates from the Maritimes and Eastern Canada will make a proper cross-Canada tour, travelling west by the Canadian Pacific and returning by the Canadian National. At the chief Canadian centres the delegates will meet the local boards of trade and chambers of commerce.

All told, more than 200 representatives of Canada's agriculture, industry, commerce, finance and transportation will be in attendance. Winnipeg, Brandon, Moose Jaw, Regina, Saskatoon, Edmonton and Calgary are some of the western centres whose representatives will meet Eastern Canada's business men.

Outstanding leaders in Canada's economic activities such as S. B. Gundy, president; and Brig.-Gen. C. H. Mitchell of Toronto; William Birks and A. O. Dawson of Montreal; L. W. Simms of Saint John; J. A. Paulhus of Quebec; R. G. Persse of Winnipeg; C. O. Smith of Calgary and A. M. Dollar of Vancouver, are among the chairmen in charge of the convention's deliberations.

The Canadian Chamber of Commerce was conceived at Winnipeg in 1925 and was definitely organized at Saint John last year.

The itinerary of the cross-Canada tour to be made is of interest as the visit of representative business leaders to the many different centres of Canada will have a stimulating effect on inter-Dominion trade. After leaving Montreal August 30 it is as follows:—

Toronto, 7:55 a.m., Aug. 31; Port McNicoll, 4:30 p.m., Aug. 31; Sault Ste. Marie, 11 a.m., Sept. 1; Fort William, 8:30 a.m., Sept. 2; Kenora, 6:40 a.m., Sept. 3; Winnipeg, 5 p.m., Sept. 3; Regina, 10 a.m., Sept. 5; Moose Jaw, 3:15 p.m., Sept. 5; Calgary, 8 a.m., Sept. 6; Banff, 6 a.m., Sept. 7; Lake Louise, 9:50 a.m., Sept. 8; Field, B.C., 4 p.m., Sept. 9; Sicamous, B.C., 5 a.m., Sept. 10; Vancouver, 8:30 p.m., Sept. 11.

Returning: Skagway, B.C., Sept. 19; Prince Rupert, Sept. 21; Jasper, Sept. 23; Edmonton, Sept. 24; Saskatoon, Sept. 25; Winnipeg, Sept. 26; Cochrane, Sept. 28; Montreal, Sept. 29.

NONDESCRIPTS WIN FRIENDLY MATCH

Defeat Peterborough C. C. Team By 102 Runs To 51.

Oshawa C. C. were to have been Peterborough Cricket Club's opponents on Saturday afternoon, but word was received during the morning that they could not make the trip, much to the disappointment of the local players. Reg. Dyer, however, came to the rescue and hustled together a strong team on short notice to take their place, and this team gave the local club a very surprising defeat by 51 runs.

The Nondescript team won the toss and started batting with Langley and Leach. The former immediately started hitting out in lusty style and was missed in the outfield off the first ball. This proved costly, for he scored 20 runs before finally getting caught by Dunkerly. Leach played very steady and correct cricket for 13 runs. Carpenter soon scored 9 runs before getting caught in the slips. No other batter gave very much trouble with the exception of Bennett, who scored 31 runs before being dismissed, caught cleverly by Smith. This bataman deserves credit for his runs, although he was missed being stumped two or three times. The score finally reached the respectable total of 102 runs. The Peterborough fielding was below its usual standard, several catches being missed and the ground work was not as good as usual. Elliot and Smith each made 2 good catches. F. Dyer took 5 wickets for 23 runs, Thorpe 2 for 12 runs, and Elliot 3 for 28.

The Peterborough innings opened in disastrous fashion, Dunkerly, who opened the battery with Stuart being smartly thrown out by Fox with only 2 runs on the board. Worse was to follow; two more good wickets fell at the same total, Stuart being bowled by Langley and Thorpe being cleverly caught near the ground by R. Dyer. The rot did not stop, for the next 6 wickets fell for 27 runs. F. Dyer was unfortunately run out, Smith then batted well for 12, not out, but could get no support, the club being all out for 51 runs.

Langley bowled and fielded splendidly, taking 9 wickets for 9 runs and F. Dyer 4 for 15, also bowled well. Each team batted 13 men and fielded 11.

The Nondescripts fully deserved their victory, their field was excellent and good to watch, while the Peterborough team took things easy and really deserved to lose. Another match has been arranged for the 27th of August and is being looked forward to by both teams.

TWO 'QUAKES IN TURKISTAN

Fifteen People Killed and More Than Sixty Buildings Destroyed.

MAY BE HEAVIER LOSS.

MOSCOW, August 15. — United Press. — Two earthquake shocks at Namangan, Turkistan, killed fifteen people and destroyed over sixty buildings a despatch from Samarkan announced yesterday.

The possible loss of life or damage in the neighboring territory is unknown.

AROUND THE CITY

At 8.50 this morning the Fire Brigade was called to a chimney fire at 331 Bethune Street.

An odd and amusing bequest is that of a Missouri woman, who left her false teeth to the supper fund of her church.

Wagon Blown Over Man; Leg Broken; Foot Crushed

BROCKVILLE, Aug. 15.—John Drain, a Morrisburg feed merchant, was seriously injured in a peculiar manner on Saturday. As it began to rain, he unhitched his team from the loaded wagon on which he had been working, and sat down under the hayrack with his legs protruding. The high wind suddenly started the wagon moving, and it passed over both of his legs, one of them being broken above the ankle, while the foot of the other was badly crushed.

SEAMEN DROWN IN PUGET SOUND

Ship's Officers Fall Overboard When Gangway Gives Way.

IN SEATTLE HARBOR.

SEATTLE, Aug. 15. — (Canadian Press.)— Chief Engineer E. Peters, 39, and Chief Officer Bascom, 38, of the steamer Sudawsonco, fell overboard late Saturday and drowned in Puget Sound. The two men were standing on the gangway platform when it gave way and hurled them into the water.

THE CHARM OF ARMOUR ROAD.

What though its praises ne'er were rung,
By minstrel or by poet sung,
And while I may not dare aspire
To any save a tuneless Lyre,
Some witless muse now bids me sing
The thousand charms that round it cling;
For beauty makes her bright abode
On every inch of Armour Road

But, where so many charms combine,
No lightsome task in truth is mine,
A minimum even to declare,
Of all the beauties biding there,
Still, at the Muse's high behest,
Though with misgivings great oppprest,
I will essay an humble ode,
With right good will to Armour Road.

There pleasant homes and fair are seen,
'Mid velvet lawns of emerald sheen,
A rich luxuriance of sweet flowers
That rival Eden's ancient bowers,
Well tended gardens, shady trees,
The song of birds, the buzz of bees,
The gods have goodly gifts bestowed
Unstintedly on Armour Road

Learning's abode crowning the height,
Where she displays her shining light
A park that proud memorial stands
To old Ashburnham's patriot bands;
St. Joseph's, too, where human pain
And sickness never sought in vain,
For sweet relief and tenderest care,
For Mercy makes her dwelling there.

But best of all these gifts and graces
Are the bairnies, bless their bonny faces,
For them the summer glides away
In one gay round of careless play,
Down the Locks and Lakes to stray,
Or a frolic in the new-mown hay;
Now, with youth, and health and life elate,
All swinging on some garden gate.

Ah, would that we of riper age,
Could but turn back time's much-marred page,
Renounce grim care and all her train,
And be like the children once again,
Happy and harmless as these elves,
Loving our neighbor as our selves,
Kind Heaven upon the children smile,
And shield you from a life of guile.
May play and pleasure be a la mode
The whole year round on Armour Road.

DANGERS OF FLYING.

SAN ANTONIO, Texas, August 15. —Cadet R. D. Johnston was piloting his airplane on a practice flight when one of the wheels on his landing gear came off, fell to the ground. Later, when he had come down without mishap, a farmer presented a bill for $5.00, saying the wheel had struck the ground and bounced to the back of a heifer, injuring her.

DOLE FLIGHT ON TO-MORROW

Seventeen Men and One Woman To Start in Nineteen Planes.

TO FLY TO HAWAII.

OAKLAND, Aug. 15. — (Canadian Press.) — The first long distance aerial derby, over a trans-oceanic course of twenty-four hundred miles in the Pacific will get under way at noon to-morrow, when nine planes will swing into the airways for Oahu, the main island in the Hawaiian group.

Seventeen men and one woman—Miss Mildred Doran, a 22 year lod Michigan school teacher, will travel towards Wheeler Field, near Honolulu, for the $25,000 first prize and $10,000 second award, the gifts of James Dole, of Hawaii.

The planes will carry nine tons of gasoline, averaging a ton of fuel to each plane. They will dash down a runway, permiting only one plane to get into the air at a time. The difference between the first starter and the last was originally figured at sixteen minutes, but as post time approached it was estimated that at least ten minutes would elapse between take-offs.

False Start Rumored.

SANTA MONICA, Calif., Aug. 15. —(Canadian Press.)— Frank Clark, Dole flight pilot, rumored in various quarters to have made a premature hop to Hawaii, came here shortly after six o'clock last night from Oakland. When the plane took wing from Oakland, it immediately soared out to sea. Clark's rather evasive answers on being questioned prior to he take-off gave rise to the belief in several quarters that he had jumped the gun on his fellow Dole prize bidders and had set out for Honolulu.

DELEGATE GIVES CONVENTION REPORT

W. R. Morris Also Describes Scenes in Battle Area To Rotarians.

W. R. Morris, delegate from the Rotary Club of Peterborough to the Rotary International Convention at Ostend, gave his report at the weekly luncheon of the Club held this afternoon in the Empress Hotel.

Rotary, said Mr. Morris, is now represented in forty countries. The registration of dlegates showed 126 from Canada, 2,642 from Great Britain and Ireland, 2,926 from the United States of America, and 846 from thirty-four other countries.

Of the eighty-six Canadian clubs sixty-two were represented, thirty-five personally and twenty-seven by proxy. There are now in all 2,615 Rotary clubs.

The 1928 International Convention of Rotarians will be held in Minneapolis.

The Ostend Convention, declared Mr. Morris, was largely devoted to the consideration of the sixth object of Rotary—the promotion of better international relationship.

Many fine addresses were delivered, he said, some of them in foreign language the translations of which would appear in the International Year Book.

Following his account of the Convention, Mr. Morris took his hearers on a trip through Belgium, Holland, France, Italy, and Switzerland with a passing glance at England and Scotland.

Belgium, he said, had been entirely rebuilt, and had got back to productive work. Describing his journey over the war areas, Mr. Morris said he saw the huge German gun that shelled Dunkirk.

Ypres is entirely rebuilt except the Cloth Hall, which is to be kept perpetually in its present ruined condition. Other impressive sights seen in Belgium were the British, Belgian and German front line trenches, some of which were being kept in their warlike conditions as memorials of the war. The rifle instruction post outside Brussels, containing the small courtyard where Edith Cavell was martyred; and the Waterloo monument with its memories of another great struggle involving the arms of Britain.

In answer to an inquiry at the close of the address from Rev. Father Costello, Mr. Morris paid a fine tribute to the British War Office for the splendid condition in which the graves of British and Canadian soldiers were kept in France and Belgium.

Wheat Prices Go Down On Winnipeg Weakness

CHICAGO, August 15. Canadian Press. — Wheat prices took an early downward swing to-day after firmness at the start. Higher quotations at Liverpool coupled with private reports telling of frost in the Canadian northwest, were strengthening influences at the outset but as offerings increased and Winnipeg grew weaker the market here eased off quickly.

Opening 5-8c to 1 1-8c higher, wheat prices quickly fell below Saturday's finish.

Corn, oats and provisions sympathized with wheat, corn starting unchanged to ¾c up and quickly receding all around.

Opening prices were: Wheat, September 142⅛; December 146 1-8; corn, September, 112½; December 116⅛; oats September 48 3-8; December, 52¼.

New York Market Rallies After Opening Weakness

NEW YORK, Aug. 15 (Canadian Press).—The stock market, having undergone a drastic downward readjustment of prices last week, rallied briskly today after a temporary sinking spell on the announcement of the death of Chairman E. H. Gary of the United States Steel Corporation. The recovery, which embraced practically all groups of stocks, was led by the rails, several of which advanced three points or more, and the high-priced specialties. The rally was not associated with anything in the day's news.

Pools resumed operations on a large scale on the theory that easy money conditions were likely to continue for some time to come, that a normal quickening of business was due, and that the market's weakened technical position had been sufficiently corrected by the violent decline of last week.

Some speculative disappointment was expressed over the failure of the Dupont directors to make special dividend distribution, but the stock quickly recovered its three point loss and converted it into a gain of four points. Case Threshing Machine, which had sold down to 242 in the early trading, rallied to 254½, a week-end gain of more than nine points. Commercial Solvents "B" extended its gain to seven points, and Delaware and Hudson, Atlantic Refining, Peoria and Eastern, Great Northern Preferred, Soo Common, Pittsburgh and West Virginia, and United Fruit sold three to five points higher. Northern Pacific at 96⅜ and Radio Corporation at 65½ established new high records for the year. United States Steel Common opened at 131⅝, sold down to 130¼, and then rallied to around 133.

Toronto Market Active With Trend Upward

TORONTO, Ont., August 15 (Canadian Press). — Most classes of stocks, led by the Page Hersey and Hiram Walker issues, advanced substantially in active trading on the Toronto Stock Exchange to-day. Page Hersey Common was the leading stock in point of activity, and it climbed to 77, easing to 76⅜ for a net gain of almost three points. The common advanced 3¼ at 151. Hiram Walker scored a two point gain at 47.

Brazilian was particularly strong, reaching 169½ for a 2½ points gain. Abitibi improved 1½ at 101½. Northern Bakeries one at 29. Asbestos two at 27½, and the active British-American Oil an eighth at 26¼. International Nickel moved within narrow bounds, finally gaining a quarter at 65¾.

Mine Market Strong, Active Stocks Gaining

TORONTO, Ont., August 15 (Canadian Press). — Despite occasional reactionary stocks, the general tone of the market on the Standard Mining Exchange to-day was strong, with considerable advances being registered in the more active leaders. Laval Quebec sold up 1½ at 32½, Duprat old one at 9, the new two at 17. Teck Hughes climbed 25 cents at 7.99 and Noranda firmed fifteen at 22.55. Beaver at 143 was nine points better, and Potter Doal in active trading firmed 1⅛ at 14¾.

Hollinger was the weak feature of the whole list, losing 34 at 17.50. Amulet eased five at 415 and Area three at 62.

Department of Commerce Estimates Money Spent For Liquor.

SEES NO LET-UP.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 15. — In spite of the prohibition law and the cordon of dry agents along the borders and the coast, the United States paid forty million dollars at least for foreign liquors last year, the Commerce Department estimated today.

No let up in liquor imports is seen by the commerce department for this figure is the same that was set for 1924 and 1920 as part of the sheet of 'invisible items of trade."

People 80 Years Old Enjoy Trip In Plane

Two elderly passengers, both well over 80 years of age, were taken recently for an aeroplane trip by Captain Ayres, of the Canadian Air Services Mrs. Nicholls, 87 years of age, who came here from Lake Simcoe, and L. F. Goodfellow, a local man, 85 years of age, each had a fifteen minute flight at a height of 2000 feet in the air.

SACCO BREAKS HIS LONG FAST

Takes Bowl of Soup When Threatened With Forcible Feeding.

IN GOOD CONDITION.

BOSTON, Aug. 15 (Canadian Press) —Nicola Sacco broke his fast to-day after starting upon the thirtieth day of his hunger strike by refusing breakfast. During the forenoon he took a quart of beef broth.

The end of the fast came when Dr. Joseph McLaughlin, prison physician, threatened Sacco with forcible feeding if he did not eat. Although Sacco showed the effects of his long abstinence from food, his condition was reported as fairly good. He is weak, but otherwise appears normal.

"The time has come, Sacco, when you must eat," Dr. McLaughlin told Sacco. He explained that the process was an ordinary medical treatment and then sent for the beef tea.

The physician, pointing to the rubber tube and apparatus used for forcible feeding, took Sacco by the nose and said:

"You know we used these on one fellow a couple of weeks ago, and you know I can use it on you if I want to."

As he started to drink the cupful of beef broth, Sacco held it up and said: "Well, I hope this in no way affects the success of the case. I have to eat under compulsion."

WEDDING BELLS.

HECKMAN—HENRY.

At Knox Church Manse on Friday, August 12, the marriage was quietly solemnized of Hazel Anne, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas B. Henry, Peterboro, to Alvin William Heckman, younger son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Heckman, of Coplay, Penn. Rev. William McDonald officiated. The bride looked charming in a gown of green georgette, with blond shoes and stockings and small blond felt hat and fox fur. They are spending the honeymoon at 'Seldom Inn.'

HAMILTON—McBAIN

A very pretty lawn wedding was solemnized at Fairmount in Cavan Township on Thursday afternoon, August 11th, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George C. McBain, when their only daughter, Gladys Marie, became the bride of Mr. George McKay Hamilton, only son of Mr. and Mrs. George Hamilton of Palmerston, Ont. The ceremony was conducted by an uncle of the groom, Rev. Col. William Beattie, D.D., of London, Ont., assisted by Rev. A. H. McConnachie of Springville.

The bride, who was given away by her father, wore a lovely French frock of rose and silver shot taffeta, and carried a large bouquet of butterfly roses. She was attended by two little flower girls, Esther Might and Marie Douglas, cousins of the bride, and a little ring-bearer, Doris Rayner of Palmerston, niece of the groom. All three wore quaint little costumes of different pastel shades of organdie over coral silk, and carried baskets of sweet peas.

The groom's gift to the bride was a diamond and sapphire filigree bracelet; to the little attendants, tiny silver purses; and to his sister, Mrs. Walter Hawke of Palmerston, who played the Wedding March, a sapphire bar pin.

Following the ceremony a dainty lunch was served by Hoopers of Peterborough, when forty guests were seated at pretty decorated tables on the lawn. The table decoration carried out the color scheme.

The bride's going-away costume was an ensemble suit of burnt honey silk crepe, relieved by chifsley embroidery, with hat to match, and blonde shoes and stockings. Mr. and Mrs. Hamilton left by motor on an extended honeymoon, and on their return will reside in Palmerston, Ont.

Guests were present from Midland, London, Palmerston, Detroit, Omemee, and Oshawa.

CARS COLLIDE NEAR BEWDLEY

One Is Hurled Into Deep Ditch —Both Badly Damaged.

WILLIS CASE IN COURT.

Struck from behind by a car driven by J. A. Ogg, another automobile driven by H. R. Horning, was hurled into the deep ditch bordering the highway about three miles north of Bewdley, at 8.45 last night. No person was hurt but both cars were badly damaged.

Both men are from Toronto, and were proceeding south at the time, Horning being ahead. He started to turn to the left down a side road just as Ogg swung out to pass him, and the front of the rear car hit the left hind fender of the other car.

Highway Traffic Officer Wilson investigated the accident. He also investigated the Willis-Burnham crash of last Thursday, and has laid a charge of negligent driving against Willis. This will be heard in Port Hope on Saturday.

INDIGENT HEIR TO BIG ESTATE

Herbert Walton, 28, Living in Tent Outside Toronto, is Baronet.

SUCCEEDS HIS UNCLE.

TORONTO, Aug. 15 (Canadian Press).—Herbert Walton, 28, who has been unemployed and is living in a tent with his wife and son on the lake shore east of the city, claims he has fallen heir to an estate of two hundred and sixty thousand dollars through the death of his uncle, Sir Lewin Bendochye Walton, at Reigate, England, last April.

Walton, who is a war veteran, says the details of the proceedings have not yet been completed, but that he has already been notified by a local bank that the estate is being handled by an English bank, of which it is the agent. Walton is the sole heir to the estate and baronetcy, the latter having passed to Sir Lewis from Mr. Walton's grandfather, the late Major-General Sir Charles Walton.

ROTARY CAMP BOYS HAVING FINE HOLIDAY

Swimming, Baseball and Boat Trips On Their Programme.

ALL LEARN TO SWIM.

Two Lads Swim Across Clear Lake — Cottagers Are Guests For Stunts.

Rotary Camp still continues to be the Mecca for the boy who is in search of a holiday, the memories of which will last him as long as he lives.

Thirty boys are now encamped on the shores of Clear Lake, just across from Kawartha Park, the number fluctuating from week to week as new boys come in and others depart.

Early in the morning the woods ring from the shouts of the happy youngsters as they disport themselves in various ways, mostly, however, in the clear water of the lake. A competent swimmer is always on the alert during the swimming parades, which are only permitted at certain times, and always under the direction of the camp director. A noteworthy feature of the camp is the number of boys who have learned to swim during their sojourn there. Fred McNeely, who was in charge during July, and Doug. Loomis, who is director for August, have been indefatigable in their efforts toward making every boy a swimmer. At present every boy in camp can swim, even down to little five-year-old 'Bill' Loomis, who celebrated his fifth birthday by diving from the wharf and bringing up sand from the bottom of the lake.

On Monday of last week the boys travelled to Kawartha Park and trounced the residents of the summer colony in a game of softball.

Tuesday morning, bright and early, the pointer, which is equipped with an outboard motor, set out towing the two large Hudson Bay freighters, for the Blue Mountains, a trip which proved a revelation to most of the boys. Acres of huckleberries of exceptional quality and size greeted the eye, also mica mines which brought out the souvenir spirit which seems imbedded in every mortal. Pockets were jammed with samples for mother and dad. Most of them, however, never got past the bunk house, judging from the number of pieces seen around next morning.

The trip consisted of 24 miles by water, the boys disembarking at Mosquito Island (so named by the boys, some of whom cherished lingering memories of nights spent there during some of their trips). Prior to taking the five-mile walk to the summit of the mountain the boys indulged in a swim until the noon meal was served in true camping style.

The camp was reached early that night, and for once no trouble was experienced in making the boys go to sleep. Upon their arrival the boys demolished a supper that would have made their elders wonder where they put it. Despite the water trip and long hike, all of the boys were in excellent form next day, which was spent in baseball and swimming.

Supper that night took the form of a birthday party for Bill Loomis, the camp mascot, and son of the director, Douglas A. Loomis. "Bill" is one of the boys with a vengeance, even to sleeping in the bunk house and participating in the swimming parades. As the birthday cake, with its hidden treasure of nickels imbedded in it, was carried to the dining tables, the welkin rang with the cheers of the boys as they paid tribute to their popular comrade.

Thursday morning at 6 o'clock saw the boys ready for a trip by water to Chemong, where a junior regatta was in progress. Passing through the Burleigh Locks from Stoney to Lovesick Lakes, then through Lovesick Lake to the Lovesick Lock into Deer Bay and from that to Buckhorn Lake and thence to Chemong Lake, the boys grasped in a practical manner the wealth of lakes that has made this part of the country the happy hunting grounds of thousands of tourists during the summer season. An overnight stay was made at Chemong, an early start being made next morning for home.

Camp was reached that night about five o'clock and immediately after supper the boys started in to prepare for "stunt" night. Great preparations were made and soon the camp took on a festive air that brought back memories of boyhood to the large number of visitors who came across from Kawartha for the big occasion. A programme consisting of original stunts—some of which showed that the average boy is blessed with much creative ability, was put on. At the conclusion of the programme, ice cream (made right in camp), cake and coffee were served to the visitors by Mrs. Loomis and Mrs. McKinstry.

Saturday saw another game with the Kawartha Park team, the cottagers this time turning the tables on the boys by defeating them.

Two boys, Eric McKinstry and William Ward, accompanied by boats and watchers, started out from Sandy point to swim across the lake to the camp and were successful. The swim, about one and a half miles in distance, was accomplished without any trouble, both boys climbing out of the water in good condition. One of the boys who made the swim could not swim a stroke when he reached Rotary Camp three years ago. To-day he is a proficient and clever swimmer, which speaks volumes for the directors of the camp.

Sunday was spent quietly, some of the boys going down the lake to Young's Point to St. Mary's Roman Catholic Church, while the remainder of the campers attended the service at the Kawartha Park Church.

Shows Bad Weather Over Atlantic Ocean

HALIFAX, N. S., Aug. 16.—(Canadian Press.)— While weather conditions off Cape Race were suitable for trans-Atlantic flying yesterday morning the forecast indicated that the situation would be changed to-day with rain and easterly winds, increasing to moderate gales, according to reports collected here by the National Wireless Station. The weather at Cape Race, at noon was described as follows: "Barometer 30.30, rising. Wind south-east, eight miles. Forecast: Easterly winds, increasing to moderate gales. Rain to-night and part of Tuesday."

VISITORS LIKE CAMPING SITE

Many Words of Praise For Facilities at Exhibition Park.

CLEAN AND PLEASANT.

A very large number of tourists have found the Exhibition grounds to be an excellent place for camping as the surroundings are almost ideal.

Some tourists have just remained overnight or long enough to set up their tents and have dinner, while others have stayed a couple of days. Such words of praise may be heard about the camping grounds and surroundings as, "Isn't it delightful here?" "Everything looks so good!" "It's clean and pleasant and we've enjoyed ourselves so much." "Everything O.K."

"Indeed the grounds are a credit to those in charge of them. With hardly a stick lying around, the fences and buildings being repainted and repaired, and some new additions being put up there is little else that can be done by way of improvements, except, perhaps, the addition of some shade trees.

PARACHUTIST NEAR DROWNING

Caroline Sykes Jumps From Plane Into Lake Near Sunnyside.

HELD DOWN BY ROPES.

TORONTO, August 16. — Caroline Sykes of Toronto narrowly escaped drowning last night when she became entanged in the rigging of a parachute with which she leaped from an airplane into the lake near the mouth of the Humber River.

Miss Sykes was rescued from twelve feet of water about half a mile out in the lake by Hilliard Lang Superintendent of the Life Saving Department. Her leap was part of the Sunnyside attraction programme.

Miss Sykes dropped from the plane as it neared the Humber. As she struck the water, Lang who had been patrolling the course, turned his boat out in the lake and in speeding to the rescue of Miss Sykes the propellor of the speed boat became caught in ropes attached to the parachute.

"The water was clear and I could see her being pulled down by the weight of the ropes. I took an 11-ft. pike pole and by reaching my arm several inches down into the water was able to grapple her," Superintendent Lang said. "Had we been one minute later getting to the scene she would have been drowned. It was the closest thing to a fatality I have seen in some time," he said.

Miss Sykes held her right hand up out of the water until her strength gave way. She was unable to speak when the life savers pulled her up into their boat. Owing to the boat being entangled in the para chute ropes Lang handed Miss Sykes over to Captain Smith and Roy Pinnell who had followed the speed boat in their own boat to the rescue.

Pinnell wrapped Miss Sykes in a blanket and they took her to shore from where she was taken to her home

Considerable time was taken up in releasing the propeller of the life savers boat from the parachute.

War Interferes With Egg Freezing

WASHINGTON, Aug. 16 (United Press).—The war in China has interfered seriously with one of the country's leading industries—production of frozen eggs and dried eggs—which will be only about 80 per cent. normal this year, according to the United States Agricultural Department. Large quantities usually are exported to the United States.

TOURISTS HAVE UNIQUE HOUSE ON BIG TRUCK

Springfield People Have Lived Since March in Home on Wheels.

ALL CONVENIENCES.

Water, Radio, Etc., in Vehicle —Like the Local Grounds.

A home on wheels is drawing considerable comment from those who have seen it since its arrival at the Exhibition tourist camp. Its very uniqueness is its attraction.

This travelling house is set on a Kelly-Springfield truck manufactured in Springfield, Ohio. The owner is A. F. Orcutt, who, with his wife and son, left their home in Springfield in March and have been travelling ever since, having landed in Peterborough on Sunday. They intend to remain about ten days.

"Of all the camping sites which we have seen in the many States through which we have travelled, I think that your park here is the best," said Mrs. Orcutt.

Their car, which was specially designed for this trip, does not appear to be more than a foot above the ground and the inside dimensions are 18 ft. 2 ins. in length, 7ft. 2 ins. in width, and 6 ft. high. There are two doors, one at the rear and the other on one side near the front. Like the ordinary train carriage, the upper part consists of windows which are hung with mauve curtains.

A more compact little outfit, well equipped with all the modern conveniences would be hard to find. It contains two folding beds, a couple of folding tables neatly covered with white oilcloth, shelves for utensils, chairs, a gasoline stove with an oevn, a refrigerator, electric lights, running water, sink, towel racks, and even small rugs for the floor. Almost forty feet of cupboard space along the ceiling provides excellent storing places for clothes, towels, dishes and cooking utensils with which the culinary department is well equipped.

Last, but not least, comes the radio, the wires of which run lengthwise between the slatted roof and the canvas-covered ceiling.

Mr. Orcutt intends working here. He is a representative of the Lisle Manufacturing Company of Clarinda, Iowa, for the selling of garage equipment. He and another agent are the only representatives of that firm whose first season here this is.

As far as these tourists know, there are only four other cars as completely equipped as their own on the continent of North America.

A rather amusing little story is told by them. While passing through one of the towns en route to Peterborough, an Englishman rushed out and asked excitedly, "Will you give me a squib?" Completely nonplussed Mr. Orcutt replied that he would give him anything he could. Upon questioning he found that what the man wanted was a story for the local paper.

In speaking of the surroundings, Mr. Orcutt said that the camping grounds provide a delightfully clean, bright and sanitary place to stay. The only convenience which they lack is the shower which is such a luxury to the tired and dusty traveller, who desires a cool plunge before retiring.

Mr. and Mrs. Orcutt, along with other tourists, expressed their sincere appreciation for the courtesies which have been extended to them by those with whom they have come in contact.

FIRE DESTROYS FARM BUILDINGS

Louis Elmhirst, Westwood Farmer, Suffers Heavy Loss by Fire.

SPONTANEOUS COMBUSTION

WESTWOOD, August 16. — Fire, believed to have been caused by spontaneous combustion, broke out yesterday afternoon about five o'clock, on the farm of Louis E. Elmhirst, 2½ miles south east of Westwood, and totally destroyed a barn and a henhouse.

Three head of cattle perished in the flames which also consumed 60 tons of hay, 200 bushels of rye, and 250 bushels of wheat, which were threshed on Saturday.

The fire originated in a strawstack and spread to the buildings.

No estimate of the loss is yet available.

Courtney Postpones Flight Indefinitely

SOUTHAMPTON, Eng., Aug. 16.—(Canadian Press).—Captain Frank T. Courtney, who was believed planning to start on his trans-Atlantic flight this morning last night postponed his hop-off indefinitely because of a torrential rainfall here and unfavorable weather reports over his prospective course.

Captain Courtney yesterday was considering the possibility of flying by way of the Azores, instead of by way of Valentia, Ireland, and the North Atlantic. His assistants have been in touch with the Azores on the question of establishing gasoline reserves there, but the Captain has declined to say whether or not he has finally decided on the southern route.

The experience of the two Junker planes Europa and Bremen in their trans-Atlantic attempt was said to have influenced Captain Courtney in considering a change of plans.

TICKET ABUSES TO BE STOPPED

Exhibition Board Will Provide Special Gate for Pass Holders

NEW DRESSING ROOMS.

A pass gate next the secretary's office will be provided by the Exhibition Board for concessionaries and others, it was decided last night by the board, and care will be taken that there is no transferring of tickets or other abuse of these privileges.

Lavatories and dressing rooms for the performers will be provided under the grandstand at an expense of about $700. The members of the board look upon this as an investment as they expect the park to become the centre of athletics in the near future, when these facilities will come in useful.

The offer of 2000 strips of tickets at $1 a strip, was not very well accepted. Only 600 people took advantage of the offer which represents a saving of 40 cents on each strip. One of the directors charged that they were not sufficiently advertised or offered for long enough, but those in charge said they had advertised the sale for three days ahead and all through the week, when it was held. Answering the other count they said that the special price strips sold at Toronto, are offered for only one day.

Special prizes for Clydesdales and General Purpose Horses, four years old and under, have been given by Gunns, Limited. The prize will be $5 worth of potato fertiliser in each class. When one of the directors said, "Put it on the Clydesdales," another retorted, "I thought it was to be put on potatoes."

The request of the Childrens' Aid Society for permission to tag in the grounds on the Saturday of the fair was refused. The board will grant the Society space for a tent where literature can be distributed, and where a collection box may be placed.

$1,000 Play Prize Result of Suicides

BOSTON, Aug. 16.— (A.P.)— Increase in student suicides has led a patron of the Repertory Theatre of Boston to offer $1,000 for the best Ameerican play which shall hold up faith in life of the youth of America, it was announced to-day by the trustees of the theatre.

The competition is open to any student of an American college, university or dramatic school.

The committee of final award will consist of Winthrop Ames and David Belasco, producers; the Rev. Dr. S. Parkes Cadman, head of the new society, the Church and Stage; Dr. John H. Finley and Mrs. Frances Jewett of the theatre trustees.

The trustees will also give the winner a scholarship in the dramatic school connected with the theatre.

GIRL'S ERROR GIVES BRIGADE USELESS TRIP

She Thinks Flames From Porcelain Works Are From Lumber Yard.

REAL FIRE OCCURS.

Men Left In Station Are Called To Fire in Garage—J. McMartin Hurt.

Mistaking flames from the C.G.E. porcelain works to be a large fire at the McDonald Lumber Mill, a little girl living at the corner of Sherbrooke Street and Monaghan Road sent in a telephone alarm to the Fire Department calling out practically all the equipment of the Brigade. On arriving at the scene of the supposed fire, the firemen found no evidence of fire.

While answering this false alarm, a real call had come in to the Department from the garage of the Walter Oke fruit warehouse on Simcoe Street.

A third truck had answered this alarm, which was sent in by a person living next door to the warehouse. The body of one of the trucks was almost demolished by flames, while the cab of the second truck was slightly damaged.

With the aid of neighbours, the first truck was backed out of the garage into the driveway of the warehouse, and the flames were speedily extinguished by the use of chemicals. The loss will not be great.

James McMartin, who lives near the warehouse, saw the flames issuing from the garage, and threw open the doors. He was struck in the face by the fierce tongues of the blaze. Throwing his hands up to protect his face, McMartin had his hands badly burned. He was taken to the Fire Hall, and given first-aid by one of the firemen, and was later attended by Dr. Young.

The small girl who had sent in the alarm for the first fire, reported her mistake to Chief Gimblet at the Fire Hall last night.

BALDWIN MAKES FAST JOURNEY

Party Makes Short Stops at Ottawa, Montreal and Sherbrooke.

SHERBROOKE, Que., Aug. 16 (Canadian Press)—Premier Baldwin's fast two-day trip from Winnipeg to the Maritime Provinces continued yesterday with barely a fifty minute stop at Ottawa, where Premier King and Colonel J. L. Ralston joined the party; a ten minute halt at South Junction, near Montreal, where the Harbor Commissioners of Montreal came aboard the train and were presented to Mr. Baldwin by the chairman, Senator W. L. MacDougald; and a five minute stop at Sherbrooke, and the Premier met civic officials and C. B. Howard, M.P.

The party will arrive at St. John at 10.30 in the morning and will be met by the Lieutenant Governor of the Province, Premier Baxter, and the Mayor of the city. The public reception is to be held in the market square of the city, where Premier Baldwin will make his first address in the Maritime Provinces.

Shortly after noon, Mr. Baldwin and his party will leave for Moncton where, with Premier King and Hon. P. J. Veniot, he will visit the Convention Hall. In the evening the Province of Prince Edward Island will present an address to Mr. Baldwin in the historic "Fathers of Confederation" chamber of the Legislative Buildings. Mr. Baldwin will reply, speaking to the citizens from the balcony of the building. Mr. and Mrs. Baldwin will spend Tuesday night at Government House and on Wednesday morning will leave for Pictou on board H.M.S. Capetown.

During yesterday's short stop at Ottawa the Governor-General and Lady Willingdon were on the station to greet the Premier and Mrs. Baldwin and there was a short motor drive about the Capital by way of relaxation.

"Wild Man" Frightens Berry Pickers; Hunted By Posse After Chasing Girls

SOUTH AMBOY, N.J., Aug. 16.—A posse of citizens and policemen of South River are searching the woods around Wolf Swamp for a "wild man" who rides in an automobile and who has been terrorizing young women and girls picking huckleberries. Since last week nine women have reported that a wild-looking, bearded man in tattered clothes has jumped at them from behind bushes, chasing them and making them upset their berries.

Until yesterday the man had been frightened off by their screams, but three girls were chased by him this morning and one injured in a successful attempt to fight off his attack. Citizens of South River formed a posse under the command of Chief of Police Eberwein and started for the spot where the attack had occurred.

As the party entered the woods, the man suddenly jumped from the bushes and made off before the men armed with clubs were able to reach him.

Shortly afterwards a car was seen passing on a little-used woodland road and the fugitive was identified as the driver. A general alarm has been sent throughout Middlesex County and the posse is guarding all roads leading from the woods.

Suspect Foul Play Foreigner's Death

NEW WESTMINISTER, B.C., Aug. 16.—(Canadian Press).—Foul play is suspected to have caused the death of Theros Pavlos, Vancouver, missing since August 3, whose rope-round body was washed up at White Rock, B.C., Sunday. The rope was tied tightly around his waist, but his arms were free. A cousin of the dead man who identified the body yesterday said he had two hundred dollars in his possession when he disappeared. Only a few cents were in his pockets when his body was recovered. The dead man was a partner in a shoe shine stand.

SCHOOL FAIRS BEGIN SEPT. 9

Series in County Concludes With Championship Fair at Norwood.

MANY CLASSES.

September 9th is the date fixed for the first school fair of this year —the Belmont fair to be held at Havelock.

Conducted by the Ontario Department of Agriculture in co-operation with the Rural School Fair Associations the fairs are free to all competitors and no admission fee is charged to visitors attending.

Every child receiving seeds or eggs from the Department must show produce at the fair. All exhibits of potatoes, roots, corn, grain, flowers and poultry must be from seeds and eggs supplied by the Department, unless otherwise stated in the class.

Livestock exhibits must be from the pupils' parents' farm, halterbroke, and led by the exhibitor.

Classes of exhibits, comprise grain and corn, Banner oats, field corn, sweet corn, roots and vegetables, flowers, fruit, domestic science, sewing manual training and scrap books containing pictures of various breeds of livestock, poultry and types of grains and roots.

Public speaking and singing contests and writing competitions are also included.

The Nature collection consists of material gathered during the current year: twenty of the most harmful varieties of weeds in Peterboro County; twenty weed seeds; twenty injurious insects; and twenty specimens showing fungus disease and insect injury, all mounted and correctly named.

All prize winners at the local school fair are eligible to compete in the class in which they won prizes at the championship school fair to be held at Norwood October 11th and 12th.

Belmont, Havelock, September 9.
South Smith, Bridgenorth September 19.
North Smith, Young's Point, September 20.
Dummer, Warsaw, September 21.

10 MEN FACE 49 CHARGES

Will Appear in Barrie Police Court on Friday Morning

PRELIMINARY HEARING

BARRIE, Ont. Aug. 16 (Canadian Press).—A total of forty-nine charges involving perjury, theft of cattle and receiving stolen goods, have been laid against the ten men arrested by the Provincial Police in this district in the past few weeks, it was learned to-day. The ten will appear for preliminary hearing on Friday in the local police court. They are William Langley and Harry Cannon, out on bail, and the following held in custody: Joseph McDermott, Edward Hickland, Alfred Hartley, Frank Skelly, Elwood Nevils, Samuel Nevils, Manning McEwen and Reg. Andrews.

Hickland and McDermott face more charges than the others. Fifteen charges of theft of cattle and of receiving stolen goods will be laid against Hickland, while McDermott will be confronted by eleven charges of theft, perjury and receiving.

CHILD BREAKS ARM.

Gerald Walsh Thrown From Back of Horse on Father's Farm.

DOURO, August 16. — Gerald, the young son of Frederick Walsh, broke his arm yesterday evening by falling from a horse and striking the cement foundation of the silo. Mr. Walsh had just lifted the child to the horse's back, when some movement o fthe animal threw him violently to the ground.

Dr. Munroe, of Warsaw, set the break.

H. Colmer Survives Fall Off High Cliff

Local Young Man Falls 90 Feet Down Rocky Bank in Ottawa Park Early Last Night—No Witnesses to Accident.

SLIGHT IMPROVEMENT TO-DAY; INTERNAL INJURIES ARE FEARED

OTTAWA, Ont., August 16 (Special to The Examiner). — Falling a distance of about 90 feet from the top of a cliff at Rockcliffe Park, just outside of the city of Ottawa, Herbert Colmer, aged 23 years, of 497 Bolivar Street, Peterborough, was picked up on the shore of the Ottawa River at 6.40 o'clock last night, suffering from serious chest injuries which may yet prove fatal. At the Ottawa General Hospital it was reported this morning that he was slightly improved. An X-ray examination was made this morning.

Apparently the man was walking along the top of the cliff, and in some way fell over. There were no witnesses to the accident. The cliff inclines somewhat, and had it not been for this and a ledge of rock which broke his fall, Colmer would have been killed instantly. After falling about 90 feet he rolled along the rough shore about 15 feet.

David Seguin, a ferryman from Rockcliffe to Gatineau Point, across the river, picked Colmer up when he noticed him moving in an endeavour to get up. Gasping and moaning with pain, Colmer told Seguin that he had fallen from the cliff.

Police and a doctor were called, and the man was taken to the hospital. He is suffering from several broken ribs, injured chest, and probable internal injuries.

Dr. J. M. Laframboise, who is attending the injured man, stated this morning that the man had no internal injuries, but that he had a fractured rib and bruises about the body. He said he was progressing very favourably, and was not in a critical condition.

Princes Pitch Hay At Alberta Ranch

CALGARY, Alta., Aug 16.—(Canadian Press)—His Royal the Prince of Wales and Prince George after an early morning ride over the "E.P." ranch spent several hours yesterday helping in haying, each wielding a lusty fork. Then after lunch enjoyed with zestful appetite, they returned to this labor for an hour. They alternated between pitching hay and hauling it to the barns. The members of their entourage enjoyed themselves in other fashion

At 4.45 the whole party left for High River by automobile. There they rejoin the Royal train and proceed to Calgary where their Royal Highnesses will be guests in the evening at Calgary Drag Hunt Ball. They leave early Tuesday morning for Banff and the Pacific Coast.

So far as can be learned, the Prince has no intention of visiting the United States en route east.

PLANE PASSES TEST FLIGHT

Arrangements Made for Delivery of Ship Wednesday or Thursday.

LONDON-TO-LONDON

LONDON, Ont., Aug. 16 (Canadian Press).—Captain Terry Tully, who will pilot the Stinson monoplane in an attempted non-stop flight from London, Ontario, to London, England, was in Detroit yesterday where the first of a series of test flights were held yesterday afternoon and arrangements made for delivery of the ship. Wednesday or Thursday Tully will fly the plane to Roosevelt Field, Long Island, where final adjustments will be made to the various instruments used in the navigation of the monoplane. Later Tully will pilot the monoplane in a non-stop flight to London, Ontario, where final preparations for the flight will be carried out. Lieutenant James Medcalf, the navigator, is at present in this city attending to details in connection with the take-off.

It is understood that practically no flying will be done locally prior to the attempted trans-Atlantic hop, lest the precision of the compasses and other delicate navigation instruments be disturbed.

The two aviators have decided to dispense with a radio set because of its weight. Medcalf, however, will use a British electric flash to communicate with passing ships so that mariners will be able to give the men their bearings at various stages. Steamship companies are reporting the expected positions of vessels in the traffic lanes at different hours so that everything possible may be done to keep the fliers in touch with the world on their long jaunt.

While no definite date has as yet been set for the projected flight, it is thought that the fliers will take off near the end of the month as soon as arrangements are completed and the weather permits.

HOME GARDEN PRIZES GIVEN

Kenneth Sanderson and Lillian Henderson Take First Place

USE GOVERNMENT SEEDS

First prizes of $5 each in the home garden contest, conducted in the county under the auspices of J. B. Nelson, agricultural representative, have been won by Kenneth Sanderson, R. R. 1, Peterborough, in the boys' class, and Lillian Henderson, R. R. 7, Peterborough, in the girls' class.

Other prize-winners are Archie Crow and J. A. Crow of R. R. 1, Lakefield, who share the second prize of $3, and Jack Barrie, Birdsall, winner of the third prize of $2. Violet Miller, Keene, and Wilma Hope are respectively winners of second and third prize in the girls' class.

Under the conditions of the contest, all the vegetables on which the standing was awarded had to be raised from a package, containing seeds of 18 different varieties, supplied at nominal cost by the Government. The points on which the gardens were given place by the judges, were: General appearance, correct size of plot and arrangement of crops, freedom from weeds, disease, and insects, cultivation and care of plants, quality of vegetables and uniformity in size and shape, and finally approximate yield.

MADOC WOMAN STRUCK BY CAR

Mrs. Thomas Tucker Badly Shaken When Knocked Down.

FOOT RUN OVER.

MADOC, Aug. 16.—Mrs. Thomas Tucker of this village was knocked down and her foot run over by a touring car. Mrs. Tucker was going to church. When crossing the street, she saw the car coming and stepped back, only to be caught in front of the car. Medical aid was called and it was found that no bones were broken, but she was shaken up badly.

SPEAKER'S VOTE SAVES COSGRAVE

Tie Vote on Laborite Non-Confidence Motion in Dail

SEVENTY EACH SIDE

DUBLIN, August 16 (Canadian Press).—The Laborite non-confidence motion, directed against President Cosgrave's Free State Government, was defeated in the Dail to-day by the closest of margins. The division was a tie with seventy on each side when the Speaker of the Dail cast the deciding vote.

In Mexico it is not the custom for housewives to do their own marketing and everything is bought by servants. The result is that housekeeping is very expensive.

CALLES GIVES UP CONTROL OF BUDGET

Agreement Concluded Whereby Legislators Will Resume Approval of Expenses.

HAILED AS REFORM

End Extraordinary Power of President is Democratic Step.

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 16. — Practically ever since he took office as president, General Calles possessed extraordinary financial powers as regards Mexico's budgets, it having been found impossible to have the budgets studied and approved by the Mexican Chambers.

The recent agreement under which these powers will no longer be vested in the Chief Executive, thus taking from the president what was in effect a dictatorial function, is hailed in an editoral in the Excelsior as a great step forward in the administrative and financial reorganization of the republic. Substantially the Excelsior says:

"The Presidential accord, in virtue of which there will be a new method of elaboration and execution of budgets, suppressing the President's extraordinary facilities as regards finance, is worthy of the highest praise. Government under such faculties in such an important department as Finance is, from the constitutional viewpoint, Government by dictatorship. But that has been Mexico's custom since the triumph of the Revolution.

Dangers seen in Late Plan.

"The fundamental principle of a democracy, namely intervention of the people in approving national spendings has developed into a fact. Year after year we have seen Mexican Chambers cede to the Chief Executive their most important function. Mexico's constitution itself is the greatest obstacle to intervention of the Legislature for its text does not allow the necessary time for analysis and study of budgets.

"We are tired of writing articles headed 'There will be no budgets,' a statement which has always proved true. We have always considered it better for the Government rather than the Legislative Chambers, to elaborate. But that state of affairs has imposed the necessity for extraordinary faculties which contain many dangers, both from the political and financial standpoints.

"Intervention of the Legislature eliminates effectively the regime of extraordinary powers, necessitating at the same time complete unity of criterions for all departments of the State in accomplishing the work of balance.

"It is an old custom that every time a Finance Minister calls for economies all the Secretaries of State are agreeable that these be made—except in their own departments.

Urges Living Within Income.

"A good financial gesture is to adapt spendings to the country's possibilities. But here we enter the second part of the budget tragedy. Possibilities—here are found the roots of lack of a balance. Sons of imagination and enthusiasm, calculations regarding income resemble fairy tales, and the surprising thing is that during the days of crisis income is estimated on the same basis as during periods of prosperity.

"It is like an industrialist , who when sales drop increases the expenses of his staff and production. In years past estimates of income have been made with an optimism which explains the adoption of expense budgets bound to fall with the coming of the slightest adverse wind.

"It is good government to publish in advance (as the Presidential agreement under consideration indicates) the estimates of public expenses with an expression of the amounts which signify the cost of administration, the details of which the regime of extraordinary powers, has conserved in mystery.

"Knowledge of and approval by the people of money spent is an origin of democratic life. Under the extraordinary powers the budget decreed by the Executive destroys this fundamental principle. Under such conditions there is no real budget. The Presidential agreement is a progressive step in administrative and financial reorganization."

WINNIPEG WHEAT.

WINNIPEG, Aug. 16.—Good buying boosted wheat prices here yesterday, the close being 2½c to 2¾c higher, October at $1.52¾, December at $1.49¼, and May at $1.53½. The first bulge came at the opening, but it succeeded only in bringing out a wave of selling orders, which deflated values. A quick reaction followed when buying orders came into the pit from Chicago houses, and in behalf of local exporters. Spreading operations were on a fairly large scale, and affected all months. Rain was fairly general over the three Prairie Provinces over the week-end, and was, no doubt, very beneficial at many points. There was no feature in coarse or cash grain markets.

Il Duce's Mountain Not On French Soil

ROME, Aug. 16.—The Alpine peak which was christened "Mount Benito Mussolini" yesterday by Augusto Turati, secretary-general of the Facist Party, is not Mont Blanc, but is the highest one on Italian soil of the several mountains culminating in Mont Blanc, it was stated tonight.

It was stated in many quarters that the French peak had been renamed by the Italians.

Prosecutor's Neck Broken In Wrestle

CHICAGO, Aug. 16.—George A. Carmichael, Assistant State's Attorney, suffered a broken neck in a friendly wrestling bout yesterday, on the last day of his vacation at South Haven, Mich. The injury resulted when the prosecutor was suddenly thrown on his head. The accident was witnessed by his wife and two-year-old son.

WELL-KNOWN MAN DROWNED IN ERIE

Dr. Morris Schwartz Prominent in Toronto Jewish Circles.

TORONTO, Aug. 16.—Dr. Morris Schwartz of Detroit, formerly of Toronto, was drowned on Sunday in Lake Erie. He was born in Braila, Rumania, in 1888, and was a graduate of the University of Rumania.

Dr. Schwartz came to Toronto in 1902, and received the degree of Doctor of Dentistry in 1911 from the University of Toronto. He was the second Jewish doctor to graduate from the Royal Detnal College.

He was a member of Mount Sinai Masonic Lodge, a member of the National Council of the Zionist organization of Canada and Honorary Secretary for the Central Division of Ontario Zionists.

In 1919 he went to Palestine as a member of Hadassah medical unit and did splendid work, especially in Tiberius and Safed.

Dr. Schwartz is survived by his parents and three sisters, Mrs. A. Selick, Mrs. S. Rycus and Mrs. C. Kinmellan. The funeral takes place in Detroit to-day.

A large number of members of Mount Sinai Lodge, of the Zionist organization and of the Hadassah left Toronto last night to attend the funeral.

STEEL MILLS WILL HALT OPERATIONS

Pay Tribute During Burial of Elbert H. Gary at Wheaton, Illinois.

CHICAGO, Aug. 16. — (Canadian Press.)—The great mills of the United States Steel Corporation, will halt operations during the burial of Elbert H. Gary, the Chicago lawyer who conceived the great corporation and succeeded in establishing with himself at its head for about a quarter of a century.

E. J. Buffington, President of the Illinois Steel Company, of the major subsidiaries of the parent corporation, said that all employees of the far flung mills would cease work for two hours on Thursday. The funeral services will be held at 10.30 a.m. on that day at Wheaton, Ills., a few miles west of Chicago.

Rest In Family Plot.

CHICAGO, Aug. 16. — (Canadian Press.)—In the Methodist Episcopal church at Wheaton, Ills., near the farm where he was born, Elbert H. Gary, will lie before his friends for the last time Thursday mornnig.

It was in that church, now housed in a noble edifice which he gave to the congregation and known as the Gary Memorial Church, that he attended Sunday school as a boy.

Likewise it was there two years ago, when he rejoined the congregation, that he expressed the wish that his friends should last look upon his face in that edifice.

His two daughters, Mrs. Bertha Campbell of Evanston, Ills., and Mrs. Gertrude Sutcliffe of Chicago, and the close family friends remembered his expressed desires, and on Wednesday the body will be brought to Chicago from New York where he died yesterday. In the beautiful mausoleum in the highest point in Wheaton cemetery, the former judge and steel chieftain will be buried on Thursday.

The funeral services will be held at 10.30 a.m. Thursday.

Then in the mausoleum of pure Grecian marble, which he built, where rest the bodies of his first wife and his parents, his body will be placed.

MOTHER DIES SAVING CHILD

Heart Gives Out As She Swims With Her Little Daughter.

BOTH BODIES RECOVERED.

CHATHAM, Aug. 16.—Collapsing from exertion as she vainly attempted to save her four-year-old daughter, Mrs. Gilbert Lee was drowned yesterday afternoon with the child in a dredge cut on the Kent Tobacco Plantations in Dover Township, 15 miles from the city.

The little girl fell from a bridge which spans the cut. The mother plunged in after her child, and succeeded in bringing her to the surface, but after swimming a short distance, she collapsed, and both sank.

Dr. T. L. Ritchie, who investigated, stated that there was no water in Mrs. Lee's lungs, and that it was probable that the exertion proved too great a strain on her heart. The child's body was recovered about an hour later.

Gilbert Lee is assistant superintendent of the Kent Tobacco Plantation. The family came to the city early in the spring from Kentucky. The bodies will be taken for interment to Owensboro', Ky., the former home of the family.

FLIERS TELL OF STRUGGLE WITH STORM

Return to Dessau After Heroic Attempt to Reach Goal.

DENSE FOGS

Spend 22-Hour Nerve-Wracking Battle With Storm and Fog.

DESSAU, Germany, Aug. 16. — (Canadian Press.)—Beaten, but still grimly determined to conquer the Atlantic, the four sturdy German airmen who hopped off from Dessau late Sunday afternoon in an attempt to achieve honors for a westward air passage last night were back at their starting point after defying sorm and lightning in a heroic effort to reach their goal.

The pilots, Herman Koehl and Friedrich Loose, after a nerve wracking 22-hour battle with storm and fog which carried them beyond the west coast of Ireland, dropped in on Dessau in their monoplane, Bremen, almost unobserved at a time when hope was still high that they were speeding across the Atlantic to the North American coast.

At almost the same hour their flying comrades, Cornelius Edzard and Johann Ritstiez, of the monoplane Europe, which only recently shattered the endurance flight record, arrived at Dessau from Bremen where they had been forced to land late Sunday night after a long duel of nearly five hours with North Sea storms and fogs.

Landed At Dessau.

The Bremen landed at Dessau at 4.20 o'clock yesterday afternoon, the descent being made successfully and without damage to the plane, despite her heavy load of gasoline, and the plane was returned to the Junkers aerodrome intact. Her sister plane, the Europa, which was forced to land at Bremen, however was not so fortunate in her descent Sunday night, the under-carriage and propeller being damaged when the tail of the machine went into a ditch. The Europa yesterday was being dismantled at the Bremen aerodrome, experts expressing the opinion that it would take several weeks before she could be put into condition.

It was a strange mingling of satisfaction and disappointment that permeated the scene at Dessau; which less than 24 hours before had been animated by the flutter of thousands of handkerchiefs as spectators waved farewell to the aspirants for trans-Atlantic flight honors.

"It was a stormy, fog-ridden night," Koehl said. "Winds just about toyed with us, lifting our plane, then pushing it down until at times we rarely skirted the tree tops. Twice the Bremen got out of control, although the motor magnetos functioned perfectly. Because of the divergence of our route and the fact that our battle with the winds forced us to use up our fuel at an excessive rate, we resolved to return after having negotiated the west coast of Ireland. We headed south by south-easterly, skirting London, crossing the channel from Dover to Calais and then proceeded by way of Antwerp and Wesel to Dessau."

Koehl said that he and his companions, Loose, avoided big cities on their return flight, a policy which accounted for the complete lack of news concerning the Bremen's whereabouts from the time she was sighted over Ireland yesterday morning. Even Professor Junkers did not suspect their return and was speechless with astonishment when told that the Bremen had just rolled in "softly" on the landing field and was intact. He warmly embraced both airmen and congratulated them on their prudent handling of their plane and their determination not to risk continuing in the face of untoward meteorological conditions in the North Atlantic.

Edzard and Risticz, who arrived at the Dessau aerodrome from Bremen at almost the same hour as their colleagues, joined in an all around melancholy laugh immediately, to swap experiences of Sunday night, meanwhile giving expression to grim determination to conquer the Atlantic by the air route.

It was almost 6 o'clock last night, or more than an hour after the return of the Bremen, that Berlin learned of the return to Dessau unscathed as the afternoon papers had her flying south-westward. Reports of her return were discredited there, especially as a joint bulletin issued by the North German Lloyd and Junkers Works appeared to minimize rumors indicating that the Bremen had given up the flight.

German hopes then got a fresh impetus when a radio message from the steamship Columbus at sea said that a blue sky and calm weather were prevailing in the west Atlantic. It was not until some time after 4 o'clock that it was learned that the Bremen had quietly slipped into her home port.

While the flight of the Bremen was brief inglorious so far as its termination was concerned, aviation experts were inclined to view the performance of Loose and Koehl in guiding her through the storm tossed night as a superb exhibition of airmanship and unstinted praise was given to them for having perferred prudence to valor by returning to their starting point.

AFTER 13 YEARS.

BRADFORD, Ill, Aug. 16.—After 13 years Louis Kahn has been reunited with his family. His wife and three children arrived the other day from Russia. Kahn sent the money to his family three times to play their passage to America, but each time it was stolen.

ARMY MOBILIZED TO SUBDUE INCAS

Poor Communications Hinders News—Reports Reveal Indians on Warpath.

RED PLOT UNCOVERED

LA PAZ, Bolivia, Aug. 16 (A.P.).—One entire division of the Bolivian army has been mobilized and rushed to the various storm centres of the uprising of the Inca Indians. Meanwhile several thousand troops are maintained at the garrison at La Paz against possible trouble here.

So far Indians inhabiting this section have given no signs of trouble, but the fact that an alleged Communist plot intended to incite them to join the movement has been discovered, caused the government to take extreme precautions.

Poor communication, and in some instances total lack of it, makes the receipt of news most difficult from the regions where the movement is strongest; namely, the departments of Sucre, Cochabamba, and Potosi. However, from various accounts drifing in, mostly a day or two days late, it is learned the Indians continue on the rampage.

Trouble Feared at Oruro

The Department of Sucre, where one of the most serious situations is reported, includes the City of Sucre, the old capital of the Republic, which, in fact, still is nominally the capital, although the Government functions at La Paz.

The Government places full blame for the situation on the Communists, charging that since the failure of the plot last month to overthrow the Government and establish in its place a Bolshevist regime, the Communists have been working upon the Indians and inciting them to restore the lost glory of the Inca empire.

The Indians are extremely ignorant and guillible, it is pointed out, and make excellent subjects for such propaganda, particularly because of the long, smouldering resentment of white domination dating from the time of the Spanish Conquest and handed down through the ages of oppression.

Beasts of Burden

They live in a miserable state, are undernourished and wretchedly garbed and perform the work of beasts of burden.

The present trouble is admitted to be the most serious in recent history and its rapid spread has caused much alarm. Special precautions are being taken to maintain order along the railroad line from La Paz to Lake Titicaca. This road leads from Bolivia to Peru.

The Peruvian military garrison in the town of Puno, on the other side of the lake, is reported to have been strengthened against possibility of the movement spreading to that country.

GRAIN CROPS GOOD AROUND BONAR LAW

All Fall Grain Has Been Harvested—Oats Now Being Cut.

BONAR LAW, Aug. 16. — Grain crops have made good progress in this district and threshing has commenced. Sylvester Redcliffe is operating the first machine to start. All fall grain has been harvested in very good shape and oat cutting is well on the way. A majority of the farmers will finish this week. Potato crops are above the average.

Mr. Andrew Thompson has the best field of corn to be seen as yet. It is between five and six feet in height and very even for the large number of acres. Hay was an abundant crop although some was lost owing to the wet weather. Pastures are excellent and the flow of milk is increasing.

MORE ARRESTS ARE EXPECTED

May Grant Applications for Bail for Men Already Held.

IN BEETON CASE

BARRIE, Aug. 16.—The Crown is still worried over the prospect of several of those charged in the Beeton robberies pleading guilty when they come before Magistrate Jeffs here Friday, and demanding an immediate trial before the magistrate, which would place the Crown in the awkward position of divulging considerable of their case or being almost compelled to grant bail if it was necessary to ask for a remand on their own behalf.

Until they get much of the evidence under oath that they now possess Crown Attorney Evans and the Provincial police are decidedly adverse to freeing about half of those now held in custody. The fact that the Crown seeks further remands in the case when they have such convincing evidence, even if it is difficult to assemble it in time for the trial, is said here to indicate that at least two more important alleged accomplices of those already charged must be arrested before the leaders now in custody are permitted free.

Many Charges.

As many as 14 charges may be laid against one of those already taken and 11 against two of the others are pending. The representatives of the Crown resent the insinuation of unfairness which was charged by W. A. Boys, K.C., one of the defence counsel, that if bail was granted certain ones they would immediately be re-arrested. "It is not the intention of the police to be unfair, but our whole case on several of the charges against these individuals rests on whether we can prevent their talking to any of our principal witnesses."

Interest is at a high pitch awaiting the applications for bail which are likely to be made before Magistrate Jeffs, and it is expected the Crown have several surprises to spring on the defence even at so early a date.

The incident at Newmarket is not held as particularly important here, the finding of the loot there and its subsequent identification being satisfactorily explained. If there are important developments today they will likely occur in the northern section of the district or in Toronto. At either place one or more arrests may be made in the next few days.

Those in custody whose finger prints and Bertillion measurements had not been taken were removed quietly to headquarters yesterday morning and their identifications made by Sergt. Creasy. Both of these men may be granted bail this afternoon.

Afraid to Call Police.

An example of the fear which the robberies had instilled in the farmers was related last night by one of the officers who worked on a case of theft here last year. This was a farmer near Beeton, who heard the frightened screams of his poultry about 10 o'clock one night, and men carrying the birds from the coop to a waiting car on the road. Although he had a loaded shotgun and a telephone, he made no effort to notify the police for fear of worse consequences than the theft of the chickens, until the following morning, when, of course, any chance of locating the culprits had vanished. This shows the difficulty Inspector Stringer and his assistants, Sergt. Creasy and Ray, were laboring under during the early part of their investigations into the slaying by Alex. Hodge of the midnight marauder.

SAINT and SINNER

By ANNE AUSTIN

"Do you know what the greatest gift is, Faith?" George asked quizzically, but his eyes were very tender.

"Love, I suppose," Faith answered reluctantly.

"Wrong!" George grinned cheerfully. "For if you have this gift I'm speaking of, you'll get tons of love as an inevitable result. The gift is simply this: Belief in yourself, belief in your power to attract and hold love, belief in your beauty and charm. You've never had that belief, my dear, because Cherry and the rest of your family cheated you out of it."

Faith's eyes were round with bewilderment. "But how can you give it to me, George?"

"I may have exaggerated, child," he acknowledged, his head cocked on one side as he studied first the sketch he had made of her the day before, then the living picture before him—Faith with Cherry's baby cradled in the crook of her arm. "But it would make me very happy if you would take that gift from me. You see, I know that you are beautiful, that you have 'it,' as Madame Glyn calls personality, that you are infinitely worthy of love, and that you have within your very beautiful body, soul and mind the ability to hold love which is given to you. I think my own unwavering devotion to you proves that, doesn't it? Oh, don't be afraid! I'm not going to make love to you. I know you don't love me, that you've never cared for me except as a friend, but I want you to use my devotion to fortify your spirit now. If I'm any judge, you're rather in need of spiritual fortification right now. Well," he drew a deep breath and bent lower over his palette, "that's my gift, Faith, if you can accept it."

Faith did not answer for a long minute, but in her beautiful, grave face there dawned serenity, overlaid with a lovely light of tenderness. A suggestion of a smile rippled along the deep curves of her broad mouth.

"Thank you—for the gift, George. You're a wonderful friend," she said softly.

And knowing that, in George's eyes at least, her face and figure were very lovely, so lovely that he had been in a fever to paint them, she found herself responding slowly to the magic of the gift with which he had presented her. Her heart, which had been beating for many hours with painful heaviness, became calmer, more normal. The lump of grief in her throat melted, giving her a feeling of ease and lightness, which last night she had believed she would never feel again. Odd how susceptible a woman was to the beneficent effect of being loved, she reflected. George was right. It gave her a new sense of power, of worthiness. No wonder Cherry bore her small body with such gallantry, carried her beautiful, bright head so high. She had been born with the gift which George had tried to give her, Faith. And as a consequence all things had come her way.

"Now," George said abruptly, as he laid down his pencil, "I want to ask you to promise me one thing: Carry in your mind always the consciousness that you possess this gift. Walk, talk smile like a beloved woman, like a woman who knows that she is one of God's annointed women. Love will pour in on you in such floods that you cannot handle it all, but it will enrich your life immeasurably. I don't mean just the love of men seeking a mate, but all sorts of love—the love of old people, of children, of dogs, of other women. You will not be able to walk down the street without attracting attention—sometimes a startled gleam of recognition of the quality which makes you luminous. And everywhere you pass people will be grateful to you, glad to have seen you, sorry to have you go. That is what the gift means, Faith. Will you promise me?"

INTERPRETING SPORT WITH FROCKS

This is a Patou beige kasha for cool weather. Its tucked pockets, hand embroidered dots and pleated skirt put chic's stamp upon it. Observe the unusually becoming necklin e and the length of the jumper.

A three-piece, strictly tailored import of white radium silk, the height of sportive smartness. Polka dot blue-and-white tie and a kerchief banding the hips give it style and dash all its own.

NEW YORK, Aug. 16.—The English girl may have started the modern feminine love of athletics by her tramps along country lanes, her bicycling and her devotion to the hunt.

But it remained for the American girl to dress up while indulging in athletics and finally to use canoeing, tennis, golf, tramping and other exercise as new and emphatic arguments in favor of lovely clothes.

The smart, becoming type of clothes known as "sports frocks" is really the American's contribution both to frock style and to sports.

This summer's sports frocks justify the American girl's interpretation of sports. There is a simplicity and lack of sophisticated detail about them that is singularly pleasing.

Two-piece sports frocks are the most popular, with the little three-piece frock the last word in smartness. Most of them are plain colored, or if they have trimming they use dots, checks, or geometric designs—never flowers.

I show today a little three-piece import in popular white radium silk that is as smart a golf costume as I have seen this year.

Its skirt is strictly tailored, with boyish round vest front and a turned down collar close to the throat, becoming to young but apt to be trying to older faces. It is sleeveless and has over it one of the smart and very useful hip-length jackets that make of the dress a costume and can be removed if its wearer seriously wants to play on a hot day.

But smart as are the lines of this frock, I think the polka dotted blue and white tie and kerchief are its dashing points. The windsor tie and the kerchief, banding the hips to form a yoke above the flare, give a style all their own. Only the simplest of sports hats, such as the white ballybuntl, should be worn with such a frock.

Patou designed the other frock, a beige kasha cloth for cooler days. Tucked pockets, hand embroidered dots in brown and a brown leather belt and silk embroidered handkerchief put the stamp of chic on it.

Its soft material lends itself kindly to the pleats that give fullness to the skirt and to the tucks that decorate its pockets. The neckline is unusually becoming, traced as it is in dots, and the longer jumper length corresponds to the longer length the skirt takes.

I designed a hat for this soft frock, one with the caressing touch of velvet in its crown. Beige felt combines with beige velvet to fashion it, and the new flaring turban gives it its design.

DRESS

By MARY MARSHALL

Red linen collar and elbow cuffs embroidered with white silk are shown in the circle above. Points of ecru lace form the cuffs and a triangle of lace tab at the front on the black satin frock indicated in the sketch. Tucked white organdie collar and short-sleeve cuffs tied with blue ribbons are used to trim a frock of blue and white printed material. In the circle below is shown a cuff set of white crepe de chine ornamented with beads and silk embroidery.

The best-dressed girl on the floor at a smart restaurant where women and their escorts assemble to drink cool drinks at tea time and to dance a little in between—was a slender young woman in a black taffeta frock. Her hat was small and her skirts were a trifle longer than the average—flesh-colored stockings, high-heeled black satin slippers—two strands of small pearls about her neck—and flesh-colored lingerie collar to outline the rounded decolletage of her neck and matching cuffs that turned back from her slightly puffed shorter-than-elbow sleeves.

I wish I could make you see that young girl as I saw her—because she was very good to see and a notable object lesson for every woman who wants to look her best. I am quite sure if you had seen her that you would have gone away with the resolve to have a short-sleeved black frock with flesh-colored lingerie collar and cuffs.

I have since seen quite a number of these fine lingerie cuffs to be worn with short sleeves. They magnify the charm of well-formed, slender young arms. But it is hardly a fashion for the older woman or the woman with voluptuous arms of the sort that Rubens found enticing.

A close second in smartness to my little beauty in black taffeta was a girl whose frock caused considerably more comment. It consisted of a simply made frock of organdie in the new shade of ecru that they call praline. The skirt was gathered, but not to full, and the underslip was of a rich red taffeta made fairly scant so that the fullness of the beige taffeta appeared like a mist about the slender red silhouette beneath. A rich red ribbon fashioned the girdle placed at a normal waistline—and there was a floppy-brimmed red hat to finish the picture.

Rag flowers cut from the material of the frock are still "going strong." They are easy enough to make yourself—and I'll gladly send you the pattern to make them—together with a sketch showing the very newest way of arranging them on a summer frock. Just send me a stamped, self-addressed envelope if you are interested.

HOROSCOPE

The Stars Incline, but do not Compel.

(Copyright, 1927, McClure Syndicate.)
WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 17, 1927.

This is one of the really lucky days of the month, according to astrology, which finds benefic aspects strongly dominant.

Again women are subject to inspiring and stimulating influences, which indicate much public activity as well as home development.

While interest will strongly focus on domestic affairs and science will be applied more and more to the household civic service will be demanded by the public, the seers declare.

This is read as a lucky day for weddings, making for steady progress in prosperous paths.

Love affairs will flourish for the remainder of the month, when suitors will be serious and less inclined than previously toward non-committal wooing.

This is read as a propitious rule for all who travel by land or sea and it will be evident that the prophecy of a record-breaking number of tourists for 1927 will be fulfilled.

There is a sign read as exceedingly promising for the navy as well as commerce.

While air ships will ply the air ocean liners will be patronized as never before, it is prognosticated.

Mars is in a place where it is believed dissensions are encouraged among members of families as well as among nations.

It has been foretold that marriage problems and changes in marriage laws would be much discussed in 1927, and now the seers foresee strong reactionary influences making for new campaigns against divorce.

The clergy will study social conditions and seek remedial methods to stabilize the family, if the stars are rightly read.

Inventions of motors and discoveries of new fuels again are forecast and reduction of operating costs are promised.

Persons whose birthdate it is have the augury of a prosperous year in which there may be new and unusual friendships.

Children born on this day may have more or less mental discipline through disappointments, but they usually meet with great success, especially in public affairs.

FASHION NOTES.

By HEDDA HOYT
(United Press Fashion Editor)

NEW YORK, Aug. 16.—Assuming that 'variety is the spice of life', the woman who is a distinct type finds it difficult to dress in a variety of styles. If she happens to be of the mannish type it's dangerous for her to attempt the more feminine types of dress and if she is distinctly feminine in form and features she cannot hope to wear severely tailored clothing.

Very often we grow weary of women who stick too closely to type where clothes are concerned. We are pleasantly surprised when we find one of our boyishly buxom friends wearing a fluffy chiffon frock which permits the showing of bare arms and neck. Somehow a frock seems to alter a woman's personality if it's just the opposite sort from what has been worn.

Very few women try to vary their styles of dressing to any great extent. The clothes they wear seldom seem new to us since they are always just what one would expect. And the individual becomes as uninteresting as her wardrobe. It's especially essential that relatives and friends who are near us each day find us wearing the unusual occasionally. Sometimes a color has not been worn before will seem to make one radiant. Something a change of silhouette does the same thing.

I have in mind a young college girl whose overgrown proportions forced her to accept only tailored clothing. Even her evening gowns were severely simple and of inconspicuous colors. One night recently she appeared, dressed in a bouffant silver taffeta gown, with rounded neckline, semi-fitted bodice and full-gathered skirt which was scalloped edged and adorned in appliques of pastel flowers. No one recognized her in this fragile setting, for, although she was as large as ever, the "Dresdon doll" gown effect made her entirely feminine. She had emerged from her cocoon a glorious butterfly.

A friend of mine who has red hair and reddish brown eyes depends so greatly upon accentuating her color scheme that she wears brown, tan or yellow constantly. One can't imagine her in any other shades. What a pity it is that someone can't tell her to forget her eyes and hair and wear a color which will give her friends a slight relief.

Whenever I hear a woman sigh, "My husband never comments on my clothes," I know instinctively that she is one of those persons who fails to alter themselves by wearing diversified styles and new colors. If a woman has never worn a bright red dress in her life and suddenly blossoms forth in one, her husband will certainly notice it.

It's a good plan to change the way of wearing the hair once in a while also. Try parting the hair on the opposite side or in the centre for a few days. Or, try wearing the hair straight for a change with a "cover-bob" at the rear concealing the short boyish clip.

Uncle Wiggily

To-day's Bedtime Story

By Howard R. Garis

(Copyright, 1927, McClure Syndicate.)

UNCLE WIGGILY'S SWING

Uncle Wiggily had long pieces of grapevine rope left over after he had made his hammock, about which I told you in the story last night.

"I wonder what I can do with these pieces of rope?" asked the rabbit gentleman when he had mended the hammock which the Bushy Bear clawed down.

"Why don't you make yourself a swing?" asked Jingle, who was one of Uncle Wiggily's forty 'leven little bunny children.

"Oh, a swing would be perfectly lovely!" exclaimed Jingle who was Jingle's sister. "And I know the nicest tree where you can fasten the swing ropes, Daddicums! Please do!"

"But I don't need a swing," Uncle Wiggily answered, his twink nose pinkling upside down. "I have my hammock!"

8-9
Swinging to and fro.

For a moment the little rabbit girls did not know what to answer to this, but at last Jingle said:

"We could use your swing when you didn't want it, Daddicums."

"Oh ho!" chuckled the rabbit gentleman. "I never thought of that! Of course! To be sure! When I am in my hammock you can have the swing. All right, I'll do it!"

Tossing the ends of some grapevine topes over a tree branch that stuck out straight, high over his head, Mr. Longears looped them around and fastened them there. Then he found a flat board for a seat and the swing was finished.

"Oh, I'm going to have the first swing," cried Jingle.

"I think it would be more polite to let Daddicums have the first swing," said Jangle, gently catching her sister by the ears and holding her back, for Jingle would have jumped up on the board seat.

"Oh, yes, let Daddicums go first, agreed Jingle, when her ears had stopped tingling from the tweeking her sister gave them.

"Ho! Ho! I see what you mean!" laughed the father of the little rabbit girls. "You want me to try the swing first so if it breaks I will get the bump, and not you. But I think it will not break. And, if it does—" He found some soft ferns of which he put a bunch beneath the swing board on the ground, in case anything happened. But nothing went wrong and after swinging to and fro a while, Mr. Longears got up and let Jingle and Jangle have their turns. The little rabbit girls were delighted with the grapevine swing.

Uncle Wiggily was half asleep in his hammock when he looked over and saw Jingle pushing Jangle in the swing so she would sail away up in the air. And, as she pushed her sister, Jingle sang:

"Swing low, swing high, swing up to the sky.

And don't come down until Fourth of July!"

With that she gave her sister an extra hard push and then, all of a sudden, Uncle Wiggily was aroused from his nap by a scream.

"What's the matter?" he shouted, leaping from his hammock and hopping over to where he had left Jingle and Jangle playing. "Did she fall off the swing?"

"No, Daddicums!" gasped Jingle, "she's stuck up there! Look!" She pointed to where Jangle, sitting on the board of the swing, was caught in the branches of a tree near the one to which the grapevine rope was made fast. "I pushed her too high, I guess," went on Jingle, "and she stayed up there!"

"Oh, dear! Oh, dear!" cried Jangle, who was holding tightly to the vine ropes. "Have I got to stay up here until Fourth of July?"

"No! No! of course you haven't!" said Uncle Wiggily. "I'll get you down right away!" But that was easier said than done, for the rabbit could not climb the tree to loosen the swing. And even if he did, Jangle might swoop down so fast that she would tumble and be hurt.

Uncle Wiggily didn't know what to do. Both little rabbit girls were crying now and Mr. Longears was thinking of telephoning for the Fire Dog to come with a long ladder when, all of a sudden, Jacko and Jumpo Kinkytail, the clever monkey boys, came racing through the woods.

In a moment they knew what to do, and in less than five seconds they had climbed up in the tree where Jangle and the swing were caught. While Jacko loosened the tangled branches, Jumpo looped an extra rope around Jangle's waist and when the swing was free he and his brother let her down very gently, a little at a time, until she was safe on the ground again, swing and all.

"Thank you, monkey boys," said Uncle Wiggily to Jacko and Jumpo, and to Jingle and Jangle he said: "Don't swing so high next time."

So the little rabbit girls didn't, and if the robin will lend the sparrow his red vest to wear when he goes to the movies, I'll tell you next about Uncle Wiggily and the grasshopper.

SHEIKS AND AIRPLANES.

Sheiks—that is, the real desert variety—are abandoning the old-fashioned customs of their fathers and becoming up-to-the-minute moderns. They are giving up travel by camel in favor of airplanes. Sheik Abdel Rahman Goseibi, but lately returned to Cairo from a pilgrimage to Mecca, has just hopped off for home in a modern air liner.

As for the American-bred movie sheik, that sophisticated heart-breaker with the patent-leather hair and toothsome smile, he never had much to do with camels, at least of the variety to be found in the desert. But if he is to keep up his record for winning feminine hearts, he, too, must take to the air. The general adulation for air heroes makes it really necessary that new Valentinos be able to fly and to wear flying clothes of dashing cut. A sports roadster loses its thrill in comparison with a speedy monoplane, and seems as slow and out of date as a camel.

But if our sheiks go in for airplane travel it is going to make the plot thicker for admiring maidens. For how will a dazzled flapper know exactly what her gallant sheik means when he says simply, "Fly with me?" —New York Times.

THE MELTING POT—IN EUROPE.

Although we are prone to overlook the fact, the problems of immigration and population are not by any means confined to the countries of the New World.

Population for France has, for more than half a century, denoted a vexed question, placed as she was in proximity to a rapidly-growing neighbor.

The problem, if problem there be, of the French population has changed its aspect. Whether rapidly-increasing populations in old-established countries like France are a blessing in the present economic state of the world is doubtful, but that question is hardly affected by the kind of increase that has taken place in the French census since the war. Over a million foreigners, attracted no doubt by the contemporary cheapness of living in so charming a country, have settled there. France has a genius for absorbing foreigners, and is remarkably exempt from the troubles of mixed nationalities. Even Alsace and the Eastern Cote d'Azur are relatively mild embarrassments. It will be interesting in our time to see the gradual effect of the absorption of post-war foreign elements by an old nation traditionally characterized by its homogeneity.

C.G.E. SOCIAL EFFORTS.

Employees of the Canadian General Electric Company have every reason to be well satisfied with the results of their community efforts this summer. Their excursion to Cobourg a month ago would have been a thoroughly successful picnic if fine weather had assisted them. Perhaps that little disappointment, that contact with adversity, had an effect of bringing the big crowd together in a more sympathetic atmosphere than brilliant sunshine and outdoor sports could have created.

That setback was forgotten, however, in the perfect staging of their community dance which packed the C. G. E. plaza at the Rubidge-Park street junction with a merry assembly of youth—of all ages.

These social activities of the C.G.E. folk are a welcome divertisement in Peterborough's round of recreations, and are apparently an earnest of other pleasant affairs in the future. They afford pleasure not only for the employees of that plant, but also for the public generally, and in that respect, alone, deserve the generous patronage they have thus far received.

Because of its strength in members the C.G.E. club can become a valuable community asset apart from its purposes for its own large family circle and their relatives and friends.

JAMES ROSE.

For a while, at least, West Nicholls (Jackson) Park will seem a rather lonesome place for those of us who never missed a chance on our frequent or occasional visits to chat with the genial caretaker, James Rose, who died last week.

Mr. Rose was an ideal warden, one of those public officers whom the public recognizes as a courteous and dutiful but unpresumptious custodian. He frowned only on those who transgressed the rules of good conduct. To all others he was friendly and helpful.

James Rose will be remembered by lovers of old Jackson Park especially for his unofficiousness and for his restraint in his work as caretaker.

He left the park in Nature's hands without trying to improve its beauty with artificial adornment. No doubt, he was simply following the instructions of the Nicholls Parks Trustees in that respect, and he did his work well.

Furthermore, he was not the nosey, sleuthing, curious type of park official who imagines the public are admitted only on his sufferance, and that no one may be trusted. He knew most of the people who strolled through there, and who liked to go there partly because of James Rose.

It will not be easy to find a man for the park position with the qualities of temperament Mr. Rose possessed.

APPLICATION.

Canadian boys should lend an attentive ear to the advice of Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh that they seek as much education as they can get. The youthful flying hero appreciates that there is no limit to the possibilities of knowledge providing it is applied to the task in hand.

Colonel Lindbergh has enjoyed the advantages of a college education. It is true that he did not stand at the top of his class in all subjects. But his scholastic record reveals that in mathematical sciences and engineering experimentation, he was among the leaders.

The flier does not advocate mere book knowledge. There are many people who can quote the poets and their works, but whose progress in the world has not been marked by any distinct success. On the other hand, they have seemed to be so steeped in knowledge that they find it difficult to get down to the common things of life.

Application is the greatest thing about all education. The college graduate who merely rests his laurels on his diploma will not get far. His education is only the foundation for the work that lies ahead. He must use the knowledge he has gained during his years at school and college to help him in whatever he takes up as a life work.

The fact is illustrated in the flying achievements of Colonel Lindbergh. He gained his knowledge of mathematics and engineering at college. He then proceeded to apply his knowledge in his chosen field of aviation. The success of the combination of knowledge and application is amply demonstrated in the fact that he alone of the trans-Atlantic fliers was able to land at exactly the spot he had intended when he left New York for Europe.

There are many boys who have the opportunity to go to college and refuse it. They look upon the years in the classroom as drudgery and wasted time. They point to others who have made great successes without attending even the upper forms in collegiate.

The contention may be correct. But the majority of these successful men have spent many arduous hours in study to make up for their lack of education. The majority of them will advise everyone who has the opportunity to attend a college. But they also lay particular stress on the point that it is the willingness to apply the knowledge gained in education that counts. Knowledge alone is of little avail. It is the use of knowledge that counts in the achievement of success.—Border Cities Star.

THE RECKLESS DRIVER.

There are certain drivers of motor cars who should never be allowed to operate an automobile on the highways of Ontario. The Province is faced with the task of making the roads reasonably safe for those who drive with judgment. The problem of eliminating the reckless motorists has to be faced. Stern measures will have to be instituted to cut down the number of accidents that have become far too frequent.

Death and serious injury lurk on every mile of the Provincial highways so long as the reckless man or woman is allowed to drive. Excessive speed has been shown to be the cause of innumerable fatalities. A coroner's jury in Chatham has brought in the following verdict after hearing the evidence in a double death resulting from a crash on Highway Number 2. The jury recommends:

"That the authorities of the Province take vigorous action to compel motorists to drive within the speed limits as set by law and to prosecute all dangerous and 'cut-out' automobile drivers."

The loss of human life on Ontario's country highways has become an almost daily occurrence. Cars collide or go into the ditch while traveling at speeds ranging from 50 and more miles per hour. At that velocity a crash inevitably means serious injury, if not death, for the occupants of the wrecked cars.

Many of these fatalities occur on the long, straight stretches of road. The tendency to let the car out is too great for the reckless driver. He does not keep within reasonable limits. Nor does he take due consideration of other vehicles on the road.

If a motorist attempts to "cut-in" to pass anyone while traveling at terrific speed he creates the hazard of disaster. Or, if he must suddenly come to a dead stop, he is forced to take the ditch or collide with whatever obstacle may have loomed up in his pathway.

If the fast driver were alone on the road, it would be only his own fate that hung in the balance. But when so many people are constantly using Ontario's highways, their common safety must be protected. Often it happens that the driver, who is directly responsible for the tragedy, is unhurt. It is the careful driver who has been run into that is frequently the victim of an accident.

The danger is not so much a matter of speed. It is the combination of terrific driving and the taking of long chances that causes the damage. The careful driver will go 40 or faster when he has an open road. But he throttles down immediately he sees the approach of another vehicle. He will not turn out to pass a car in front unless he is positive that he has plenty of room to do so in safety.

There are many drivers who apparently have no regard for anyone else. They seem to become obsessed when they get behind a wheel. A speed mania seizes them in its grip. It forces them to drive to the peril of themselves and everyone else in their immediate vicinity.

This is the type of driver who has to be cured or driven off the roads of Ontario. The brunt of the satisfactory solution rests upon the shoulders of the traffic patrol officers and the courts. Summons and sentences, together with the cancellation of driving licenses, will go a long way towards getting rid of the dangerous driver.

Ontario has a splendid system of highways. The careful motorists should be allowed to enjoy the roads without being in constant fear of some reckless driver causing them serious injury or death.—Border Cities Star.

MONTREAL GRAIN AND PRODUCE.

MONTREAL, Que., August 16 (Canadian Press). — The foreign demand for Canadian grain continued dull on the Montreal market yesterday, the buyers showing little desire to purchase until the new crop arrives. A small quantity of American wheat was sold.

A moderate amount of business was done in Canadian Western oats in the domestic market and values were unchanged.

The flour market was without any new feature to note, business in the spring and winter wheat grades being practically at a standstill.

The inquiry for all lines of millfeed continued good, and the undertone was steady. The market for standard grades of rolled oats was firm under a moderate demand.

Further strength developed in the butter market yesterday, and values were marked up another ½c to ¾c per pound. The demand was fair. The receipts were 1,310 packages.

Extreme dullness marked the cheese trade, and prices were irregular. The receipts were 6,342 boxes.

The trade in eggs was fair and prices were well maintained. The receipts were 1,294 cases.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, August 16 (Canadian Press). — Bulges in all grains ran into free selling yesterday, and while there was a stronger tone in the last hour, demand was not broad enough to hold the advances. At the finish wheat was up ⅝c to 1⅜c, corn unchanged to ⅜c higher; oats unchanged to ¼c to ⅝c gain; and provisions 17½c off to 7½c advance.

Long wheat came out early on a small bulge caused by buying and better cables than due and talk of frost in the Edmonton district. Part of the early gain was wiped out when offerings increased, but purchasers again became active when the Winnipeg market turned sharply upward on claims of frost damage and a forecast for colder weather in the Canadian North-West.

Reports were current that frost of a week ago did heavy damage in some sections of Saskatchewan and the general run reports from the Canadian North-West were less optimistic, with fears of further frost last night.

Corn showed a firm undertone, and while there was an early break due to selling out of an eastern long line, the market rallied quickly on a forecast for cooler weather over the belt.

Oats followed corn, and prices averaged somewhat higher on unfavourable crop comments, which continue to come from the American North-West and Canada.

Provisions were firm.

LIKES PAUL ADAMS.

To the Editor of The Examiner:

Dear sir:

Being an interested reader of your paper, I would like to kindly ask you the reason that the accounts of Paul Adams' articles, referring to his recent visits to the old battlefields, have been discontinued. I have often been asked the question: What has become of Paul Adams lately?

Some have remarked in a war time term, that he must be on the "wire," but that we hope is not the case, but we do hope that in the near future his articles will once more be found in your paper, because lots of ex-service men like myself would like to read more about the country in which we fought so hard to hold, and which claimed so many of our Empire's sons.

Yours respectfully,
P. T. KING.

W.I. GARDEN PARTY VERY ENJOYABLE

Belmont Ladies Entertain Large Crowd With Good Program.

HAVELOCK, Aug. 16.—The garden party on the lawn at the Belmont Town Hall on Friday evening under the auspices of the Belmont Women's Institute was a very enjoyable and successful event. About three hundred were in attendance and the proceeds amounted to $75.

A splendid program was rendered. The musical selections by the orchestra composed of ukulele, piano, cornet and violin played by Mr. Hough and family of Columbus, Ohio, who are camping at Healey Falls and the vocal numbers by Miss Susan Hough received hearty applause. Other numbers on the program which were also much enjoyed were: Selections by the Havelock Male Quartette, Messrs. W. J. McBurney, R. Campney, G. W. Chiles, and Wallace Denike; vocal solo by Mrs. Arthur Russell; recitations by Mr. Isaac Anderson of Round Lake; concertina selections by Mr. Harriet, brother of Mrs. H. L. Scott.

The booth was in charge of Mrs. George Smith, Mrs. H. Tinney and Miss H. Sexsmith while Mrs. A. Coon and Mrs. R. Anderson were in charge of the fish pond.

Mrs. Ramonda H. Edington Campbell, an attorney, is the first woman to receive a commission as special officer of the police department in Portland, Ore.

MILLBROOK I.O.O.F. PICNIC AT OVAL

Visitors to City Have Enjoyable Time—Think Tables Needed.

MILLBROOK, Aug. 16.—The picnic under the auspices of Millbrook Lodge, I.O.O.F., No. 308, held at the Nicholls Oval, Peterborough, on Thursday afternoon, was attended by over one hundred and fifty members and friends, and was a most enjoyable outing from every viewpoint.

The weather was all that could be desired, and the picnic grounds most favorable for such a gathering, the only lack being tables from which the supper could be served. While rugs and cushions from the cars can be utilized for seating the folk comfortably on the greensward at the tea hour, the benches are not a very convenient substitute for tables when the food is being made ready for serving. The same difficulty was experienced when the United Church Sunday School recently held its annual outing at the Oval, and while both organizations are very grateful to the park's commissioners for the use of the grounds, and have expressed this personally to the committee in charge, the suggestion is thrown out that this need could easily be met, and probably will be when the matter is brought to the attention of those responsible for the park equipment.

A softball game with "pick-up" teams, the ladies supplying pitcher and catcher for the men and the latter returning the compliment for their opponents, entertained the players and onlookers while the picnickers were all gathering. P. I. Bentley was umpire, and the Rebekahs lost, the score being 13-8. The players were:

Rebekahs — C. C. Garside, p; W. Swain, c; J. Syer, 1b; I. Syer, 2b; Mrs. C. Thorndyke, 3b; Muriel Ball, rf; Mrs. W. E. Ball, lf; Mrs. Garside, cf; Mrs. McGill, ss.

Oddfellows—Ada Attwool, p; Thelma Ball, c; V. R. Hunter, 1b; W. E. Ball, 2b; C. Thorndyke, 3b; P. C. Howard, rf; T. H. Bradley, lf; C. Vance, cf; W. C. Lambert, ss.

Girls under 12—Ruth Ball, Mary Armstrong. Bags of popcorn.

Boys' monkey race—Philip Perry, Freddie Garside. Pocket knives.

Ladies' shoe race—Muriel Curtiss, Lila White. Boxes of candy.

Horse and rider race—V. C. Lambert and Venner Lambert. Pencils.

Kids' race, 40 and over—Mr. Lambert. Shaving cream.

Ladies' race—Thelma Ball, E. McKnight. Soap shaker and candy.

Men's sack race—W. Swain. Safety razor.

Three-legged race—V. R. Hunter and Thelma Ball. Trap and box of chocolates.

Collar and tie and thread-the-needle race—A. Attwooll and E. Morden. Chocolates.

Slow walk race—Miss Nettie Fallis and H. Ball. Kitchen utensil and cigars.

Ladies' ball rolling race—A. Attwool. Glass lemon squeezer.

A softball game between the I.O.O.F. District Committee and a team from the local lodge was the big event after supper and created plenty of fun and excitement. Millbrook loaned the Peterborough men three of their players for the first innings, and it looked as if the district team was going to win out, seven runs going to their credit in the first inning. But when the late-comers took their places on the field and the Millbrook men were replaced, the tide turned and the score at the end of the ninth inning stood 14-13, favor of the local nine.

J. Isbister was plate umpire, and Rev. P. C. Howard on bases. The line-up was:

Peterborough—McFadden, p; Swain, c; Worboy, 1b; Lancashire, 2b; Hillier, 3b; Wylie, rf; Sage, lf; Miller, cf; Skinner, ss.

Millbrook—V. R. Hunter, p; H. Ball, c; A. Jeffreys, 1b; B. Richards, 2b; W. E. Ball, 3b; C. C. Garside, rf; E. Morden, lf; H. A. Fallis, ss; V. C. Lambert, cf.

A tug-of-war between the married and single men was the final event in a well contested sports programme, the latter pulling their opponents well over the line without apparent difficulty. Cigars formed the prize in this instance, and a big box of chocolates were handed round for those who had taken part in the ball game earlier in the afternoon.

The committee in charge included Brothers W. E. Ball, N.G., C. C. Garside and D. Sheppard, V.G. The outing was voted one of the most enjoyable that has been held this season, and the local I.O.O.F. will probably make the picnic an annual affair.

PRINCES END EDMONTON ST.

Return To E. P. Ranch Aft. Day Spent Playing Golf.

ATTENDED DANCE.

EDMONTON, Aug. 16.—(Canadian Press).—The Prince of Wale, Prince George, and party brought their stay in Edmonton to a close at midnight Saturday when they left on the return trip to the EP ranch at High River.

The visit of the princes was characterized by an almost complete absence of formality. Following the ceremony at the parliament buildings, when royal brothers were greeted by a crowd of more than 30,00 people, addresses of welcome were read from the province and city, and Prince George unveiled a memorial tablet, the princes were left largely to their own devices.

Golf was played both morning and afternoon at the Mayfair course. In the evening the princes dined at Government House and later attended an informal dance arranged by Lieutenant-Governor Egbert, also at Government House.

MERCHANT SAYS HE SOLD GOODS FOUND IN CACHE

Story of Bradford Man Agrees With That of Man Who Hid Them.

POLICE IN DOUBT.

Other Men Identify Goods As Some of Those Stolen From Them.

BARRIE, Aug. 16. — Following a day's investigation into the circumstances surrounding the finding at Newmarket on Saturday in a large bread basket filled with what is believed to be loot taken in robberies committeed by the late Dan Forsythe, the Beeton bandit, there was some question in the minds of the Provincial Police last night as to the real ownership and origin of the merchandise.

Merchant Claims Goods

The Provincial Police on their return last night from a visit to Newmarket and Bradford, admitted that the Newmarket cache had been claimed by a Bradford merchant, who stated he had sold it to a man whose name is also being withheld by the police, who in turn sold it to Harry Nixon, in whose store it was found by Sergeant Kirk of the York County Police. On accounting for the possession of the merchandise, Nixon had told the police a story which tallies with that told by the Brandford merchant, both using the name of the middleman. The statements are considered significant.

On the other hand, some of the goods have been positively identified by Lilly and Camplin, Beeton merchants, who went to Newmarket Saturday and viewed the discovery. Their claims are in direct contradiction to those of Nixon and the Bradford merchant. The Beeton robberies were committeed a year ago this month. The large bread basket, with its contents, was brought to Barrie last night. Only part of the goods were identified by the Beeton men.

The investigation will continue today, Inspector Rae stated last night.

Woman Identified Bandit

Another development yesterday was the story volunteered to the police by Mrs. Barker, an aged woman of the 13th Concession, West Gwillimbury. Just a year ago yesterday, she was held up, and robbed of her money and watch, by a man whom she stated she can now identify as Dan Forsythe from his photographs.

It was fully expected that an arrest would be made at Newmarket yesterday of the man whom Nixon said he bought the goods from, but it would appear that for a time at least he has successfully accounted for his actions, as borne out by the Bradford merchant.

TOO STRONG.

Because, she says, she preaches "too strong" for her parishioners, Miss Garnett Gunter, 21, the southwest's youngest woman evangelist, is temporarily out of a job. A big revival meeting in Piggott, Ark., that she had been scheduled to conduct has been cancelled. "They wanted me to preach smoothly and not trample on anybody's toes," she says.

BALDWIN SURE OF FRIENDSHIP OF TWO LANDS

Regards the Peace Bridge as Showing Anglo-American Amity.

DELIGHTED WITH TOUR.

Has Learned Many Truths To Impress at Home, Say Letters From Party.

LONDON, Aug. 16 (United Press). —Premier Baldwin has not only been delighted with his reception in Canada but astonished at the progress of the Dominion, according to messages from his entourage sent to political friends here. According to these private communications, the British Prime Minister will bring back to Britain many truths as the result of his visit, and he will impress these truths upon the people here, such as Canadian optimism, lack of trivial grumbling, and the determination to develop natural resources.

The Prime Minister is understood to have been particularly impressed with the International Peace Bridge ceremony, which he regards as showing that Anglo-American friendship, with Canada as a corner-stone of permanent peace, is assured.

COMMISSION SEES RICKARD'S PLANS

Promoter Can Sell All Tickets They Will Let Him Print

CHICAGO, Aug. 16 (Canadian Press).—The Illinois State Athletic Commission took up the public's side in the forthcoming heavyweight championship battle between Gene Tunney, the present title holder, and Jack Dempsey, the former champion. The Commission scanned the blueprints which show how Tex Rickard proposes to seat a hundred and sixty thousand in the great Soldier Field Stadium, Sept. 22. Whatever the Commissioners say today on the number of seats and the price the public will pay for them, will define the limits of Rickard's records in fight crowds and gate receipts. Nearly a million and a quarter dollars already has been placed in ticket orders, with the demand increasing. Apparently Rickard will easily be able to sell all the tickets the Commission will give him permission to print.

CHEMISTS FIND USES FOR TAR

New Methods of Extracting By-Products Discovered in England.

TO BREAK MONOPOLY.

LONDON, August 16 (United Press) —New methods of extracting the by-products from tar are reported to have been discovered by research chemists at the Mond Gas Company's plant in Dudley, in the heart of England's black country, and it is likely that an entirely new industry will be created as a result.

It is also likely that the discovery will have an important effect on the world's chemical supplies, and it is understood that a new company will shortly issue a new range of products —the derivatives of tar.

For some time the Germans and Americans have held a monopoly in this industry.

Charlie Chaplin Pays Million For 'Peace'

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Aug. 16. —United Press. — The arrival of Charles Chaplin, the film comedian, here to-day, was expected to be followed by the announcement that he had purchased peace in his family for the sum of one million dollars. The "peace" will constitute a legal separation from his wife Lita Gray Chaplin which was said to have precluded the airing in court of the expected sensational divorce proceedings scheduled for August 22nd.

HOUSE OF DAVID CENSORED MAIL

Letters From Residents Of Colony Were Read, Says Witness.

VOTED BY BOARD.

DETROIT, Aug. 16.—(Canadian Press).—Edith Meldrum, office worker at the House of David colony, testified today at the state's dissolution suit against the organization that the colony made a practice of censoring all outgoing mail. She added, however, that letters addressed to members of the colony were not opened. The outgoing mail was read, witness explained, because some of the newer members often urged their friends to join the colony and those who sought to join the cult only because of the pleas of friends were not desired. The censorship was voted by the general board of the colony, she said.

NEW WIRELESS IN FAR NORTH

Department of Marine and Fisheries Putting in Powerful Station.

AT HUDSON STRAITS.

OTTAWA, August 16. — (Canadian Press).—The Department of Marine and Fisheries will soon be receiving wireless communications in this city direct from Hudsons Straits if present plans succeed. A mast is being erected at the Straits and it is said that the station being installed there will be powerful enough to reach Ottawa.

A wireless received at Port Nelson and relayed to Ottawa from the patrol at the Straits this morning says work of installing the base at the west end was progressing satisfactorily.

PRAIRIE GRAIN YIELD IS LARGE

Weather To Decide Whether It Will Be Phenomenal or Merely Good.

C.P.R. OFFICIAL REPORTS.

VANCOUVER, B.C., Aug. 16.—"The only question about the grain crop on the Prairies is as to whether the farmers will have a phenomenal yield or a good yield only stated D. D. Coleman, vice-president of the Canadian Pacific Railway for Western lines who arrived here on Wednesday morning from Winnipeg in company with Lieut. Gov. the Honorable Randolph Bruce.

Mr. Coleman stated that the weather during the next two weeks would decide the point.

"In certain localities," said Mr. Coleman, "damage was done by frost on Sunday night, Aug. 7, but the extent of the damage cannot be determined until the threshing returns are received. As far as the Province of Alberta is concerned, the reports as to the prospects are uniformly good."

"Despite the encouraging number of immigrants qualified for agriculture work, who have reached Western Canada this year, concluded Mr. Coleman, "it is altogether probable that many thousands of harvesters have to be brought to the grain fields from Eastern Canada, British Columbia and elsewhere."

In answer to a question Mr. Coleman stated that the Canadian Pacific had not made any arrangement with the Great Northern Railway respecting the lease of lines serving British Columbia.

LEOPOLD BROKE.

BERLIN, Aug. 13.—Prince Leopold, last of the royal governors of Lippe-Detmold, is broke, although he is one of the biggest landowners in Germany. Recently he wanted to sue Dr. Thyssen for non-payment of $50,000 for a tract of land he had sold, but did not have the necessary $500 to post to cover court costs.

GENERAL OUTLOOK EXCELLENT SAYS PRESIDENT OF C.P.R.

Reports Show Improvement in Industry and Agriculture in Canada.

TO BECOME BETTER.

Widening Market For Canadian Products Will Bring Further Advance, He Says.

CALGARY, Alta., Aug. 16—That the general industrial transportation and agricultural outlook from reports reaching him from all parts of Canada was, on the whole, excellent and would further improve as the market for Canadian products was widened, was the statement made in the course of an interview on Wednesday by E. W. Beatty, Chairman and President of the Canadian Pacific Railway.

"An important factor in the latter condition will be a steadily increasing population, he said. "The transportation companies, of course only reflect the general conditions of the country, and compared with last year, their gross earnings are higher but increased costs beyond their control have resulted in lower net earnings. The Canadian transportation companies are not yet being paid adequate compensation for the important public services they are, I think performing," he continued. "As to agricultural conditions, a great deal will depend on the weather that will prevail during the next ten days or two weeks. If the conditions are favorable, another substantial contribution to the country's progress will be made," he said.

"What are your impressions of the benefits Canada will derive from the concurrent visit of their Royal Highnesses and Prime Minister Baldwin?" Mr. Beatty was asked.

Visit Beneficial.

"The benefits which Canada will derive cannot help but be very great and far reaching," he said. "Canadians are always glad to see their Royal Highnesses and to them the Prince of Wales is almost as one of themselves. The unquestioned loyalty of our people needs no confirmation but we are particularly fortunate that on the occasion of the celebration of the diamond jubilee of Confederation representatives of the reigning house of Great Britain and the Prime Minister of that country were here to participate in it. The impressive character of the jubilee celebrations has had a pronounced effect on our people, particularly on the younger generation, and the realization of what this country has done cannot but improve the moral of our country and increase the strength of our growing national sentiment."

Mr. Beatty said that Prime Minister Baldwin had come to Canada after an absence of thirty-seven years. "He has given to Canadians a most thoughtful exhibition of the conditions in Great Britain and the problems which confront the mother country," he said.

Empire Ties Strengthened.

"We are bound to gain by his presence and the information he imparts and he admitted they will take back to England a very deep appreciation of the potentialities of Canada and its value as the greatest of all British Dominions. Personally I think the tie of Empire already strong, is strengthened by visits such as these," he added.

The president stated in reply to another query that he had come west at the request of the Dominion Government for the single purpose of accompanying Mr. Baldwin back to the east, an opportunity which he had embraced with the greatest possible pleasure.

Asked for his views on Canadian immigration plans and the effect that immigration would have on the prospective bumper crop in Alberta Mr. Beatty said his views on the subject of immigration were perhaps too well known to bear repetition. He still believes in a vigorous policy to induce those physically fit and willing to work on the land to come to this country. He said he had never been an advocate of the wide open door nor of admitting races which could not readily be assimulated into Canadian life, but if they exercised reasonable discrimination they could still press their immigration policies without fear of serious economic consequences. He did not think they should be turned from that purpose by any temporary or local conditions. Canadian have every reason to be proud of their country and confident of its future and should shape their policies accordingly.

It Rejuvenates The Weak Stomach

The writer of this letter could not enjoy his meals before he used Renzyme.

The process of digestion in the stomach depends entirely on the supply of gastric or digestive fluids. The active principles of these fluids are known as enzymes. Digestion can only be actually and lastingly relieved by increasing the enzymes in the stomach.

Now this is exactly what Renzyme does. It supplies enzymes to the digestive fluids and therefore immediately restores their effectiveness in digesting the food in the stomach.

Relief is obtained promptly. You do not need to diet. You are soon convinced that Renzyme helps you as no other treatment has ever been able to do.

Mr. John Sector, 667, St. Urbain St., Montreal, Que., writes: "For years I have been suffering with stomach disorders and consequently never able to enjoy my meals. However, I am glad to inform you that I have found in your preparation Renzyme an extraordinary digestant and I notice that you claim for your preparation the power of rejuvenating the stomach and I must say you are absolutely correct.

"You are to be congratulated in your efforts to bring to the General Public and the sufferers with stomach ills, something that really is effective. I am a constant user and will certainly recommend it to anyone desirous of obtaining the healthy functioning of the stomach."

You can obtain Renzyme from your druggist at $1.50 a bottle, or it will be sent to you, postpaid, on receipt of price, if you mention this paper. The Renzyme Laboratories, Toronto, 2, Canada.

WALTER ROBUS IS HONORED IN ENDURING STONE

First Man to Enlist in Norwood for Overseas Commemorated.

IMPRESSIVE SERVICE

Rev. A. M. Irwin Tells of Life of Poor Boy Who Rose Nobly to Duty's Call.

Solemn and impressive was the presentation and dedication service of Norwood Memorial Park, in memory of Lieut. Walter T. Robus, of the 2nd Battalion Canadian Expeditionary Forces, who enlisted in Norwood in 1914 and died in Toronto, January 26th, 1926, from wounds sustained overseas.

In front of the park stand two gate pillars, a gift from Mrs. Davidson, Toronto, a friend of Walter Robus, and on these are the following inscriptions: This park is dedicated in honored memory of Lieut. Walter T. Robus." "Lieut. Walter T. Robus, served with the 2nd Battalion from 1914 to 1919. Died in Toronto in his 32nd year, 1926."

The service opened with the singing of "Onward, Christian Soldiers." Following this a prayer by Rev. J. P. McLellen touched deeply into the hearts of the many friends of the dead soldier as they stood with bared heads before the memorial. "We bless Thee, O Lord," spoke the minister, "for the manifestations of love that Thou hast given us, and for the sacrifice that Jesus made that we might live. Let us have the faith that would be an encouragement to others. We have come to acknowledge our thankfulness to those who so courageously gave up their lives in 1914-1918 that we might enjoy the comforts that he have at the present time.

"To-day we have gathered here to honor one lad who gave his life for others and for the service that he rendered during those dark days of war. May we appreciate the value of these things and if the time should come that we should be thus called, let us go forth with the same courage that this boy and thousands of others went with when the first war note was sounded.

T. E. Lyle presented the park to the town on behalf of Mrs. W. J. Davidson, Toronto.

"We are gathered here," remarked Mr. Lyle, "to do honor to the memory of the men who had so many friends, not only in Norwood, but in many other places that he lived. It is impossible for me to repeat the many splendid things that could be said of Walter Robus, but he was of splendid character. Robus come to Norwood but a poor boy from across the seas, but in a short time he had won many friends by his great character in this town. When the first news of war came, Robus responded, because he felt it his personal duty—he was the first man from Norwood to enlist. He came home battle-scarred from the great strife, but he had answered the call faithfully, and thus do I pay tribute to a great Canadian and a man."

Reeve William Montgomery accepted the gift on behalf of the Town of Norwood. "It is with deep feeling," stated the Reeve, "that the Town of Norwood accepts this splendid gift, and it is my wish that the citizens in future will never forget this memorable day, nor forget the memory of its former faithful fellow-citizen who gave his life for others. The Daughters of the Empire should also be remembered for their splendid work, not only when the boys were at the front, but for the service that they are rendering to our returned men."

Probably the most impressive part of the service was the address by Rev. A. M. Irwin, former pastor of Norwood Church, on "The man 'Robie' that I knew"—a story on the splendid war life of the hero to which the park was dedicated.

"I came to this village," began the minister, "in the year 1914. The first that I had even seen of Walter Robus was at the home of W. T. Buck, the boy's employer. Soon after that the war broke out, and I found that Robus was the first man who had enlisted from Norwood. No one had come to ask this hero to answer the call, but with a deep sense of duty towards his King and Country, the lad was the first to sign his name to the parchments that would later carry him to the battlefield.

"I immediately began to keep in close touch with Walter by correspondence. His first letter told of leaving with thirty thousand men for Salisbury Plain and then on to France.

"In the Spring of 1915, Robus received his first wound, a fractured jaw from a dead 'potato masher' bomb, hurled by the Germans. He was carried to the rear lines and was confined to bed for six weeks with his injury.

"A short time after this Robie was wounded in the thigh by shrapnel and was in the hospital a year. It was feared by the doctors that they would have to amputate his leg, but again the wonderful grit of this lad forbade them and he was once more on the firing line. This time 'Robie' joined the bombers—fearless and determined, and was once more struck by a bullet in the shoulder.

"In 1918, as a Lieutenant, he went over the top with two hundred men and a fellow officer at Amiens. After reaching their objective, only eighteen men were alive, and among these the fearless 'Robie.' Swooping far above them was a German plane, firing a machine gun. This time 'Robie' received six bullets in the body.

"When the armistice was signed the famous 'Robie' came to Norwood, and came to see me, and I might say that never were parents more glad to see their own sons than we were to welcome Walter Robus.

"'Robie' then went to Toronto, and being seized with a sort of wanderlust made a trip around the world. But the wounds had done their work, and 'Robie' was confined to bed at Toronto, where he died, a brave soldier, in 1926."

At the close of the service the solemn bugle notes of the Last Post were sounded, in honor of Walter T. Robus, and of all the men who so faithfully laid down their lives in the fields of war, that their friends might enjoy peace and liberty.

A beautiful wreath was placed on the memorial by Henry Robus of Toronto, brother of the dead soldier.

DOGS EAT CHURCH.

NOME, Alaska, August 15. — A missionary in the interior, Rev. Andrew Knox, has written to friends that dogs have eaten part of his church. When recently called into the interior, he left a supply of dried fish for his dogs. Returning, he found the dogs had exhausted their food and had chewed up the walrus and reindeer hides that formed the walls of the church.

TRAVEL TO AND FROM THE WEST BY LAKE AND RAIL

Palatial steamships flying Canadian Pacific house flag provide triweekly service between Twin Cities and Bay terminals. Contrary to what one might expect it is no more expensive to travel by steamship to Fort William than by rail. It is cheaper in fact, as ten dollars covers the whole of ones meals as well as the berth on either the Keewatin, Assiniboia or the Manitoba which are the finest ocean steamships on the Great Lakes.

By leaving Toronto shortly after noon on a Saturday or Wednesday it is possible in less than three hours to connect with a Steamer at Port McNicholl and enjoy two days and nights afloat. A similar connection may be made at Owen Sound on Mondays. Sault Ste. Marie is the only port of call en route, but it is a voyage replete with interest and charm, a restful and refreshing break in the westward journey and the service is irreproachable. Ask any Canadian Pacific Agent. 14-21-28-6-16

OBITUARY.

MR. SAMUEL LEE.

BETHANY, Aug. 16.—The remains of the late Mr. Samuel Lee of Detroit, Mich., who died very suddenly while on a business trip to Swift Current, Sask., on Friday, August 5, arrived here on Tuesday, August 9, where they rested for a few hours in the home of his only surviving brother, Mr. William Lee. A short service was held, the officiating clergyman being Rev. James McMullen of Belleville, a former friend and acquaintance of the deceased. Mr. McMullen left a very comforting message with those who mourned the sudden departure of brother and friend, using for his text the words, "Blessed are the dead who die in the Lord". After the service the remains were conveyed to the family plot in St. John's Cemetery, Ida. The bearers were; Howard Graham, Detroit; Harry Lee, Toronto; Herb Lee, Fleetwood; Arthur Jemison of Millbrook and Donald Lowes and Arthur Jemison of Bethany. Many beautiful floral tributes were sent by sympathising friends.

Corns
under feet all gone

No matter where the corn may be on your foot, Radox Bath Salts will not only reach it, but will get right at the root—and tackle that. Easily, painlessly, safely, corns lift out—root and all. Read this letter:

"I have not been troubled with my feet since using Radox Bath Salts. My feet were so bad I did not know how to get about as they were covered underneath with corns. Since using Radox, by soaking the corns well, they all went. You can make any use you care to of my recommendation." P. J. G.

When you dip your feet in a footbath containing Radox Bath Salts, the dead skin of the corn combines with the Radox Salts to form a protein salt of the actual corn itself. This protein salt dissolves in the water, and so softens the corn that, after a few baths, it may be lifted out bodily. Radox does not affect the living skin, but dissolves the corn.

MRS. WILLIAM CAPPER, JR.

HASTINGS, Aug. 16.—Yesterday morning at the family residence, there passed away Agnes Bell, beloved wife of William Clapper, Jr. Although Mrs. Clapper had been in very poor health for a number of months, her death came as a shock to her family.

She is survived by her sorrowing husband, three sons, Donald and Bruce of Toronto, and three daughters, Kathleen, Marion and Jean, all at home.

The funeral will take place from the family residence on Wednesday afternoon. Interment will take place in the Trent Valley cemetery.

CORENA V. WATLEY.

The death occurred yesterday of Corena V. Whatley, aged 20 years after a very short illness. The deceased lived in Douro township and had been in the city a very short time undergoing medical treatment. She was a member of Bethel United church.

She leaves to mourn her loss her sorrowing parents, Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Watley, and two sisters, Mrs. Franklin Sidey of Toronto, and Reta at home.

The funeral will take place from the family residence, Lot 20, Concession 1, Township of Douro, to-morrow afternoon at 2 o'clock. Interment will be made at the Lakefield cemetery. The Rev. H. B. Herrington will officiate.

Mrs. Anna C. M. Tillinghast, of Cambridge, Mass., who has been appointed to the important position of Commissioner of Immigration at Boston, is a Universalist minister and has served as pastor of churches in several New England cities.

SETTLERS DO WELL OFFICIAL REPORTS

Expect To Pay Off Large Sum On Land This Year.

WINNIPEG, Man., Aug. 16.—On his return from an inspection tour over the Canadian Pacific Railway lines on the settlements made by the Canada Colonization Department in the West, R. C. Duncan, assistant manager, brings a good account of conditions of the new settlers. Prospects in Alberta, Mr. Duncan says are particularly bright. On the George Lane farm at Namaka of 13,000 acres colonized under the auspices of the Association by thirty-six families, the settlers expect to pay off $50,000,000, their indebtedness this year, and have taken out extra hail insurance to protect their crop, which is the best in the history of that district.

Settlements made by the Association in the Lethbridge district are so successful that it has been decided to increase them by 25 families this fall. One of the settlers has placed 120 acres in sugar beets, 58 acres in potatoes and 400 acres in wheat and other small grains, from which his returns this fall should be close to $15,000. There are eight families now working for him. The 14 families placed on the Bulman farm near Kelowna in British Columbia is doing well. Their onion crop has been harvested, a yield of 16 tons per acre, being $35.00 a ton. A representative of the Canadian Colonization Association will be placed in the Okanagan Valley to look furtherinto opportunities for group settlement there.

Mr. Duncan is leaving this week for Ontario to investigate settlement possibilities in the tobacco fields of Essex county, where a large number of families have been temporarily placed.

Crescents Outhit And Outfielded by Cogs

COGS TAKE 8-2 VICTORY

Up One in Race for Berth in O.B.A.A. Intermediate Semi-Finals.

CRESCENTS OUTHIT

With a decisive 8 to 2 victory over the Crescents last evening, Cognawagas are one up in the race for a berth in the O.B.A.A. Intermediate semi-finals. Crescents with a changed lineup were not as strong as in former games, and the usually reliable wallopers got only four hits off Vannest; all widely scattered.

Crescents had Joe Jones behind the bat, Kenneally being on the casualty list with an ankle injury. Jones did well, but lacked Kenneally's experience in handling Billingsley's slants. And Crescents also missed the regular catcher's hitting.

Cogs outhit and outfielded Crescents all through the game and Vannest was never in serious danger. In the fourth and sixth, when Crescents looked to be headed for rallies, smart fielding by Manager Cripps' team put the opposition away.

The second game will be played on Wednesday evening.

Crescents won the toss and Cogs went to bat. Prest waited and walked. Crary was tossed out by Billingsley and Cripps fanned, Prest going to third when Jones had to peg to first. Rooke tripled to right, scoring Prest. Wilson flew out to Barry.

Crescents got the run back when LeBarr walked, took second and third when Delahaye dropped the third strike on J. Jones. Ranger tripled to right to score LeBarr. Barry drove a hot one to Vannest who made the catch and doubled Ranger at third.

The second was uneventful but the third saw Cogs take two tallies. Billingsley retired Prest but got in to trouble when Corbett fumbled Crary's grounder. Crary made second on a loose ball. Cripps was safe when Freddy Jones dropped his fly to left. Crary stole third and went home on Rooke's infield out via Ranger to Barry. A wild pitch allowed Cripps to go in. Wilson walked and Delahaye skied to Scully.

A double play, with one out and two on, killed Crescents' chances in their third. Wilson pegged out F. Jones, Billingsley singled into right, and LeBarr was passed. J. Jones flied to Cripps who doubled Billingsley off second.

The fourth gave Cogs three runs and cinched the contest. Mackness was easily retired by Billingsley but Weese hit to right for three bases, scoring on Vannest's single to left. Prest fanned. Some wild pegging following Crary's single allowed Vannest to count. Crary went home when Cripps went after a low one and sent up a high fly back of short which Corbett dropped. Rooke lined out to Barry.

Crescents put the first two on in their half when Ranger was winged and Barry scratched a hit to short. No runs developed as Corbett grounded out, Scully fanned and Mein flew out to Mackness.

A double play from Freddy Jones to the plate stopped Cogs in the fifth and Crescents went out in a row.

Billingsley displayed some reserve stuff by fanning the Cogs in the sixth. Two got on, Prest on a pass and Cripps with a single.

Crescents opened a rally, J. Jones opening with a triple. Ranger was safe on Wilson's fumble, Jones hanging on at third. A long fly by Barry to Prest scored Jones. Corbett struck out and Scully flew out to Rooke.

A pair of doubles by Wilson and Delahaye and a wild pitch on the fourth ball to Weese gave Cogs two more runs in the seventh. For Crescents Mein fanned, Weir, batting for F. Jones bunted the ball into Vannest's mitt and Rishea, batting for Billingsley, was thrown out by Crary.

Toronto Moundsman Holds Opposition to Four Scattered Hits.

NEW YORK, August 16. — Canadian Press. — Fisher's masterful pitching yesterday gave the Toronto Leafs a five to nothing victory over the Jerseys at Jersey City. The visiting twirler held the opposition to four scattered hits. It was the fourth shutout suffered by Jersey City with in the last eight days.

At Baltimore Orioles received a double setback at the hands of the Rochester Colts, who took both ends of a dual bill. The scores were 8 to 4, and 2 to 0. Earnshaw and Sheedy featured the first game with home runs.

The Bears and Buffalo Bisons divided a double bill at Newark, the Bears winning the first game 6 to 5 in ten innings and the League leaders grabbing off the nightcap by a 9 to 1 count.

The Keys broke even in a double header with Syracuse at Reading, losing the first game, 9 to 1, and winning the second 3 to 2. Jarrett's home run with Crane on first sewed up the game in the sixth inning in the opener.

Johnson tried to pull the iron man stunt, starting the second game after winning the first, but he was withdrawn in the fifth.

Pirates May Drop Out Hockey League

MONTREAL, Que., Aug. 16.—(Canadian Press).—The Montreal Star in its sport pages yesterday carries the following, "The Star has been informed upon good authority, that the Pittsburgh Pirates may drop out of the National Hockey League."

"It seems that the support of Pittsburgh of professional hockey has not been such as to justify the expenditure it involves, and a sale of the franchise to some thus far unknown club would not be a surprise."

DELORO WINS LATEST GAME

HOME RUNS COUNT

MARMORA, Aug. 16.—Losing to Marmora on the home grounds last Tuesday evening by 8-7 Deloro took revenge when visitors to Marmora on Friday, winning a fairly good game of softball by 16-11. With bases filled in the first inning, Prentice made a quartette of runs possible with a splendid home run. Reynolds added to an already good list with a homer in the third. Brooks pitched throughout for Deloro and was not freely hit until the sixth. Jack Brady and Mike McGrath shared the pitching for the home team:

The teams were:

Deloro—J. Brosseau, 2b; C. McInroy, 1b; R. Murray, 3b; F. Warren, c; Jack Quinn, ss; R. Reynolds, cf; J. McCroden, rf; H. Abrams, cf; G. Brooks, p.

Marmora—G. McInroy, c; J. Brady, p; H. Auger, 1b; E. Brady, 2b; W. Prentice, ss; H. Brady, 3b; T. Cousins, rf; W. Flynn, cf; M. McGrath, lf, p; W. Shannon, cf

Score by innings:

BANDSMEN WEAR VARIEGATED HATS

Entertainers Among Patrons of Booths at Zion Garden Party.

PETHERICK'S CORNERS, Aug. 16.—The annual garden party of Zion United church, held in John Simpson's Grove on Thursday evening was quite successful, the weather being above reproach and the crowd, while not as large as in former years, being quite up to the average at similar events this year.

The Northumberland Regiment Band furnished an excellent programme of music and with several of the members wearing fancy headgear purchased at the Ladies' Aid bazaar, they presented a very striking appearance.

The booths were all well patronized, especially that one operated by the Ladies' Aid selling fancy and useful articles. This booth reported a complete sell-out.

The ladies of the congregation upheld their reputation for high-class fare and everyone present did full justice to the supper. The gate receipts amounted to nearly $180.

Besides goodly representations from the adjoining communities of Campbellford, English Line, Burnbrae, Hoard's and Rylstone, there were a number present from more distant points. Among these were Mr. and Mrs. E. Sloggett, Toronto, Mr. and Mrs. Ted Jones, Elora; Mr. Misner, Hamilton; Miss May Sloggett, St. Catharines; Mr. and Mrs. Wm. McKeown, Chicago; Misses Chaplin, Trent River; Mr. H. Elliott, West Huntingdon; Mr. and Mrs. Jones and family, Trenton; Mr. and Mrs. George Keating, Rush Point; Mr. R. Barton, Havelock; Miss Jean Innes, Peterborough; Miss Phyllis May, Belleville; Miss Bertha Dunk, Toronto.

Before darkness set in an interesting game of softball was played between Hoard's and the locals, with the visitors winning 13 to 9. A bad third inning spelled defeat for the local boys, as they held their more experienced opponents for the remainder of the game. Kerr, the local curve ball artist, struck out six of the enemy, including Jones twice, and Hume, the heavy hitter of the team. The latter secured revenge when he drove a homer to deep right in the final inning. Hoard pitched well for the visitors and had splendid control. O. Rannie was their leading batter, with a safe hit on every trip to the plate. Owens was the only local player to reach first on every occasion. G. Kerr with two doubles and Roy Fry with a healthy triple, each having three hits in four trips were the heavy hitters on the home squad.

Hume pulled the star play of the evening with a one-handed stab of a sharp grounder to retire a runner at second. G. Petherick was good in the field for the locals.

Teams:—

Petherick's— Kerr, p.; Owens, c.; H. Petherick, 1b.; R. Fry, 2b.; Daniel, 3b.; Barnum, s.s.; Anderson, lf.; Meiklejohn, c.f.; G. Petherick, r.f.; T. Fry, sub.

By innings:

Hoard's ..... 0170203—13
Petherick's ..... 0200241— 9

Umpires—Eagleson and Jeffs.

The regular league service held last Tuesday evening was in charge of Mr. Thomas Ivey, Devotional convenor with Everett Fairman as leader. Forty were in attendance, with the Khaki well in the lead. An interesting discussion period was held by the Rev. Mr. Daniel, centering around "What would Christ's attitude be to capital punishment and other forms of correcting criminality."

Next meeting Thursday evening in charge of Earl Fairman. The postponed softball game between the Red-White group and the Khaki will take place at this meeting.

TWEED REGATTA COMPETITION KEEN

Sports Postponed From Civic Holiday Run Off Last Week.

TWEED, August 16. — The sports which were advertised for civic holiday, August 1st, and which had to be postponed on account of rain, were carried out on Wednesday afternoon, August 10th. It being the half holiday there was a large crowd at the park, notwithstanding several other attractions.

Seats were arranged to slope towards the water, which enabled everyone to see the sports.

A refreshment booth was on the park and there was plenty of ice cream and soft drinks.

Tub race: Margaret Hindle, Edmund Long.

Ladies' swim: Miss Wood, Margaret Hindle.

Motor boat race: F. B. Foster, Thomas Whalen, Jack Breen.

Long distance swim: H. Maury, Carson Moon.

Punt race: Sidney Arber, Bertram Terry.

Gunnel race: Lea Morrison, Dr. Paul.

Men's tandem: Dr. Paul and L. W. Morton; Milton Patterson and Garrett Morton.

Canoe crab race: Dr. Dales, Milton Patterson.

High dive: H. Maury, Dr. Paul, Harry Leal.

Ladies' tandem canoe: Mrs. Dr. Paul and Miss Wood; 2nd Mrs. Howard Countryman and Mrs. James Breen.

Greasy pole: Gerald Sinclair, Bertram Terry.

There was no entrance fee charged but the donations to the park fund were $9 and proceeds from the booth were $41.

Some groups of spectators had brought their baskets and a little picnic was made of the afternoon.

After supper a game of ball was witnessed between the Sugar Island landcampers and the Rollinites with the campers winning by a score of 9-8.

The prizes were then distributed by Reeve Rollins to the various winners.

THREE SNIPERS TIE FOR HONORS AT RIFLE MEET

Company Quartermaster Smith of Toronto Hits Seven Bull's-eyes.

HAMILTON LAD TIES

Now Shoot Off for D.R.A. Bronze Medal and First Prize.

CONNAUGHT RIFLE RANGES, Ottawa, Aug. 16.—A three-cornered tie, each marksman with a possible of seven bulls eyes, featured the opening match of the Dominion of Canada Rifle Association annual meet here yesterday. This was in the tyro match open only to new shots. Cadet N. L. Berkett of the Hamilton Collegiate Institute, F. W. Colpitt of the Manitoba Rifles, Winnipeg, and C.Q.M. S. G. Smith of the Irish Regiment, Toronto, will now have to shoot off for the D. R. A. bronze medal and the first prize.

Miss Katheryn Prescott, the Sussex Rifle Association, Sussex, N.B., fired in both the tyro and the first range of the MacDougall. In the MacDougall match her scores were totaled at 29 out of 35. She stated that she was bothered a little by the fact that she was the only woman competitor, a fact easy to understand, as she felt just a little bit conspicuous. In the tyro match seven shot at 500 yards there, there were three possibles of 35 scored by Cadet N. L. Beckett of the Hamilton Collegiate Institute, F. W. Colpitt of the Manitoba Rifle Association, and C. Q.M. S. G. Smith of the Irish Regiment, Toronto.

C. Q. M. S. W. A. Hawks, of the Queens Own Rifles, Toronto, yesterday scored three possibles in the various matches of the opening day of the Dominion of Canada Rifle Association. He scored a possible of 35 at the 200 yard range and the 500 yard ranges in the MacDougall matches yesterday morning and early afternoon. Late yesterday afternoon, he scored his third possible when he put in seven consecutive bulls eyes while shooting at the 200 yard range of the bankers match.

INDIA POLO TEAM REPRESENT BRITAIN

Will Compete With United States for International Cup.

NEW YORK, Aug. 16 (Canadian Press).—Selection of the Army-in-India's polo team that will carry British banners in the series with the United States for the International cup next month was announced yesterday by Colonel Commandant W. T. Tomkinson, manager of the challenging forces.

As it will take the field against the United States "Big Four" in the first match of the series for the classic trophy, Sept. 5, at the Meadowbrook Club, Westbury, Long Island, the British team will be composed of Captain Claude E. Pert, No. 1; Major Austin H. Williams, No. 2; Captain G. T. I. Roark, No. 3; and Major Eric G. Atkinson, back.

All veterans of the Great War and seasoned in many polo campaigns as well, chiefly during military service in India, the British players make up a 33-goal combination. This is one goal less than the handicap rating of the United States team, recently selected and composed of Winston Guest, Tommy Hitchcock, J. Cheever Cowdin and Devereaux Williams. The international series, however, is played on the "flat," without handicaps, but the ratings indicate how closely the two squads are matched.

Selection of Captain Pert, instead of Captain Richard George, for the No. 1 position, settles an issue which has been in some doubt since the British squad arrived here a month ago for practice. Captain George originally was slated to head the forward line, but his play here has not measured up to its former standard. Captain George is an eight-goal man while Captain Pert is rated at seven goals.

Captain Roark and Major Atkinson, both nine-goal men, are the only members of the British "big four" who have had experience in competition here before. The former played on Stephen Sanford's hurricane team last year that won the United States open championship. Major Atkinson is the only survivor of the last British international team, which was decisively defeated in the challenge matches at Meadowbrook in 1924. He also played here with the British Army team in 1923.

Most of the British regulars are all-round athletes. Captain Pert, 29 years old, and the youngest of the four, boxed and played rugby at Clifton College. He has been playing polo only since 1920. Major Williams played football, cricket and hockey, besides being a track and field star at school, and began playing polo in 1910, when he joined the Central India Horse. He won the Military Cross in France.

Captain Roark, an Irishman, who was taught polo by his father, served during the war with the Cavalry and resumed polo playing in India afterwards with the famous Poona Horse.

Major Atkinson, a star at rugby, cricket and hockey, started polo in 1909. Forty years old, he is the oldest and most widely experienced member of the team.

As reserves the British will have Captain George, Lieut. H. P. Guinness and Captain John P. Dening.

MENIE WINS LEAGUE TITLE

Defeats Bethel 9-4 in Deciding Game at Glen Ross.

SUCCESSFUL SEASON

BURNBRAE, Aug. 16.—Playing the best game of the season, Menie softball team emerged victorious over Bethel by a score of 9 to 4 in the final championship encounter at Glen Ross on Friday night. For six innings Bethel could do nothing with Eagleson's pitching and only tallied once. In the final frame, with the game safely tucked away, the Menie fielders let a couple of errors creep in which with two hits gave the boys from the highway burg three runs.

Eagleson's pitching was the feature of the game, and practically all the play was kept in the infield. For the first four innings not more than three men faced Eagleson in each frame, and only two reached first, both to be forced at second. Stan. Little again held up the catching end in fine style and added materially in the win. Shillinglaw was exceptionally good at first, while the other infielders fed him every manner of throws, all of which he handled with ease. The lanky first sacker also contributed a homer to the cause. F. Little was Menie's heavy batter, hitting safely on each trip to the plate, with one three-bagger.

K. Broadworth was the only Bethel player to have any success against Eagleson's pitching, reaching first three times out of four, but on each occasion he got no farther. E. Broadworth, Carlisle, Dodwell and A. Warren scored for Bethel. The Bethel batters again swung at air on third strikes to increase Eagleson's strike-out average.

Shillinglaw and Walker, with two runs each, led Menie's scorers, while Petherick, Rannie, S. Little, F. Little and Linn got one each.

The Menie team finished the play-off series with a fine record. Including the first protested game, a six-inning affair, twenty-seven innings of ball were played. The locals scored fifty-two runs, or almost two per inning on an average. Their opponents in the same time secured only thirty-one counters, or slightly over one for each frame. The Bethel team were also returned scoreless in seventeen of the twenty-seven innings, while Menie batters pounded the Bethel pitching quite consistently. One fact is remarkable, that Bethel turned in their finest game and Menie their worst on the Menie diamond. Menie had a slightly larger collection of errors than their opponents, the bad game at home swelling this doleful average.

To Manager Eagleson, pitcher for the local team, must go the lion's share of the credit for the honor of winning the championship silverware. His pitching has been consistently of a high order, and although at times errors in the field threatened to lose games, he always managed to work his way out. His ability to strike out batters in the pinches pulled his team out of many a hole.

A record crowd from this district and the surrounding communities made the trip to the Glen for the final game, and with just as large a representation from the opposing camp, a mighty crowd was on hand. A collection to defray expenses incidental to the playoff netted over seventy dollars, to be divided equally among the finalists and the Glen Ross club, which acted as hosts for the final game.

Menie are to be congratulated on the splendid showing of the year, and their supporters hope to see them carry on next season.

BOMB WRECKS JUROR'S HOME

Explosion Throws McHardy Family From Beds, Badly Cut.

SACCO-VANZETTI CASE.

EAST MILTON, Mass., August 16 (Canadian Press). — The home of Lewis McHardy, a juror in the Sacco-Vanzetti trial seven years ago, was wrecked by an explosion early to-day. McHardy, his wife, and three children were thrown from their beds by the blast, and suffered severe cuts and bruises. Police expressed the opinion that a bomb caused the explosion. The residence was badly wrecked, and the effects of the explosion were visible for several blocks from the scene.

NEW YORK, August 16 (United Press). — A second strike in protest against the execution of Sacco and Vanzetti is planned by the Central Executive Committee of the Workers' Party. The strike is set for next Monday, the day on which the respite granted by Governor Fuller will expire. Mass meetings will be held and parades formed if the police do not interfere.

ADVERTISE IN THE EXAMINER

BABE'S RIVAL STUDIES GAME

Had Eye on Big League Berth During College Days

SUCCEEDS DISCOVERER

By HENRY L. FARRELL
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

NEW YORK, Aug. 16.—(United Press).—One afternoon several years ago, so the story goes, Miller Huggins, manager of the New York Yankees, said to Pipp, his first baseman:

"Wally," we're not playing tomorrow and you can do me a big favor by going up to Columbia and looking over a fellow named Gehrig who they say can hit like hell."

Pipp, being an obliging fellow, went up to the university grounds where the varsity was practicing and what he saw caused him to hesitate not a moment. Gehrig, with a most natural style, was hitting the ball all over the lot.

Approaching him Pipp asked if he had ever thought about playing professional baseball.

"Yes, I have decided to give up college (he was then a sophomore) and try the professional game."

"Has anybody been after you?" Pipp asked.

"Yes," he answered, "I have had several offers, but I'm gong with the Yankees because I think there's a better future with them."

"That's fine," Pipp went on enthusiastically. "What position do you play?"

"First base," Gehrig said.

With a horrified expression on his face, Pipp took it on the run over the hill to the subway.

Pipp's report to his chief was: "Guess I'd better start hitting home runs if I want a job."

Gehrig reported to the Yankees, but, unlike Frank Frisch and Joie Sewell, he couldn't make good without schooling and he was sent away to the Hartford club where he proceeded to break all the fences in the league. He was recalled by the Yankees, but he had to wait around on the bench. Huggins knew he could hit, but he was aware also that he had many fielding faults, and Pipp was a very good first baseman.

Joie Sewell, fresh from the college field, was forced into a regular position at short for the Cleveland Indians after Ray Chapman was killed and Frisch, just down from Fordham, was thrust on second base for the Giants when Larry Doyle broke his leg.

But Gehrig had to sit around and wait until Pipp faded, and when he got the regular job he wasn't a wow as a fielder. But he kept his ears open, accepted advice whenever it was offered, and by a plodding study of his position he has become a fielder above the average.

Billy Evans, the American League umpire, was the first to offer him advice. Evans was umpiring at first base in one of Gehrig's early games and he noticed a serious fault in his fielding.

Taking a chance on being rebuked, Evans told him—"Young fellow, you're putting the wrong foot back on the bag on every play."

"Thanks, Mr. Evans. Watch me on the next play," Gehrig said. On the next play the young first baseman put the proper foot back, but he had to hesitate to think. The ball players say he still has the same fault in a minor degree, that he has to think his play, while natural ball players of the Ruth or Lazzeri type make the play automatically. But they say that he will get there because he is willing and a hard worker.

Since Gehrig has become a serious rival of the Babe Ruth for the season's home run honors, many fans are curious as to the relations between two rivals on the same club.

The players say there is but the friendliest feelings between them. The Babe even has coached him. Ruth is quite a first baseman along with his other talents, and in fact it is his favorite position. He has taken pains to coach Gehrig not only in fielding but in hitting. The tips were offered in the typical Ruth spirit of friendliness and accepted by Gehrig with the highest gratitude and appreciation.

The Babe was asked some time ago what he thought of Gehrig, and he replied: "He's a great kid. If he keeps on pasting 'em he'll be in the big dough." Incidentally, it is understood that Gehrig is drawing $7,000 a year. But next year!

"Ruth," Gehrig says of his rival, "is the greatest hitter and ball player that ever lived."

Discussion has arisen as to the relative power of the two stars.

"Ruth is the stronger hitter," Miller Huggins says.

American League managers agree that Ruth hits a ball harder, but they say they would rather pitch to Ruth than to Gehrig because they can't play Gehrig like Ruth. They never know where Gehrig is to hit or how long a hit it will be.

Eventually Gehrig may equal or better the Babe's record, but he never will be a Babe because he lacks Babe's color. The Babe is an overgrown boy, Gehrig is a studious minded young man who is in baseball for a business. The Babe makes a business of baseball, but he loves baseball above everything.

Gehrig, most unassuming, selects friends from his own circle and prefers home life. The Babe likes to parade as the Babe, and he has the personality to get away with it.

First Baseman Johnny Neun of the Detroit Tigers insists upon being unique as well as original.

When the season opened he was simply understudy to Lu Blue. A fractured rib sent Blue to the bench and gave Neun his chance. He proceeded to make the most of it.

Within a few days after breaking into the Tiger lineup he had broken into the very select circle of infielders who had made a triple play unassisted. He did it against Cleveland. Only seven infielders have performed the feat in the history of the majors.

To prove his versatility and add variety to his record-breaking stunts, in a recent game with New York, Neun stole five bases in a seven-inning game with New York, called on account of darkness. He made five singles in the same game. Both are records.

In a double-header with Washington, following the New York series, Neun provided a most unusual thrill by stealing home in each of the games.

The stolen base record for a nine-inning game is seven, made back in 1881 by George Gore. It was tied by Billy Hamilton in 1894. Of the modern-day players Eddie Collins is the only one to approach the feat. During the season of 1912 he twice stole six bases.

Now, 15 years later, Johnny Neun adds to the gaiety of the game with a triple play unassisted, five singles and as many stolen bases in a seven-inning game, and the theft of home in each game of a double-header, all performed in a little over a month's play.

Wonder what Johnny would do if he was a regular?

Lyrics Of Life

(By Douglas Malloch.)

THE LITTLE THINGS

If I can make two words to rime
And give a thought a merry chime,
If you can make the grass to grow
Where grass the stranger would not know,
We need not sigh for great deeds, too,
Who have the little things to do.

The man who solders pots and pans
Has work as good as any man's;
He works as well as anyone
Who works at work that must be done.
'Tis better just to sew a seam
Than dream of things, and only dream.

The world is full of buildings tall
That stand upon some sturdy wall
That humble hands have fashioned: so
From little deeds the great deeds grow.
Although great things the great world needs,
They all must rest on little deeds.

So let us try to do our part.
And do it with a singing heart.
For surely we have right to sing
Who do the unimportant thing.
Because the things that seem so small
Are most important, after all.

NASHUA PICNIC GREAT SUCCESS

Employees of Company Have Pleasant Outing at Chemong.

RACE RESULTS.

The fourth annual picnic of the Canadian Nashua Paper Company was held on Saturday, August 13, to Chemong, and was a decided success. Busses provided transportation, and left the plant at 10 a.m. Between 100 and 150 took in the picnic.

When the picnickers arrived at Chemong, a very close game of softball was engaged in. The two teams from the plant represented the single and married men. The single men won by the score of 8-7. The umpires for the game were D. McLeod at the plate, and J. Maybee on the bases.

Owing to the base umpire being a very corpulent man, many close plays on the bags were unnoticed. Mr. Crewe, observing a bad egg around third base, Pete Murray, overran second base and was called out.

After the softball game, lunch was partaken of, and this in turn was followed by a list of races and sports, run off as follows:

Girls' race, 6 and under — 1, Dorothy Bestard; 2, Dorothy Freeman.

Boys' race, 6 and under — 1, Harold Freeman; 2, —. McMillan.

Girls' race, 10 and under—1, Margaret Reid; 2, Violet Freeman.

Boys' race, 10 and under — 1, Harold James; 2, Jack Gemmell.

Girls' race, 14 and under — 1, Jimmy Herron; 2, Graham Niven.

Single men's race — 1, J. Anderson; 2, R. Martin.

Married ladies' race — 1, Mrs. G. Gimblett; 2, Mrs. T. Skinner.

HOW MUCH FOOD?

It has been wisely said that we live on one-third of what we eat, the doctor on another third, and the undertaker on the last third—which is to say in plain words that we eat three times as much as we should. I sincerely believe this to be true, and that everyone, no matter what kind of food they eat, would be immediately benefited if they would cut the quantity of food used to at least one-half or possibly, one-third.

Because food was at one time very hard to get, many people seem to be trying to make up for it today by stuffing themselves with as much food as they can comfortably hold. Some people even seem to think that a meal has not been complete unless they actually feel uncomfortable afterwards!

It seems ridiculous that men who are successful in managing large industries, or who are successful in their professions, give almost no time at all to considering a sensible regulation of their diet. Every individual of ordinary intelligence can easily learn his food requirements if he will be honest with himself. It will take some study and experimentation, but the time spent in such investigation will amply repay you in increased health and efficiency.

Do you feel stuffy after meals? If so, you are overeating. Do you belch gas a short time after eating? If so, you are eating too much. Do you wake up tired out and with a coated tongue? If so, you are eating more than the body requires. Do you get sleepy in the afternoon? Perhaps you had better omit the noonday meal, as you may not need it at all. Maybe you are only burdening yourself with materials which, if not needed by the body, act only as poisons.

During all my experience as a dietitian, I have never found it advisable to urge a patient to eat more food as long as it is of the right quality. If you are underweight, perhaps you are burdening yourself with so much food that you cannot digest and assimilate even the amount your body really needs, and you may be suffering from real starvation because of this.

If your appetite is poor, it is a sure signal to quit eating entirely until normal hunger returns for simple food. If you need the stimulation of condiments to create an appetite, you will eat more food than your body needs at that time.

"Eat all you can" should be supplanted by "eat as little as you can."

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

QUESTION: Mrs. J. F. writes: "I have noticed that around the irises of my little boy's eyes there is a pale blue coloring instead of white. Could you tell me what this is from? The baby is three years old."

ANSWER: The blue coloring indicates a poor circulation of blood in the eyes. Give your baby some eye massage with the fingertips, pressing alternately upon each eye and thus stimulating the circulation. You can do a great deal in this way to encourage the normal growth of the eyeballs, especially if such treatment is given to a baby at a very young age.

QUESTION: Mrs. A. N. asks: "Are eggnogs good for a working man who is underweight, and if so, when is the best time to take them?"

ANSWER: Eggnogs, being made of raw eggs and milk, are always a bad combination. One should never take such food in an effort to gain weight as more trouble will only develop from such a stuffing process with foods in bad combinations.

QUESTION: Anxious writes: "I have a burning in my stomach nearly all the time, and my hands itch a little sometimes. I have a nursing baby and must eat for two."

ANSWER: You are, no doubt, suffering from gastritis which simply means irritation of the stomach. This comes from having too much stomach acidity which might also cause your hands to itch. If you are forced to stuff yourself to give your baby enough milk it would be better if you stopped nursing him and gave him bottle feedings of pure Holstein milk.

Irish Hearts

By MOLLIE MALONE

Copyright 1927, Warner Bros. Pictures, Inc.

"IRISH HEARTS," with May McAvoy, is a Warner Bros. picturization of this novel.

SYNOPSIS

Emmett Murtough of Killanmaul, Ireland, emigrates to America and is followed by Sheila Kildare, to whom he is betrothed, and her father. Murtough evades the marriage, however, and Sheila makes friends with the family of Rory O'Shea, a professional boxer, whose kindly attentions interest her. Murtough is hired by bootleggers to drive a truck and becomes involved with Clarice Clancey, a cabaret girl. There is a party at the "Castle," one of the notorious night clubs of New York City.

CHAPTER VIII—Continued

"But one of those guys is familiar to me even if he is all dressed up." Devlin studied the party through his cigarette smoke. "I'd certainly like to know where I have seen that baby before."

"Probably in some other speakeasy. You see a lot of 'em around that you never remember nowadays."

"Do you know much about this kid you're with?"

"I've known Clarice for a couple of months, just off an' on."

"Is she hooked up with any mobs?"

"Not that I know of; why, what's the matter? What are you questioning about her?"

"I'm not, but you and me are in a business where suspicions when they are right are valuable. And most of all, I'm suspicious of molls, any kind, any age and anywhere."

"Oh, Clarice is all right. She's just a kid that likes a joy ride."

Devlin subsided, but he kept his eyes on the party of three and when the girls returned to the table he asked Clarice if she knew who they were.

"Oh, a couple of spinach growers, I guess. They're letting themselves be taken for plenty, so I should care."

"Who's the boy friend who deserted you?"

"Did you hear their names?"

"I heard one of them call the young fellow facing us 'Gus,' that's all."

"Gus?" Devlin turned the name over in his mind, but he could not piece together his recollection of the familiar face and the name. "Well, I guess it's on me," he smiled at Murtough and ordered a drink. Both men grew tired of the party and after paying their checks left. Neither Clarice or Cissie would be through until the last guest left, which might be five and it might be nine o'clock in the morning.

"Never tell a gal who hangs around the Broadway dumps anything," Devlin advised Murtough on the way down town in the car. "I been busting around on one racket and another ever since I was gun-boy for a gangster."

"What's a gun-boy?" asked Murtough. "You know I haven't been over long from Ireland an' I don't know all the ropes."

"They ain't used so much now, but in the old days every time somebody was to be bumped off a kid was taken along. He carried the gun until his chief was set for the victim and the minute the shooting happened the gun was slipped back to the kid and he disappeared under the very legs of the crowd looking for the killer. Fast automobiles have eliminated the kid in making a getaway today, though. A kid would only be in the way."

Murtough decided that of all the men he had met at the West End Club and among those who worked for Mannie Clocker that Devlin was the wisest and smartest of the lot. He was well dressed, so clean that Murtough mentally named him a "dude," especially when he saw the high polish on his companion's fingernails in the restaurant. But Murtough noticed, also, that those same fingers were supple and wiry and filled with potential strength and harm for anyone who crossed Devlin.

Sleep did not come easily to Murtough that night. The memory of Clarice and how she had first appealed to him with her worldly New York chatter when he was fresh from Ireland clouded his mind. He compared her again, as he had compared her before, with Sheila. He knew that Sheila was the better of the two women; there never was doubt of that before, and none now, but Sheila did not seem to catch on, to be able to pick up the wise cracks that slipped off Clarice's tongue so easily. He was honestly grateful for Sheila's goodness to him during the period he was confined with his injured shoulder. But with the wound healed and the opportunity for parties and merry-making at hand, her kindness diminished in its relative importance.

With the job tomorrow night Murtough again became an active earner on the Clocker's payroll. There would be plenty of money to spend, and he had learned his lesson; he wouldn't drink so much and he would not gamble. That was definite. There was the dance at the club. It was true he had in a way promised Clarice he would take her, but in the face of Sheila's treatment of him he could not well have done otherwise than to invite her. She had been proud of that, had Sheila.

What of this Rory O'Shea. Was Sheila still interested in him? Suppose he won from Campeau, would that make any difference, would that raise him in Sheila's estimation? Murtough realized now that it was more the attacks that he and Old Tom Kildare had hurled upon the boy that had won Sheila to his defense than the casual interest her meeting with him had awakened. After all, Sheila was old-fashioned; anyone would have to admit that. She couldn't compare to girls like Clarice, who had been born and bred right here on the edge of the Great White Way. He was growing up in a fast crowd, men who got money and lots of it. What if they were lawbreakers? Besides, did not they tell him that the prohibition law was unpopular and made only to be broken? These men certainly knew more than he did about America! Thus blinded by the glamour of his foolish desires for the limelight in which played the crooks and thieves with whom he was dealing, Emmett Murtough, like other misled and ignorant youths, turned his eyes from goodness. He fell asleep with the vision of Clarice in fine feathers, a fine motor car for himself and money with which to satisfy every wish.

While he dreamed the tall, thin and dominating man of the party of three which had piqued the curiosity of Devlin queried Clarice.

"Whose the boy friend who deserted you?" he asked. "The big fellow, I mean."

"Just a friend for old time's sake," replied Clarice pertly.

"You must have been brought up in a coal yard, then," remarked the one they called Gus. "He looks like a truck driver to me."

"Is that supposed to be sarcastic?" asked Clarice. "Because if you meant it that way you lose; that's just what he is, a truck driver and a good one if what the little birdies tell me is right."

"Who does he drive for?"

"How should I know?"

"Could you find out? I might have something good for a smart fellow that really can drive a truck."

"How good?"

"You find out then I'll tell you. What's he mean to you, girlie?"

"Well, he might mean 'ham and' for life, and again he may not mean anything."

"Has he got any money?"

"Oh, I guess he has a B. R. now and then, but, of course, he don't ride in no Rolls."

"Suppose I paved a way for him to get a quick and easy five grand and he made it through you, where would you stand?"

"Five grand! Well, that'd start housekeeping in a modest way provided there was more coming from the same direction."

"Find out, girlie, just what kind of a truck he drives, for who and from where. Get me?"

"I get you, Gus, and I'll do it. All he needs is a start among regular guys. Maybe I can lead him to it through you." The pertness in her voice fled. "But, say, this ain't no frame-up, is it? I wouldn't frame nobody, not even my worst enemy."

"No, kid, I just like his looks. He looks like he could take care of himself. That's the kind of men I'm always interested in."

"You and me both," replied Clarice archly.

Clarice and Cissie passed on to another table, and when the music started they were dancing.

"I know it's him," insisted Gus. "I got only a flash of his face as he toppled off the seat of the truck, and I admit he had on a sweater and a cap, but it's the build of him and the cut of that Irish jib of his that I can't forget."

TRAIL RIDERS COMPLETE TOUR

Recent Trip Was Longest and Highest in Their History.

OFFICERS ELECTED.

BANFF, Alta., Aug. 16.—(Special).—The return of seventy members of the Order of The Trail Riders of the Canadian Rockies to Banff marked the conclusion of a six-day tour, the longest, highest, and most interesting ride yet attempted. The objective of the ride was the district surrounding Mount Assiniboine which includes some of the most spectacular groups of mountains, but has neretofore been considered rather inaccessible. The Trail Riders negotiated two high passes, both above the 9,000 foot level, and covered more than one hundred miles of the most picturesque and difficult trails of the Rockies.

The climax of the trip was the general pow-wow held on Tuesday night at Sunshine Camp, 14 miles from Banff, where the election of officers took place, J. M. Wardle, superintendent of parks being re-elected president of the Order. Carl Rungius, famous painter was elected vice-president. Walter D. Wilcox, noted author and explorer of Washington, D.C., was also elected vice-president.

Artists, musicians and writers of note from many of the large cities of Western and Eastern Canada and the United States were this year enlisted in the Order of the Trail Riders, which now numbers almost one thousand members. Plans are not yet made for next year's ride.

BERLIN PAPERS CRITICIZE HOP

Say Disregard of Weather Reports Amounted to Criminal Neglect

PRAISE FOR PILOTS

BERLIN, August 16. Canadian Press. — Certain of the Berlin newspapers, while not withholding praise of the pilots pluck in the unsuccessful transatlantic attempts of the Junker monoplanes Bremen and Europa, sharply criticize to-day what they term the precipipitancy of the promoters in starting the flight.

In view of the bad weather reports the newspapers believe the flight approached a "stunt," and disregard of such elementary precautions really amounted to criminal neglect.

Two of Injured in Serious Condition in Toledo, Ohio, Hospital

THIRTEEN UNHURT

TOLEDO, Ohio, August 16 Canadian Press.—Seventeen persons were injured, two seriously, three miles east of Toledo to-day, when an east bound Detroit-Cleveland bus struck a horse and upset. The injured were taken to the Toledo hospital. Thirteen other persons in the bus were unhurt.

Chinese Continue Cruel Punishments Despite Their Alleged "Westernization"

SHANGHAI, Aug. 16 (United Press).—Twenty feet above the pavement of the street, caged like a savage animal and exposed to the view of hundreds of jeering persons, a human being recently looked into the crowd and pleaded for food and water.

None was forthcoming to the caged man. The spectacle was remindful of the fact that the Chinese, for all their alleged "Westernization," still have the gift of devising cruel punishment.

The man, a Chinese, was in his wooden cage because he was charged with having delivered goods manufactured in Japan to a Chinese merchant in violation of the orders of the anti-Japan committee.

In the crowd was one who did not jeer. The wife of the prisoner stood there for hours, weeping at times. The confinement continued several days.

BIRD FLIES 11,000 MILES JUST TO HATCH ITS YOUNG

Story of Robin Snipe Among Remarkable Tales of MacMillan.

SEA DEEP AT POLE.

Coal in Valley Near Pole — 700 Kinds of Flowers Found.

SYDNEY, N. S., Aug. 16 (By Canadian Press).—The story of the South American robin snipe which flies way up into the Arctic to hatch its young was one of Commander Donald B. MacMillan's most remarkable tales when he was in Sydney just before leaving again for the Arctic. Every year robin snipe fly north, the commander said, 11,000 miles or so. There, in a nest in the Arctic moss, the mother snipe lays one egg. After the egg is thatched out and the young bird develops they start back southward again. They fly thousands of miles away down to Patagonia. Commander MacMillan's stories are related in the Sydney "Record."

Nobody knows the great urge behind this long-distance trip, but Commander MacMillan's theory was that long ago the Arctic was the habitat of this species of bird, and the racial instinct of centuries ago persists to this day.

Another thing related was that 9,000 feet of fine wire failed to touch the bottom of the sea a few miles from the North Pole. Foot after foot it reeled off, carried down by a lead in a great ice crack, but the 9,000-foot mark was reached—and the supply of wire all used up—with bottom still untouched. Near the Pole, Commander MacMillan said, the ocean is probably a couple of miles deep. But halibut swim about in those far northern waters. That was one of the interesting facts, and one of importance to ichtyologists or students of the ways of fish, that was revealed during one of Commander MacMillan's trips to the Arctic. The halibut, which it had generally been supposed never went so far north, were found in the stomachs of great narwhals—the sea unicorns of story.

Something of wide importance near the Pole are great deposits of coal. "There's millions on millions of tons of coal up there," Commander MacMillan said; "and good coal too. One day I sent one of my Eskimos out to do something for me. He came back with a big lump of ice under one arm—and a big lump of coal under the other. 'Where did you get the coal?' I asked him. 'The valley is full of it,' he replied. And it was."

The commander took occasion to confound the dogma that no vegetation grows in the Arctic regions. On his trips to the Arctic wastes, Commander MacMillan was found over 700 different kinds of flowers. As for trees, evidence has been found on these trips that once upon a time at least 36 varieties of trees now found in the temperate and tropical zones grew in abundance in the Arctic territory, among them the giant sequoia now familiar in California.

He suggested that the Eskimo people—uneducated to-day, as the world rates education, without books or written language, a primitive people as they were 2,000 years ago—were the equals of supposedly superior people in point of intelligence and more than their equals on the physical side.

"Every year when we leave the north," Commander MacMillan went on, "one of my scientists always turns to me and says, 'MacMillan, those people are just as intelligent as we are.'"

RECORD AIR JAUNT THEIR PLAN

A flight from Long Beach, Calif., to Tokio, Japan, or to Melbourne, Australia, is the aim of Captain James L. Griffin (right) and his navigator, Theodore Lundgren. The two men are shown inspecting one of the twin motors of their giant triplane. If Australia finally is decided upon, their flight over the 7,000-mile route, with a stop probably at Guam for fueling, would be a record. The Hawaiian Islands would be their first stop on a journey to Japan.

5000 PEOPLE IN LATEST RUSH

Scenes at Opening of Grasfontein Diamond Field Not Repeated

OTHER DIGGINGS FINISHED

LONDON, Aug. 16 (Canadian Press Cable).—Only about five thousand people are participating in the rush to the new diamond field at Wolverdiend, Transvaal, compared with five times that number in the recent rush to Grasfontein, according to The Daily Mail's Johannesburg correspondent. The latest movement of diamond seekers is called a "desperation rush" because the diggers declare that only by the throwing open of Wolverdiend area before the passing of the proposed Precious Stones Bill, restricting the opening of new diamond fields, can they be saved from starvation. Other diamond diggings are nearly exhausted, it is said.

PRINCES ATTEND CALGARY BALL

Dance Until Early Morning, Then Leave For Pacific Coast.

DAY OF ACTIVITY.

CALGARY, Alta., August 16 (Canadian Press). — In a beautifully decorated ball room, peopled with many prominent personages of Calgary and members of the younger social set, the Prince of Wales and his brother, Prince George, last night were entertained by the officers of the Calgary Drag Hunt Club. The social event of the season, the ball wound up a day of activity for the royal brothers, who, after dancing into the early morning hours, left early to-day for Banff, en route to the Pacific Coast.

WATER CLEAN AT INVERLEA

Fears of Children Unfounded, Says Dr. Young, After Examination

FIT FOR BATHING

In order to quiet the apprehensions of parents who have been needlessly alarmed by rumors of danger of exposure to infectious diseases at the swimming pools on the river around Inverlea Park, Dr. T. W. H. Young, medical officer of health, gives the assurance that the bathing facilities at the park can be used with perfect freedom from such fears.

Complaints had been made by parents that some of the children were reluctant to avail themselves of the bathing privileges on account of the fact that a boy who has since died, was a frequent swimmer in the river at this point. The fear of infection seems to have grown among the children themselves before it became known to the parents.

LAKE TERMINAL NEXT QUESTION

Transhipment Port at Head of St. Lawrence to Be Chosen Soon

SEVERAL MENTIONED

OTTAWA, August 16. — Canadian Press. — The port of terminal for the Hudson Bay Railway having been decided on, Hon. C. A. Dunning, the Minister of Railways and Canals, must soon deal with the question of the Great Lake terminals.

With Kingston, Brockville and Prescott all vitally interested in the selection which the government must make, the choice presents some difficulties.

It will be made only after a committee composed of representatives of the Departments of Railways and Canals and Public Works and the Canadian National Railways, which has been investigating the possible locations, reports to the Minister.

This report will, it is expected, be made within a month. It will be submitted by Mr. Dunning to the Cabinet.

This morning Mr. Dunning pointed out, that there is no great hurry about selecting the terminal port. The important thing, he said, is to choose the best place. The Welland Ship Canal will not be open for navigation of large grain carriers until 1939, so there will be no need for the terminal facilities until then. On the other hand, the minister said, the terminal equipment must be ready to handle business when the new ship canal opens.

This means that the selection must be made quite a long time before the new Welland Canal is completed in order that the necessary buildings can be provided.

BROOKS' APPEAL DECISION AUG. 25

Appellate Division Will announce Finding at Special Session

TORONTO, Ont., August 16 (Canadian Press). — The decision of the Appellate Division on the appeal of Bartlett J. Brooks will be delivered at a special sitting of the Court on August 25. Orders convening the Court were issued to-day by Chief Justice Sir William Mulock. Brooks is appealing from the sentence of five years on conviction for conspiring to procure an illegal operation on the late Ruth Dembner.

WEDDING BELLS.

PERRY—HOOD.

A quiet wedding was solemnized at ten o'clock this morning at St. John's church by the vicar, Rev. Dr. R. C. Blagrave, when Gertrude Douglas, daughter of Mrs. R. McGill Hood, Aylmer street, and the late R. McGill Hood, was united in the holy bonds of matrimony to Richard Henry Perry, of St. Catharines, son of Mrs. R. O. Perry, of Canvey Island, Sussex, England, and the late R. O. Perry. The wedding march was played by Miss Margaret Flowers.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her brother, Mr. Archie Hood, was gowned in hydrangea blue crepe, with hat to match, and carried a bouquet of roses. Witnesses to the signing of the register were Miss Phyllis Hood and Mr. W. H. Lacey.

After the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bride, to the immediate relatives and friends. Later, Mr. and Mrs. Perry left by motor for St. Catharines, where they will reside.

MR. JUSTICE MATHERS.

WINNIPEG, August 16 (Canadian Press). — Chief Justice T. G. Mathers, of the Court of King's Bench, died to-day in the hospital at Rochester, Minn., according to private advices received here. Chief Justice Mathers had recently undergone an operation, and was progressing favourably when a sudden turn for the worse set in.

Boys' Mischief Proves Boomerang; They Have to Wash Dirt Off Tourists' Car

On Sunday, a party of tourists entered the Exhibition Grounds. Shortly after arriving they left their car for a few minutes to explore the ground. Upon returning they were disagreeably surprised to see their new automobile, which had been painted only a short time ago, much marked and even scratched. Unfortunately for the mischief-makers, one boy left his name on the car. With some local help the culprits were identified, rounded up, and given the alternative of washing the car or having the matter brought within the scope of the police department. Needless to say, the former punishment was chosen, and the car was washed within the allotted time. Had the markings necessitated the repainting of the car, it would have cost from $100 to $150 to do so, as it was a large automobile.

It is likely the next tourist party will not be treated with such discourtesy by local boys. Boys are forbidden to enter the Exhibition Grounds.

Hollinger and Kirkland Features in Mine Market

TORONTO, Aug. 16 (Canadian Press).—A sharp climb of more than a dollar in Hollinger and heavy trading in Kirkland Lake were features of this morning's busy session of the Standard Mining Exchange. In heavy trading Hollinger was sold up 1.15 at 17.15, holding that at noon, while Barry Hollinger gained three at 38. Kirkland Lake climbed to 190 and at noon was at 188, eight cents higher. Amulet went up nine at 418 and its companion, Area, four at 65 in heavy dealings. Teck Hughes sold up 20 cents at 9.15 and Wright-Hargreaves almost 30 points at 635, while Tough Oakes improved a point and a half at 27½. Ribago softened 1½ at 27½ in active trading.

Toronto Market Firm With Carling Leading

TORONTO, Aug. 16 (Canadian Press).—There was a buoyant tone to this morning's market on the Toronto Stock Exchange despite reactions in a few recently strong issues. Carling Breweries was the dominating leader, touching 28⅞ and closing at noon at 28⅝ for a gain of 1⅜ points. Canada Cement, Bell Telephone, and Imperial Oil also gave exhibitions of strength. Cement climbed four at 159, Telephone one at 150, and Imperial Oil, in heavy trading, a point a 49¼. Brazilian improved at 70½.

Outside of Carling, the liquor stocks were quiet, although Walkers improved three-quarters at 47, Page-Hersey and Massey Harris were the weak stocks, Page-Hersey Common losing 1¾ at 76½ and Massey easing 1⅜ at 36⅛. Bank of Commerce also lost its late advance, selling down 3½ at 273½.

Railroad Shares Active As Stocks Move Upward

NEW YORK, August 16. — Canadian Press. — Resumption of the upward price movement in to-day's stock market was featured by the revival of activity and strength in the railroad shares.

The strength of the Motors was believed to have been influenced, in part, by the report that the new Ford car would not be in production until early next year, thereby removing fears of competition from that quarter in the next few months.

Special buying of Chrysler was associated with the announcement of new models this coming week end.

The weakness of General Railway Signal was inspired by the announcement of an investigation into the alleged monopoly in the manufacture of automatic signal and train control devices. Eureka Vacuum also was heavy.

Heavy Rains in Kansas . . Cause Buying of Wheat

CHICAGO, August 16 (Canadian Press). — Reports of heavy rains and floods in parts of Kansas, with some sprouting of wheat in the shock, brought scattered local and commission houses buying during the early trading on the Board of Trade today, and gave the wheat market a firm undertone. Further frost damage also acted as an incentive to early buyers. Opening unchanged to ⅛c higher, wheat moved within narrow limits. Corn was somewhat unsettled, but became firmer later on continued cool weather over the belt. Starting ¼c lower to ⅜c advance, the market later held near to the initial figures. Oats were about steady, and provisions were firm, in line with the higher quotations on hogs.

Opening prices were:

Wheat, September, 1.42¾, December 1.47¼. Corn, September 1.11⅝, December 1.16⅛. Oats, September, 40½, December 52⅝.

FOG OBSCURES SKY AS FLIERS AWAIT START

Start of Nine Planes Witnessed by Huge Crowd—Movie Men Active

HAWAII IS READY

OAKLAND, Calif., August 16 (Canadian Press). — Heavy, high fog hung out over the bay district and out to sea to-day as the crews of the nine aeroplanes awaited noon and the starter's flag which will send them roaring out across the Pacific Ocean in a spectacular race to the Island of Oahu, Hawaii, for the $35,000 dole prizes.

A heavy offshore fog was reported in the path picked by the fliers for their estimated 22-hour journey. The "ceiling" over the field to-day reached fifteen hundred feet, later coming down to between three and four hundred feet, so that fliers making their test flights could be heard but not seen above that height.

There was not a breath of wind stirring, a fact which caused some of the fliers to express hope for a slight breeze down the runway to aid the take-off.

Early in the day crowds began to press eagerly forward to the fences which mark off the three sides of the field. The line of parked cars grew as a continuous ribbon of automobiles of all descriptions streamed into the airport. Around the headquarters a battery of movie cameramen installed themselves preparatory to filming the scenes as the fliers swept down the runway and from the air as they made their way out the Golden Gate.

HAWAII READY.

HONOLULU, August 16 (Canadian Press). — Hawaii is ready to extend one of her famous welcomes to the aerial visitors entered in the dole race. Plans for the reception are complete, even to the promised cooperation of the United States weather man. Governor Wallace B. Farrington and other officials and prominent residents will be at Wheeler Field at five o'clock to-morrow morning to welcome the fliers. If the fliers have good luck and make the trip from Oakland in twenty-two hours, held to be par for the distance, they will reach the Island of Oahu at 7.30 a.m., Honolulu time (10 a.m. Pacific time).

The military authorities erected grand stands to seat three thousand at the landing field. Parking space for eight thousand automobiles is provided. Quick lunch restaurants have been built to supply "hot dogs," sandwiches, tea, coffee, and other food and soft drinks to the crowds. Good weather conditions are predicted.

DRIVER REMANDED FOR MANSLAUGHTER

William McClelland to Appear Again on August 30

MIMICO, Ont., August 16 (Canadian Press). — Charged with manslaughter in connection with the deaths of Mrs. Bridget Culnan and her daughter in an automobile accident on the Dundas Highway on July 31, William McClelland, of Brampton, appeared before Magistrate Davidson to-day, and was remanded until August 30. The accused, who is out on bail of $20,000, is alleged to have been the driver of the motor car which struck the two women.

KANSAS EDITOR ENDORSES CANAL

Ex-Governor Henry J. Allen Favors International St. Lawrence Route

POWER TO PAY COST

CHARLOTTEVILLE, Virginia, Aug. 16 (Canadian Press).—Endorsement of the St. Lawrence Waterway proposal as a means to bring the Atlantic Ocean a thousand miles inland through the St. Lawrence and the Great Lakes, with a by-product of hydro electric energy to pay the cost, was voiced today by Henry J. Allen, former Governor of Kansas and editor of The Wichita Beacon, at the University of Virginia's Institute of Public Affairs.

Supporting the international route as opposed to the "All American" plan, Mr. Allen said the engineers declared the waterway would be of greater importance to the forty-three million people of the Middle West than the building of the Panama Canal. The St. Lawrence course, he said, would have the advantage of 625 miles in trade with Europe, as well as providing tremendous water power.

International engineers, he said had estimated that the 33-mile lock proposed to equalize the rapids of the river would produce more than two million horsepower, which would be shared by Canada and the United States. The sale of power, he contended, would pay for all construction and relieve both countries of the "necessity of appropriating the money of the taxpayers."

—Ever remembered by loving Aunt and Uncle, Mr. and Mrs. John Barnes.

IN MEMORIAM.

COOKMAN.—In loving memory of our dear nephew, Bertie Cookman, who was drowned Aug. 16, 1926:
The pearly gates were opened,
A gentle voice said "Come."
And with farewells unspoken,
He gently entered home.

IN MEMORIAM.

In loving memory of Bertie Cookman, drowned August 16th, 1926:
"Thy will be done" seems hard to say,
When one we loved has passed away,
Some day, perhaps, we'll understand,
When we meet again, in that better land.
—Inserted By His Loving Mother.

IN MEMORIAM.

BARNES. — In fond and loving memory of Allan and Leonard Barnes, who were drowned August 16, 1927:
No stain was on their little hearts,
Sin had not entered there,
And innocence slept sweetly on
Their pale white brows so fair.

They were too pure for this cold earth,
Too beautiful to stay,
And so God's holy angel took
Our darling ones away.
—Inserted By Their Loving Father, Mother and Sisters.

IN MEMORIAM.

In fond and loving memory of Bertie Cookman, Allan and Leonard Barnes, who were drowned in the Otonabee Aug. 16th, 1926:
"From our happy home and circle,
God has taken three we loved.
They are borne from sin and sorrow
To a nobler rest above.

No one knows how much we miss them,
None but aching hearts can tell;
Lost on earth, but found in heaven,
Jesus doeth all things well."
—Inserted By Grandma and Grandpa Barnes and Auntie Clara and Edith.

Face powder is said to be responsible for many cases of asthma among women.

HAMILTON CADETS WIN THREE PRIZES

Finish on Top in Cadet Shoots at South Marsh Ranges

SOUTH MARSH, Ont., Aug. 16. — (Canadian Press).—Hamilton Collegiate Institute Cadets captured the three highest prizes of the cadet match at the Dominion Rifle Association meet here yesterday. The official results were not announced until to-day. Of the first twenty high scores in the match, nine were made by Hamiltonians. Cadet Lieut. Matchett, who won the event last year repeated with a score of 68 out of a possible 70. Cadet Lieut. Morton, also of Hamilton, was second with 67, and Cadet Beckett made it a third for the Mountain City with 66.

Four possible of fifty were scored at the three hundred-yard range at the Dominion Rifle Association meet in the City of Ottawa match. Sergt. F. Wallace, Toronto, Lieut. Herron, Calgary, Pte. Lang, Hillsburg, Ont., and Sergt. M. Hall, Ottawa, each turned in ten perfect bull's eyes.
